A WONDERFUL CURE OF RHEUMATISM

THE CAUSE An excess of uric acid and ureates are deposited in the tissues of the body and joints, causing aches and pains which are called rheumatic.

All the various causes of rheumatism, such as the acute, articular, muscular and gout, have the same common cause—Uric Acid.

To effect a satisfactory cure the uric acid must be removed. This can only be done by introducing into the circulation a remedy which will dissolve the uric acid and stimulate the action of the excretory organs.

No Case That Ferrozone Can't Cure

The remarkable success of Ferrozone is due to the fact that it attacks the disease in the blood. It goes right to the root and cause of the trouble.

Ferrozone is a perfect solvent for uric acid and quickly destroys its evil effect. It stimulates and quickens the sluggish circulation and drives every trace of rheumatic poison out of the system.

Rheumatism Can't Last If FERROZONE Is Used.

We have conclusive proof of this. The strongest possible endorsements from people who have been cured after all else failed. If you suffer from rheumatism yourself, or in case you have a friend or relative subject to this disease, read the following—they tell their own tale.

LIFE-LONG CRIPPLE CURED

Mr. Louis Noll, 15 Fulton street, New York, N. Y., writes: "Ever since boyhood I have been a sufferer from rheumatism. My joints were twisted and swollen, and the pain at times was really intense. I used gallons of liniments, vapor baths, and other treatments, but was first noticeably relieved by Ferrozone. It cured me perfectly after taking twelve boxes."

Mr. Henry Hear, Pharmacist, 23 Eldridge Ave., New York, vouches for Mr. Noll's absolute cure. He says: "Mr. Noll has been freed from chronic rheumatism by Ferrozone. For years he has not been so well, and today shows no signs of rheumatic trouble. It is a pleasure to recommend Ferrozone."

The BEST remedy for rheumatism that science has produced is Ferrozone—it is unquestionably the only sure and lasting cure. Sold everywhere by druggists. Price 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50—by mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

FERROZONE, THE ONE SURE CURE.

DARING TRAIN ROBBERY

Band of Thieves Blow Up Mail Car With Dynamite.

Coaches Catch Fire—Passengers Badly Burned — Mostly Women and Children—Could Not Get at Safe—Attacked by Police Deadly Fight Ensues—Though Severely Wounded Robbers Got Away.

Odessa, Oct. 3.—A train having on board over 300 passengers, was held up Tuesday night by a band of robbers, who opened the mail car by exploding dynamite.

The explosion set the car on fire and the flames communicated to a crowded passenger car, with the result that a number of women and children were badly burned before they could escape.

While the robbers were trying to blow open the safe in the mail car they were attacked by some gendarmes, who were passengers on the train. A number on both sides were wounded, but the robbers escaped.

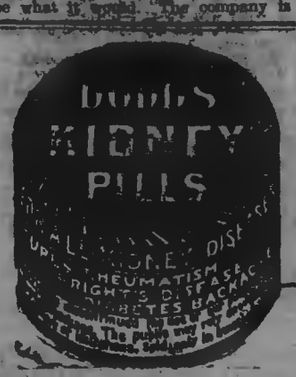
OFFICIALS IN CHARGE.

Mechanics Quit Work at Springhill Mines, Nova Scotia.

Springhill Mines, N. S., Oct. 3.—The mechanics quit work yesterday morning and the officials are now in charge of the mines. These include regular mine officials, besides a number of the company's office staff. High collars and fine linen are thus laid aside and brawn and backbone are essentials for the time being. All freight traffic on the company's line between Springhill Junction and Parrsboro ceased yesterday, but the passenger trains will run as usual.

In case of necessity the passenger crews will also be called out to assist in the general tie-up. The company has evidently not succeeded in getting the Government to take charge of the mine, as Inspector Cameron says that he has not received instructions to do anything.

Attorney-General Pipes was here on Tuesday to get the feeling of the men, and he must have been convinced that any compulsory measures on the part of the Government to assist the company would lead to serious trouble in the town. The men to a man would refuse to obey any orders to keep the mine running, let the penalty be what it would. The company is undoubtedly bothered by the situation, as the hope of beating the men is now at a vanishing point. It would seem that Deputy Minister of Labor King's appearance on the scene to-day is a very opportune time.



HE WORKED AT TWO JOBS.

Dead Motorman Was Making Heroic Sacrifice For His Family.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—In the inquest opened last night to ascertain how Hugh A. Hayes, a motorman, came to his death here, it developed that Hayes held two jobs.

He had been working for the gas company here from 7 a. m. to 5 p. m. On Friday last he worked from 7 a. m. to 1 a. m., 16 hours, excluding meals, for this company.

On Saturday he worked from 7 to 5 at night. Then at 6.30 the same night he went on duty for the Street Railway Co. as motorman.

His car that night in some way collided with another one and he was so badly crushed that his leg had to be amputated and he died. Hayes held down the two jobs in an effort to offset expenses due to illness in his family.

He lost his wife only a few months ago and had had much sickness in the family. One boy was lame and a girl was threatened with typhoid fever at the time of his death, but has recovered.

Almost Missed Funeral.

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Alphonse Jardin, a young French-Canadian, came very near to missing his mother's funeral yesterday, owing to the importunities of one of his creditors.

Jardin has been living at Chicago for some years, and before going neglected to pay a $100 grocery bill. He forgot the matter, and returned on Tuesday to attend the funeral of his mother, which was held over until his arrival.

But yesterday morning the grocer swore out a capais against Jardin, and he was landed in jail. He immediately made great efforts to secure bail, and managed to get security just in time to leave the cells and hasten to church for the requiem mass.

Local Miners Restless.

Lethbridge, Oct. 3.—The miners here have appealed to the Department of Labor for a board of conciliation under the Lemieux Act to settle a dispute between the men and the company.

The men and the company have failed to agree and so have appealed to the Department. They are still working, but there is fear of a repetition of last year's labor troubles.

Keir Hardie in India.

London, Oct. 3.—(C. A. P.)—Kier Hardie is making a triumphal tour of Eastern Bengal under the auspices of native agitators, and is feted and garlanded with flowers.

He declares there is no reason why India shouldn't be self-governing, like Canada.

Prisoner Expert Organist.

Kingston, Oct. 3.—Phillips Brown, the defaulting bank clerk of Hamilton, who is at present serving a term in the penitentiary, is an expert organist, and plays the organ in the prison chapel every Sunday morning and afternoon. He is an exemplary prisoner.

BRUTAL DOUBLE CRIME

Mother and Son Found Murdered in Barn.

Woman's Body Suspended by Rope From Rafter — Son's Lying Short Distance Off With Crushed Skull—Axe Was Used—Husband Is Held and Police Are Searching For the Hired Man.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Believing that he can throw some light on the double murder committed at Londonville, on the outskirts of Albany, the police of various places in this vicinity searched for hours yesterday for trace of Jacob Besche, a farm hand, but up to midnight had not located him.

The search began directly after the discovery of the bodies of Mrs. Katherine Dargatz, wife of John A. Dargatz, a farmer, and their nine-year-old adopted son.

The woman was bound about the neck and arms with ropes, her body suspended from a rafter in the barn in the rear of her home. Nearby was the body of her son, lying in a pool of blood, his skull being crushed in with an axe. John A. Dargatz, husband of the woman, was taken into custody and will be held for the present at least.

The clothes of Besche were found in his room. His trunk was found later in the hayloft of the barn, concealed under a large quantity of hay. Besche, it is said, was in Albany on Tuesday.

TRADE WITH GERMANY.

Great Britain and Colonies to Be Specially Favored.

London, Oct. 3.—(C. A. P.)—The Berlin Reichstag will be requested, at the end of November, to empower the bundsrath to grant Great Britain and the colonies a continuance of commercial favors under the most favored nation clause. It is as yet unascertained whether the proposal will be limited to two years or will contain a clause enabling the bundsrath to make the concession indefinite.

In preceding years it was regarded as certain that Australia as well as Canada would be exempted. But hopes are entertained here that Germany will be able to conclude direct arrangements with both for the regulation of their commercial relations.

The German consul at Montreal recently conferred with his Government with a view to promoting a commercial treaty between Germany and the Dominion.

Germany will continue to bring all possible pressure to bear to prevent Canada and Australia favoring the export trade of Britain at the expense of Germany.

AFTER RUNAWAY WIFE.

Soldier Alleged to Have Flown With Sergeant's Spouse.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 3.—Harry Gallaway, just discharged from the Canadian Mounted Infantry at Wolseley Barracks, London, is in Rochester in search of his wife, who, it is alleged, deserted him two years ago and ran away with a private named Thompson of Stanley Barracks, Toronto.

Gallaway said he was a sergeant and that two years ago he married Mary McGregor.

A few weeks after their marriage, Gallaway says, his wife went to Toronto. There she received calls from Thompson. She received a telegram from Buffalo signed with Gallaway's initials, directing her to come there at once. She left Toronto and Gallaway says he has not seen her since. Gallaway said he traced his wife and Thompson to Rochester.

Archbishops Meet.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Six of the eight Catholic archbishops of Canada are here busy considering important matters, all of which are purely church affairs and strictly private.

Archbishop Orth of Vancouver has wired that he will be unable to come, owing to illness.

Accompanying Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface is Father Lacasse, O. M. S., one of the most noted missionary priests of the church in the Northwest.

Father Lacasse has been at St. Boniface for some time past.

Theatre on Shipboard.

Liverpool, Oct. 3.—It was announced yesterday that the Cunard steamship Co. has accepted the offer of Charles Frohman to give theatrical performances on the big liners, by regular players who for the time being may be traveling to and from the United States and England. The company is now planning specially designed halls for plays and concerts on board three of the ships of the line.

Other transatlantic line companies are considering Mr. Frohman's proposition.

London, Oct. 3.—A. J. Bates, a baggageman at the Grand Trunk station, who came out here from England a few months ago, has received word from home in England to return at once to take his share of a large estate left to him and a few of his relatives by a death in the family.

Bates came out here to work his way up in the world, preferring an independent life to dependence upon rich relatives. He secured a position as a trucker at the baggage room. The announcement came as a complete surprise to him.

Caught Under Heavy Wheel.

Ingersoll, Oct. 3.—A large flywheel, which he attempted to move, fell on William Phillips, night watchman at the nut works, Tuesday night, breaking his leg in two places, and injuring him internally.

He was released by citizens who heard his cries.

The summer home of Senator Costigan at Connors, N.B., was burned yesterday and the inmates escaped in the nick of time.

500 LOAN IS RENEWED.

But In Six Months Reduction of the Amount May Be Made.

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, announced yesterday that the guarantee on the million-dollar Soo loan, principal and interest at 5 per cent., had been renewed by the Government from Oct. 1, which means an extension until April 1 next, when, judging from present appearances, another extension will be sought.

The promise, however, is made that a serious effort will be made to reduce the amount of the principal substantially by the date mentioned, and the reason given for not having done so at this time is the familiar one—the undoubted existing financial stringency.

"We have not appointed anybody; nor do we intend appointing anybody," said Premier Whitney yesterday, in reference to the item concerning the probable appointment of R. A. Pringle, M. P., to the board of the Soo Consolidated Co. "The statement," he said, "was without foundation."

"Of course, there may be all sorts of conjectures, but we are not appointing anybody on the board of directors, or recommending anybody for appointment," continued the Premier. "If the board, however, appointed anyone, and the appointment were bad on its face, we have power to disapprove of the appointment after it is done. I really do not know what changes the board may make. But we have received no intimation that any of the Government representatives have resigned."

Thomas J. Drummond and ex-Mayor Wilson Smith of Montreal, C. D. Warren of this city, and F. H. Clergue of the Soo, are the members whose appointments are subject to the approval of the Provincial Government.

Ex-Mayor Wilson Smith of Montreal is the only member of the present board who has been appointed since the change of Government, and he has proved himself a most useful director, as it is understood that it was largely through his instrumentality that the original loan of two millions was reduced one-half.

NOSSE GOES TO JAPAN.

Will Give Government Details of Riots on the Pacific Coast.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Japanese Consul-General Nosse is to pay his first visit back to his native land, after acting as consul-general to Canada for the last six years, first at Montreal and then at Ottawa, to which he moved, as he considered it would be more convenient for him, as the representative of a foreign power, to reside at the capital.

"I have been granted six months' leave of absence," said Mr. Nosse yesterday, "but it is only on condition that I return to Canada and resume the duties I have been attending to. It will be my first visit back there since I came to the Dominion."

He will leave for Vancouver possibly on the 20th, or, if not, about the last of the month. He has not decided yet as to whether his daughters will accompany him.

While he did not discuss it in detail, he will, of course, be able to give the Japanese Government the whole details as to the Japanese troubles on the coast, and also much valuable information concerning Canada's growing trade with Japan.

Accident at Berlin.

Berlin, Ont., Oct. 3.—H. L. Janzen, prominent citizen and ex-mayor of this town, was probably fatally injured in an accident here yesterday. He was removing some store fixtures from a store on King street to his residence. When about Francis street the fixtures began slipping off, which scared the horses, and in the runaway he was thrown off and wedged in between the fixtures and the wagon, with the result that he was badly crushed. He is unconscious, and his medical attendant fears for the worst. Besides holding several important positions he is a director of the Economical Insurance Co. and The News-Record newspaper.

Kipling's Confession.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 3.—Rudyard Kipling arrived in Winnipeg yesterday morning and spent the day in the city.

Last evening he addressed the Canadian Club in Manitoba Hall before a large and enthusiastic audience. He confined his remarks principally to the growth of Winnipeg since his last visit, 15 years ago, and the development of Canadian spirit.

He said: "I make one confession, for the past 20 years, I have been doing all in my power to draw together the various parts of the Empire."

Compulsory Education.

Tientsin, Oct. 3.—An Imperial edict, dated Sept. 20, decrees compulsory education for everybody in China and declares, furthermore, that the people are to be taught the principles of constitutional government, in order that they may be better fitted to elect representatives when a parliament is created.

French Ship Ashore.

Kilrush, Ireland, Oct. 3—The French ship Leon XIII., from Queenstown Sept. 26, at which port she arrived recently from Portland, Oregon, is ashore near Seafield, County Clare. The seas are breaking over the vessel and the coast guards are unable to communicate with her.

Emigration Free.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 3.—The Minister of Commerce, M. Filosofoff, has completed drawing up a project of law, which will be introduced in the new Parliament when it assembles, removing the restrictions placed in this country on emigration.

More Than Half Sober.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Speaking Tuesday night at Wright County Sunday School Union convention Rev. G. G. Huntable stated that in Quebec there were over 800 municipalities in which no liquor licenses existed and 397 where licenses were held.

Hon. A. G. Killam, of the Railway Commission, has returned to Ottawa after a two months' absence in the West.

MINERS ARE ACCUSED

Dying Sheriff Says Western Federation Instigated Outrage.

Was Blown Up by Bomb at His Front Gate—Idaho Outrage Re-called—Had Been Followed for Weeks—Victim Arrested Notorious Steve Adams and Was Witness Against Him.

Baker City, Oregon, Oct. 3.—The Western Federation of Miners was accused of instigating the death of Harvey K. Brown, formerly sheriff of this county, in an ante-mortem statement made by the victim Tuesday afternoon. Brown was blown up by a bomb as he was entering his front gate late Monday evening, the outrage being in many respects similar to that which destroyed former Governor Steunenberg of Idaho. The ante-mortem statement reads:

"I was on my way home from uptown last night, when I met a man in front of a residence which is a block away from my house, and spoke. The man made no reply. This man was about 5 feet 10 inches tall; his weight was 165 pounds. He wore a brown suit and a celluloid collar, and was clean-shaven. I have been conscious of having been followed for three weeks, and I have no doubt that those who attempted my life are persons connected with the Western Federation of Miners, on account of my connection with the Steunenberg and Steve Adams cases."

Brown arrested Steve Adams at Haines when the latter was wanted as a witness in the Steunenberg case, and he testified at the trial of Adams in Wallace, when the latter faced a jury on the charge of having murdered a claim-jumper.

NO WORK FOR DOCTORS.

Health Officers Will Prevent Disease In Time to Come.

London, Oct. 3.—The change the practice of medicine is undergoing was the keynote of several addresses made by leading London doctors at the opening of the winter session of the medical schools connected with the London hospitals.

The speakers said the day was coming when the doctors in private practice would disappear and be replaced by the public health officer, whose work would lie in the prevention rather than in the cure of disease.

Dr. Ewart told the students that the profession was in the throes of a double crisis, economical and professional. He declared that the growing success in reducing the prevalence of disease and the growth of specialism had contracted the field of general practice and the process was bound to continue. He said it was inevitable that the profession should become more and more the servant of the state. Henceforth its members must devote themselves to the culture of health preventing instead of curing disease.

Other addresses of a similar nature were heard, one physician contending that things were moving toward the unique consummation of a culling by its own training and application destroying the very source upon which it depended for its living.

GORED BY MAD BULL.

Western Fair Director Receives Terrible Injuries.

London, Oct. 3.—Mr. Charles Trebilcock, the well-known Western Fair director, was terribly injured yesterday morning by a mad bull on his farm in London Township, to the rear of the asylum grounds.

Mr. Trebilcock was leading to bull from the barn when it attacked him. Its horns penetrated his abdomen, and he was caught upon its horns.

A neighbor who heard Mr. Trebilcock's cry for help came to his rescue, and after pulling Mr. Trebilcock from its horns he beat it back.

Dr. Stevenson was called and found Mr. Trebilcock to have been frightfully torn about the abdomen. He hopes that he will recover.

Would Admit Limited Number.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 3.—While urging the Dominion Government to aid in the immigration of such classes as will at all times insure the predominance of the white race, the Vancouver Board of Trade Tuesday night favored the admission of a limited number of Asiatics for a limited number of years under suitable restrictions to relieve the present situation.

The steamer Tartan en route here from the Orient, is said to have 600 Hindoo passengers.

The steamer Tremont, a Japanese vessel, has nearly 300 more Japs.

Dies in Poverty.

New York, Oct. 3.—The newspapers yesterday report the death and obscure burial of William Francis Carey, who was a wealthy Wall street operator until the recent slump in stocks. Mr. Carey, who at one time had a home in Madison avenue, where he entertained extensively, ended his days in lodgings and almost in utter poverty, it is stated. It is said that just before his death he was seeking employment by the day, though at one time he enjoyed an income of about $200,000 a year.

Safe Opened, Cash Missing.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—A mysterious affair occurred Monday night last at the residence of Hon. John G. Foster, the American consul-general, who lives at 267 O'Connor street.

A safe was opened by someone who managed to work the combination successfully, and it is said $300 in cash is missing. There is no clue.

Captures Live Deer.

Lindsay, Oct. 3.—A live deer has been captured by William Shields, near Janetville, and he has the animal now in his barn. It followed his cattle home, where it was caught by two men stealing up behind it and grabbing it by the hind legs.

The blacksmith shop of William Hutchinson, of Hamilton, was burned last night by an explosion of gasoline.

The Last Stroke.

BY LAWRENCE L. LYNCH,

Author of "A Woman's Crime," "John Arthur's Ward," "The Diamond Coterie," "Against Odds," Etc.

No other occupants of the house were visible, and before long Robert Brierly found that, by accident or design the detective, Mrs. Myers, and Hilda, had withdrawn to the further end of the long veranda, and that Ruth Glidden had crossed to his side, and now stood before him, leaning lightly against a square pillar, and so near that he could not well rise without disturbing her charming pose.

Before he could open his lips she was speaking.

"Robert, don't get up. Please do not. There is something I must say to you. I have seen the trouble, the anxiety in your face to-night. I know what Mr. Ferrars has been saying to you; at least I can guess, and I understand."

"Ruth!"

"Don't speak. Let me finish, Rob. If I didn't know you so thoroughly, if the whole of your big, noble heart had not been laid bare to me, as never before, during your illness, I should not dare; would lack the courage to say what I will say, for your sake, as well as mine." She caught her breath sharply and, before he could command the words he would have spoken, she hurried on.

"Don't think that I do not know how you look upon this journey abroad, in my company, and now—" She paused again. "This is very hard to say, Rob., and I am not saying it well, but you will not misunderstand me, I know that; and I can't lose your friendship, Rob., dear, and the pleasure your company will be to me, if we can set out understanding ourselves and each other. You have let Charlie's death and the money loss this search may bring you, crush out all hope, and you have been steeling yourself to give me up; to forget me. But do you think I will let you do this? I know your pride, dear. I love you for it. But why must it separate us utterly? You are not the only man in this world who must win his way first, and whose wife must wait. I have waited, and I shall wait, always if need be. But it need not be. You will be the King Cophetua to my beggar maid yet. Oh, I know. I am afraid of nothing but your horrible self doubt, your fear of being—"

"Of being called a fortune hunter, Ruth."

"Well, you shall not be called that sir knight of the proud, proud crest. Listen! You must be to me the Robert of old; not avoiding me, but my friend who understands me. We are both free to go abroad, and with a chaperone, as we are going, would not be de rigueur otherwise; and this subject is not to be referred to again, until the quest upon which we are starting—yes, I say we—is at an end."

"Who knows what may happen between our going and our home-coming? At the worst, I am still your friend, and shall never be more to any other man." She was going to move away, but he sprang up and caught her hands.

"Ruth! You have given me new life. And you have shamed me. It is of you I have thought when I have tried to tear myself away and leave you free to choose another."

"Robert, for shame. Shall you 'choose another' then?"

"Never! You know that!"

"If I did not I should not have spoken as I have just now."

"But there are so many who might give you everything."

"There is only one who can give me my heart's desire."

"Ruth, my darling, if I were rich, or if you were poor, no man should ever win you from me. But the world must never call Ruth Glidden's husband a fortune hunter."

"It never shall. Never!"

"And so, you see—"

"I see the folly of what I have said. What do we care for Dame Grundy? And why should I and you be foolish hypocrites, deceiving no one? In my heart of hearts I have been your promised wife always. I think I have the little ring with which we were betrothed when we were ten years old. We will go abroad as lovers, Rob., and if you cannot offer me a fortune—it must be a very large one to satisfy me—before we return, I shall give all mine to the London poor, and you will have to support me the rest of my days. What folly, Robert, what wickedness, to let mere money matters come between you and me!"

CHAPTER XXI.

The Lucania had been in port forty-eight hours, and Mrs. Myers and her party had been snugly quartered in one of London's most charming rural nooks, at Hampton Court, with Robert Brierly close at hand, before Ferrars ventured to visit the city.

Mr. Myers had discreetly remained in London, going from thence to meet his friends at Hampton Court, but Ferrars, for reasons which he did not explain, went to the city as soon as he had assured himself of the comfort and safety of his party, this assurance including the provision of a watchful aid, who kept guard whenever Robert Brierly, himself now well convinced of the need of caution, ventured abroad.

Leaving Mr. Myers thus to enjoy an evening with his wife and friends, Ferrars hastened to "the city," where every stone seemed familiar, and many faces were those of friends, or foes, well known and well remembered. To escape recognition his own countenance had been simply but sufficiently hidden behind a disguise of snowy hair and rubicund visage, both assumed as soon as he had parted from the group at Hampton Court, for Ferrars realized that the battle was now on, and he had no idea of giving the foe the chance possibility of an encounter. He was well known at Scotland Yard, as well as to the chief of the department of police, and it was to one of these officials that he made his way, for he had two reasons of his own for hastening on, in advance of the party.

Not long before leaving the "States," he had received a dainty noteiet. It could not have been called a letter. It came through the hands of Doctor Barnes, and it was signed, "Lotilia K. Jamieson."

It is late afternoon when Ferrars reaches Oxford street, after his interview with several official personages, during which he has bestowed upon each a number of typewritten cards, bearing what seems to be a brief descriptive list, and as many photographs, faithful and enlarged copies of the "snap shot" furnished him by the hand of Samuel Doran.

He alights from an omnibus, at the end of Regent street, and stands, for a moment, looking down Oxford street. He is not in haste, for he lets cabs and omnibuses rattle by him, or stand, waiting for fares, and walks slowly on and on. A mile and a quarter of shops, that is Oxford street, but Ferrars foots it sturdily. Past the Circus, beyond the region of Soho, and he slackens his pace and consults a tiny memorandum book. Who ever saw Frank Ferrars produce a letter or card, for reference, in the streets of a crowded city? Then he smiles and passes on.

Bloomsbury. He is walking slowly now, and under his low-drawn hat his eyes are very alert.

And now he is in that portion of Bloomsbury where, earlier, very early in the century, the wealthy, and those of high degree resided. It is comfortable and middle class now, and our pedestrian passes a certain pleasant semi-detached house — not large, but eminently respectable — with a stealthy, lingering glance, pausing, before he has walked quite beyond it, as if to note some object of fleeting interest. Two or three times, within the hour, he passes that house, now on this side, now on that; once on the top of an omnibus, once in a cab, and driving very slowly, and as close as possible.

It is fairly dusk when he slowly ascends the well scrubbed steps, with the reluctant air of a man by no means sure of himself. He carries a small package beneath his arm, and a card between the fingers of his left hand, to which he shifts the package as he rings the bell.

"I beg your pardon, young Miss." It is a sour-faced damsel of uncertain age who melts perceptibly under his adjective. "Will you tell me if Mrs.—Mrs." He peers near-sightedly at the card he holds, and slowly pronounces a name.

"No, sir; this is not the place."

"But, doesn't that lady stop here, Miss? It's some'res in this here block, and somehow they've forgot the number, you see. Is there a lady guest maybe, or a boarder belike?"

But the maid, quite melted now, shakes her head, and tells him that beside her mistress, whom she names, and her mistress' niece, who stops with them, "off and on," there are no ladies in the house.

The detective blunders on down the street, and, when the lamps are lit he passes the house again. The lamps are lighted in the little dining room now, and through a window which projects upon the corner, he can see a table set for two. And now at last he is rewarded, for a maid enters and places something upon the table; a lady follows, glances at the table, walks to the window, and turns, with a quick, imperious gesture, toward the maid; a little lady, with a fair face, pale, fleecy hair and wearing a flowing silken gown of some soft violet shade. She sweeps past the maid and seats herself at the head of the table, while the young person—it is the same who attended so lately at the door—comes forward to close the curtain. Slowly it is drawn together, shutting in the lights, the table and the violet-clad figure, but not until the watcher outside has caught a glimpse of a man, tall and, yes, handsome, in a dark fierce fashion, who is entering at the door on the other side of the room.

The watcher passes on. He has seen, once more, the woman who has, according to his own confession, aroused in him "a profound interest." And he has also seen, whom and what? A brother? A lover? A rival, perhaps? Ferrars hails a passing cab now, and is driven swiftly towards his room in the Strand, and as he rolls along, this comment, which may mean much or little, passes his lips.

"So my little lady has doffed her mourning. I wonder what that may mean?"

"I'm very sorry, Ferrars, but I fear there's a great disappointment in store for you."

"A disappointment! How? And in what respect, Mr. Myers?"

Ferrars was seated opposite Mr. Myers in the office of Wendell Haynes, solicitor, in Middle Temple Lane, where he had hastened on the morning after his little adventure in Bloomsbury, and so prompt and eager had he been that he had encountered the American lawyer at the very threshold, Mr. Myers having just arrived, with equal haste and promptness, from Hampton Court.

Solicitor Haynes and the English detective were not unknown to each other, and when they had exchanged greetings, the solicitor left the others together in his inner office. He was, by this time, fully acquainted with all the facts, so far as they were known to Mr. Myers, and he left them with a promise to rejoin them soon, when they should have compared notes and gone over the ground already known to the busy solicitor.

There was a look of suppressed eagerness upon the face of Ferrars, as he seated himself opposite the shrewd American lawyer. His face, his manner, his very silence and alertness as he held himself erect upon his chair, a picture of calm force, long suppressed, but now out of leash and ready for anything — anything except inaction; and that, his very attitude seemed to say was past.

Mr. Myers had waited a moment, after they were left alone together, for Ferrars to speak the first word, but the latter only sat still and waited, and the lawyer, with characteristic directness, spoke straight to the point. He had what he felt to be, bad news to impart, and he did not delay or play with words in the doing it.

But if he had expected disappointment or any change to cross that keenly questioning face, he looked in vain. Ferrars only sat leaning slightly toward him, waited a moment, and repeated his last words.

"In what manner? How disappointed?" And then, as the lawyer still hesitated he went on, "You find the case as it should be, eh?"

"The case! Oh, yes!"

"Are there any flaws?"

"No," broke in the lawyer, "Any unexpected delays?"

"No."

"Any new claimants?"

"No, Ferrars. The Hugo Paisley will case is one of the simplest and clearest of its kind. The last incumbent surely must have had a wonderfully clear idea of how to do the thing he meant to do. Once the claim is proven, and he makes that work easy, there need be no delays, no chancery, no holding back for big fees. The agents in the case are paid according to their expedition, and have every incentive to haste. With the proofs in hand the heir could step at once into his fortune, a matter of £200,000."

"An American millionaire, eh?" Ferrars smiled. "That, then, is quite as it should be, especially as the young lady is here. Well, then, you advertised, according to your report?"

"Yes, we advertised. A very craftily worded document calculated to arouse the dilatory claimants to prompt action."

"And, did it not?"

"It did, yes."

"Then, in heaven's name why must I be disappointed in any way?"

"Because I fear the claimant — we have seen but one — is not the person you hoped to find."

Ferrars actually smiled. "Describe the person," he said.

Without speaking, the lawyer held out to him across the table a visiting card, a lady's card, correct according to the London mode of the hour, and bearing a name which Ferrars read aloud with no sign of emotion in his face.

"Mrs. Gaston Latham." He looked up with the card still between his fingers. "Is she the solitary heir?"

"No; there are two children; girls of twelve and nine."

"And her proofs?"

"Seem to be perfect, making her the next in line of succession after—"

"After the Brierlys, of course."

Mr. Myers nodded and the detective looked down again at the address upon the card.

"Lives in the city, I see! Are the children with her here?"

"Only the younger, I am told. The elder has 'an infirmity,' and is at present in an institution. It seems a great cross to the mother; in fact her anxiety and distress, because of this child, have made her almost indifferent about this business of the fortune. In short—" And here the lawyer glanced askance at his vis-a-vis. "I'm afraid she is not the—the sort of claimant you have expected to see. And there seems to be no one of the other sex in the family."

"Well, well!" Ferrars threw himself back in the big office chair, assuming an easy and almost careless attitude.

"Tell me all about her, Myers. Is she old, or young? Handsome or not?"

The face of the lawyer was overspread with a cynical smile. He had expected to see disappointment, consternation, perhaps, in the face of the detective, when he heard that the English claimant to the Paisley fortune was a woman lorn and lone. His heart was in the work they were engaged upon. Robert Brierly's interests were his own; but, still, this cool, emotionless detective, whom he liked well, had more than once piqued and puzzled him. He believed that Ferrars was quite prepared to meet him, and hear of, quite another sort of claimant, and he was now looking to see him, at last stirred out of his provoking calm.

"Mrs. Gaston Latham is not a claimant to whom one could object, upon the ground of unfitness. She would make a very handsome and gracious dispenser of the Paisley thousands."

"Too bad that she will never get them!" And Ferrars smiled.

"She is a woman of medium height, and rather—well—plump, and while her hair is snowy white, she does not look a day over forty. She has the fine, fresh English color, blue eyes, that require the aid of strong eyeglasses, and a voice that is very high pitched for an Englishwoman, and that sounds, I am sorry to say—for she's really a very intelligent and winning little lady—somewhat affected at times. She dresses in soft grays and pale lavenders, as you may be interested to know." And here the lawyer smiled broadly.

"That," commented Ferrars with no cessation of his own gravely indifferent manner, "for a 'plump' woman, is a great mistake. A plump person should never assume light colors." And then the eyes of the two men met, and over each face there slowly crept a smile that grew into a laugh.

"Upon my soul, Ferrars," exclaimed the elder, "I believe that you have heard of this Mrs. Latham!"

"Not to make a mystery of it, Mr. Myers, I'll explain that I have heard of Mrs. Latham. But, I give you my word, I did not look to find her the claimant. You have heard us, some, or all, speak of Mrs. Jamieson!"

The lawyer nodded and a smile of meaning crossed his face.

"Well, I have lately learned that she might be found at a certain number in Bloomsbury, and addressed, in case of her temporary absence, in care of Mrs. Gaston Latham, an old family friend."

"I see!" The lawyer was silent a moment. Then he looked the detective frankly in the face. "To be perfectly candid with you, Ferrars," he said, "I have thought that you looked to see a different kind of claimant, more than one perhaps, and that this lady could not, by any possibility, be the expected one. I fancied this would trouble, perhaps hinder, if not quite balk you."

"Honestly, Myers, I have wondered not a little what sort of claimant I should meet, and I am neither surprised nor disappointed. I see what is in your mind; you looked to see the conclusion of the game here and soon, eh?"

"I admit it."

"And I hoped it. I do hope it. We must strike our final blow now if ever. We can depend upon Mr. Haynes."

"Entirely."

"And you have fully enlightened him?"

"To the extent of my own knowledge."

"Then let's call him in, and I will put my cards upon the table. We shall need his help, but I'll explain that later."

When the English solicitor had joined them, Ferrars briefly reviewed the events surrounding and connected with the death of Charles Brierly, and the attempt upon Robert's life; and when he was sure that they understood each other, thus far, and that the English lawyer was deeply interested in the case and had committed himself to it, he summed up the situation thus.

"You will see, of course, that I might make a bold strike and arrest my suspects at once; or, at least, as soon as we could lay our hands upon them, but the case is a complicated one, and having it in my power to make our quarry commit themselves altogether, I do not intend to leave them a loophole of escape. I have not been entirely open with you; you must take my words for some things. I have put the Scotland Yard men on the lookout for our man; I do not know his name, but I think they will have no trouble in finding him, by acting upon my hints. There is much which even I do not understand, in his connection with the case. I do not believe him to be the master spirit, and I want to let him have his fling over here."

"Do you mean," broke in the solicitor, "that you do not intend to arrest him, as soon as found?"

"He must be kept under close espionage, when traced, but so long as he does not leave London, he must be left quite free to come and go at will. There is much that is still hazy, concerning his appearance in Glenville, and I look to him to lead me to another—to the other, in fact."

"And," urged the solicitor, "do you feel safe in venturing this? May he not shun these places?"

"Listen! The man's name I do not know, but I know what he is. There are plotting villains in this world, who might scheme forever and still be often penniless. This man is a gambler. In Chicago he pawned the watch stolen from Charles Brierly's room, knowing that there was risk in so doing, but desperate for the money it would bring. He won soon after, and aware of danger ahead, for he had good reason to think himself followed over there, he at once redeemed his pledge. He does not dream that we are here, and the finances at headquarters, I have reason to think, are running low. To play he must have money, and when he has lost he will either pledge or sell the remainder of the jewels stolen from the writing desk. They were of considerable value, as I have discovered."

"May I ask why you presume that all the stolen jewels are in this man's possession?" asked the solicitor.

"Because they were stolen, in the first place, not for plunder's sake, but to mislead; and the party who took them lost no time, I am sure, in passing them on, and out of the town. It is hardly likely they would have divided them."

"Then you look upon this man as in truth little more than a cat's paw?"

"In some respects, yes. He does not take this view, however, and now I want to hear all about your interview with this lady, Mrs. Gaston Latham."

"According to your instructions," said Mr. Myers, "I remained in the background. Mr. Haynes was the spokesman."

Ferrars turned toward the solicitor, who began at once.

"There is really very little to tell. Of course I quite understand that the claimant was to be held off, and the next interview to take place in your presence."

Ferrars shook his head. "I fear we must change our plans somewhat. The fact is," here he glanced up and met the eye of Mr. Haynes, a queer smile lighting his own, "I have found just now, that I know a lady who seems to be a friend of this Mrs. Gaston Latham, and an inmate of her house in Bloomsbury. Now it might be a little awkward for me to appear before my—the lady in question, as the opponent of her friend. In fact, I must not appear in the matter — not yet, at any rate. And, upon my word, Mr. Myers, since our friend has taken up the role of spokesman-in-chief, you and I will both stand aside, just at first. May we count upon you?"

"I shall need some coaching, of course," suggested the solicitor.

"Of course; and that you shall have at once. But first, when is she to call again?"

"When I give the word."

"Give it at once, then; to-morrow at two p.m. Tell her to come alone. You can arrange for us to hear the interview, I dare say?"

The solicitor swung about in his big chair. "You see those two doors?" he asked, quite needlessly pointing at the two doors at opposite corners of the inner wall. "They open upon my private chamber of horrors. Formerly there was a partition, and two smaller rooms. The partition has been removed. In the morning I will have my man move that tall bookcase across the door at the right. The door, behind it, can then stand open, and you can hear very well. I will have my desk and the chairs moved nearer that corner. Will that do?"

"Excellently; only I must see the lady in some way."

"Then, if you will come in some slight disguise, you can sit at my clerk's desk, over by that window, with your back to the light. I will dismiss you, and you can go out to join Mr. Myers, through the left-hand door."

That evening when Ferrars strolled into his room after an early dinner, he found a note from a certain police inspector, in whose charge he had left the hunt, or rather, the watch for the suspected stranger. The note contained a summons, brief and peremptory, and he hastened to present himself before Inspector Hirsch.

"We have found your man," were the inspector's first words, when the detective was left alone with him. "And it was an easy trick, too, for all your fears to the contrary. I tell you, Ferrars, when a sport who lives only to gamble and bet on horses, comes back to London after any long absence, he's sure to go to one of a dozen flash places I can name, as soon as he can get there. And, if he's fooled he'll go to them all. Just give him time. I didn't neglect the houses of mine uncle, but I also sent a squad around to those other places."

"And you found him?"

"He goes by the name of Quarrelsome Harry, among his kind. Harry Levay is the way he writes it."

Ferrars pondered a moment. "H—m—I'm not surprised," he said, finally. "I was sure he was that kind. What's his specialty besides being quarrelsome?"

"Cards, and crooked bookmaking, I fancy. But Smithson, who seems to have known him of old, says he's up to most sorts of shady business, when his luck's down."

And the inspector went on describing the search for Quarrelsome Harry, who had been "spotted" at a time when he was in a fair way to prove his right to his sobriquet. For he had been losing money all the previous night, and had sought his room in a dingy house in Soho, in a very black mood.

Here, so the shadow had reported, Quarrelsome Harry had remained until late noonday, emerging then to lunch at a coffee house, and to take his way, for what purpose the watcher could only guess, to Houndsditch, where he seemed quite at home among the Jews in several cafes, and "club rooms," where he tarried for a greater or shorter time, and seemed to be looking for someone; someone, whom he did not find, it would seem, for he left the neighborhood, as he came, alone and with a lowering face.

"Looking for a loan, I'll wager," declared Ferrars. By to-morrow he'll be visiting my uncle. I'll have to leave him to your men to-night, I suppose, Hirsch, but to-morrow I will go on guard, myself."

He made a note of the Soho street and number, where Harry Levey had lodged, and then he took out his cigar case and the two men sat down together to talk about London, and compare notes. For they were old acquaintances, and could find much to say, one to the other.

An hour later, when Ferrars arose to go, the inspector looked at his watch.

"By jove, Frank, you don't mind my calling you that, eh? It seems like old times, half a dozen years ago. Say, it's almost the hour for the Swiss to report. He's on duty now looking after you man; wait till he comes in. Hobson must already have gone to relieve him, if he can find him. Harry was airing himself along the embankment when last heard from."

At half past ten the "Swiss," as rank an Englishman as ever ignored his h's, came in beaming.

He had left "'Arry," as he familiarly called the man he had been set to guard, in a front seat in the gallery of the Vaudeville theatre, in the Strand, and Hobson was sitting just three seats away and nearest the "halley."

"E's got a sort of green lookin' young duffer with 'im," went on the Swiss, "and they seem to be goin' to 'ave a night of it."

Ferrars got up quickly. "Come out with me, inspector," he said. "I may want you to call off your man. And, say, let me have one of your badges. It may come handy."

Did Not Rise To the Surface

And Therefore Could Not Call for Assistance

It appears that the late Francis Costello, the little lad who was drowned at Stony Lake Tuesday might have had a good chance of being saved had he risen to the surface after he fell into the water from the scow on which he was playing, and thus been enabled to call for aid. When the body was found it was lying closely held to the muddy bottom. It is thought that after the little chap sank he never rose to the surface and he was therefore unable to attract the attention of those nearby.

This Looks Bad For Port Hope

Only Two Weddings During September

The marriage registrations recorded at the town hall for September, were the small number of two, notwithstanding the fact that September is the month in which these events are usually supposed to be most popular. This falling off seems to indicate a lack of inclination on the part of either the young ladies or the men, or possibly both, to take upon themselves the responsibility of married life.—Port Hope Guide.

They Unearthed Corduroy Bridge

Discovered by Gang of Waterworks Men While Digging on Charlotte St.

While making connections for the installation of sewer services in the cellars of the two new stores that will be constructed by Mr. W. G. Lendrum, Charlotte-st. gang of men struck a corduroy bridge a few feet under the ground. Considering the fact that it was so old, the timbers and planking of the bridge were in a good state of preservation. The timbers were cedar and the planking pine, one of the timbers being two feet in thickness. After considerable digging and picking, the bridge was finally broken up and thrown up onto the side of the trench, with the rest of the earth. Mr Wm. English, who is one of the oldest residents of the city, says he remembers when the bridge was covered up, sixty-five years ago. At that time Mr. English was only a small boy.

Corner Busy as An Ant Hill

Radial Railway Co. and Water Works Dept. Working at Same Point

The road at the corner of George and Charlotte street is pretty much cut up to-day. The Peterborough Radial Railway Co. is changing the curves of the street railway at this point and are laying new rails there. The company is also making similar changes at the corner of King and George streets. The curves at these turns have not given as good satisfaction to the company as they should have hence the modifications. The work will probably be completed in about two days.

The waterworks department are also having the mains at the corner of George and Charlotte streets uncovered and are putting a cement top on the manhole at that point. The gang of men laying a granolithic crossing on George street from the Customs House to the clock tower, were found to be in the way and were shipped from that point to Queen-st. where they are now carrying on crossing laying operations.

Will Supply Union Jacks for the Rural Schools in the Province—Many Firms Tendered But the Local One Was the Choice--Order to be Filled Within 60 Days.

The enterprising firm of J. J. Turner & Sons are to be congratulated upon obtaining the contract for the supply of Union Jacks for the rural schools of the province, awarded to them by the Ontario Government. Word to this effect was received in the city yesterday afternoon and it certainly speaks volumes for Peterborough that there is here a factory that can turn out such work, and that their tender should be received, when it is considered that there were a great many Toronto firms, both large and influential who tendered for the work. The contract is a large one and important. At the last session of Parliament, an appropriation of $5,000 was made for the purchase of the flags and tenders were called. The order calls for 1,500 six foot Union Jacks. They will be made of the best English bunting and will have to be delivered within sixty days. The Messrs. Turner are noted for the promptness with which they fill orders, and this one will certainly be no exception to the rule.

The one thousand five hundred flags will by no means supply all the country schools in the province and this appropriation exceeds the amount of the accepted tender, which was sent in, stating the price for each flag. The remainder of the flags to complete the full list of schools, will be supplied by this firm at the call of the Government. They are being made in lots of 1,500 It is estimated that there are in this neighborhood of 5,000 schools to be supplied.

These Union Jacks are to be displayed inside the school during classes, and outside on any special day decided upon by the trustees.

The excellence of the work turned out by this firm is widely known and the beautiful flag displayed by them in their exhibits at Peterborough and Toronto fairs, was the subject of much admiration and praise by all who sa wit.

Short Session of Fire, Water and Light Committee

Duties of New Janitor Cause Discussion--No Change Likely to be Made at Fire Hall—Other Minor Matters.

A short session of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council was held last night after the Board of Works had adjourned. Only three or four minor matters came up for consideration.

Those present were; Ald. Johnston, chairman; Duncaf, Bradburn, Morgan and Mayor McWilliams.

A request for a hydrant at the corner of Bethune and Dublin streets, was referred to the chairman to be reported upon.

The reports of electric lights not burning on certain nights during the last quarter were more numerous than usual, thirteen. In connection with this matter the Mayor moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that there be deducted from the Peterborough Light & Power Co. the usual charges for all lights out unless the chairman of the committee and the city treasurer are satisfied that there was good reason for the lights not being lighted.—Carried.

The question as to who should take care of the bedrooms in the new fire hall and look after the furnace in the city buildings, came up in a discussion as to the duties of Mr. Wilson, the new caretaker of the city buildings.

The Mayor thought Wilson might look after the furnace in the city buildings, and also the bedrooms in the new fire hall. Under present arrangements, the Parnell boys, firehall drivers, take care of the bedrooms, for which they receive $50 a year each, and Sam Wainwright looks after the city buildings' furnace, for which he is paid $90. And should the Mayor's suggestion be adopted the assumption follows that Wainwright's present salary would b ereduced by $90, and the Parnell boys' wages reduced by $50 a year.

Ald. Morgan considered that the fire hall employees were not being paid too much. He contended that the present arrangement whereby the Parnell boys look after the bedrooms, should stand, but that Wilson should look after the furnace in the city buildings, and Wainwright the fire hall furnace.

Ald. Bradburn did not favor making any change this year.

No action was taken in the matter ,but it will likely be discussed at the Council meeting on Monday night.

The question of putting electric bells, in the houses of the Parnell boys and Mr. Wainwright came up again and brought forth considerable discussion, but no definite action was taken. It is likely, however, that the bells will be put in.

All the Pavements Will be Laid by End of the Month

The pavement laying gang of 25 men, under Superintendent Evans and Foreman J. Thirtbeck, are today laying a granolithic walk on the south side of Sherbrooke street, from Aylmer to the creek bridge on Sherbrooke. They have just finished laying a walk on Patterson street and while working there, made the record run of the season, laying over five hundred feet in one day. From King street the men will go to Maitland avenue, and from there to Gilmour, then to Reid, where the pavement will be laid on that street from McDonnell to Victoria avenue. The work will then be commenced on Victoria avenue. After the pavement is laid there, no further operations in the laying of the walks will be commence dumtil next spring. All the work referred to above will probably be completed before the end of the month.

Foreman Thirtbeck says he has had a particularly good year, and states that the concrete mixer which has been engineered by Mr. Sandy Bulmer, has given every satisfaction.

The Campaign Will be Short But Energetic for Y.M.C.A.

Effort Will be Made to Raise $1800 in Six Days—Splendid Rally Held Last Night—Prospects Are Bright —Get Into the Work.

Will the Y.M.C.A. raise $1800 within six days?

This is the sum required for a clean budget to the end of the present year.

All the members of the committee met last night at 8.30 at the building and enjoyed tea as the guests of Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, the retiring secretary of the Association. The repast—a dainty and admirably served one—was provided by Coleman Bros., the well known caterers.

Mr. J. C. Shook presided and, after the wants of the inner man had been done full justice, he stated the object of the gathering, which was to inaugurate a movement that would place the Y.M.C.A. clear of all liabilities until the end of the present year, and also to leave Mr. Williamson's successor free to develop Association work.

The committee looked for a generous response and believed that the budget campaign would succeed.

A bulletin will be posted in the Y.M.C.A. each day announcing the sum collected. The directors will hold a meeting this evening and tomorrow night there will be another tea at the building to which the workers are invited. The campaign ends on Tuesday night next and Mr. Williamson, asks the citizens of Peterboro,' for no better endorsement of his ten and a half years' work, here as general secretary, than to leave the Association in a good financial position. He will leave on Thursday, October 10th for Fort William, where he enters upon his duties as general secretary in the new Y.M.C.A. in that thriving city.

Last night Mr. J. W. Bennet read out a long list of names of citizens who are to be canvassed. These citizens have helped the Y.M.C.A. in the past and are expected to do so again. Each member of the committee volunteered to see so many persons with the grand object of raising the $1800 budget, and will report daily at the building as to what progress he is making.

Everyone is going to work with energy and enthusiasm. The spirit of the campaign is contagious, its object is worthy, and there is not a member but who believes the sum sought will be attained.

The campaign lasts only six days. It will be short, sharp and decisive. A tea will be held at the building again tomorrow night and on Tuesday next there will be a grand closing banquet, which will be prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary. Get into the work and give a subscription.

The following have been appointed to act as a Citizens' Campaign Committee, with Mr. J. C. Shook as chairman;— All the members of the Board, together with the following; Messrs D Hughes Charles, J Crane, T F Matthews, R R Hall, Jas Kendry, J R Stratton, T E Bradburn, Mayor McWilliams, E G Patterson, W H Denham, R Fair, W H Hamilton, F Brownscombe, H Rush, J D Collins, James Hamilton, Peter Campbell, Richard Hall, J H Larmonth, W H Hill, R E Layfield, Jno. Carlisle, Robt Neill and F H Dobbin.

WEDDING BELLS

GERMAN—STEVENSON

At 4.30 p.m. on Wednesday of last week, a very pretty wedding, attended by sixty guests, was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stevenson, of Hastings, when their youngest daughter, Ethel, became the wife of Mr. Victor German, second son of Mr. A. B. Gurman of Brickley, the Rev. W. Elliott officiating. The bride was becomingly gowned in cream crepe-de-chene trimmed with silk insertion and satin ribbon, and carried a bouquet of whites asters. Her going away gown was of blue ladies-cloth with hat to match. The bridesmaid, Miss Kate German, sister of the groom, was daintily attired in cream crepe-de-chine and also carried white asters. The groom was supported by Mr. Ernest Fitzgerald, and Miss Lillian Fairman, of Godolphin, played the wedding march. The presents were numerous and costly. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was an opal ring, and to the groomsman a gold locket. After partaking of a sumptuous repast the happy couple, amid a shower of rice, took the 7.40 train for Peterborough and thence to Port Hope, Belleville and points east, followed by the hearty congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

ATTEMPTED IN VAIN TO FIND LADY LOVE

Toronto Young Man Searched Hastings Looking for His Sweetheart

A particularly well dressed young man arrived in town one day last week from Toronto, says the Hastings Star, and proceeded to make enquiries for a family, which he had supposed were old residents of the vicinity of Hastings, but after making diligent search for his acquaintances for over a day, he was forced to return to Toronto without seeing them, as no one had heard the name, and thereby hangs a tale.

It appears that the young man had a lady friend in Toronto, whose home town she gave as Hastings, and about a week ago the young lady came home on a visit, keeping up a correspondence with the young man in the meantime, and he had written a couple of times to her at Hastings, addressing the letters to the name she gave. On Wednesday the young man thought he would drop down and make a call, and in due time arrived in Hastings, but no person with the name the young woman gave could be found in this locality, and he had to return to Toronto without having any visit.

What will the young woman have to say when she meets the disappointed one on her return to Toronto.

The following is from the October number of the "Telephone Age of Canada.";

Peterborough, Ont., has been the mecca of telephone experts from several important centres latterly, in order to see the working of the Lorimer Automatic System, installed by the Canadian Macbine Telephone Co. in the above city. One was a Mr. Conway, of the Engineering Department of New York, and this gentlemen, it is understood, is sending in a very favorable report to the civic authorities. R. de la Sablienne and H Moreau, of Paris, France, were two other visitors to the Canadian Machine Telephone Company's plant in Peterborough, who carried away with them such good impressions that a similar system is to be installed in two French cities, namely, Paris and St. Dennis.

The postage on letters to Great Britain, Egypt, and all parts of the British Empire, has hitherto been two cents per half ounce or fraction thereof, but will in future be two cents per ounce or fraction thereof.

At present a three pound loaf sells at 10c., which has been the price for a long period. At Lindsay 11c per loaf is being paid, the advance having been made a few days ago.

The prospects for the coming season are exceptionally bright, and all young men will be cordially welcomed.

A programme for the year will be drawn up and presented for consideration on Oct. 16th.

WEDDING BELLS

HILL--WARNER

A pretty wedding was solemnized this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Peter Warner, 128 Brock street, when his daughter, Miss Susie, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Stuart Hill, of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of George street Methodist church, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in a pretty dress of white silk collenne, pearl trimmings and point d'esprit lace. She wore the conventional bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss May Hill, sister of the groom, looked charming in a dress of pale blue silk mulle She carried pink carnations. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Herb. McMillan.

After the ceremony the guests partook of a dainty repast. The groom gave to both the bride and bridesmaid a sapphire ring, and to the groomsman, a garnet ring.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents, including a handsome cheque from her father.

Mr and Mrs. Hill left on the 4.48 C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will reside. The bride travelled in a suit of wine-colored Venetian cloth, with hat to match.

Mr. Ben. Hager, of Edmonton, Alta., has recently had occasion to test the remarkable healing powers of ZAM-BUK. He says:—
"When opening a can of Pineapple Sauce the other day, the Can Opener lost its grip and my hand was ripped open by the rough edge of the half opened can. It made a gash in my hand about 2 inches long. The pain was fearful and the blood simply gushed away from me. I had a box of ZAM-BUK handy and I immediately applied some. To my surprise the pain suddenly ceased and the blood stopped. ZAM-BUK'S quickness in healing up Sores, Cuts, Bruises, etc., is a great puzzle to me."
"ZAM-BUK beats all other remedies and I therefore recommend ZAM-BUK everywhere."
ZAM-BUK'S great healing powers have puzzled others, but its strength lies in its purity. Made from rice saps, juices and aromatic oils got from Medicinal herbs, it becomes NATURE'S OWN REMEDY.

Property Owners to be Asked To File Objections, if Any

To the Grand Trunk Constructing New Sidings—Mayor McWilliams Says He Will Not be Influenced by Threats of Loss of Votes at Elections—Board of Works Had Busy Session.

The Board of Works had a busy session last night, many matters coming up for consideration. A number of them, in fact the major portion, were of minor importance, but they required considerable attention. Among the matters dealt with was application of the Grand Trunk Railway to construct two new sidings east of Bethune street, between Wolfe and Sherbrooke streets, particulars of which appeared in yesterday's Review. The Board decided to take no action in this matter until it was ascertained if the property owners in the locality in question had any objections to the application being granted. They will be asked to file their objections, if any, before next Wednesday night.

Those who were present were Ald. Duncan, chairman; Ald. McIntyre, Wilson, Bradburn, Johnson, Mayor McWilliams, City Engineer Hay, Street Commissioner Evans and City Clerk Armstrong.

Communications were first taken up.

Mr. Dean of the Bell Telephone Co., wrote stating that there was a fifteen inch space between the sidewalk, and the new telephone building on Hunter street. He requested that it be filled in before the frost came. Mr. Dean also drew attention to the fact that a crossing should be put down, over the sidewalk at the west side of the building, in order that they could drive into the lot.

Mayor McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston, that the space referred to by Mr. Dean, be filled in and that an approach be built to the sidewalk. Carried.

Ald. Wilson wanted to know why the surface of the ground was not left in good condition after a sewer connection was put in. He thought the city should be able to do the work as well as the Bell Telephone Company. He would make it a part of the plumbing inspector's duty to see that this work was done properly.

There was some further discussion on this matter, but another matter was taken up before a resolution could be put through.

WILL IMPROVE CORNER.

The Geo. Matthews Co. wrote drawing attention to the condition of the street at the corner of Sherbrooke and Park streets, where they have opened a new branch store. There is a deep ditch at the point and the letter contained the suggestion that large tile should be put in and the ditch done away with.

Ald. Duncan and Ald. Wilson thought that something should be done as the ditch was in bad shape.

Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that pipe on Sherbrooke street be continued to the corner of Park street, and that the necessary filling in be done on Park street.

Ald. Morgan asked that new crossings be placed in front of St. Luke's and Mark street churches in East City. The present ones are in bad condition, and the church people wanted the new ones badly.

AT THE CROSSINGS.

On motion of Ald. McIntyre, seconded by Ald. Johnston, it was decided to have the new crossings put in.

Ald. Johnston said that some gravel was needed on Barnardo avenue, between Water and George streets. Ald. Duncan stated that the matter would be attended to.

Ald. Johnston also drew attention to the poor manner in which a temporary crossing had been put in front of Mr. Parke's house on Park street. Ald. Duncan said that he had noticed that the work had not been done according to instructions and promised to have the matter attended to.

In connection with the bad way in which the streets are left after sewer connections are put in, Ald. Wilson said that a resolution should be passed, requiring this work to be done properly before the men doing it would be paid.

After some discussion, it was moved by Ald. Wilson, and seconded by the mayor, that the engineer examine all sewer connections made during this year, and have necessary work done at places where they are not satisfactory at the cost of the contractors.

Doubt was expressed if the resolution could be worked out satisfactorily.

Ald. Wilson put after the Radial Railway Company for not having filled in between the rails as had been promised. He thought it was high time something should be done to make the street railway people live up to their obligations.

WORST OF THE BUNCH.

Ald. Johnston said the gas people were the worst of them all as regards leaving the streets in bad condition. He specified a recent cut, where a trench had been dug across a street, and after it was filled in a big stump had been left where the excavation had been made.

Ald. Duncan said that next year, the street railway people should be given a reasonable period of time to make the necessary repairs to their roadbed and to get after them, if they did not do so.

GRAND TRUNK'S REQUEST.

A letter from Superintendent W. R. Tiffin of the Grand Trunk was read, making application for permission to lay two new sidings on the east side of Bethune street between Sherbrooke and Dalhousie. Mr. Tiffin outlined the plan they had in view, and asked the city to grant permission that the work might be gone ahead with at once.

The Mayor stated that he believed it would be in the city's interests to facilitate the Grand Trunk but this point arose whether the building of the sidings would affect the property in the blocks in question. He suggested that before anything is done the property owners in the locality should be notified and their views on the matter ascertained.

There was a variance of opinion as to whether or not, the new sidings would have a detrimental effect on property and after some discussion Mayor McWilliams moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that all the owners of property in the two blocks between Wolfe and Sherbrooke and Bethune and Aylmer streets, be notified of the application of the Grand Trunk to construct these two sidings, and be asked to file any objections they may have to it being granted.—Carried.

GATES WANTED.

Ald. Wilson said it would be a good time to get the company to erect gates at the railway crossings on King and Dalhousie streets. Gates were needed at these two places, and needed badly.

Ald. Duncan informed the Board that the petition for a granolithic sidewalk on the south side of Townsend street, between Stewart and Park, was now sufficiently signed, and the work will be done this fall.

ABOUT SIDEWALKS.

Ald. McIntyre brought up the matter of having a granolithic sidewalk put in this fall on the north side of Perry street between George and Aylmer streets. He moved to this effect, but got no seconder for the motion, and nothing will be done at present.

It was pointed out that there was a good board sidewalk on the street mentioned, and sidewalks were needed worse in other places in the city.

Ald. Wilson moved, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the sidewalk on Lansdowne street be repaired where possible, and that it be removed where not possible to repair. — Carried.

AN EXPLANATION.

Mr. Thomas J. Moore waited on the board and made an explanation regarding the complaint that he had built his boulevard at the corner of Charlotte and St. Joseph streets, put on the street. He stated that before he built the house he went to City Engineer Hay and asked him to give him the lines at the street corner, but the engineer refused. He then secured a land surveyor and had the place in question surveyed, and then built accordingly. He thought the Board of Works had no right to condemn him. He also complained about the board sitting on him" in connection with his request for a sidewalk.

Ald. Johnston said that the board had not "sat on" Mr. Moore. The city engineer had found out that the street was not the proper width in front of Mr. Moore's property and was not going to put down a sidewalk until the lines had been definitely settled.

The city engineer concurred with this. The street was not the right width, and was not going to have a granolithic sidewalk put down until the matter was settled.

The Mayor gave three reasons why Mr Moore's request for a sidewalk had not been granted. First, the lines were not definitely settled; second, he did not believe in having a private individual doing work on the street, and third, Mr. Moore had threatened him with votes if he (the Mayor) did not support his request when it came up before the Board of Works. He had no use for a man who acted in this way.

Ald. Wilson said his opinions were pretty much the same as those of the Mayor.

MR MOORE'S CHARGE.

"You're sore because I don't sweeten up to you like some people do," said Mr Moore to the Mayor.

"Nothing of the kind," replied Mr. McWilliams, "but I haven't any use for a man who tries to have something put through by threatening what he is going to do with votes at the next election."

Mr. M. J. Curran, 702 Stewart street, asked to be allowed to connect with the Reid street sewer.

After some discussion, Ald. Johnston moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that Mr. Curran be permitted to connect with the Reid street sewer on the payment of $25 and the cost of the connection.—Carried.

A petition was received for a granolithic sidewalk on Dalhousie street, between Rubidge and Stewart streets. The petition was sufficiently signed.

No action was taken for the present.

A petition was also received for a pipe sewer on Bethune street between London and Dublin streets. The petition was sufficiently signed, and, on motion of Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Wilson, the work will be done as soon as possible.—Carried.

PARNELL STREET SEWER.

Nothing was done regarding the Parnell street sewer, although it was discussed.

Ald. Johnston said he would like to see the request for the sewer granted, but thought it was a matter for the city engineer. He did not think the Park street sewer would be built for years.

Ald. Wilson was not in favor of putting a sewer on Parnell street, until it was seen how the sewer on Romaine street was going to work this winter and next spring.

The city engineer gave the opinion that he considered it would be better to wait until next spring and see how the Romaine street sewer was going to work. He thought everything was going to be all right, but preferred waiting until the spring.

No action was taken.

Mr. Middleton's request that a plank sidewalk should be put down on Edinburgh street, between Water and George streets, was granted.

BENSON AVENUE SEWER.

City Engineer Hay reported regarding the Benson Avenue sewer, that the comparative estimates for drainage of Benson Avenue and the Normal school were as follows;

A—For serving all houses on Benson Avenue between Smith and Short streets with a maximum cut of 11 feet—$940.

B—For serving the Normal School by a trunk sewer across the park and discharging into Barnardo Ave. sewer, with a maximum depth or cut of 5 feet 9 inches—$504.

C—For serving all houses on Benson Avenue between Smith street and Dixon Park, as well as the Normal School by way of Smith street, with a maximum depth of cut of 24 feet 6 inches—$2,430.00.

By building as per plans A and B the total cost will be $1,545.00, as against $2,430.00 for plan C, a difference in cost of $9,370.

Mr Harry Thompson's request for a plank sidewalk in East City near the dam, was not granted, as it was pointed out that the place where the sidewalk was wanted was private land.

Several other minor matters were considered before adjournment.

Immigration Work Of Salvation Army

Settlers Will Locate on Crown Lands of New Brunswick

Brigadier Hargrave of the Salvation Army, while in the city this week, announced a new immigration and industrial policy for New Brunswick. The Government has decided to put immigration matters under the care of two officials. One official will also be appointed to look after the encouragement of the establishment of industries in New Brunswick.

As a result of a conference at Moncton with General Booth and Colonel Lamb of the Salvation Army, Colonel Lamb has prepared a proposal to the Government to bring out from England, emigrants of a good class and settle them on Crown lands.

The premier said that the lands along the line of the Intercolonial Railway—also those in the tract in Carleton County, recently acquired from the New Brunswick Land Co., were considered suitable for settlement by the Salvation Army.

Immigration will be assisted by Government loans. The province itself will have a system for the encouragement of immigration, that, coupled with the elaborate machinery of the Salvation Army, in the opinion of Premier Robinson, will bring about the settlement of much of New Brunswick's vacant territory.

Already the Salvation Army have chartered several vessels to bring parties to Canada. Some of the ships will land immigrants at ports in the Maritime Provinces.

Roseneath Fair Was Well Attended

All the Departments Were Splendidly Represented

Although the weather was rather cool and threatening nearly the whole day, it did not stop a great number from turning out to put in an afternoon's holiday and meet friends and neighbors at Roseneath fair. On account of Peterborough fair being held on the same day, it no doubt kept some of those away, from across the lake, but take it on an average, and there was a good crowd. The various events were judged in good time, and everything was run off as smoothly as could possibly have been done, even though there was a good, large entry list. The heavy horses on exhibition were above the average, as also were the Holstein cattle and sheep, with a very good showing of Ayrshire and Short Horn cattle. The light driving class in either single did not seem to be as high a standard as the heavier horses, although there were some very good turnouts. The ladies driving contest brought out some very clever ribbon handling, and was watched with a great deal of interest by the large crowd lining the track.

The fine art and fancy work exhibit had a well filled list of entries, showing the keen competition among the fair sex in the various departments of painting, needlework and weaving, and the poultry and produce exhibit was well up to the mark. Aside from the good that the fair does to stimulate better efforts in the various departments of stock breeding and agriculture, the one great good it does, which is enough to commend it alone, is that it brings the whole community together for at least one good holiday, where one can meet all his neighbors at least once a year.

Boys' Department Opens the Season

At Y. M. C. A. by Holding Most Enjoyable Social

That the Boys' Department is a good, live and promising branch of the Y.M.C.A., was completely demonstrated last evening at the Boy's Department social, which marked the opening of the season. Over fifty were present, and a most enjoyable time was spent. Mr. Williamson presided, and other junior workers in attendance were: Messrs. J. F. Thornton, W. E. McCann, Dr. Middleton, chairman of the Boys' Committee; Geo. Martin and Fred Hall.

A short time was spent in story telling, a prize of a box of chocolates being donated to the one telling the best. Then the work of the year was outlined and discussed.

A hearty welcome was given Mr. C. H. James, the new physical director, when the classes in the gymnasium were outlined.

Mr. Williamson then explained the six-day campaign, and the boys soon caught the spur of the moment, and are out to land at least fifty new member by the eighth of October.

The following committee was appointed to push it—Fred Hall, chairman; H. Johnston, V. Mitchell, D. Layfield, H. Lees, J. Harstone, Ray Parry, Mel. Turner, W. Stratton, W. Fortye, Hugh Wallis, L. Stevens, Walter Perks, Stan. Creswell, and Elmer Sanderson.

Before the gathering broke up, light refreshments were served, which were thoroughly enjoyed.

The success of the social is due entirely to the Boys' Department Social Committee of which Mel. Turner is chairman.

President—George Foster.
Vice-Pres.—J. E. Smith.

Infant Child Was Burned to Death

Mr. Robert Russel's house at Allisonville, was burned down with all of its contents on Thursday, the 19th of September, and the youngest child, a boy of two years old, was so badly burned that it died Friday night. The funeral took place last Sunday, Rev. Benjamin Ainsworth conducted the service. Remains interred at this cemetery. Mr. Russel was away at the time of the fire and his wife was out milking when one of the little boys ran out telling his mother the house was on fire. The youngest was tied in a chair and it was with great difficulty that it was got out.

Three or four of the neighbors were out Saturday and have so far got about $150.00 and the promise of several household articles for the the family.

Philip O'Brien Got Drunk Again

Appeared in Police Court To-day —Second Time This Week

Philip O'Brien, who was fined two dollars on Tuesday for being drunk in a public place, appeared in Police Court again this morning charged with the same offence.

"Here again?" said His Worship, as the aged offender moved slowly towards the prisoner's dock.

"Yes, Your Honor," said the prisoner, 'and I have lost all my money, too." He had over twenty dollars on Tuesday, and today all that remained of it was fifteen cents. While under the influence of liquor, someone evidently went through his pockets. He was fined two dollars to be paid forthwith, or fifteen days in goal. Having no funds, he will spend the next fortnight at Castle Nesbitt.

ALLOWED TO GO.

Ross McCall, the young lad who pleaded guilty to stealing a number of lead pencils from the office of the Peterborough Typewriter Co., yesterday, appeared before His Worship again this morning and was allowed to go on suspended sentence. He was given some good, sound advice, and promised never to appear again.

Deer Pastured With the Cattle

Janetville Farmer Captured the Animal Which is Now Quite Tame

Quite an interesting wild animal story is on everybody's tongue in Janetville and vicinity. Not very far from Janetville, there are miles and miles of swampy and wooded land, which is almost impenetrable. It is an ideal spot for ducks, partridge and other game, as the famous bear story of a few weeks ago will testify.

The latest denizen of the northern forests to seek these wilds and then forsake them for the haunts of men is a fine four-year-old deer.

It seems that about a week ago, as Mr. Robert G. Bradburn was out in his lower pasture, salting his cattle he noticed among them an animal of a different shape and color from his usual good breed of stock. He looked closer. It was a deer! Mr. Bradburn then started walking slowly backward with the salt and the cattle and deer followed him right up to the door yard, where he called his wife to come and see what he had brought home. The animal stayed round for a few minutes and then becoming frightened at some movement on the part of Mr. Bradburn leaped over the fence and made off into the woods near the pasture.

In a day or two Mr. Albert McNeil, who lives about a mile from Mr. Bradburn's, saw it coming into his barnyard with the cattle one evening. There were two men present, and while the deer didn't seem at all afraid of them, it wouldn't let them get near it. The farm dog then caught the animal's eye, and the two stood riveted watching each other's movements. The two men then stole around behind among the cattle and caught the deer by the hind legs. Mr. McNeil now has it in a box stall in his stable where he can tend to it. Everyone for miles around has been to see it, and it has now become quite tame.

Importance of the Trent Canal

Campbellford Herald Points Out Great Benefits of the Water Way

The prevalent idea of navigation along the Trent Valley route is mostly derived from what people at present see of navigation, says the Campbellford Herald. We know that there are on those portions of the canal already open for navigation a large number of boats which are running excursions here and there and carrying a certain amount of freight, and with this limited knowledge of the benefits of canal navigation, we say, what is the use of a canal, anyway? Everywhere one admits that during the construction of the canal an immense of amount of money will be expended along the canal route. At present the three mile stretch from Crow Bay to Campbellford is under construction and will be completed by next fall. This three mile stretch involves an expenditure of nearly seven hundred thousand dollars. The stretch from Campbellford bridge to Bradley Bay is yet to be let and will no doubt cost a much larger sum. Besides there is that portion of the canal from Crow Bay to Healey Falls, which is also let to be let and will also cost a very large sum of money. Campbellford and Seymour will be the chief beneficiaries of this vast expenditure of money on these three sections of the canal. The great permanent benefits to be derived from the construction of the Trent Valley canal, however, will be the cheapening and regulating of freight.

The Trent Canal, when completed, will be a much better waterway the Erie canal. The Erie canal for three hundred and twenty-five miles of its five hundred mile course is actual canal, while the Trent route for its whole length, with the exception of perhaps twenty or twenty-five miles, will be through beautiful lakes and rivers along which powerful tugs driving tows of barges can be operated at high rate of speed.

The time required to pass from one level to another by means of the splendid hydraulic locks already constructed at Peterborough and Kirkfield is from ten to twelve minutes, while under the old lockage system there would be a delay at these points of two and a half to three hours. These hydraulic locks are the best of their type in existence today.

There is already raised in the valley of the Trent a territory as large as the Province of New Brunswick, about sixteen million bushels of grain, besides large quantities of other produce. Taking grain alone, the freight from Campbellford to Montreal is now about six cents per bushel, while by way of the Trent Canal on the basis of the rate now charged from Buffalo to New York, via the Erie canal, a distance of five hundred miles, the rate will be only two cents per bushel. There will be, therefore, at the very lowest, a saving to the farmers as producers of grain in the Trent Valley district of four cents per bushel or six hundred and forty thousand dollars each year, which amount will be kept in the farmers' pockets instead of being paid out to railways. This saving in the one item of grain illustrates the great advantage that will accrue from the construction of this splendid canal.

It may be said that these sixteen million bushels of grain produced in the Trent Valley district will not be all shipped out of the country. This is quite true. The enchantment, however, in the value of the grain to the producers results just the same on account of the reduction in the cost of transportation to the railway markets of the world.

John E. Morris, of Bowmanville, for many years a bus driver and latterly a section man, was killed by a G.T.R. train yesterday.

A GOOD WORK

Are you helping along the six days' campaign to raise the budget of $1,800, so as to place the local Y.M.C.A. on a firm financial basis until the end of the present year?

A vigorous committee has been appointed to canvass the citizens, and has gone to work with vim and zest. The time is short, the amount large, but there is no doubt the goal will be reached.

Short, sharp, quick and decisive will be the move. There will be no drag, no let-up, and by Tuesday night next it is expected that the large number of volunteer canvassers will be able to gladly proclaim that the financial Rubicon has been crossed.

The new secretary, whoever he may be, will thus be enabled to enter upon his work free of all encumbrance. He can devote his whole time and energy to the different departments and carry on an aggressive campaign for the winter season.

The Y.M.C.A. is a splendid institution. Its work is growing, not only in this, but in many other places, such as Orillia, where a fine large and admirably appointed building was formally opened a few days ago, and in Fort William, where a new branch of the Association has been established. The Y.M.C.A. has the support of the business, industrial and professional men of the city. They recognize what the institution is doing to develop young men spiritually, socially, educationally and physically. It supplies a need that no other society fills. It affords strangers in the city protection from the many temptations that are apt to allure them from the path of rectitude—from the straight, honest, open and manly careers which are before them. The Y.M.C.A. is a bulwark in this respect, an abode for the new arrival, a gathering place where environs are wholesome and influences are in the right direction. It is more than a club or society. It is in the best and fullest meaning of the term, a "home." It is worthy of every support and encouragement. Its work bespeaks its worth. It is entirely unsectarian in character, and is broad enough in its ideals and methods to enlist the approval and sympathy of all.

The present campaign should succeed. The object is a meritorious one and the appeal to raise $1800 is made in the confident assurance that it will be backed up by substantial donations, and that the institution shall not have its usefulness and plans for the coming season hampered by need of funds, or crippled by lack of general appreciation. All success to the Y.M.C.A. and its admirable work.

THE PROPER COURSE

At the Board of Works meeting last night, Mr. Thomas Moore appeared and pressed his claim for a sidewalk in front of his property at the corner of St. Joseph and Charlotte streets. Mr. Moore wanted to build the walk himself—a proceeding which the Board will not allow, as that body cannot countenance private citizens laying walks on city property. The petition for the pavement was, it further appears, not presented in time to have the job done this season. The walk would be contracted in its proper turn, there being many requisitions ahead of it regularly signed. The Mayor so informed Mr. Moore, but it appears that gentleman grew indignant and informed His Worship what would "happen next January." If the request was not granted, Mr. McWilliams was told that he would not be supported, etc. The occupant of the civic chair, promptly told Mr. Moore, that he would not grant any concessions, which he deemed improper, and that he was not either going to be cajoled or intimidated into taking a course to please any particular individual or individuals, when it was not, in his judgment, right to do so. The mayor or any other representative, who meet with these threats which are too frequent, assume a proper attitude when they resent them.

The ratepayer, who boasts, unless his wishes are granted, such and such a thing will happen, is a rather dangerous citizen. All public servants should have backbone enough to resent such attacks. If aldermen could be dragooned at the pleasure of certain individuals, into carrying out certain things, not in the public interest, a nice mess they would make of civic administration. A public man cannot please and satisfy all parties. He would be foolish to attempt it. A citizen who avows that unless a thing is done he will have revenge, is one who need not, in the least, be feared. His influence is generally not worth courting and all the harm he can effect, should not cause any representative, who pursues a policy which he honestly believes to be right, any worry or loss of sleep. Tammany methods cannot prevail here. All honor to members of any city council who are above being influenced by threats, jibes, or reproach, when they believe they are right and doing what they conscientiously think to be best for the general interest and advancement of the community.

PEN POINTS

Help raise the budget of $1800 for the Y.M.C.A. in the great six day campaign. The Association is doing a splendid work in Peterborough.

Some of those fellows who are lamenting the paucity of marriages in October should have done something themselves in that line to help swell the average.

A "Cinderella" dance is to be given in the market hall, and the price of admission will not be any more than the cost of a pound of butter.

Otonabee Liberals do not want Mr. Stratton as a candidate in East Peterborough. They have little or no use for him, and will oppose him tooth and nail. There is no uncertainty as to where they stand in this matter and they are not at all backward in proclaiming their attitude. They believe, if Mr. Stratton is all that he claims to be he should stay in the West Riding.

The latest announcements made is that Japanese will now be admitted only when they have passports from the Government of Japan, whereby it is claimed that the immigration from Hawaii will be stopped. This simple plan goes into effect a few months too late, for the last shipload of Japanese from Honolulu completes the contract, under which some six thousand have been brought to this country. These are a part of 9,500 Asiatic laborers who have been landed in British Columbia, in a little over a year. a pretty large colony to come into the constituency of a Minister and a Government supporter who have both declared that British Columbia must be "a white man's country."

As anticipated, the Examiner declines to answer the questions asked by the Review in reference to the authorship of the letter, signed "Onlooker," charging Mr. Stratton with inspiring the contribution, etc. Harken unto this as a sample of the way our contemporary again dodges the issue:

"Is there any law against any friend of Mr. Stratton writing a letter to the district newspapers, with or without his approval?" No sir! There is not. Nor is there a law preventing Mr. Stratton writing these letters himself in the Examiner office under such a pseudonym as "Onlooker" and sending them to the district press, seeking to give himself a boost for the Liberal nomination in East Peterborough. It does not require much "guess work" to see through the whole game.

The resignation of Mr. W. Fessenden, for seventeen years principal of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, to take effect at the end of the present scholastic year, came in the nature of a surprise. It is however, gratifying to learn that Mr. Fessenden's services will not be lost to the school, and that he will be retained as a member of the staff to continue his splendid work. He desires merely to be relieved of the responsibilities and cares incidental to the principalship, which he has filled worthily and well for so many years. Mr. Fessenden has been most faithful and attentive and the long strain has begun to tell on his nervous system. He is not the first principal of a large and flourishing school who, owing to nervous affection, has been compelled to relinquish the onerous duties of head master, and take charge of one department only. Ottawa, Goderich and many other places might be mentioned. While regretting the cause, which has led to the voluntary resignation of Mr. Fessenden as principal, his many friends will learn with pleasure that his splendid abilities as an instructor will still be at the disposal of the Collegiate Institute. It is sincerely hoped that for many years yet, he will enjoy health and strength to continue his labor in the mathematical department, in which he is peer of any teacher in Canada.

Handsome Store To Open Saturday

Geo. Matthews' Attractive South End Establishment Completed

On Saturday morning next, the Geo. Matthews Co., Limited, will open their handsome new store at the corner of Park and Sherbrooke-sts. It is a fine building, just lately put up and is certainly a credit to the progressive firm and to the south part of the city. This section of Peterborough has grown so rapidly within the last two years, that this wide-awake establishment deemed it advisable to open a retail branch of their business and, with this end in view, purchased the lot at the corner of Sherbrooke and Park streets.

A handsome two-storey, white brick building has been built on it, facing Park street. The store is bright and commodious, and the rooms over it are beautifully finished for a dwelling. The interior of the shop is like all Mr. Matthews' places of business, finished in the most modern style. The walls are in white tiling and the ceiling is a metallic one. A long marble-topped counter runs on either side of the room. The refrigerator is a fine large one, being modern in every detail. It is built in the wall, with glass windows. Cases and shelves are placed on both sides of the store. A nice office has been fitted up for the cashier and the and the cases were made by the Peterborough Canoe Co. MacGregor & Reid are installing a system of hot water heating, and the plumbing is also being done by this firm.

Mr. Arthur Message will be the manager of this new branch and will reside in the rooms above it. Everything will be in readiness by Saturday and the south end residents will not be obliged to come up town to procure their meat, canned goods, butter, eggs, pickles, cheese, hams, bacon and pork products of all kinds. The opening of this store is but another evidence of the enterprise and business foresight of the Geo. Matthews Co., Limited, and demonstrates that they are keeping pace with the expansion of the city, having now three attractive and admirably appointed retail establishments.

Had Spent Night With "the Boys"

And Northend Resident Was Much Afraid of His Wife

"Won't my wife give me h— when I get home; won't she jump on me for being drunk."

These were the words that fell upon the ears of a member of the Review staff, as he wended his way homeward along George street about eleven o'clock last night. They were uttered by a north end resident who had apparently been out for a time with "the boys" and whose locomotion was decidedly unsteady. As he staggered along he kept repeating to himself all the things his wife would likely do to him when he reached the family residence.

"Won't she raise h-ang and give it to me," he mumbled. "But say, if she was out with the boys she'd get drunk too, but she'll give it to me alright."

He seemed to have a deadly fear of what his better half would do to him, but let it be hoped that she didn't jump on him too hard.

A deserted infant was found on a John street doorstep in Hamilton last night and prosecution will follow as child desertion is becoming frequent in the city.

AWFUL RECORD OF CRIME.

Very Few N. Y. Murderers Pay Penalty In Electric Chair.

New York, Oct. 3.—On an average 240 murders are committed in New York City every year.

Sixty-five arrests are made for these murders.

Thirty-three alleged murderers are brought to trial.

Twenty convictions result.

Two of the convicted men are sentenced to death.

Three others receive life sentences.

A murder in New York City stands a chance of 1 in 100 of escaping the penalty of his crime.

In the first 25 years of the nineteenth century there were only two unsolved murder cases in New York.

From 1900 to the present day there have been over 300 unsolved murder cases in New York City.

These figures were furnished by William C. Clemons, the criminologist, in a talk to the members of the Grealy Council, National Union, on Tuesday night. The causes, Mr. Clemons says, are inefficient and ignorant detectives, men who are excellent patrolmen, but who know nothing of the science of tracing crime and criminals.

Besides the known murders in this city every year, he says there are at least 25 which are never heard of. These take place in every walk of life and are usually accompanied by the use of poisons, although frequently a knife or a pistol inflicts a death wound, and members of the family conceal the facts. Appendicitis, heart failure or some similar cause is marked down as the medium of death.

ROSS STILL MISSING.

No Trace of Canadian Who Disappeared In London.

London, Oct. 3—(C. A. P.)—It transpires that Dugald Ross' disappearance is more mysterious than related on Tuesday. Tuesday of last week he motored from the Berkeley Hotel with a friend to the bank on Threadneedle street, stating he had to call about a cheque for £20,000.

The friend waited five and a half hours for him, until moved on by the police. His cards were inscribed, Streetsville, Ontario, Canada, and his notepaper indicated he was an importer and breeder of Clydesdales and hackneys on a farm two miles east of Streetsville.

He visited Folkstone the day following his disappearance from London, staying 24 hours at a hotel there, and leaving suddenly with only a small bag. He had previously stayed at this hotel, departing in the same sudden, eccentric manner.

Absolutely no trace of him is discoverable, and the press is disseminating a description and photographs.

CONSPIRATORS INDICTED.

Had Plan to Overthrow U. S. Government in Cuba.

Havana, Oct. 3.—Seven indictments have been found by the special judge in the conspiracy cases, and the men indicted are being held in default of $10,000 bail each.

The indictment accuses the conspirators of "having agreed upon a plan to overthrow the Provincial Government of the United States as quickly as possible by dynamiting bridges, burning the properties of all foreigners excepting Spaniards, killing Americans, and doing everything possible to prevent the realization of the coming sugar crop."

The secret police Tuesday night discovered 200 pounds of dynamite at a railroad station in this city. The explosive was labelled "hardware," and was being shipped to the interior.

MAJESTIC METEOR SEEN.

Body Left Trail of Sparks and Was Visible a Minute.

New York, Oct. 3.—A meteor of majestic proportions swept the western sky early Tuesday night. To onlookers here it appeared larger and brighter than an arc light seen a block away, but was of a more bluish hue.

Despatches from Suffern, N. Y., say that the heavenly body, as seen from there, had the appearance of a huge sky-rocket, which rose to a great height before it broke into half a dozen pieces.

Drowned In Stoney Lake.

Peterboro, Oct. 3.—Stoney Lake Tuesday night claimed its first victim for this year, when Francis Costello, the six-year-old son of Michael Costello, Peterboro, who was taking a trip for pleasure on the steamer Stoney Lake, of which his uncle is owner, fell overboard as the boat was nearing McCracken's Landing, and was drowned in 50 feet of water. He was not missed until the boat had docked. The body was recovered.

Sick Emigrants Sent.

London, Oct. 3.—Marcus Helfman and Max Block Meyer of Dantzic are charged at Liverpool with conspiring to defraud the C. P. R. in connection with an attempt to smuggle Russian emigrants suffering from trachoma, into Canada. Eleven emigrants gave evidence, six of them had been deported from Canada. The case was adjourned.

Return to Work.

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—The services of the Labor Department will not be needed in the Rosamond Woollen Mills' strike at Almonte. It is settled and the 200 employes locked out through five wrappers striking for an increase of pay of from $1.65 a day to $2, will return to work in a day or so.

London, Oct. 3.—Messages to test letters of the alphabet have been exchanged successfully on the Marconi system across the Atlantic Ocean for several days. The first public message will be sent about the middle of October.

Police Constable McDonald Has Sent in His Resignation

Desires to be Relieved of Duty on October 15th---Has Been on the Force for Six Months--Successor Will be Appointed at Next Meeting.

It is learned on good authority that P. C. McDonald, who has served on the city police force for the last six months, has forwarded his resignation to the Board of Police Commissioners, the same to take effect about the middle of October.

His resignation will be considered at their next meeting and it is likely that a new officer will be appointed in his place.

During Mr. McDonald's term of office, he has made an efficient policeman. In many instances he has proved his value as such, and his resignation will be learned with regret.

It is understood that he is not satisfied with existing conditions in the police department, and as a result, deemed it advisable to resign.

Generous Gift to Children's Aid

Medical Association Forwards $40 to Treasurer of Society

Mr. Peter Campbell, treasurer of the Children's Aid Society today received, through Dr. J. M. McCulloch, secretary of the Central Ontario Medical Association, the sum of $40 to be devoted to the work of the Children's Aid. This money is the sum rebated by the Otonabee Navigation Co., to the doctors, in connection with their annual outing last June, owing to the unsatisfactory arrangements for the comfort of guests at Lovi Wyld.

The physicians, instead of retaining this sum, decided unanimously, to hand it over to the Children's Aid Society.

In the year immediately preceding municipal ownership the quantity produced was 13,000,000 feet: in the year just closed 28,000,000 feet.

RUNAWAY ON McDONNEL ST.

Mr. R. Leary's Team Caused Some Excitement

There was an exciting runaway on McDonnel street last evening. A team of horses attached to a waggon the property of Mr. R. Leary, dashed out of the yard at his house on the above thoroughfare and ran east along the street at a lively clip. At one point they almost collided with two vehicles but the runaways swerved by them and no damage was done.

The team was stopped near College street.

HE WANTS A WIFE

Prosperous Northern Ontario Farmer on Lookout for Helpmeet

Newspaper despatches telling of the arrival in New York by the steamer Baltic of a large number of prepossessing young ladies, who are avowedly hoping to find husbands in various parts of the United States and Canada, have not been without their effect in this part of the continent, apparently. Yesterday, Mr. Thomas Southworth of Toronto, Director of Colonization, received a letter from a farmer resident in a Northern Ontario township, asking him if any of the young ladies have reported at his office. If they do he wants Mr. Southworth to pick out one for him who would make a good wife. He represents himself as a prosperous farmer, with every prospect of increased wealth, and says that he is sure he will make a good husband. He prefers a Scotch girl.

New Building in Woodstock

Rev. Dr. Harris Lays Corner Stone of $25,000 Y.M.C.A. Structure

Woodstock, Oct. 2. — The corner stone of Woodstock's new $25,000 Y.M.C.A. building was laid this afternoon in the presence of large turnout of citizens. The stone was laid by the Rev. Elmore Harris of Toronto, who in an eloquent address, declared the the success of the Y.M.C.A. Was due to the fact that it had held to the principal of the unity of the Christian church.

Other addresses were given by the local clergy and by civic representatives. The customary deposits were made in the stone, including a carefully prepared history of the Y.M.C.A. movements in this city.

It is expected that this winter will see this structure occupied. The building will include baths, gymnasium, swimming baths and boarding apartments. It is being put up very largely by popular subscription.

Two Records Were Broken

At Jumping Events Yesterday Aftrenoon—Were Well Contested

Two records were broken at the jumping contests, in connection with the Collegiate Institute sports, held at Riverside park yesterday afternoon. In the standing jump for seniors A. McGarraty went 8 ft 3 1-4 inches, or 2 1-4 inches better than the record which was 8 feet 1 inch. The other record smashed was in the junior events. F. Wilson made 12 feet 4 3-4 inches in the running jump, the record being 12 feet 3 inches. Several other records also had a narrow shave, especially in the standing broad jump for juniors, which F. Wilson went a quarter of an inch from equalling. All the events were keenly contested and at times considerable excitement was aroused. The members of the teaching staff of the Collegiate looked after the pulling off of the jumps and everything went along smoothly.

Port Hope Gets After Hartley

"Guide" Says He Never Had Interview With Reynolds

Referring to David Hartley's offer to walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return, a distance of 138 miles, the Port Hope Guide says:

"From the above it is quite apparent that Hartley is looking for the long greens. He has made many loud boasts, through the press, but of course talk is cheap. Just the other day the Examiner stated that Hartley had interviewed Reynolds in reference to a matched race and the barber had refused to walk with him. Reynolds tells us that he has never spoken to Hartley in his life and is at a loss to know why Hartley should make up this story. If Hartley is so confident of making the trip in 34 hours, let him put up a wager, and the chances are there will be plenty of takers."

SPORTS PROMISE TO BE EXCITING

Collegiate Pupils Hold Athletic Meet Tomorrow

The annual field day of sports of the Collegiate Institute will be held at Nicholls Oval tomorrow afternoon. The events promise to be exceedingly interesting, and there will be a large number of spectators.

A matched race between two members of the teaching staff will be a feature of the afternoon, but the two contestants who have been hurling defies at each other regarding their ability to cover the ground, do not wish their names mentioned.

Allin Won Men's Half Mile Race

At the Roller Rink Last Evening —Closely Contested Event

Mr Wall Allin was the winner of the men's half mile race at the roller rink last evening. The event was a keenly contested one. There were eight entries, and the agility with which these fellows can skate was evidenced by the speed at which they went around the rink. At the finish of each lap Mr. Allin was ahead. Mr. Melville Moore was a close second. Mr. Fred Whitcroft made a satisfactory starter and judge.

SPRINTING

MAY COME HERE.

Geo. Thornbury, the runner who came second in the five-mile race on fair day here, may go to Peterborough. The Peterborough athletic societies have had "feelers" out intervening the runner, and are endeavoring to "transplant" him. It's a shame that Lindsay hasn't an athletic society that can take care of and train Victoria County athletes, of which there are not a few without letting them drift to Peterborough.—Lindsay Post.

AT KEENE

Harvey Staunton is running in the five-mile race at Keene fair this afternoon He should pull out a victory.

Interprovincial League Will Exist

Schedule Revised at Meeting in Toronto Last Night

A Toronto despatch says:—The affairs of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union advanced another stage last night, when a meeting was held at the King Edward Hotel, which was attended by the representatives of three of the clubs, while Mr. Baskerville was on the telephone for Ottawa. President Ballard, of Hamilton, occupied the chair, and the Argonauts were represented by Messrs. W. A. Hewitt. Messrs. W. C. Hagar and T. L. Paton were present in the interests of Montreal. A rearrangement of the schedule was made, under which only one game will be played on the coming Saturday, and Hamilton will not go to Ottawa until Nov. 2. The schedule is:—

Oct. 5—Argonauts at Montreal.
Oct. 12—Ottawa at Argonauts, Montreal at Hamilton.
Oct. 19—Argonauts at Hamilton, Montreal at Ottawa.
Oct. 26—Hamilton at Montreal, Argonauts at Ottawa.
Oct. 31—Ottawa at Hamilton, Montreal at Argonauts.
Nov. 2—Hamilton at Ottawa.
Nov. 9.—Ottawa at Montreal.
Nov. 16—Hamilton at Argonauts.

Dr. W. R. Hendry, of Toronto, was elected secretary. A letter had been sent from the chairman of the Registration Committee of the C.A.A.U. stating that the committee were inclined to restore the amateur status Davidson, Magor and Smaill, of Montreal, but had not come to a conclusion in the cases of the other two. Ottawa does not expect to use any players whose status is not already beyond question. This communication, however, has not yet reached the Inter-Provincial Committee.

These clubs shall be entitled to play any registered member of their club except those who have taken part in any final tankard competition. (b) All associated clubs entered in the tankard competition and who give notice to the secretary before Nov. 1 may also enter two rinks in this competition." These clubs shall be entitled to play only such registered members as have never taken part in any final tankard competition or taken part as skip or vice-skip in any primary tankard competition, and no member shall be allowed to play in both competitions in one season.

By Rev. W. G. Wallace—To amend section 3 of regulations for district cup competition by inserting after word warner in sixth line: "When the umpire receives requests from any club secretary that the draw be made and announced before the day of play, the umpire shall be at liberty to close should he deem best, but he shall do this only after securing the consent of the secretaries of the clubs eligible to compete."

Private Practice Will Disappear

Big Changes Are Coming in the Work of Doctors

London, Oct. 2.—The change the practice of medicine is undergoing was the keynote of several addresses made by leading London doctors at the opening of the winter session of the medical schools connected with the London hospitals. The speakers said the day was coming when the doctors in private practice would disappear, and be replaced by the public health officer, whose work would lie in the prevention, rather than in the cure of disease.

Dr. Ewart told of the students that the profession was in the throes of a double crisis, economical and professional. He declared that the growing success in reducing the prevalence of disease and the growth of specialism had contracted the field of general practice, and the process was bound to continue. He said it was inevitable that the profession should become more and more the servant of the State. Henceforth its members must devote themselves to the culture of health preventing, instead of curing disease.

Other addresses of a similar nature were heard, one physician contending that things were moving toward the unique consummation of a calling by its own training and application destroying the very source upon which it depended for its living.

DELIGHTFUL FUNCTION

Pleasant Reception Held at the Home of Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer St.

One of the most enjoyable of the many social functions that have been held this fall, was that which took place yesterday afternoon at the beautiful residence of Mrs. D. J. Lundy, Aylmer street.

From four to six o'clock Mrs. Lundy and Miss Pearl Lundy received a large number of guests in the beautifully decorated drawing room. Mrs. Lundy was becomingly attired in black, while Miss Pearl Lundy wore a pretty gown of cream silk. The decorations for the tea were carnations and marguerites. Those who assisted were Mrs. Atwood, Mrs. G. W. Rubidge, Mrs. Coulthard, Mrs. R. S. Davidson, Misses Bertha Moore, Lily Pearce and Helen Davies.

Among those present were Mrs. Montizambert, Mrs. Davies, Mrs. Crosby, Mrs. Haskett, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. (Dr.) McCulloch, Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. Rott. Kingan, Miss Stevenson, Mrs. C. H. Clementi, Mrs. Crane, Mrs. Burnett, Miss Nan Hall, Miss Jessie Hamilton, Mrs. A. Poe, Mrs. R. W. Grubbe, Miss Birdie Hall, Miss Clementi, Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Mrs. (Rev.) J. C. Davidson, Mrs. J. H. McClellan, the Misses Morrow, Mrs. G. Lech, Mrs. Richard Hall and others.

Winnipeg newspapers will complain to the Railway Commission against C.P.R. telegraph tolls.

Hon. A. Turgeon is said to have refused the request of Premier Gouin of Quebec, that he resign.

6941—6945.—A SMART SHIRT WAIST GOWN.

For rough and ready wear there is nothing that can compare, so far as comfort, neatness and serviceability are concerned, with the shirt waist frock, provided only it be of correct style and arranging. In the accompanying illustration is shown a modish combination of the popular tucked blouse, which is becoming to almost every type of figure, and the new 6 gored skirt, the most distinctive features of which are the circular shaping of the front and back gores and the overlapping side seams, ornamented in this design with small fancy buttons. The waist, which may be made with either full length or shorter sleeve, is modelled in polka dotted brown-and-white foulard, while the skirt is made of golden brown panama. The gown, however, may be prettily developed in pongee, shantung or rajah, or in linen, canvas, or any of the mercerized cottons. For the medium size 3 1-2 yards of 27 inch material will be needed to make the waist, and 7 yards of material of the same width to model the skirt.

Two Patterns.—6941.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6945.—5 sizes, 22 to 28 inches waist measure.

4236.—A SMART LITTLE COAT FOR A MISS.

Separate jackets are very modish this year and those who count the dollars and cents find them very economical. A chic little coat of unusual style and not difficult for home making is sketched. It may be made of cloth, linen or pongee, as well as taffetas and serve for wear with the odd skirt or it may serve as a suit coat and be of the material of the skirt. The front closes with a trig vest and the sleeves are of three quarter length, having tucks at the lower edge and natty turn-back cuffs. For the medium size 1 3-8 yards of 54 inch material are needed for the coat.

4236.—Sizes, 14, 15, 16, 17 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c

The price of these patterns is 10c, but either will be sent upon receipt of 10c.

NO MORE TRAINS THIS SUMMER

Havelock Paper Says There Will be no Change in C.P.R. Service

Havelock Standard says:—The Toronto and Peterborough papers announced lately that two new trains would soon be in operation between Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal, in order to relieve the enormous increase in traffic which has developed the past two years. The Standard is informed from a reliable source that, although the new trains were badly needed the past summer, yet it is not likely that they will be put on this line until next summer at least. When they are put on, the train running east will probably pass through here about 4.30 p.m. and the west-bound at about 8.30 a.m.

The members of the board earnestly invite all who feel any interest in this charitable work for the aged to attend this meeting at which reports of the work of the past year, the present condition of the Home and plans for work will be discussed. This is the only institution the city has for the care of the aged poor and the work is one which should enlist the sympathy of a much larger number or ladies than the few who have in the past taken interest in the work. The membership of the board is not in any way restricted and the present members would be glad to have the co-operation of members of all the Protestant churches.

Everybody Good at Keene Fair

No Pickpockets There—No Disorder or Accidents of Any Kind

Pickpockets have been following many fairs this year, and it will be remembered that a large gang of them were bounded out of Peterborough by P.C.'s. Newhall and Meharry at the time of the local exhibition. Despite the large crowd in Keene yesterday there were apparently none there and no losses were reported to the authorities. Secretary A. Shearer says no accidents of any kind were made known to him, and the general conduct of all on the grounds was highly satisfactory to the officials.

Campaign in Full Swing; Much Interest is Aroused

Citizens' Committee and the Young Men Are Getting Down to Business—With Every Body Working Hard the $1,800 Required Will be Raised—$206 so Far Subscribed—Another Meeting To-night.

The Six Day Campaign of the Y.M.C.A. is now in full swing and the thermometer of enthusiasm rises hour by hour. The Citizens' Committee, and Young Men's and Boys' Committees, are getting down to the good, solid, hard work that will surely bring victory. Nothing can, however, be taken for granted, and everybody will have to push hard if the $1800 in subscriptions and the $500 in memberships are to be secured by eight o'clock on Tuesday evening next, when the campaign must close.

The directors were never more active and they are infusing this spirit abroad throughout the city.

The young men are going to give a good account of themselves tonight and before the finish of the campaign.

YOUNG MEN MEET

The young men met last night and outlined their plans for today and tonight. They will occupy one table at the tea tonight, so as to get down to business after the bill of fare has been disposed of.

If business will permit, Mayor McWilliams will be a guest at the committee tea this evening, and meet with the young men.

The Citizens' Committee will also meet at the same time—six-thirty, sharp.

Prominent captains of industry in the city have received special invitations for tonight.

Chairman Shook said last night:—"Everywhere we go we find the most friendly feeling manifested towards the work." He has faith in the liberality of the citizens to meet the present emergency.

The sums reported last night does not fully represent the work done yesterday, but we give it;

Citizens Committee report pledges and cash total, $131.00.

Young Men's and Boys' Committees pledges or cash, $75.00.

Total, $206.00.

Every member of the committees should be present tonight at 6.30 sharp.

ECHOES OF THE CAMPAIGN

Only three days to complete the campaign.

Only subscriptions payable now or before Dec. 31st, 1907, will count in this campaign.

This campaign will be a fitting farewell to the retiring general secretary, Mr. Williamson.

Other cities have had their campaigns, but Peterborough will surely break all records.

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. building and work has been a model for the smaller city and town Associations throughout Canada.

Building movements in other cities have been traced to this.

Let us show them how we can conduct a short date campaign without any outside organizer.

Backache, "The Blues"

Both Symptoms of Organic Derangement in Women —Thousands of Sufferers Find Relief.

How often do we hear women say: "It seems as though my back would break," or "Don't speak to me, I am all out of sorts?" These significant remarks prove that the system requires attention.

Backache and "the blues" are direct symptoms of an inward trouble which will sooner or later declare itself. It may be caused by diseased kidneys or some derangement of the organs. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years and the ablest judges agree that it is the most universally successful remedy for woman's ills known to medicine.

Read the convincing testimonials of Mrs. Oakes and Mrs. MacNamee.

Mrs. J. P. Oakes of Prince of Wales Hotel, Head of St. Margaret's Bay, near Halifax, Halifax County, Nova Scotia, Canada, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After what your Vegetable Compound did for me, I am a firm believer that it is a wonderful medicine, and that any woman who is troubled with any of the ills we suffer from should try it and she will soon be convinced of its worth. Six bottles changed me from a peevish, despondent, sickly, ailing woman to a sweet-tempered, healthy one, who rarely ever has a pain now, and who before was rarely without one. As a regulator, strengthener and a tonic, I think it has no superior and I certainly endorse it."

Mrs. Anna R. MacNamee of corner Queen and Wellington Streets, Kingston, Ont. writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done all the good in the world for me. I suffered with irregularities, backache and severe pains all through my body, and was very nervous and blue. I think I used a dozen different kinds of medicines, some prescribed by the doctor and some recommended by friends, but one bottle of Vegetable Compound was worth more to me than all the other medicines put together. My general health began to improve as soon as I began to use the Compound, and in three weeks I was a perfectly well woman."

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacements or ulceration, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the female organs, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. No other medicine in the world has received this widespread and unqualified endorsement. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Remember, every woman is cordially invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham if there is anything about her symptoms she does not understand. Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely and cheerfully given to every ailing woman who asks for it. Her advice and medicine have restored to health innumerable women. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Dugald Ross Has Been Found; His Last Shilling Was Gone

Was Stopping at Dover Hotel Under Assumed Name.

Says He Was Swindled by a Man He Followed to Folkstone But Failed to Capture—Claims to Have Been Robbed of £20,000—Has Been Missing Since Sept. 24—His Uncle Says He Is a Quiet, Steady Young Man.

London, Oct. 4.—(C. A. P.)—Dugald Ross of Streetsville, Canada, who has been missing since Sept. 24, was found in the waiting-room of the railway station at Dover at an early hour yesterday. A small hand-bag and the clothing he stood up in were his only available assets.

The story wired from Dover says that, as a result of a communication from the manager of the Burlington Hotel at Dover, the inspector of the local police went to the waiting-room of the Southeastern Railway shortly after midnight and there found Ross waiting to catch the train for London. Ross had been staying at the hotel under the name of Robinson, and on being challenged by the inspector, "Robinson" promptly admitted that he was Ross. After some conversation with the manager, Ross agreed to return to the hotel. Ross stated that the intention in leaving for London was "to get some money." He said he was not, as reported, a millionaire, nor had he ever made that statement. He had come down to Dover and assumed the name of Robinson in order that he might have quietude. All the questions put to Ross were answered quite freely. He stated that he had gone into the city to cash a check, but found that he could not get the money. He alleged that he had been swindled by a man whom he had followed as far as Folkestone, but, on finding that the latter had left by boat, he decided to stay there. After remaining at the Metropole Hotel he came on to Dover, where he arrived last Thursday.

A Dover wire says nothing can be ascertained regarding the recent movements of Ross, who, it is alleged, now states that he has been robbed of £20,000.

Was In Big Speculation.

Mr. Ross is a young gentleman, 22 years of age, who in the past two or three years has made a good deal of money. He has a fine stock farm near Streetsville and has been dealing largely in horses, one of his recent big transactions having been with the Government of Japan. In July he bought a big block of Kimberley diamond stock on information that it would prove a profitable investment. A short time thereafter, or early in August, he sent his private secretary, a man who has not been in Canada, and about whom nothing is known here, to South Africa to secure certain confidential information as to conditions at the mines. The secretary cabled Mr. Ross to sell, but so far as is known here has not yet returned to London from Cape Town. Mr. Dugald Ross on receipt of his report consulted a prominent Toronto banker, who also advised him to sell. In a letter received by his brother, Mr. J. B. Ross, dated at the Berkeley Hotel on Friday, Sept. 20, Mr. Dugald Ross says he proposed on the next day to sell his stock in the Kimberley Diamond Mines to the amount of $250,000, and to sail for Canada on the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, leaving Plymouth on Sept. 25. A Canadian Associated Press despatch of Wednesday night indicated that he disappeared after visiting the Bank of England in connection with a check for £20,000, and was seen next day at a hotel in Folkestone, from which he departed, after a 24 hours' stay, in a mysterious fashion.

No Entanglements.

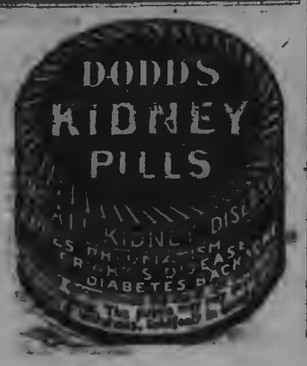
Rev. Malcolm McGregor of The Westminster, uncle of Dugald Ross, says: "I am quite sure that there is nothing in the nature of a spree behind the disappearance of my nephew. He is a quiet, sober, steady young fellow of 22, a bachelor, but not at all the sort of man to become entangled in any way with either gamblers or adventuresses. His chief amusement is motoring. He had two motors while in London, one a small one that he had bought for himself, the other a big, fast 200-horsepower car he had bought for a New York man."

Tolstoi No Beggar.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 4.—A letter was published here yesterday from Count Tolstoi, asking that the stream of requests for financial assistance addressed to him be discontinued, explaining that twenty years ago he surrendered his property to his heirs as if already dead, and that the sole sums at his disposal now "are occasional foreign contributions which I distribute in the neighborhood."

Was In Big Speculation.

Mr. Ross is a young gentleman, 22



AFTER LUMBER COMBINE.

Manitoba Government Will Take Initiative to Break the Trust.

Winnipeg, Man. Oct. 4.—It was learned semi-officially yesterday morning that the Manitoba Government will take proceedings against the Lumbermen's Association charging them with combine in restraint of trade.

Information will be sworn before Magistrate McMicken in the Provincial Police Court. Action is said to have arisen over alleged refusal of the Rainy River Lumber Co., having offices here, to sell lumber to a merchant, James Overend, Ninette, Man., on the ground that he was not a member of the Lumbermen's Association.

Action will be officially taken by the Attorney-General's Department in about two days.

Action has been entered in civil court by Overend against the Rainy River Lumber Co. for damages placed at $500, for breach of agreement and refusing to sell lumber to plaintiff. This case is set down for hearing on Oct. 8.

KING AT WORK.

Deputy Minister of Labor Endeavors to Bring Manager Cowans Back.

Springhill, N. S., Oct. 4.—W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, arrived at Springhill on Wednesday evening.

Mr. King informed The Herald that he came to see General Manager Cowans in regard to business in connection with the Government, but learned on arrival that Mr. Cowans was in Halifax. He at once wired Mr. Cowans to meet him at Springhill.

A reply was received requesting the Deputy Minister to meet Cowans at Halifax. To this another message was sent to Cowans repeating the request to come to Springhill. A reply was promised by 11 o'clock yesterday, but at that hour no reply had been received.

The Deputy Minister is wiring Cowans at some length. The company's officials are in charge of the works. Grand Secretary Moffat also arrived Wednesday night.

ONTARIO'S INSANE.

New Method to Be Introduced For Their Treatment.

Toronto, Oct. 4—Hon. Dr. Willoughby, who recently returned from Europe, yesterday attended the Cabinet council at the Parliament Buildings.

In company with Dr. Clarke of the Toronto and Dr. Ryan of the Kingston Asylum for the Insane, he visited and carefully examined into the systems in vogue for the treatment of the insane at London, Dublin, Edinburgh, Paris, Berlin, Munich, Tubingen and Giessen. They will present to the Government a report which will strongly advocate the adoption in the asylums of this province of the methods of treatment pursued in the teychiatric clinic. This new form of treatment is rapidly emptying the asylums in Germany.

Flesherton Fire.

Flesherton, Oct. 4.—The worst fire Flesherton has had in two years occurred yesterday afternoon, when a house owned by W. A. Armstrong was destroyed. It was worth about $600 and insured.

But its tenant, a Jew pedlar named Poevenik, lost about $4,000 in household goods and stock, besides an account book, in which was $1,600 of accounts due him by people throughout the county, was burned. Poevenik was badly scorched about face and hands. Only a few months ago he was burned out in Toronto and his wife and child burned to death.

C. P. R. Directors Tour.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Messrs. E. B. Osler, M. P., and W. D. Matthews will be the Toronto directors of the Canadian Pacific who will accompany President Sir Thomas Shaughnessy of the Canadian Pacific next week on the annual tour of inspection of the road.

So far the only Montreal director who has decided to accompany the party is Mr. R. B. Angus. The president and Mr. Angus will leave on Saturday morning by special train, being joined by Messrs. Osler and Matthews at Toronto. The tour will probably occupy a month or two.

Truants Were Whipped.

Kingston, Oct. 4.—Magistrate Farrel heard two truancy cases in private session yesterday. The two lads, both 12 years of age, appeared with their mothers, who explained that they had been unable to get the boys to attend school, and the court decided that the cat-o'-nine-tails would furnish the best punishment. The two were taken to the police corridor and paid the penalty.

Opposed to Labor Man.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Yesterday morning a delegation of manufacturers awaited upon Hon. Mr. Monteith, the Minister of Agriculture, and formally submitted the resolution which was recently adopted at the annual meeting of the C. M. A., in opposition to the appointment as factory inspectors of men who may in any way be connected with labor organizations.

Dies at Supper.

Orwell, Oct. 4.—Mrs. Charles Stringer of this place died very suddenly on Wednesday night about 5.30 o'clock. She was eating supper with her husband, when, without a word of warning, she fell back in her chair and expired.

Floor Collapsed.

Guelph, Oct. 4.—Yesterday afternoon, while an auction sale was being held at the residence of Mrs. Lee, Queen street, the floor on which the people were standing, collapsed and several people were slightly injured.

Killed in Fall From Wagon.

Port Hope, Oct. 4.—Stanley Gainer, a Barnardo boy, 10 years of age, fell from a wagon Wednesday evening when returning from the fair, sustaining a fracture of the skull, which resulted in instant death.

Stabbing at Brantford.

Brantford, Sept. 30.—In a fight between two Polacks in an hotel Saturday night, one was stabbed and is in a critical condition. The other is under arrest.

SWINDLE ON BANKS

Smooth Stranger Makes a Clean-Up at Orangeville.

Represented Himself to Be a Well-To-Do Farmer In the Vicinity—Got $300 From Two Banks But Missed the Third—Bank Officials and Police Are Searching the District For Him.

Orangeville, Oct. 4.—Two local bank managers were swindled yesterday by a smooth stranger who succeeded in passing himself off as Patrick Garnty, a prosperous and well-known farmer of Caledon Township.

The unknown approached E. Tomplin, manager of the Bank of Commerce branch and secured $200 on a bogus note. At the Sterling Bank, the manager of which is A. C. Kirkwood, the man got $100. Manager Dewar of the Bank of Hamilton balked at delivering the $200 that was requested there and demanded that the alleged Garnty identify himself. He never came back.

Dewar 'phoned the other banks, and then the police were appealed to, but no trace of the fellow could be found. The bank officials have been driving around the country in search. It is thought he went north on the steamboat express at 3.30.

He is described as about 45 years of age, tall, dark, with moustache, and dressed in a blue suit with black fedora hat.

It is only recently that several bankers in this section fell before two men who are now sentenced to the Central Prison.

TO HIT OUT.

Roosevelt's Significant Comments on States' Need For Navy.

Cairo, Ill., Oct. 4.—In a speech here yesterday President Roosevelt called for the upbuilding and maintaining of the highest point of efficiency of the American navy. "To repel hostile attacks the fortifications, and not the navy, must be used; but the best way to parry is to hit—no fight can ever be won except by hitting—and we can only hit by means of the navy. It is utterly impossible to improvise even a makeshift navy under the conditions of modern warfare. The navy must be built and all its training given in time of peace. Early in December the fleet will begin its voyage to the Pacific. A long ocean voyage is mighty good training, and not the least good it will do will be to show just the points where our naval progress needs strengthening."

Toronto, Oct. 4.—Harry Chong, a Celestial, operating a laundry at 1170 West Bloor street, has taken unto himself a Canadian wife. Chong, who is prosperous, was bound in wedlock Wednesday night to Miss Charlotte Durnan, by Rev. J. A. Turnbull of the West Bloor street Presbyterian Church, at the home of the woman, who sold the license, on Markham street.

The bride is a pretty girl, slightly more than 20 years of age, while the husband is but little older. The witnesses were Gum Poy and Cuig Gum Poy.

Mr. Turnbull was averse to discussing the matter.

A Daring Robbery.

Vancouver, Oct. 4.—One of the most disastrous robberies on record in Vancouver was committed shortly before one o'clock yesterday, when a man entered the jewelry store of R. E. The daring robber was pursued down Cordova street, and on to the railroad tracks, where he was captured by two civilians and given into the custody of officers.

NO CANDIDATE.

North Waterloo Liberals Fail to Make Their Selection.

Elmira, Oct. 4.—Owing to the change of representation of the delegates at the convention of the Reform Association of North Waterloo in the revised constituencies, adopted here yesterday, it was decided to defer the selection of the candidates for Federal and Local Parliaments until next January.

A large number of delegates attended the convention and splendid addresses were delivered by President R. Y. Fish, E. P. Clement, K. C., Dr. J. F. Honsberger, J. B. Hughes, L. Stauffer, J. L. Umbach, H. J. Sims, George Moore and others.

The attention of the convention was called to the manner in which the representative of North Waterloo, J. E. Seagram, had failed to attend the session of Parliament, and it was predicted that the electors of this important riding would not tolerate the representation of this negligent candidate.

A resolution of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his administration, congratulating Hon. G. P. Graham upon his appointment as Minister of Railways and Canals and G. G. Mackay as leader of the Liberal party in Ontario, were passed amid enthusiasm.

Then she tore her handkerchief into strips and bound up the cut in the man's head while thousands looked on and cheered. The young woman, whose action Ambulance Surgeon Sears of Bellevue Hospital declared saved the victim's life, was Miss Eugenia P. Pepin, supervising nurse of St. Luke's Hospital in Ottawa, Can.

Neither Cameron Nor Gillespie Can Play With Dundas

The O.R.F.U. Executive met at the King Edward, Toronto, last night, with Vice President W. J. Slee in the chair and following members present;—T. W. McDonough, Peterborough, M. M. Robinson, Kingston; W. A. Hewitt, Argonauts; W. J. Morrison, George Mara and Dr. W. G. Wood Hamilton was not represented.

The cases of Gillespie and Cameron of Dundas were taken up. Gillespie played with Peterborough last year and moved to Dundas a short time ago, while Cameron played with Dundas last season and, moved to Peterborough shortly after the season closed, but now is back in Dundas. The Executive ruled these players were not eligible to play under the residence rule.

The application of Captain Nelson of Dundas team, who has his occupation in Hamilton, for permission to play with Dundas, was granted.

London played intermediate last year, but this season will play junior, and in consequence, permits were granted to several players.

In regard to the senior situation, under clause 16 of the constitution, the Executive can place any team in what series it sees fit, and the Executive exercised its authority in playing Hamilton and Argonauts in the intermediate series, the Argonaut representative not objecting.

The Executive in placing the Tigers and Argonauts in the intermediate series, thought it was in the best interests of the union, as both clubs have teams in the inter-Provincial, and it was thought their second team would not be senior calibre.

The sub-committee will meet Saturday and draw up the junior and intermediate schedules.—The Globe.

HOCKEY

A hockey enthusiast of Keene, informed the Review yesterday that the hockey team of that place would probably be stronger than ever next winter, Not many of the old players will be available but much is expected from the new blood.

WILL REMAIN AMATEUR.

This reports that Leon Koyl, the clever Lindsay hockeyist is going to play professional for Guelph this winter is all "tommyrot." The big, through youthful defence man, has no inclinations to enter pro. ranks and plays hockey merely for the enjoyment he gets out of the game.

Black Cloud started in the 2.30 and 2.40 classes at the Warkworth fair today.

RUNNING

John Bennett, of this city, who was defeated in Keene yesterday by Waddell, of Westwood, in the two mile track event at the exhibition, says that the course was too short to suit him. Bennett runs to the best advantage when the course is five miles or over. He is certainly a good one and went out of his class yesterday when he started in the 2 mile event. He was personally in favor of running five miles, but the other entries claim they were not in condition to cover so great a distance.

BIG WORKOUT ON SATURDAY

Every Player is Requested to be Out in Uniform

The first game of rugby here this season will be played on Saturday, Oct. 12th, when the Victorias, of Toronto, and Peterborough will clash in a senior R.F.U. match. The return game will take place in Toronto on Oct. 26th. The Victorias are reported as having a very strong lineup this season, and it will be a battle royal when the two teams come together on the gridiron. The locals have been practicing hard and faithfully for some time past, and are prepared to give the Toronto bunch a stiff fight.

On next Saturday afternoon there will be a big practice of both the senior and junior teams, and every man of both organizations is asked to be on hand. It will be a splendid opportunity for the juniors to get a good workout and the practice will be heldful to both them and the first team. About 50 men should be out in uniform, for the teams need all the practice they can possibly get, as it is necessary they should be in the best of condition when the championship games are played.

KARNOTS AND CRESCENTS

The Karnots and Crescents will play at Nicholls Oval on Saturday afternoon at 2.30, provided it does not rain.

Tweed People Want To See Justice Done

Toronto, Oct. 4.—The Attorney General's Department will be appealed to by some residents of Tweed in connection with a recent occurrence there. On the 11th of September three thugs attacked a young man by the name of Freeman, at the C. P.R. station at midnight and beat him into insensibility. They were allowed to escape, and although an information was laid against them, nothing has been done in the matter. The local authorities wanted costs put up before they would issue a warrant. The young man is night clerk in Huyck's Hotel, and was in charge of the mail bags from the local post office to the C.P.R. station. The men are said to be well known and their whereabouts can be located at any time. Tweed people want the Attorney General's Department to act and endeavor to punish the men as an example.

During the season the toal number of vessels passing through the canal, steam, was 1,869; sail, 118; total, 1,987. The total tonnage was 80,800.

THE TRENT CANAL

The annual report further says;

The term 'Trent canal' is applied to a series of water stretches, which do not, however, form a connected system of navigation, and which, in their present condition, are efficient only for local use. By various works this local use has been extended, and by others, now in progress and contemplation, this will become a through route between Lake Ontario and Lake Huron.

The series is composed of a chain of lakes and rivers, extending from Trenton, at the mouth of the River Trent, on the Bay of Quinte, Lake Ontario, to Lake Huron.

Many years ago the utilizing of these waters for the purpose of through water connection between Lake Huron and Lake Ontario was projected.

The course, as originally contemplated and modified, is as follows;

Through the River Trent, Rice Lake, the River Otonabee, and Lakes Clear, Stony, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Chemong, Pigeon, Sturgeon and Cameron, to Lake Balsam, the summit water, about 165 miles from Trenton; from Lake Balsam by a canal and the River Talbot to Lake Simcoe; thense by the River Severn to Georgian Bay, Lake Huron; the total distance being about 200 miles, of which only about 15 on 20 miles will be actual canal.

The full execution of the scheme commenced by the Imperial Government in 1837, was deferred. By certain works, however, below specified, sections of these waters have been made practicable for navigation, and the whole scheme is now being carried out. A branch of the main route, extending from Sturgeon Lake south, affords communication with the town of Lindsay, and, through Lake Scugog to Port Perry, a distance of 190 miles from Trenton.

The following gives the distance of navigable and unnavigable reaches.—

From Trenton, Bay of Quinte, to Nine Mile Rapids—nine miles, unnavigable.

From Nine Mile rapids to Percy Landing, 19 1-2 miles, navigable.

From Percy Landing to Healey's Falls dam 14 1-2 miles, unnavigable.

From Healey's Falls dam to Peterborough, 51 3-4 miles, navigable.

From Peterborough to Lakefield, 9 miles, unnavigable.

From Lakefield to a point across Balsam Lake, 61 miles, navigable.

Total navigable miles, 132 1-4.

Total unnavigable miles, 32 3-4.

Total distance, Bay of Quinte to a point across Balsam Lake 165 miles.

From Sturgeon point on Sturgeon lake, 48 3-4 miles from Lakefield, the branch through the town of Lindsay to Port Perry, at the head of Lake Scugog, 7 miles.

The works by which the Trent navigation has been improved comprise canals with locks and bridges, at Young's Point, Burleigh Rapids, Lovesick, Buckhorn Rapids, Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, and Rosedale; also dams at Lakefield, Young's Point, Burleigh Falls, Lovesick, Buckhorn, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls. By these works there is afforded communication between Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough, and Balsam Lake, the headquarters of the system, opening up a total of about 160 miles of direct and lateral naivgation.

At Lakefield, 9 1-2 miles from Peterborough, the dam at the head of the Nine Mile rapids of the River Otonabee, maintains navigation on Lake Katchewannoe up to Young's point.

At Young's point, five miles from Lakefield, the dam between Lake Katchewannoe and Clear Lake controls the water level through Clear and Stony Lakes up to the foot of the Burleigh Canal. The lock here, it should be observed is controlled by the Provincial Government.

At Burleigh rapids, ten miles from Young's Point, a canal, about 2 1-4 miles in length passes the Burleigh and Lovesick rapids, and gives communication between Stony Lake and Deer bay.

At Buckhorn rapids, seven miles from Burleigh Rapids, there is a canal about one-fourth of a mile long.

At Bobcaygeon, 15 3-4 miles from Buckhorn rapids, a dam, 553 feet long, controls the water level to Fenelon Falls.

At Fenelon Falls, 15 miles from Bobcaygeon, a canal about one-third of a mile in length connects Sturgeon Lake with Cameron Lake.

Cheese—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 3977.

Eggs—Firm, unchanged; receipts, 10,226.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs 10c to 20c Lower at Buffalo.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—London cables are firmer, at 10c to 12¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10¾c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Receipts of live stock since Tuesday, at the City Cattle Market, as reported by the railways, were 145 carloads, composed of 2342 cattle, 1338 hogs, 3376 sheep and lambs, and about 200 calves.

Exporters.

None on sale, excepting a few bulls, which sold at lower prices than at any time this year, at $3.25 to $4 per cwt.

Butchers.

The highest price quoted for selected lots was $4.65, which is a big drop, and there were few bought at that price. Best loads sold from $4 to $4.50; common and medium cattle sold between $3 and $3.85; inferior, $2.50 to $2.75; canners, $1 to $2; cows, $3.00 to $3.75 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report larger receipts of stockers and feeders this week, with about the same demand, which is chiefly for the heavy class. The light stockers are slow sellers and sold off a little in price from last week. Country buyers want to use some caution in the buying of this class, especially the common and medium kind, which class cannot help but get cheaper. Messrs. Murby bought about 250 this week at the following quotations:

Good feeders, 1000 to 1100 lbs. each, at $3.25 to $3.65; good feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.15 to $3.35; good stockers, 750 to 900 lbs. each, at $2.90 to $3.25; good stockers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, at $2.75 to $2.85; common stockers, 500 to 700 lbs. each, at $1.75 to $2.

Messrs. Murby are open to buy several carloads of heavy feeders, and will take them f.o.b., shipping points. Anyone having any for sale would do well to communicate. Address Western Cattle Market.

Milch Cows.

Trade in milkers and springers was dull, prices being off fully $10 per head since Wednesday morning. The quality of the bulk of those offered was of medium to common, and these are always hard to sell, even when there is a good demand. Prices on Wednesday ranged from $25 to $55, and one at $68, but to-day prices were from $35 to $42, and there were several cows left unsold.

Veal Calves.

Prices ranged from $3 to $6 per cwt., and one new milch calf out of 200 calves, so-called, was reported at $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run was one of the largest of the season, and, like all other classes, there was a large percentage of poor quality, which sold at the lowest prices of the season. Export ewes sold at $4.25 to $4.40; rams at $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; lambs sold from $4 to $5.10 per cwt., but the latter price was for selected lots. Those sold at $4 per cwt. were culls, one drover taking a double deck of these back to the country to feed. As usual, 20 per cent. of all the lambs were bucks.

Hogs.

Like everything else, the quality of many of the hogs was not good. Since peas have gone to 80c and over per bushel, and barley 70c, the farmers are neglecting their best friend, the hog, and many of them do not see peas or barley. Mr. Harris quotes selects at $4.12½, and culls at $3.90 per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 3.—Cattle—Quiet; prime steers, $5 to $5.50.

Veals—Receipts, 100 head; active and steady; $5.75 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 2600 head; fairly active and 10c to 20c lower; mixed, $6.10 to $7.20; Yorkers, $7 to $7.10; pigs, $6.60 to $6.75; stairs, $6.25 to $6.60.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 3400 head; active and steady; lambs, $5 to $5.35; Canada lambs, $7.75 to $7.90.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Beeves — Receipts, 623. No trading; feeling steady. Dressed beef in moderate demand at 8½c to 10½c for native sides. Exports, 1,200 quarters of beef to Liverpool.

Calves—Receipts, 225; veals slow to 25c lower; grassers and western calves, dull and barely steady.

Was Brought to the Hospital

Typhoid Fever Case at Young's Point

Dr. Young, Medical Health Officer for Smith township, went to Young's Point, yesterday, to investigate a case of typhoid fever reported from there. He found that a young lady, Annie McIlmoyle, was suffering from the disease and had her brought to Nicholls hospital. The doctor was of the opinion that the fever was caused by bad water, and ordered several wells in the vicinity where the girl lived to be cleaned out. There is only the one case.

Dr. Young states that Smith township is remarkably free from contagion at the present time.

Attempt Made to Swindle Peterborough Business Men

Receive Letters That They Have Been Left Shares of C.P.R. Stock by Deceased Relative—Are Asked to Send $5, But None of Them Have Bit.

Some slick gentleman in New York city has undertaken a novel scheme to "get rich quick," and is endeavoring to enlist the aid of several Peterborough business men to make come true his dreams of bounteous wealth. His plan is not exactly new, and is not even worked out cleverly, and it is not likely that anyone in this city will be taken in.

Yesterday a prominent business man on George street, received a neatly typewritten letter from a gentleman in New York, and the information contained in the epistle was somewhat out of the usual run. The letter paper bore the heading "Leonard B. Drummond, Attorney-at-Law, 608 Sixth Avenue, New York City," and the letter was to the effect that a gentleman of the same name as the person to whom the letter was addressed, had died in New York city, and had willed five shares of Canadian Pacific stock to the Peterborough man. The stock, the letter went on to say, was valued at $800, and would be forwarded to the person to whom the letter was addressed on receipt of $5.00, the attorney's fees. The letter was signed "L. B. Drummond," and bore the date of Sept. 28th.

Now the business man who received the letter was not to be swindled so easy. He knew no relative in New York of the name given in the letter, and furthermore the particulars were not full enough to satisfy him, and no five spot has gone to Gotham.

It has been learned today that several other business men have received similar letters, the name of the person who had willed the Canadian Pacific stock, being the same in each case as the name on the envelope. Among those to receive one of the letters was Mr. B. Luster. The letter was to the effect that Mr. L. Luster of New York, had died and left some five shares of C.P.R. stock, valued at $800 to Mr. B. Luster of Peterborough. He was asked to send on the five-spot if he wanted the shares forwarded to him.

The gentlemen who received the letters have been comparing them and find that they are all similar with the exception of the name.

The strange part of the scheme is that the letters were mailed in Montreal. The envelopes bore the Montreal postmark and the date "October 2nd," and of course were mailed with Canadian stamps.

It is apparent that some progressive Yankee citizen has hit upon this scheme to make an easy living. He evidently has secured a Canadian business directory, and is sending three or four letters of the kind mentioned above to business men in different cities. The number is no doubt regulated by the size of the city. As far as can be learned only three have come to Peterborough. The reason why the letters have been posted in Montreal, must be that the New York state law against the use of the mails for fraudulent purposes are exceedingly stringent and offenders are frequently sent to prison.

It does not look, however, as if Mr. Leonard B. Drummond, Attorney-at-law, is going to secure much money in Peterborough.

First Hunting Party of Season Leaves To-morrow

The first hunting party to leave Petrborough this autumn goes out tomorrow when a half dozen congenial spirits leave for a three weeks' hunting and fishing trip to Lake Koshamogabog.

The party will consist of Messrs. J E A Fitzgerald, T E Fitzgerald, Dickson Best, John Hall ,jr., Smith, Geo. Hooey, H B Rye, and Ald. Tom Wilson. They are making extensive preparations for the outing and expect to have a highly enjoyable time

The touch of an autumn in the air and the turning of the foliage to red, are sending the blood of the hunter coursing faster, and within the next few weeks, hundreds of the lovers of the chase will leave for the northern woods. The different hunting clubs in the city and district are making preparations for the season and hunting stories are again going the rounds. While the deer season does not open until the first of November, there is plenty of smaller game, and some bigger, too, at the present time, and there are many who prefer to be in the woods early in October than later in the season. The weather is usually better, and autumns charms are more in evidence.

Lindsay Firm Secures Contract for New Concrete Dam at Bobcaygeon

Which Will be Built at Foot of Little Bob Channel—Work Will Cost About $40,000—Fine Progress on Other Dams.

The contract for the erection of a new concrete dam at Bobcaygeon, has been awarded to Messrs. McCoy and Wilfrod of Lindsay. It is understood that the figure is in the neighborhood of $40,000. The dam will be 12 feet high. The concrete portion will be 500 feet long and the earth embankment 1200. The dam will be built at the lower end of the Little Bob channel, about 150 feet below Boyd's old mill. The old dam has practically disappeared and the new one is being constructed by the department of Railways and Canals to preserve the water in Sturgeon Lake at sufficient height.

Good progress is being made on the dam at Middle Falls, near Campbellford, which is being built by Messrs. Brown and Aylmer. They will have it half completed this year. Mr. D. Conroy, contractor for the new concrete dam at Buckhorn, is also rushing operations and has the dam well under way.

Forty Policemen Injured In Riot at Calcutta, India

Special to the Review.

Calcutta, Oct. 4.—Seditious agitation led to serious rioting here on Thursda ynight, in which no less than forty policemen were wounded.

London, Oct. 4.—English newspapers today manifest the gravest concern over the riot in Calcutta. The seriousness of the situation is admitted and the fear expressed that further troubles may occur. There is a general demand from the papers that Kier Hardy, whose inflammatory speeches are largely blamed for the trouble shall be recalled to England. The Bengal newspapers this morning, throw the whole blame for the riots on the police.

Captured Prizes At Peterboro' Fair

Mr George Sanderson has been very successful as a prize winner at Peterborough. He took first for his handsome team of Percherons. He also got first and second for the same horses shown single, and won the special prize awarded by Mr. D Hughes Charles, manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Peterborough for best agricultural horses. Mr. Sanderson is certainly to be congratulated. Mr. Robt. Shaw's splendid team also came in for a liberal share of the prizes in the heavy draught class he secured first for his team and second and third for them shown singly. Mr. Geo. Brown secured second for his handsome team of drivers, and Mr. Wm. Leith got third place in one of the races. This is a pretty good showing for Millbrook horses. With Leicester sheep, Mr. Wm McKnight carried off ten first prizes, and Messrs. Robt Vance & Son carried off several first prizes, with a number of Cotswold sheep and also for swine.—Millbrook Mirror.

WEDDING BELLS

KEMPT—BAPTIE

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Baptie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Baptie, of Dummer, to Mr. Alex. Kempt, of Norwood, was celebrated at the home of the bride's sister Mrs. W. D. Robson, Dummer, on Sept. 25th, at 6p.m. Rev. Jas. Deason, of Norwood officiated.

The bride, who was brought in by her father, was dressed in white organdie and valenciennes lace and carried a bouquet of white bridal roses. Miss Eva Kempt, neice of the bridegroom acted as bridesmaid, and was very becomingly dressed in white silk, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and ferns.

The groom was supported by Mr. Russell S. Pearce. Mrs. W. D. Robson played the wedding march.

After a reception amongst the many friends who had gathered to show their appreciation of the bride and groom, a splendid supper was partaken of. The evening was spent in song and happy enjoyments.

The presents were numerous, valuable and useful, showing the esteem in which the happy couple are held by their friends.

Many citizens left today for Millbrook on the 11.45 train to attend the Millbrook Central Exhibition. The crowd at the station was a large one. The 57th Regiment Band under the leadership of Mr. R. Gliddon also left for the big fair and will provide music at the grounds during the afternoon.

MR. FIFE HAS TWO GOOD ONES

That Should be Heard From When Placed on the Track

Mr. Chas. Fife, of Otonabee, who is one of the most enthusiastic horsemen in the county will have a couple of good ones to put on the track in the near future. He also has a yearling filly, Oran Wilkes, by Oran Wilkes. Dolly Tariff is also the dam of this colt. Oran Wilkes is the sire of Kentucky Todd, the horse that recently made a mark of 2.08 3-4 in the three-year-old' divisions of the futurity at Readville. The Fifes and Elmbirnies are about the best known horsemen around Keene and have done much for the breeding of good horses, and the betterment of the turf generally in his part of the country.

A BY-LAW WILL BE INTRODUCED

To Prevent Burning of Rubbish in Yards and Lanes in City

A bylaw will be introduced in the city council to prohibit the burning of rubbish in lanes, backyards, etc., within the city limits. The matter was discussed at the meeting of the Finance Committee last night, when there was a unanimity of opinion as to the necessity of such a bylaw. Accordingly a resolution was passed instructing the city solicitor to draw up a bylaw with the above object in view, and it will be submitted to the council at an early date.

Several other matters were discussed and a number of accounts dealt with.

Those present were Ald. Tovey, chairman; Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Phelan and Bradburn, and City Clerk Armstrong.

Fish Numerous; Ducks are Scarce

Game Warden Chas. Perkins, of Ball Point, reports fish in this vicinity to be numerous, but ducks are scarce. Game Warden Nichol, Bobcaygeon, says the fish were never known to be so plentiful, and that Bobcaygeon has been fairly flooded with Americans. He has sold 300 permits to Americans and expects to sell more still. Alph. Herron, of Caesarea, says that since the water has begun to rise in Sougog Lake the fishing has not been very good. Two Americans are at Caesarea and a catch of fifty lunge was made, none of the fish being less than 7 pounds in weight. He says bass are numerous also.

Cannot Procure American Papers

Residents From Uncle Sam's Domain Have a Grievance

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Would you please give me a small space in your valuable paper to say a few words. We are Americans from Chicago, and there are several of us employed in the C.G.E. Works here. As is only natural, we like to hear the news from home. We requested a local news dealer here to try and get a Chicago daily paper. Through his kindness we have been receiving the Chicago Daily Examiner, but for the last few days we have been unable to get them, as the news dealer has informed us that he has been held up by the customs officer here, who has refused to allow the express man to deliver them.

If you call this a free country, when a person cannot get a paper to read from his own home, on account of a lot of red tape, we would like to know.

A VETERAN WARRIOR

The Major is the only survivor of this engagement resident in the Midland district, and one of the very few still living who took part in the battle. In honor of the anniversary Major Martin wore the medals which were conferred on him at various times for his honorable career as a soldier.—Watchman-Warder.

Many and varied are the ways of Cupid to bind two fond hearts together and the little god does not endure defeat. Because her parents were averse to her marriage a Lindsay young lady eloped with her fiancee yesterday. NUMBERING OF CITY STREETS

Aluminum Number Plates Will be Secured if They Are Not Too Dear

A meeting of the Legal Committee was held last night, when there were present Ald. Phelan, chairman; Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Stevenson, and Ald. Wilson and City Clerk Armstrong.

No resolutions were put through although several matters were discussed. Among them were the trouble in connection with the creek being blocked at Mr. Jas. Rogue's property and the numbering of the city streets. Nothing was done regarding the former matter, beyond it being fully discussed, and as regards the latter, it was decided to secure further information before purchasing the numbers. It is felt that it would be desirable to have aluminum number plates, and information will be secured as to their cost. If they are not too costly, they will be given the preference over the ordinary tin numbers, possessing many advantages.

Several other matters of minor importance were discussed.

STILL ANOTHER ONE OF A SUCCESSION OF SUCCESSES

Twenty-five Hundred People Attend Keene Fair—Good List of Entries and Interesting Track Events—Weather Conditions Were Perfect—Usually Quiet Village Alive With Visitors.

Keene is a small village but nevertheless it manages to hold a fair every year, that would do credit to a place three times its size, and yesterday, Oct. 3rd, saw the second and last day of one of the most successful exhibitions in its history. Everybody in Keene, or practically everybody, was in attendance, including Mr. Wm. Macfarlane, the oldest inhabitant of the village. Ticket Seller J. Reid, and Gatesmen J. Dickson and P. McFarlane, had a busy time in handling the admission money and the admittance slips respectively. Crowds of people from Peterborough and the rural community and villages adjacent to Keene were present, and the village was livelier than it has been any time since the fair of last year. The total receipts of admission this year showed an increase of over $50, as compared with those of last year. There were a large number of entries, particularly of horses of which there was an especially fine showing. The weather was perfect and Old Sol was on his best behaviour for the two days of the fair. This accounts to a great extent for the success of the exhibition, and for the presence of 2,500 people on the grounds. Yesterday the trains from different points brought in large numbers of passengers bound for the fair and the steamers Rainbow and Monarch carried many to the Keene wharf from different points along Rice Lake. The Victoria House and McFarlane's Restaurant were kept busy catering to the crowds. The majority, however, arrived after dinner, and many returned home about five o'clock in the afternoon.

The judging was carried out with a despatch and efficiency that was complimentary to the officials in their selection of the judges, and to the judges as well for the able and satisfactory manner in which they discharged the tasks entrusted to them.

The races were very fast and exciting and both the green trot and the free-for-all afforded excellent sport for the crowd. A two mile foot race was an innovation that met with the approval of the spectators and it was heroically contested by the four fleet-footed boys that toed the scratch.

President Humphries was naturally pleased with the success of the exhibition, over which he had so ably acted as chief counsellor, and the genial secretary, Mr. A. Shearer, expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied. It is largely due to the systematic and businesslike methods that the requirements of both the exhibitors and spectators were so well met. He has been kept busy and has fulfilled his responsible and exacting duties in a praiseworthy manner. The other officials to whose discretion and energy, the success of the fair, is responsible, are:

1st Vice-President, P. Drummond.
2nd Vice-President, J. Smithson.
Honorary Directors,—T. Walsh, J. M. Drummond, T. Thompson, W. T. Harrison, M.D., John Lancaster, R. Hope, J. H. Taylor, A. Nelson.
Directors,—J. J. Moore, John Miller, W. B. Stewart, W. J. Miller, J. Carey, Wm. Drummond, J. Lang, W. Renwick, A. Stewart, Alex. Wood, W. W. Shearer, J. Throop, G. Howson, R. Weir, R. A. Nelson, J. H. Fife.

The committee of management was Horses—J. J. Moore, G. Howson, P. Drummond and J. Carey.
Cattle—A. Wood, W. B. Stewart, W. Miller.
Sheep, Pigs and Poultry—J. Smithson, Wm. Drummond and R. Weir.
Ladies' Work, etc.—Miss Reid, Miss Lumsden, and J. H. Fife.
Domestic Manufactures—J. Miller, W. Renwick and A. Stewart.
Grain and Roots—W. W. Shearer, J. Throop and R. A. Nelson.
Fruit—J. Lang, J. J. Moore, and J. Miller.
Races—P. Drummond, W. W. Shearer and R. Weir.
For stalls—The President, J. Smithson, and J. H. Fife.
Entrance to Hall—R. Humphries, J. J. Moore.

THE MAIN BUILDING.

Judging from the splendid exhibits in the main building there has been a bountiful harvest this year in the vicinity of Keene. The different fruits, grains and vegetables, were shown in profusion, and the mammoth pumpkins and the big apples occupied positions of prominence. The building was tastily ornamented and was thronged with visitors all afternoon. There were many booths of local and outside exhibitors. Lang & Maher, whose exhibit was looked after by Messrs. J. Lang, George Wesley and S. Hickey, and Grafton & Co., who were represented by Messrs. H. L. Conway, A. W. Goods and R. Howland, were among the out-of-town exhibitors in the building. A particularly fine exhibit of buggies and waggons was shown by Mr. J. T. Mather, of Mathers' Corners. Numerous other important exhibits were also shown.

SPEEDING IN THE RING.

The free-for-all was a pretty contest. Black Cloud, owned by Mr. J. Kelly, of Peterborough, captured all the heats in splendid style. He was ably teamed by Mr. Bert McCollum, his former owner. In the green trot Jessie Banks, the property of Mr. A. Elmhirst, Keene, won in three straight heats, and gives every promise of developing into a speedy stepper.

Following is the summary of both events;—

FREE-FOR-ALL.

Black Cloud, J. Kelly, Peterborough	1	1	1
Peggy, G Lipsett, Peterborough	2	2	2
City Girl, J. Hull, Peterborough	3	3	3

GREEN TROT.

Jessie Banks, A. Elmhirst, Keene	1	1	1
Charlie Mac, J. Elmhirst, Keene	2	2	2
Minnie S., M. Squires, Lang	3	3	3

The judges were Messrs. R. J. Munro, J. Clancy and D. Hughes Charles, all of Peterborough. Mr. H. C Winch acted as starter and handled the bell to the satisfaction of the horsemen and the spectators.

This event proved unusually interesting. There were four starters, T. Waddell, Westwood; John Bennett, Peterborough; Peter Newton, Keene, and John Muskrat, Hiawatha. They finished in the order named. Waddell, the winner had on his ordinary street attire, with the exception of a pair of running shoes, and considering this handicap, the form he displayed was phenomenal. He ran in great style and was a good first. His victory came as a surprise, as it was generally thought that Bennett, the Peterborough "Longboat," who won the five mile event at the Lindsay Fair, would cross the line first. The time given was under nine minutes, but the distance covered was, strictly speaking, a little less than two miles. Waddell, if given proper training, should be a formidable man in the distance running field.

THE JUDGES.

The following were the judges in the different classes;—

PLAY AT NIGHT

On both nights of the fair, "The Noble Outcast," was presented in the town hall by a good cast of local amateurs. An interesting story was unfolded in the working out of the plot and the piece was well received by the audiences on both occasions of its presentation. The proceeds will be added to the funds of the Keene Improvement Society.

SPECIAL EXHIBITS

STOCK FOOD AND SINGER MACHINES.

The exhibit that held features to interest both ladies and gentlemen, old and young, was that of G. T. Gall, of Keene, showing the many preparations put up by the International Stock Food Co., and the always popular Singer Sewing Machine.

The International Stock Food Co's bright colored packages, nicely arranged, made an attractive display, and stock men evinced much interest in it, many of the preparations being now to them. There appeared to be something for every ailment of the horse, cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, as well as the stock food for putting the animals in good condition.

The Singer machines were employed in a demonstration of the different attachments, and the children carried away as souvenirs, pretty cards and fans trimmed with gay ribbons put on while they watched by the splendid machines. Every lady on the grounds must have visited the Singer Sewing Machine exhibit judging by the souvenirs seen in their hands.

GRAFTON & CO.

The first thing to catch the eye on entering the hall, was the fine exhibit of Grafton & Co., the widely known clothiers, and all over the grounds their signs were very much in evidence, so that the visitor could scarcely see Keene fair and not carry away the name Grafton & Co. indelibly photographed on their memory.

The exhibit of new Fall styles in Men's Clothing was displayed against a pleated white background, brightened up by trailers of green ivy. The new shades in brown were shown, and some choice styles in fancy vests, suits and overcoats. The exhibit was in charge of Messrs. H. L. Conley, A. W. Goodes, and R. Howland.

PRIZE CATTLE AND SHEEP.

The most noteworthy exhibit in the live stock section, was that of F. Birdsall & Son, of Birdsall, whose Durham cattle and Oxforddown sheep made a clean sweep in their classes. Their Durham herd, which took all firsts but one, is headed by the grand bull, "Golden Fame, 2nd." bred by W.S. Campbell, Kinellar, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, and imported by George Isaac.

Their Oxforddown sheep, which also made a clean sweep, were shown in field condition, selected from a flock of one hundred ewes, and were a most creditable lot of animals. The flock is headed by an imported Hobbs bred ram, assisted by another imported ram.

LANG & MAHER.

The handsome tent containing the Gent's Clothing exhibit of the well known farm of Lang & Maher, was a central point of interest, and must have been visited by every man, woman and child on the grounds, judging by the most decided "yellow streak" they showed afterwards, caused by the yellow yard sticks which were handed out in profusion by the attendants. Their signs were everywhere, and, aided by the courteous gentlemen in charge certainly brought the farm into great prominence in that neighborhood.

Fell off Waggon; Instant Death

Port Hope, Oct. 3.—Stanley Gainer, a Barnardo boy, ten years of age, fell from a waggon last evening when returning from the fair, sustaining a fracture of the skull which resulted in instant death.

Old Resident Has Passed Away

Death of Prominent Citizen at Norwood

On Tuesday morning there passed away in Norwood, one who had reached the patriarchial aged of 82 in the person of the late Mr. J. P. Brown.

Mr. Brown has long been an outstanding figure in the public life of the village and township, having been a member of the trustee and quarterly boards of the Methodist church, and a former councillor, deputy reeve, and reeve of the township of Asphodel. In these various positions he acquitted himself with an earnest unselfishness, and with marked benefit to the public.

In Robinson's 'History of Peterborough County,' the following sketch was printed in 1884.—

"John P. Brown of Asphodel township, was born in the City of Quebec in 1825. His father, the late Richard Brown, was from England and had served several years in the navy; and had resided in various places throughout Canada, eventually settling in Goderich, Ontario, where he died in 1871.

"John P. lived with his people in Quebec, till about twenty years of age, where he learned the trade of a carpenter, and has worked at the same in the United States and Canada. He settled at Norwood in 1857, where he has lived, and in the township of Asphodel, ever since. He owns one hundred acres of lot 13, con. 10. He married in 1844, Miss Cairn, a native of Tyrone, Ireland."

Mr. Brown leaves a widow and six sons—David of South Dummer; John of Tonawanda, N. Y., Gideon and William of Hornellsville, N. Y.; and Maxwell of Asphodel; together with three daughters—Mrs. C. Stephenson, of British Columbia; Mrs. R. Elliott, of Kansas; and Mrs. J. H. Buck of Asphodel, and a large number of grandchildren.

The funeral takes place this afternoon, a public service being held in the Methodist church.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS

The movement in favor of school savings banks is growing. They have long passed the experimental stage. The thriving, prosperous town of Galt claims the honor of being the first community to institute the system. Good results have followed and it is now proposed to merge the school bank in the Penny bank, formed in Toronto some time ago.

It is interesting to note that since the school children of Galt began their systematic plan of saving, twelve hundred separate accounts have been opened and over $8,000 collected, says the Woodstock Sentinel-Review. There are now over eight hundred accounts, representing a total savings of over $4,000, to be transferred to the Penny Bank. When a child has $200 to his credit the account is transferred to one of the chartered banks, and by that time it is hoped that the valuable lessons of economy and systematic saving will be so well learned as to last throughout the individual's life.

Mr. Jarvis, manager of one of the Galt banks, was instrumental in having the system introduced eight years ago, and he is so satisfied with the results of the experiments that he is said to regard the work as of really national importance.

There is no doubt as to its importance. The education that does not do something to equip the individual for the battle of life is defective to the extent to which it fails; and the student who goes out into the world without some useful, practical knowledge of how to make the most of life, amid the conditions which exist around him, can scarcely be said to be educated, no matter how much book-learning he may have in his head. There is no more pathetic figure to be met, than the man whose head is so full of knowledge that he doesn't know how to make a living. Why is it that so many men, naturally equipped with many excellent qualities of head and heart fail to make a success of life? Very often the explanation is that they have never had any working knowledge of the proper use and value of money.

It may be said that there would be danger from the general introduction of the savings system into the schools of developing a race of misers, and if such were the result it would be a very undesirable one; but if the object of the system is constantly in view, namely, to teach the proper use of money and to lay the foundation of useful habits, the danger should not be very great.

THE YOUTH AND THE CHURCH

A Peterborough resident remarked the other day that he did not know where the future workers in the church were going to come from. He was, of course, referring to the men as he admitted that the majority of young women were active, earnest laborers in the cause of Christ. But, with the young men, how different is the state of affairs? When the present elders, deacons, class leaders and Sunday school workers disappear, who is going to replace them, who is going to continue their labors, to take up the burden and responsibilities. Attend any young people's meeting and you will not find more than a dozen young men, while there will be three or four score young ladies. They fill nearly all the offices, lead the devotions and take the topic, simply because the young men are unwilling or disinclined to do so. Do the youth take the interest in higher things that they should? Is there not a growing tendency, on their part to disregard the affairs that make for eternity and future happiness.

Another authority says that it is almost impossible to find, within the portals of any sanctuary, half a dozen, consecrated, earnest, active young men who are true Christians, or who will take any part in religious work or in the effort to establish the Kingdom of our Lord and Saviour here on earth. The youth will enthusiastically go in for football and all kinds of athletic sports, for social reunions, for clubs, for dances, for debating societies, for mock parliaments—for, in fact, everything, except teaching in the Sunday School, conducting or taking part in service of prayer, or pointing others to the way of the Cross. They seemingly manifest but little concern in the saving of souls— the deepening of the spiritual life in the community. True, they may attend the Sunday services, but they take small part in them. They may consent to take up collection or officiate as ushers, but, beyond that, they draw the line. There must be an awakening, a forward movement, a united vigorous effort, if the work of the world's evangelization is to go on.

Whoever is at fault, it is difficult to tell, but there is a painful evidence of indifference and inactivity on all sides, so unmistakably demonstrated that one cannot shut his eyes blindly and exclaim "Oh, all is well." The young men must be reached; they must be wakened up and led to take hold of affairs; to join more generally, and heartily in the work of saving sinners.

It is hoped, that the ranks of youth may be aroused and their senses quickened.

On Thursday night, October 24th in St. Andrew's Hall, Rev. J. A. MacDonald, of Toronto, will speak on "The Laymen's Movement in the Church." His remarks will be well worth hearing and will doubtless shed much light and give some valuable information on a topic of much timely thought and significance.

It is hoped his words will bear fruit and that, during the coming season, the young men of Peterborough will be alive in evidence in the work of the various young people's societies, the several guilds, and different Sunday schools, doing their share in carrying on advancement of the spiritual needs of the community, strengthening the work of the church in its several departments, faithfully assisting the pastors, and bringing into the ranks hundreds of those who never enter a sanctuary nor manifest any concern in the future life.

PEN POINTS

The fall fair season is nearly over All the exhibitions except that of Peterborough have been favored with fine weather.

The Ontario Government is going to extend the provisions of the succession duty act to provide for a reciprocal arrangement with other provinces. As the law stands the estate of a person dying in Ontario and possessing property also in another province, pays a tax in this province on what is owned here, and also on any personal property owned in the other province, and also pays the succession duty in the other province as well, thus being under contribution for the same property twice. An arrangement has also been entered into with New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, allowing the succession to be taxed in these provinces on property held there by an Ontario resident.

There appears to be no abatement to the picture post card craze. In Peterborough during the past season more of those souvenirs have been sold than every before. The picture postal card originated in England. The young fellow who was clever enough to see the possibilities of photographic views of the world's metropolis, transferred to mailable cards, made wealth out of the idea. He started in a humble way, but the fad spread furiously, and he formed a corporation to handle it. The craze grew by leaps and bounds and ran away with all engaged in it. The idea has now circled the globe. Scarcely a community of any size is without home views or shops where cards are handled. Even the little back woods towns with scenic spots have had these depicted on cards. No outing or summer resort, no camp or fishing lodge can get along unless it is supplied with cards.

Col. Hugh Clark, M. P. P., who is well known in Peterborough, has been "sizing up" the new leader of the Ontario Opposition. In the last issue of his paper, the Kincardine Review, he says,—"Hon. A. G. Mackay is the ablest member of the Opposition in the Legislature, but by no means the safest. He is so impetuous and aggressive, that he is better as a lieutenant than as a general. He would make a first-class Tupper to a Macdonald. The member of the Opposition who fose superior to all his colleagues as a sane, safe, solid and attractive leader, was Mr. T. H. Preston, of Brantford, but he was out of the race for the leadership by reason of his retirement from the Legislature. Mr. Graham has better qualifications for leadership than A. G. Mackay, although he does not begin to have Mr. Mackay's ability, his power of intellectual discernment and logical dissection. If he falls short of his successor in this respect, he rises above him in discretion, poise and moderation that becomes a leader, and even in political sagacity."

When the proper time comes to appoint a new principal of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, to succeed Mr. Edmonds, it is hoped that the Board of Education will select a local man for the position. There is no need to go outside. The Review believes in the system of promotion. At present there are three members of the staff efficient staff fully qualified to fill the principalship, and no reason exists whatever, for searching elsewhere. It may be all right at times, or, under exceptional circumstances, to bring in a man from some other point, but it is not necessary in the present instance. We have plenty of good material at home, and any one of the three qualified gentlemen now on the staff, would discharge the duties of the important post acceptably and capably. Honor should be given to whom honor is due, and advancement come to those who merit it. It is too often true that a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country. It is time we got over some of this sophistry in educational matters and give those in our midst a chance There is no doubt but that they will "make good" if afforded an opportunity.

Dr. William Pakenham, dean of the new faculty of education of the University of Toronto, is a Peterborough boy of whom this city is justly proud. He has won fame as an educationist of the front rank. He stands for all that is highest and best in education, and firmly believes in cutting out all fads and frills in order to raise the standard as high as possible. At the inaugural exercises held this week in connection with the University of Toronto he delivered a powerful address which has aroused widespread interest. Dr. Pakenham commented on the evolution of the science of education during the last half century. A mass of data had been gathered from all sources, and a mechanism produced which obscured the informing principle. It was the duty of the University to experiment, and probe until it found the truth and cutting away all fads and frills to establish science on a proper basis. It was the duty of the University of Toronto to assist in organizing the science of education, and to endow the teacher, not only with knowledge and skill, but with its own large spirit. It would not lose afterwards, for through its students it would regain in purified form, its ancient authority and sense of responsibility. It would bring home to the lower schools its own conception of the dignity of learning and through them enlarge the State's interest in higher education.

This Mixture

Home Made Remedy Which Acts Promptly on Kidneys and Bladders

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple, and can be made up by any one at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dendelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. The extract dendelion acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleans and enriches the blood.

As you or anyone of your family, especially the old folks, may be attacked at any time it would be wise to cut this out and save it.

A Couple of Ladies Arrived in Keene on Day Before Fair.

On Wednesday a couple of members of the Central staff of the Bell Telephone Co. drove down to Keene to attend the fair in that flourishing village. When they arrived they noticed that the peaceful hamlet among the hills did not appear to be the scene of any unusual activity. Going into a grocer store, they remarked to the merchant:—

"Isn't it rather quiet for fair day?"

'Oh, this isn't fair day," replied the merchant. "The fair won't be held until tomorrow."

Of course entries were being made on the day the ladies visited Keene, but the real fair day was not until yesterday. They were at a loss to understand how they come to be confused in the fair dates, and, it is said, endeavored to have the directors put on a special exhibition for their entertainment, promising, in return, that they would see that Keene was given the best long distance service possible. The directors could not see it that way, however, and stated that on account of previous arrangements, the principal day of the fair would have to be the one advertised.

The young ladies were taken for a paddle on the river, and tried their hand at the fishing game. According to reports, after trawling for a short time, they landed a beautiful "23" pound lunge. After spending a delightful afternoon in the village, they left for Peterborough about dusk. They did not attend the fair yesterday afternoon.

AMUSEMENTS

GUY BROS. MINSTRELS.

A minstrel show appeals to some people like a circus to the small boy. They are on the qui vive, while minstrels are in town, and are found in the front seats when the end men crack their jokes, and the songs are sung. Guy Bros. minstrels visited Peterborough yesterday, and drew a fair audience at the Grand Opera House last evening despite unfavorable weather. Their offering was well up to expectations and the audience went away well pleased. Guy Bros. appear to grow in popular favor at each visit to Peterborough and are always sure of a warm welcome here.

The vocal work was excellent, among the selections that were received with enthusiasm being, "The Old Church Choir," "When Dreams Come True," and "Up a Lemon Tree." Many new jokes were brought out, and some chestnuts appeared dressed up as to be hardly recognizable. The dancing of Kennedy and Boyle, was perhaps the best ever seen in Peterborough and won great applause, while "Hilders," described on the programme as "the man without bones," did some stunts that made the audience sit up. The orchestral music was a treat and added greatly to the performance as a whole. There was sufficient variety about the performance to please everybody, and encores were repeatedly demanded.

Allen Doone, in "A Romance in Ireland," is the attraction at the Grand tomorrow night and a crowded house is assured.

OPENING OF DOCK

The formal opening of the new wharf at Hall's Landing will take place on Monday next, when the official party from Peterborough will go down by boat. The speakers will include Hon. J. R. Stratton, Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.; J. B. McColl, M.P., and John Finlay, M.P.—Millbrook Reporter.

No Dividend for Perhaps a Year

Liquidator Says York Loan Cannot Pay Until the Court Directs

The liquidator of the York Loan has issued the following statement:

There has been some misunderstanding with reference to the present position of the York County Loan and Savings Company liquidation. The machinery for determining the rights of creditors was provided by the Dominion Act, and no change has taken place in the liquidation except that Mr. Kappele has taken over the work of the referee at the point where Mr. McLean requested to be relieved.

Several statements have appeared that a dividend will be paid in the near future. As a matter of fact, it will be some considerable time before any dividend can be paid. The referee has given a series of appointments for the consideration of the matters to be adjusted, but it is absolutely impossible, owing to the nature of the issues to be tried, that the referee can give a final judgment for some months, and after his judgment is delivered the various parties have the right to appeal, first, to a Single Court judge, and from there to the other Courts of Appeal. It is, therefore, possible that it may be a year or longer before the court can instruct the liquidator to pay a dividend. In the meantime the assets are being realized upon to advantage, and as soon as the court is able to give the liquidator a direction a small dividend can be paid.—Toronto Star.

County to Object to Present Agreement Regarding the Jail

Complaint is Made That it is Not Fair Now That the County Has a House of Refuge—The Situation at Present.

There is likely to be friction between the city and county in the near future growing out of the present condition at the jail. The building of the house of refuge at Lakefield has brought about a change in connection with the institution on the court house hill that the county council is likely to kick over the traces in respect to one or two things.

At the present time there are ten inmates in the jail and every one of them is from the city. But at the same time the county is paying its share of the maintenance of the jail. And in connection with the prisoners the condition that is likely to cause trouble is the fact that seven out of the ten inmates were sent up for vagrancy. They are mostly old men who are unable to work and have no means of livelihood. The point is if the city had a public house of refuge this class of men would not be at the jail, but in the home. In the olden days when the county had no house of refuge they sent their share of vagrants to the jail and as a result were quite willing to bear a portion of the expense. But now that the county has a house of refuge and has not a vagrant, or any other kind of prisoner in the jail, some of the municipal legislators from the county are commencing to remonstrate. They claim that it is not fair for the county to have to support a house of refuge and at the same time bear a part of the keep of the city's vagrants who should be in a home instead of in jail.

The matter will likely be taken up by the county council at an early date, the claim being that the present agreement is not fair.

Splendid Progress Evidenced In Great Y.M.C.A. Campaign

Another Rally Held Last Night--Prominent Business Men and Manufacturers Endorse Work of the Association—Features and Incidents of the Movement

The six day campaign on behalf of the Y.M.C.A. budget is now in full swing. It will wind up on Tuesday night next and, if the workers continue to work as they are doing now, success will crown the efforts of those who are so ably directing the movement.

Last night a tea was enjoyed in the Y.M.C.A. hall, Mr. G. M. Roger being the host.

After the many good things had been discussed came the business of the evening.

Mr. J. W. Bennet reviewed the progress of the work so far and called for enthusiastic united action.

Mr. E. G. Patterson, superintendent of the C.G.E. works, spoke of the good work being done by the association. He felt that it was worthy appreciation. He referred to the advantage such an institution was to the large industrial establishments in the city and he would like to see every man in this employ, a member of the association. He wished the campaign every success. He thought that in the direction of Y.M.C.A.'s the public should be taken fully into their confidence and thus greater and more general interest would be aroused.

Mr. W. H. Denham, manager of the Quaker Oats Co., also added a few words of appreciation. He spoke particularly of the advantage of the evening classes in equipping men for the battle of life. It was often difficult to secure men of good character coupled with executive ability, and the Y.M.C.A. was serving a splendid purpose in supplying this need by impressing upon the youth the necessity for all round development. The association was deserving of every support and encouragement.

Mr. G. M. Roger briefly explained the character and scope of the work and the benefit that a well managed and progressive Y.M.C.A. was to any community.

Mr. G. H. Williamson, general secretary, told of campaigns conducted in other cities on behalf of the Y.M.C.A., and said that the institution in Peterborough was most economically managed. He was deeply grateful for what had been done and believed that the work which the citizens' committee and the young men had set to cover in six days would be successful and that the sum desired would be raised.

This evening the clergymen of the city will be entertained to tea at the Y.M.C.A. and their interest enlisted in the cause and helping forward the movement.

CAMPAIGN ECHOES.

Let there be no mistake—the campaign must close on Tuesday evening.

It means work on the part of every man concerned.

"Let the young men excel in good works."

The Citizens' committee will have to bustle to beat the young men.

A steady pull will do the work.

What the Y.M.C.A. work means to the young man—Home comforts, companionship, recreation, intelligence, culture, physical fitness, splendid growth.

To the employer—Increased efficiency, honesty, sobriety, loyalty.

Only subscriptions payable before Dec. 31st, can count in the six day campaign.

Work! work! work! and win! win! win!

The young men's committee are getting after the members.

Membership in the Y.M.C.A. was never so popular as just now.

The tea on Monday night will be largely attended.

The Fellowship club will entertain the ministers of the city to-night.

We are spending $5,000.00 this month to explain what the word "Constipation" means.

Constipation means NON-ACTION OF THE BOWELS.

If the liver is healthy, it pours enough bile into the intestines to make the bowels move. Then, too, the bowels discharge waste matter from the body by a peculiar snake-like movement. This requires strong muscles.

When the bowel muscles are weak—when there is not sufficient bile—the bowels do not move for two, three, sometimes four and five days.

This non-action of the bowels is Constipation. Waste matter, which should leave the body, is taken up by the blood, and carried to the kidneys and skin. These organs—in a vain endeavor to throw off the poisons—are overworked. The poisoned blood, in turn, irritates the nerves, causing Headaches—Backaches—Neuralgia.

The weakened kidneys cannot rid the system of urea, which changes into uric acid, causing Rheumatism, Sciatica and Lumbago.

It is useless to try to cure Constipation with calomel, cascara, senna, strong purgative pills and vile-tasting mineral waters. They simply force the bowels to act by irritating the delicate membranes. Their action weakens the muscles and really does more harm than good.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" ACT ON THE LIVER—stimulate the glands—and so regulate the action of the liver that it will excrete sufficient bile to move the bowels in the normal, natural way every day.

Nothing else in the world will so surely and permanently cure Constipation.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" are made of fruit juices, intensified, with the most valuable tonics and antiseptics added. Cure yourself of Constipation by taking these wonderful liver tablets. 50c. a box. Sent by mail if your druggist has none.

Bulgaria.

From the latest published statistics Bulgaria does not seem to be a workingmen's paradise. The number of town work people—men, women and children—is only 6,149. The average wages are exceedingly low, about 20 cents for a twelve hour day for men and women and 10 cents for children. Scarcely 15 per cent of them earn 15 cents a day, and these are all skilled mechanics.

Seems Rather Doubtful.

An extraordinary story of an incident at St. Giles' Church, Colchester, is published in London. The chancel of the church is in course of demolition for rebuilding, and it was thought fit to remove the coffins of Lady Ann and Lady Johanna Lucas, which were deposited in a vault near that containing the remains of Lucas and Lisle, two gallant cavaliers, who were shot by order of Gen. Fairfax after the siege of Colchester.

When a leaden coffin containing the body of Lady Johanna Lucas was lifted an aperture was accidentally made in it, and to the consternation of the lookers-on, it is said, a quantity of blood streamed out. The corpse was interred in July, 1671.

TO SOLVE THE MYSTERY

SIR CONAN DOYLE INTERESTED IN DUBLIN CASTLE ROBBERY.

Astonishing Story May Be Revealed—Valuable Insignia Stolen — Jewels Valued at $300,000 Spirited Away—Sherlock Holmes Takes Hand In the Game—Thief Cannot Dispose of Gems—Robbery Uncanny.

In an article to The London Express from Dublin, a special correspondent says:

The mysterious robbery from Dublin Castle of the insignia of the Order of St. Patrick and other precious jewels worth nearly $300,000 is likely to have an unexpected and startling development.

Sir Arthur Vicars, Ulster King-at-Arms, the custodian of the jewels, last evening gave me his official version of the robbery, although he, of course, declined to divulge the theory on which he is at work and which he is hopeful may result in the arrest of the thief or thieves.

"I have my own ideas of this affair," Sir Arthur Vicars said, "and I am working on them.

"If those ideas prove correct I may say that a most astonishing story will be revealed. It may be the police know more than the public, and when all is ready, and not till then, they will be able to act.

"From some points of view this robbery is a baffling mystery. So cleverly and silently was it carried out that it appears even uncanny. It would seem impossible for mere human beings to have done what was done and to escape with the jewels.

"On the evening of July 5, when the valuables are last believed to have been safe, everything was locked, and the door was tried by three different people to see that everything was all right before the office was left. In the morning the strong room was ajar and the safe was found to be unlocked and the jewels gone.

"The thief must have opened three doors with three different keys that are never left about but are always kept on the persons of the trusted and responsible holders.

"I am the only person who has the key of the safe from which the jewels were stolen, and I always carry it about with me with my other keys wherever I go.

"I never leave them at home or about in the office, and if a wax impression was obtained some one must have taken it in an instant when my back was turned. The whole business is so strange that one is almost led to believe that some ghostly visitor had borrowed them from my dressing table while I slept, obtained the wax impression, and vanished. It all shows almost superhuman cleverness and ingenuity.

"At first, when the jewels were gone, I thought some one was playing a practical joke or had a grudge against me, but I think I may dismiss those suggestions, for it seems now only too clear that it was a criminal act.

"When we discovered the loss my key was microscopically examined to find if any particle of wax was on it, but there was no trace, as the key had evidently been in use in my pocket for some considerable time after.

"Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is very interested in this mystery, which so closely resembles some of his astounding 'Sherlock Holmes' tales, and he has kindly volunteered to help us to a solution.

"I would like you to say that the interview with a representative of the order published in a London newspaper was in no sense 'official,' and was wrong in matters of detail. It was stated there that the thief used a perfectly fitting key, which suggests that the original, and not a duplicate, was used to open the safe. There is no evidence that such was the case, and all the evidence, as a matter of fact, is on the other side, for the original key—the only one—was in my possession at the time.

"The thief must have opened three doors—the strong room, the safe and the outer grille—and there was no reason, beyond the fact that the other articles were not easily portable, why he should not have got away with much more property at the same time.

"It appears to me that the thief will have tremendous difficulty in disposing of the jewels, for gems such as those are very scarce, and are known to jewellers the world over.

"You may rest assured that no stone is being left unturned to discover the thief and recover the missing property. I cannot tell you any more, but we are hopeful."

Lincoln's Old Age Rules.

The following were Abraham Lincoln's maxims for longevity: "Do not worry, eat three square meals a day, say your prayers, think of your wife, be courteous to your creditors, keep your digestion good, steer clear of biliousness, exercise and go slow and easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a good life."

W. H. Wiggin of Hamilton, superintendent of the International Harvester Company, died yesterday, aged forty-seven.

HELPED PRISONERS' WIVES.

Duchess of Marlborough Takes Care of the Unfortunate.

The Daily Mirror publishes a story of the benefactions of the Duchess of Marlborough in behalf of the wives and children of convicts.

The duchess, it says, has taken two houses in London, which are being comfortably and tastefully furnished. One will be for the wives of prisoners serving sentences and the duchess hopes to find room for about twenty women, who will be taught laundry work and plain sewing. The Bishop of London is to dedicate the two homes, probably in September.

Another charity which the duchess already has in progress is a home where mothers whose husbands are serving sentences may take their babies and leave them from eight in the morning until six o'clock in the evening.

The duchess goes there every day, and it is stated to complete her work she is giving up her visit to America this year.

UNCOVERING EGYPT.

Temple of Goddess of Love Is 4,600 Years Old.

At the King's College, England, recently, under the auspices of the Egypt Exploration Fund, C. T. Currelly gave an account of the excavations at Deir-el-Bahari, and described the progress of the year's work in connection with the discovery of an eleventh dynasty temple in the vicinity of Deir-el-Bahari. Mr. Currelly said the original temple had been erected and dedicated to the Goddess of Love. The shrine was built, it was calculated, about 2,700 B. C., and it differed entirely from the Greek idea of worshipping temples.

It was erected for man and for man's glorification, and it was put up during a reign of tyranny in Egypt. The Egyptian had always been a man who had been dominated by a governing influence. To-day if the English influence were withdrawn the Egyptian would soon revert to his original inactive condition. They would still find evidence of the primitive man there. As long as the Egyptian could be driven he seemed to be capable of almost anything, but when the pressure was withdrawn he fell back to the primitive ways.

Mr. Currelly observed that the year's work had been one of great importance to antiquarians and scientists. Inscriptions and columns symbolic of the early life of Egypt were continually being discovered, and which went a long way to clear up the myths of Egypt's early history.

Fish Out of Water.

A fish with very singular habits exists in New Zealand, called by the Maoris the kakawai. It is generally discovered when a man is digging out rabbits in the summer-time, and it lies at a depth of a foot or two feet under the soil. The character of the soil, whether sandy or loamy, does not seem to matter. The fish is from two to three inches long, silvery, shaped like a minnow, but rather more slender and tapering. It appears quite torpid when exhumed, and if dug up in summer and put into water it dies at once.

If, however, it is brought to daylight in May or early June (the end of autumn), when the rains are beginning to make the soil thoroughly wet, and put into a tub of water, a curious thing happens. After a day or two it casts its skin, which sinks to the bottom, and the fish plays about bright and lively. Of course, in winter there must be marshy spots or pools in which the fish can swim, but often all evidence of such natation disappears in summer, and the hot, dry, waterless plain seems the last place on earth in which to find a fish.

Jewish Marriage Custom.

"The Jews have a number of interesting marriage customs," says a writer in Cassell's Saturday Journal. "One usually takes place before the ceremony, and consists of a declaration on the part of the bride that, should her husband die before her, she will not call on his brother to marry her. This is required of her because by the law of Moses—which is still in force—a widow has the right to make such a claim on her late husband's brother, and because, though in a monogamous country like ours she could not insist on his espousing her in the event of his being already married, she might make his position decidedly awkward. On the one hand, the poor fellow would be bound by the ties of religion to fulfill his obligation; on the other, he would be liable to imprisonment for bigamy."

He Was Superstitious.

"This bein' Friday," said the farmer who had just staked the hobo to a handout, "I reckon you wouldn't start t' work."

"Not me," replied the unlaundered traveler. "I ain't goin' t' queer me luck by startin' t' work on Friday, ner Saturday, ner Sunday, nar Monday, ner Tuesday, ner Wednesday, ner Thursday. See?"

William Foster, aged 10 of Windsor, is dead of blood poisoning resulting from bites received two months ago.

Highland Mary

is meeting with great favor with Investors—More than 250,000 shares sold first eight days of sale, and applications increasing daily.

A GOOD INVESTMENT, NOT A GAMBLE.

Forty-nine men out of every fifty who make a practice of buying and selling speculative stocks lose their money. The man who watches the stock market quotations from day to day, and buys when he thinks they are going to advance, and sells when he thinks they are about to go down, is simply gambling with his money. He may win once in a while, but will oftener lose, and eventually become penniless, with no established or settled income.

Don't gamble. Don't try to get rich in a day. If you would create an income that would be permanent, so that some day you may take life easier, be an investor. Invest your money, do not gamble it away. Place your money in something good, that is sure to bring you an income. The shares of the Highland Mary Gold Mines of Larder Lake are this kind of an investment. It is an investment that will bring you an income. Buy the shares now at 10c per share, before the big advance that is sure to take place. Buy the shares now, and keep them, and don't think of parting with them. Some day they will be worth many times what you can buy them for now, and that day is not so very far away. Its worth value will not be fictitious either, but will be based upon actual earning and dividends therefrom. We firmly believe that the dividends on each and every share of the Highland Mary will within one year equal or exceed the price it can be bought for to-day. We firmly believe that within five years the yearly dividends on Highland Mary will equal or exceed $1.00 per share.

This is the kind of an investment we feel justified in advising our friends and clients to invest their money in. The Highland Mary properties have been thoroughly examined and tested by our engineers and assayers. We feel that through our extreme caution in this respect the element of chance, that usually enters into mining propositions, has been practically eliminated. The Larder Lake gold fields are proving the greatest the world has ever known. This is being demonstrated from day to day to a certainty.

We want to induce our friends and clients to make a good, profitable investment, one that will bring them an income for the balance of their lives; an income that will amount to something, that will do some good; an income that will each year exceed the total amount of the investment; an income that will be your good friend in time of need; an income that will stand by you through sickness and adversity. An investment of this kind are the shares of the Highland Mary Gold Mines, now selling at 10c per share. We feel certain that an investment in these shares can be relied upon to do all this, and it will do it just as soon as the stamp mills can be established and the mine placed in proper working order. Some may be impressed with the idea that the shares of Highland Mary are a gamble or a speculation, but we say to all who think this, in all seriousness, that it is not. We say that it is a legitimate, honest and safe investment. A better, safer or more profitable one was never offered. It is no more of a gamble or speculation than the new dry goods store or shoe store to be established by a good business man, or the new bank to be established by tried financiers. You probably will ask, How is this? We say to you, a business man or financier will look the ground over, make calculations and figure out almost to a certainty whether the new business or bank to be established will pay. We say, further, that Law & Co., Limited, use this same caution in their business. We have looked over the ground. We know the mining business thoroughly, and we can see no possible chance of loss in the shares of the Higland Mary.

We are in a position to look ahead with some degree of certainty and figure it out. We are not making miscalculations. There is no more element of chance in purchasing the shares of the Highland Mary than there is in any legitimate business undertaking.

From our reports and examinations we figure out that there are thousands and thousands of tons of ore available for the stamp mills, and that when these thousands of tons have been milled there will have been developed many thousands of tons more. We figure that no stockholder of the Highland Mary will live long enough to see the ore exhausted.

There has never been a gold mine that did not have to make a start. It had to have a beginning. The greatest gold mines of the world had to take out the first shovel of dirt, or fire the first blast, and those who made the largest percentage of money and obtained the largest incomes were those who went in at the beginning, bought shares at the first issue price, put them away and kept them. Highland Mary is just starting; it is going to be a great mine; investors are going to get rich from shares of this Company.

The property consists of thirty gold claims of forty acres each, amounting to 1,200 acres. There are many veins and thousands of tons of ore available for treatment. Those who buy Highland Mary shares now at 10 cents and keep them will never regret it. They will secure

A NEVER-FAILING INCOME

The ore veins at Larder Lake assay all the way from $5.00 to $20,000 to the ton of ore—the most marvelous results known of any mining camp in the world. We figure out that the ore will run $50.00 to the ton right through, but, for an example as to future earnings, and to figure safely, we will say that the ore will average $25.00 to the ton. Now, the capacity of a five-stamp mill is about fifteen tons of ore per day, but for safe figuring we will place it at ten tons per day. Ten tons of ore at $25.00 per ton per day will amount to $250.00 per day. It will cost to operate a five-stamp mill, including cost of mining the ore, about $25.00 per day, which will leave at least $225.00 per day profit for each five-stamp mill installed. One mill alone for one month, 26 working days, will make a profit of $5,840, or a trifle over $70,000 for one year. Ten of these mills of the capacity of five stamps will be installed at the earliest possible moment. Ten mills of this capacity when in operation will produce a profit for the company of from $750,000 to $1,000,000 per annum, but the number of mills will eventually be more than ten.

The great Treadwell mines at Juneau, Alaska, now have more than 3,000 stamps in operation. Their ore averages only $2.60 per ton, yet it is one of the most profitable gold mines in the world. They started at one time just as the Highland Mary is starting now. They have grown, and the stockholders have grown rich. Ore can be mined and milled at Larder Lake as cheaply as at Juneau. The ore at Larder Lake averages twenty times the value per ton, and there is more of it to mine than at Juneau. These are facts that should be remembered. Highland Mary will make stockolders rich. Buy now before the big advance that will soon take place. Buy to keep; buy for investment.

Capitalization of Highland Mary, $3,000,000. Par value of shares, $1.00. 1,000,000 shares in the treasury for development purposes.

BOOTBLACK'S REVENGE

Sensational Incident on Long Island Ferry Boat.

Engineer Was Shot and Mortally Wounded—Had Accidentally Trodden on Man's Toes — Excitement Among Passengers—Tried to Throw Assailant Overboard—Was Arrested After Severe Struggle.

New York, Oct. 5.—Shot and mortally wounded after he had accidentally trodden on the toes of a fellow-passenger on the Long Island ferryboat Hudson City, Thursday night, Robert Blair, 49, chief engineer of the Far Rockaway waterworks, is in Bellevue Hospital. His assailant, John Barberi, 19, a bootblack, is locked up in police headquarters.

The shooting caused the wildest excitement among the ferryboat's passengers. Barberi's arrest was not accomplished until after two detectives, mistaken for his friends, had had a lively fight with several men who tried to overpower them.

After the arrest it took all the efforts of the detectives to save Barberi from the fury of the crowd, which was bent on throwing him off the boat and into the river. A husky young express wagon driver struck the prisoner on the jaw, felling him and grabbed the revolver from his hand. Then the detectives appealed to the calmer passengers to come to their aid.

A MYSTERIOUS DEATH.

Body of Woman Disinterred — Husband Has Gone Away.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—County Crown Attorney Ritchie and Coroner Baptie are investigating the death of Mrs. Thomas Burns, aged 21, of Osgoode Township, near here.

She died on Sept. 11, was buried on Sept. 12, and her husband left for the woods next day. His whereabouts now are unknown.

Complaints were made and there were rumors of possible foul play, so yesterday the body was exhumed and a jury was empannelled at Gloucester Township, the jury viewing the body in an empty rectory building near the cemetery. The evidence will be heard next Friday.

Among the many complications connected with the very unusual case is the fact that no neighbors were at the house and no one knows how the woman died.

Though a burial certificate was issued, it does not state the cause of death and the undertaker was never handed the formal certificate, but was told by the husband that he had given it to the priest, Rev. Mr. Belanger.

HEALTH GOING, TOOK POISON.

Raleigh Woman Swallows Paris Green In Fit of Depression.

Chatham, Oct. 5.—Mrs. William Ball, who died at 9 o'clock Wednesday night, committed suicide by taking a dose of paris green, according to an investigation instituted by Coroner George T. McKeogh, who visited the Ball home yesterday.

It appears that the woman suffered from melancholia and recently took a month's treatment in a local hospital. She returned home improved, but during the past week symptoms of the ailment reappeared, prominent among which was an impression that she could not do her duty towards her family of three children.

She had expressed this idea to several neighbors, and on Wednesday afternoon took the poison.

Her husband returned home at 8 o'clock, and finding his wife unconscious a physician was summoned, but too late to stave off death.

Inspected Cold Storage.

London, Oct. 5.—New cold storage buildings erected by the C. P. R. at Liverpool were inaugurated on Thursday. A number of Liverpool importers paid a visit of inspection.

At the Baptist Union Assembly at Liverpool Rev. J. B. Warnicker, introduced by the president, briefly expressed the greetings he brought from "9,000 struggling" Baptists out west in Canada. He thanked the union for all it had done for colonists in the past; he had rejoiced to feel the warmth of the union assembly. If the heart of the Empire was weak its extremities would also be weak.

Killed by Live Wire.

New York, Oct. 5.—In full view of a throng in the street one man was instantly killed and another mortally wounded Thursday night by an electric light current in Brooklyn. The victims were Jacob S. Slinbach, 21 years old, and Joseph Weick, 23 years of age.

The accident was the result of the entanglement of a banner announcing a pleasure club outing, in a number of electric wires, which the victims volunteered to free.

Loophole In Sunday Law.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—An interesting point has arisen in connection with the prosecutions of railways for failure to observe the Lord's Day Act.

It appears that under the Railway Act, prosecutions cannot be instituted without the consent of the Board of Railway Commission. Prosecutions have been inaugurated in a number of cases without the board's consent being secured.

Two Washed Overboard.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 5.—The Battle line steamer Pandosia, on Sept. 19, during the terrific gale, off Newfoundland, had two of the crew washed overboard, namely, Johnston Grant, the mate, and a seaman, name not given.

Japan Rice Crop.

Tokio, Oct. 5.—The final official forecast of this year's rice crop shows it to be 13 1-2 per cent. above the average.

WILL NOT HURT CANADA

Australia's New Tariff to Be Higher Than Last Year.

Some Lines of Industries Will Be Affected—Trade on the Whole Will Suffer Little From Higher Duties—Commonwealth's Exports Show Great Increase—Will Need Many More Imports.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—A report received at the Trade and Commerce Department from Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian agent at Sydney, gives details as to Australia's trade returns for 1906. The total imports for 1906 amounted to £44,729,500 and the total exports were £69,737,761. The remarkable feature of the year's trade, says Mr. Larke, is the increase in exports, which have nearly doubled in ten years. The increases have been mostly in exports to the United Kingdom and to the British colonies. The new tariff, he notes, will be higher than that in force last year, and will affect some lines of industries, but not greatly Canada's trade with Australia as a whole. The Commonwealth, he adds, will be compelled to import the chief lines it now receives.

Hamilton Woman Hurt.

TWO BANKERS ARE SWINDLED

Slick Stranger Works Clever Game at Orangeville

Local bank managers should profit by the experience of two Orangeville bankers as told in the following despatch from that town.—

Orangeville, Oct. 5.—With two men in jail here, convicted of forgery, a tall, dark, stranger again worked the same game on the Bank of Commerce and Sterling Bank today. He obtained $200 from the former and $100 from the latter. So easily was the money obtained that the forger tried to discount a note at the Bank of Hamilton, but the officials there insisted on identification. The stranger went away and, not coming back, the manager became suspicious and warned the other two banking houses, but they had already been victimized. Bank clerks and police immediately started out to find the criminal, but up to a late hour, their quest was unsatisfactory. The swindler is described as a tall, dark complexioned man, with dark moustache, wearing a blue suit, and black fedora hat. He impersonated Patrick Garrity, a rich farmer of Caledon township, whom he in no way resembles. It is thought in some circles that the forger left town on the 2.30 train going north. Since they were swindled recently the banks have been especially careful and in view of this circumstance, more than usual interest is attached to the event.

Minister Given Sound Drubbing

After Being Torn Away From His "Affinity"

Kremmling, Col., Oct. 2.—Unused to the doctrine of affinities and the philosophy which propounds it, and believing in the old idea of fidelity to one's life partner, twenty of the citizens of Kremmling on Tuesday night dragged Rev. W. H. Harsha from the home of Miss Ruth Shumacher and administered to him a fearful rawhiding with quirts. The mob, their heads hidden in pillow cases, after beating the preacher for several minutes, carried him to the door of his home, where his wife and children were, and kicked him inside.

So quietly did the crowd proceed that nothing of its doings was known for some hour afterwards. It was first ascertained that Harsha was at the home of Miss Shumacker, and then the indignant citizens sought him out. In the home of his "affinity" he had retired for the night. The party was not to be denied, however, and insisted that he put his clothes on and come out. He demurred, but was persuaded.

His clothes adjusted, Harsha was taken into the street. With one accord the twenty set upon him with quirts, and in a trice he was bleeding in many places. He begged for mercy, so the story goes, promised that he would be good and pleaded the sanctity of his profession.

Then he was taken to his own home where his wife and children live and thrust into the door with the warning that hereafter he should conduct himself as an ordinary citizen, and remain true to his wife.

According to those conversant with the facts, Harsha and the Schumacker girl, who is twenty-five years old thirty years the junior of the minister, have been on such terms of intimacy, as to be the subject of common talk.

Harsha has posed as the guardian of the girl, claiming that he had been left in charge of her, and that all he was doing was in the performance of his duty.

Rev. Mr. Harsha has been constructing a sanitarium, here, which, he says, he proposes to fit up for the benefit of consumptives. Miss Schumacker has assisted him in his work, he says, and together the two have bought supplies of every sort. The woman has been arrested, charged with obtaining money under false pretences, on complaint of Henry McElroy, who asserts that she obtained goods from him fraudulently.

MILK DEAR IN HAVELOCK

The local dealers in milk have raised the price of that necessary fluid from five to seven cents a quart. In Peterborough where the expenses of delivery, etc., are much higher, the price is only six cents, and the Peterborough papers are wondering why it is so much higher here.—Havelock Standard.

Was Disorderly in Local Hotel

John McQuinn was charged with being drunk and disorderly at the police court this morninng. He was remanded till this afternoon at four o'clock. It appears that last evening McQuinn created quite a disturbance in a local hotel. He went there intending to stay the night but his conduct was such that he had to be put out. During the fracas a large pane of glass was broken by McQuinn, and it will cost considerable to replace it.

WILLING TO GIVE A GOLD MEDAL

Local Clergyman Would Like to See Shot Putting Event at Future Collegiate Sports

A local clergyman, who was an interested spectator at the Collegiate Institute sports yesterday afternoon, said he would give a gold medal to be competed for in a shot putting contest, should that particular event be added to the present list. The shot put used to be one of the features of the Collegiate's field day, but has been dropped on account of the possibility of some of the younger and sometimes too aggressive spectators being injured. With the exercise of due care, however, there seems no reason why it could not be held.

According to Tests Local Citizens Receive Good Milk

Twenty-Three Samples Were Tested and the Sanitary Inspector is Well Pleased with the Results.

The milk tests for the month of September have been completed and are given below. A test has been made of a sample of the milk supplied by each dealer supplying milk in the city and Sanitary Inspector Hall states that he is well satisfied with the results. Samples from twenty-three dealers were tested by Mr P Downham and in connection with the figures which appear below it may be stated that 3.5 per cent. of butter fat is considered fair, while 4 per cent. is unusually good. The samples were taken at random and are a fair test of the quality of the milk being supplied.

Following is a list of the dealers, with the percentage of butter fat found in the respective samples;

Charles Kovaliski Digs Up An Indian Skinning Stone

Discovers it Four Feet Beneath Surface While Excavating for Waterworks Department—A Number of Curious Finds Lately in Different Parts of City.

Yesterday afternoon, Charles Kovaliski, a Polish member of the waterworks gang of men, engaged in excavation work in front of the Custom's House, preparatory to the installation of a new hydrant at that point, unearthed an Indian skinning stone about three and a half feet below the surface. The stone is a trifle larger than an ordinary whetstone, and is wedge-shaped. It is of a bluish, black color, not unlike slatestone, in that respect, but is much harder than the latter's variety of stone.

Skinning stones were originally used by Indians in skinning animals. The stone in quite a curio and, judging by the depth it was below the surface it has been there for many years.

There seems to be a veritable unearthing craze in Peterborough this fall. Not long ago a gang of men in the employ of the waterworks department, discovered an old Lower Canada coin some feet below the surface, while making excavations on Aylmer street; a little later, Mr. Bernard Corrigan, of Otonabee, dug up a horse-shoe, that had been buried over four feet in the ground, while digging a trench on George street for the Bell Telephone Company, the day before yesterday the men digging a sewer drain on Charlotte street, near Lendrum's photograph gallery, found it necessary to pick through a corduroy bridge that they found a few feet below the surface, and now comes the finding of the skinning stone.

If the industrial upheavals of our streets are continued much longer a buried city, a la Pompeii, may be found and transported in chunks to the Victoria Museum that is, unless the Victoria Museum that is, unless some enterprising gentlemen form an underground investment company, and sell the stock at Cobalt figures

Man Had Narrow Escape While Attempting to Board a Train

Missed His Footing and Fell, Cutting His Head Badly—Boy Has an Unexpected Bath.

Millbrook fair, which was a great success came very nearly culminating in a fatality and there is one man who will not soon forget the exhibition. A farmer by the name of Brown whose place of abode could not be learned, while attempting to board a moving train, fell and received some bad injuries about the head. In order to handle the immense crowds travelling between Peterborough and Millbrook, a special train was run, leaving Millbrook at half past seven, coming north. A large crowd was waiting on the platform, and when the train was seen coming several boys and men in order to secure a seat jumped aboard while it was still moving. The engine had to be turned around and it was when this was done that the accident occurred. Close to the siding where the train was operating was quite a deep culvert with considerable water in it. Brown in attempting to get on the train missed his footing and fell striking his head, which was badly cut. He had a very narrow escape from receiving fatal injuries.

A young lad about twelve years of age, while also attempting to be among the first on the train, had a rather unexpected bath in the cold waters of the culvert. He rolled down the bank into the stream and into the hole. He was drenched through and stood shivering in his wet garments until he reached Peterborough, when he quickly ran for home from the station. He was accompanied by his parents and was lectured rather freely for his conduct.

Conserving the Waters to Maintain Level in Canal

Important Work Being Done by Government in the Northern Districts—Many Dams Have Been Increased in Height and New Ones Built.

When the average man hears the Trent Canal mentioned, it brings to his mind, the waterway, artificial and natural, extending from Rice Lake on the south to Lake Simcoe on the north. He does not consider the vast number of lakes and rivers that dot the northern part of Peterborough county and also a large part of Victoria county. While these smaller bodies of water are not a part of the canal as far as navigation is concerned, yet they are essentially a part of the Trent canal system, and have an important bearing upon it. All the lakes in the northern part of the county and in Victoria county, feed into the larger bodies that make up the Trent canal proper, and the rise and fall of the water in the great inland waterway depends almost entirely upon the conditions prevailing at the smaller lakes or "feeders."

In the past frequent complaints have been made during the summer months that the water in certain stretches of the canal was so low that navigation was greatly hindered. With the object of improving conditions in this respect, the Dominion Government has adopted measures to conserve the waters in the feeders and thus be able to maintain a good depth of water, in the bodies of water that make up the canal. In order to conserve the waters in the tributary lakes, dams are being built to hold back the water. On many of the lakes, dams were built for this purpose several years ago, but it has been found that the majority of them are not high enough and several of them have been increased in height during the past summer. It is also the intention to build a number of new dams on lakes in which the water has not been conserved in the past. The water will be held back in the spring when it is high and can be let out as required during the summer. Unless one has visited the lakes district it is impossible to have an idea of the amount of water that can be conserved and regulated to maintain a proper level in the canal throughout the entire season. With the number of dams that have been heightened during the past summer and the new ones that are now being built it is expected that next season a high level of water will be maintained in the canal at all times.

An important point in connection with this work, is that caretakers are appointed for each dam, their duties being to see that lumber companies and others do not throw open the dams and let the water escape. Without the caretakers, the function of the dams would be largely nullified, as the lumbermen would often open the dams to serve their purposes, and the water would get out at a time when it was not likely needed to keep up the level in the canal.

A Peterborough gentleman who recently made a trip through the northern part of the county states that in conserving the water, the government is doing a most important work. It is far-reaching and highly beneficial in its effect.

Looking for Her Husband

But Chief Roszel Could Not Give Her Any Assistance

A woman from another town called at the police station this afternoon shortly after 3.30 o'clock, and asked Chief Roszel to prevent her husband from leaving the city. She offered to give him a photograph of her better half, or judging from her story, her worse half, and said she had traced him here and he is, she stated, living with another woman. As there is no charge against the man the Chief had to decline to interfere and as the woman left the station she remarked, "well maybe I'll run across him myself."

Scow Was Out of Commission

The breaking of an anchor on a scow used in connection with the dredging of the Otonabee, caused the craft to sink at one side, just below the Quaker Oats Co.'s dam yesterday. The Bye-Election in Brockville

"Onlooker" Has Something to Say on the Present Situation

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Liberals of Brockville are showing their hand. When the Hon. George P. Graham was before his constituents in the Island City, the Brockville Recorder hinted that it would be a nice compliment to the ex-Provincial Secretary to elect him by acclamation and was voicing the sentiments of the Liberals in this matter and hinted that if the newly appointed minister was returned by acclamation, the compliment would be returned. Of course, it would be to the interests of the "Pink Pill City" if the riding was represented in the Dominion House of Commons by a Cabinet Minister." NOW! What is their music? It is a tune pitched in the key of "A" sharp. Mr. Donovan is the Conservative candidate and if the organist does not pay too big a salary for the boys who provide the wind, and the notes, the ballots will be marked for A. E. D. and on election night a goodly number will be counted over the required pile to allow the aforesaid gentleman to put the "M.P.P. after his name. See what the "Pink Pill organ" says: "It is not in the interest of the Province, nor is it in the interests of the Conservative party that the majority of the government should be increased." There is the consolation in the facts this time, in reference to the election at Brockville for the local House, for the ballots will not be printed where they were for the Comstock-Wood election a few years ago, when a few hundred too many were printed and some used. 2nd. There will be no $20,000 or $25,000 of Government pap to prevent Mr. Donovan being elected. 3rd. The conduct of this contest will be in the hands of the purest and most honest government the Province has ever had. 4th. There will be no back entrance to "pa's son's yard" to receive the one's and five's to prevent Mr. Donovan going to Toronto. 5th. There will be no Cabinet Minister to promise what he will do if elected.

The only cry the P.P.O. can manufacture to hurt Mr. Donovan is, "that the Whitney Government is continuing to carry out a contract which the Ross-Graham-Hardy-Stratton & Co., Government made, when in power. It is amusing to note the condemnation by the P.P.O. of the very policy that it was the loudest in upholding only a few years ago. Let the election in the river constituency be carried on honestly and Mr. A. E. Donovan will be elected to occupy the chair that was his by right, three years ago, when the money and "muck" flowed almost as plentiful, as the beautiful river which flows past the Island City.

Give the Annexman a fair fight, and a clean, pure election and he will win every time, and why not occupy one of the seats which carry the appendix with it, of "Hon" He may. He is a man qualified to hold any position the Government has at their disposal,

Yours,
ONLOOKER.

Thomas Dixon, a farmer of Port Dover, died suddenly at Simcoe yesterday.

Taking Books From the Church

"Sufferer" Complains of a Practice Altogether too Common

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—There is a commandment among the ten, which reads, "Thou shalt not steal." I think probably there are a few in this city who attend church that may not have heard of it, or probably have not a Bible to read it in. It seems not to matter what is written on the fly leaf or printed in gilt letters on the cover, the books disappear out of the pews of a certain church, whose sweet-toned bells may be heard every Sunday morning calling the citizens of this fair city to the house of worship.

The writer has had, in the past few months, no less than two books taken from his seat in church, one a Book of Common Prayer, with the owner's name printed in gold on the front cover and a presentation plate on the inside of the front cover, beautifully engrossed, giving name, and source of receipt, dated in March 1881, and a copy of Hymns, Ancient and Modern, music and words, with his name and pew number plainly written on inside of front cover, and pew number printed on ends of book

These books do not belong to person who now has possession of them and the owner would be thankful to have them returned to their place in church.

Yours respectfully
THE SUFFERER

Coal Situation in Peterborough; Does Combine of Dealers Exist?

The Charge is Frequently Made, But do the Facts Justify It? What the Law Says Regarding Conspiracies to Restrain Trade and Enhance Prices Unreasonably --A Subject of Intense Interest.

Do the coal workers of Peterborough act in unison in regard to regulating the price of coal?

In other words, does a combine exist for the purpose of enhancing the price of a necessary commodity and forcing consumers to pay more for coal than the condition of the market justifies?

These are questions one hears asked every day, and perhaps not without reason, for the man who is not fully conversant with conditions and judges the matter just as it appears to him, is very likely to come to the conclusion that the coal dealers of the city are working together. What the average man knows is that all the dealers in the city charge the same price for the black diamonds, and that when an advance in price takes place it is made by all the dealers. This would seem to indicate that the coal men were working in unison and had an agreement in regard to the regulation of the price of coal.

This is the charge that has been made time and again.

Is it true?

The Review does not say that it is by any means. Perhaps it is; perhaps it is not.

A few days ago coal was selling in Peterborough at $7.50 per ton for egg, stove and chestnut. One day this week the price was advanced to $7.50 per ton, all the dealers putting up the price at the same time. In the minds of many people the fact that that all the dealers raised the price the same day and the same amount, has left the impression that a combine exists. Of course there are two sides to the story, but the Canadian law is very plain as regards combines and conspiracies to unreasonably enhance prices. The plumbers in Toronto found this out. It hardly seems probable that the coal men of Peterborough would charge more for coal than would give them a fair profit. They are respected citizens and it is hard to believe that they would countenance an action that would mean hardship for many poor people in the city.

THE LAW.

At any rate it is a good thing to know just what the law is on the point. It is found in section 498 of the Criminal Code of Canada, and is as follows:—

"EVERY ONE IS GUILTY OF AN INDICTABLE OFFENCE, AND LIABLE TO TO A PENALTY NOT EXCEEDING FOUR THOUSAND DOLLARS AND NOT LESS THAN TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS, OR TWO YEARS IMPRISONMENT, OR, IF A CORPORATION, IS LIABLE TO A PENALTY NOT EXCEEDING TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS, AND NOT LESS THAN ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS, WHO CONSPIRES, COMBINES, AGREES OR ARRANGES WITH ANY OTHER PERSON, OR WITH ANY RAILWAY, STEAMSHIP, STEAMBOAT, OR TRANSPORTATION COMPANY,

(a) TO UNDULY LIMIT THE FACILITIES FOR TRANSPORTING, MANUFACTURING, SHIPPING, STORING, OR DEALING IN ANY ARTICLE OR COMMODITY WHICH MAY BE A SUBJECT OF TRADE OR COMMERCE; OR

(b) TO RESTRAIN OR INJURE TRADE OR COMMERCE IN RELATION TO ANY SUCH ARTICLE OR COMMODITY; OR

(c) TO UNDULY PREVENT, LIMIT, OR LESSEN THE MANUFACTURE OR PRODUCTION OF ANY SUCH ARTICLE OR COMMODITY, OR TO UNREASONABLY ENHANCE THE PRICE THEREOF; OR

(d) TO UNDULY PREVENT OR LESSEN COMPETITION IN THE PRODUCTION, MANUFACTURE, PURCHASE, BARTER, SALE, TRANSPORTATION, OR SUPPLY OF ANY SUCH ARTICLE, OR IN THE PRICE OF INSURANCE UPON PERSON OR PROPERTY."

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

A local lawyer was asked by the Review yesterday as to any convictions that had been made under the above section of the Criminal Code, and was informed that, under the section which is published above the Master Plumbers and Steam Fitters' Association, and the Central Supply Association were each fined $5,000 by Mr. Justice Clute, at Toronto last winter for conspiring for the unlawful restraint and injury of trade and commerce and unduly lessening the manufacture and production of certain commodities, and of unreasonably enhancing the prices of same. The individual plumbers and steam fitters were fined from $200 to $500 each, making an aggregate of $10,000, by Chancellor Boyd in January of last year.

He further stated that the coal dealers of Lockport, N.Y., at one time formed an association for the purpose of fixing the minimum price of coal in that city, and it was held that the purpose and object of the association had a tendency to prevent competition in one of the necessities of life, and that it constituted a conspiracy in restraint of trade, and that the association and members thereof were liable to conviction for conspiracy to commit acts injurious to trade.

For the same offence a coal dealer named Elliott, of Brantford, who was President of the Ontario Coal Association there, was convicted by Chief Justice Meredith, and directed that he should enter into a recognizance for $4,000, to appear to receive sentence when called upon.

THE DEALERS' CLAIM.

Now for the coal dealers' statement. They claim that the price of coal is fixed entirely by the big combine from whom they purchase their supplies. They have no voice in the matter, but are obliged to sell at whatever the combine says shall be the price. They make the statement that if one of the coal dealers of Peterborough attempted to cut prices, the combine would jump on him hard, would refuse to sell him any coal, and as they control the entire product of the mines; he would have to go out of business. There is no doubt that with the price of hay at $15 to $20 per ton, and oats at 40 cents to 45 cents per bushel, it costs the dealers more to deliver coal than when hay is $10 per ton and oats 30 cents to 35 cents per bushel. They also have to pay their laborers more, and expenses are higher in every way than they were a few months ago.

The point is, though, "are the coal dealers making more than a fair profit?" That is the question that has to be answered. Who can give the information?

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Ministerial Association will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Monday next at ten o'clock. Prices Were High at To-day's Market

A Large Number of Sellers—Butter Sold at Thirty Cents

The farmers are reaping large profits these days. This is proved by the exceedingly high prices demanded at today's market. Thirty cents per pound and twenty-two cents per dozen, were the prevailing figures for butter and eggs. Notwithstanding the fact that there were a large number of sellers, the prices did not come down a cent and the farmers certainly ought to feel gratified with today's sales. There was a large quantity of fowl. Chickens sold at from forty-five to seventy-five cents per pair. Ducks brought eighty and ninety cents per pair, while geese, of which there were only a few, went at ninety cents apiece. Lamb was scarce, and what there was, went at 11 and 12 cents. Potatoes sold at 90 cents a bag.

STIRLING WILL GET ELECTRIC POWER FROM HEALEY FALLS

Enthusiastic Meeting Addressed by Mr. Culverwell—Would Like to See Dominion Government Quickly Emulate the Meritorious Action of Ontario Government Under Direction of Hon. Frank Cochrane.

Stirling is to have electric power and light from the famous Healey Falls, on the Trent river. The managing director, Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of the Northumberland-Durham power Company, Limited, addressed a special meeting of Stirling Council on Saturday says the Stirling News-Argus. Reeve Mather was in the chair. A number of prominent ratepayers were present, although short notice was given. Mr. Culverwell gave a most interesting and useful address on the operations of the company, and was explicit in the extreme, using the engineers' plans and also documents to strengthen his arguments.

He addressed a letter to the Council that: "The Company intend supplying electric power and light from Healey Falls to Stirling as well as to other centres in the south Midland-Ontario district, at the same time." The letter explained the company's buildings, viz.: "Leases from Ontario Government of Healey Falls, both sides, and the lower adjoining rapids, and also a patent of 50 acres of land absolutely necessary for development works. Deeds in fee simple of two large portions of the upper rapids with adjoining lands, and also other necessary lands."

The letter further stated: "The Dominion Government however, has not yet consented to granting us the intervening portions of the upper rapids which will be of no use for power purposes except to this Company. The Government had purchased this portion thirty years ago for crib-sliding purposes, but is now no longer used. This settlement has been delayed over a year and a half, pending the completion of the Walsh survey of the Trent Valley Canal. That now being accomplished and the appointment of the new Minister of Railways and Canals now arranged, we purpose now requesting a settlement so that a proper and full development of the whole Healey Falls and rapids may be made, and the district be no longer hampered for want of electric power.

"The Company's Directorate is composed of the leading manufacturers and business men in Cobourg, Port Hope, Trenton, Belleville, Deseronto, Campbellford and Havelock, and the Company's applications to both Governments have been endorsed by seventeen municipal councils of Northumberland, Durham, Hastings, and East Peterborough counties, and the Company respectfully request you to do likewise, in the interests of your municipality and the district."

Mr. Culverwell said he wished to further explain the situation, and also the blessings of abundant and cheap power for manufacturing and electric lighting. He showed the remarkable prosperity of the electric towns and the quiescent state of other towns. He did not wish to rant about "unlimited power" from Healey Falls, as some other people did, even when talking about a little one-horse stream, but he dilated upon the fact that about fourteen thousand horse power was the capacity of the whole Healey rapids and falls in the dry season during the hearty working hours of the day. This is secured from a total of seventy-three feet of fall, and with this large reservoir in the long stretch of ponds of the wide river above. There would be no trouble to troubles owing to this guidt reservoir. This whole power was required for the south Midland-Ontario district—the engineers' report showing that at the present time over eleven thousand horsepower of steam power was used in this district.

Mr. Culverwell said that the extremely low cost, as shown by the engineers report of the development at Healey Falls, would enable the Company to sell power at about half the cost of steam power and furnish light at such a low cost that every householder would use it. There would be a continuous lighting service too.

He said that when he entered the electrical field in 1891, he soon had charge of the Edison General Electric Company, for western Ontario, now called the Canadian General Electric Company. While then, he could only advocate transmitting electric power two miles distant from the generator, yet to-day power is being transmitted over a hundred miles, and that in some cases at a cheaper cost than from a more costly waterpower development five miles distant. He instanced his argument by the Lachine and Shawinigan power transmissions to Montreal.

Mr. Culverwell stated he had been publicly credited by a prominent legislator with having secured better municipal backing for his Company's application to Governments than any man in the history of Canada—yet Mr. Culverwell said, it was a public scandal the opposition he had received from greedy politicians. These obstructionists, while hindering the Company's operations, and making the work of organization almost impossible in the past, yet had not been able to overcome the Company. He found that he was capable of handling these greedy politicians, and would do so without gloves on the platform and in the press, if they did not keep their hands off. The Company deserved success, as they were honest in their operations and were backed up by the people of eight constituencies and officially by eighteen councils.

Mr. Culverwell was disappointed that in the recent further Government canal survey on the Trent, that Healey Falls had been left to the last, even after most of the river sections had been opened for tenders. This is again delaying the Company's operations, but the survey will soon be finished. The Company had waited 2 years on surveys, and he was tired. owever, he had confidence in the wisdom of the new Minister of Railways and Canals, the Hon. Geo. P. Graham, and day is dawning. He looked to see the Dominion Government quickly emulate the meritorious action of the Ontario Government under the direction of the Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines.

The Company's engineers report that "It is quite certain that it is perfectly feasible to construct both canal and power development without material interference one with the other, either as to construction or cost, and doubtless due consideration will be given this feature by the canal engineers."

Mr. Culverwell said that he hoped they would do so. He also stated that the Company would be quite ready to furnish the land for the canal and locks, and also water for lockage purposes.

The speaker's appeal was shown to be appreciated by the remarks of the Council. His answers to questions were also satisfactory, this being demonstrated by the memorial to the Dominion Government being passed unanimously by the Council endorsing the Company's petition and requesting an immediate settlement, so that the Company will not be delayed and the district will not be further hampered from securing electric power and cheap lighting.

BOOK PLATES.

They Came Within Fifty Years After the Invention of Printing.

It was within half a century from the invention of printing that book plates were introduced as identifying marks to indicate the ownership of the volume.

Germany, the fatherland of printing from movable type and of wood cutting for making impressions in ink on paper, is likewise the home land of the book plate.

The earliest dated woodcut of accepted authenticity is the well known "St. Christopher of 1423," which was discovered in the Carthusian monastery of Buxheim, in Suabia.

It was to insure the right of ownership in a book that the owner had it marked with the coat of arms of the family or some other heraldic device. Libraries were kept intact and passed from generation to generation, bearing the emblem of the family.

The first book plate in France is dated 1574; in Sweden, 1575; Switzerland, 1607, and Italy, 1623. The earliest English book plate is found in a folio volume once the property of Cardinal Wolsey and afterward belonging to his royal master.

The earliest mention of the book plate in English literature is by Pepys, July 16, 1688. The first known book plate in America belonged to Governor Dudley. Paul Revere, the patriot, was one of the first American engravers of book plates and a designer of great ability.—Journal of American History.

The Mosquitoes That Infest the Region of Lake Nyassa.

In his book "From the Cape to Cairo" E. S. Grogan writes: "The Kungu fly, which is peculiar to Lake Nyassa, resembles small May flies, and at certain seasons of the year they rise from the water in such stupendous clouds that they blot out the whole horizon. Seen in the distance they have exactly the appearance of a rainstorm coming across the lake. When they are blown landward they make every place uninhabitable by the stench which arises from the countless millions that lodge and die on every inch of sheltered ground. I myself have seen them lying a foot deep in a room, and I was told that they are often much worse. The natives sweep them up and make cakes of them.

"Biting and poisonous ants are another pest, but the mosquito is the great enemy of man. It was absolutely necessary to turn in half an hour before sunset and to make all the preparations for the night. I piled all my belongings round the edge of my net and kept a green wood fire burning at each end, and then I lay inside, smoked the native tobacco and prayed for morning. As soon as the sun went down the mosquitoes started operations.

"It was like having a tame whirlwind in one's tent. They could not possibly have been worse. Every night 200 or 300 contrived to enter my net—I have no idea how. The most pernicious and poisonous kind was a very small black mosquito that might possibly have penetrated the mesh. I used to turn out in the morning perfectly dazed from the amount of poison that had been injected during the night."

CUNNING OF MUSKRATS.

Foresight With Which These Animals Build Winter Homes.

In the month of March, before the rivers have opened, on the snow around the heads of the creeks and about the airholes in the thick ice may be seen the curious trail of the muskrat. It can readily be recognized by the firmly planted footmarks, heavily and slowly impressed, and the sharp after drag of the long, scaly, bladelike tail. All through the cold winter months these heavily furred animals have lived warm and comfortable in their well constructed houses, rearing their third and last litter. One house erected about September seemed planned with almost human foresight. Here, with their long sharp teeth and strong, inch long claws, they had cut and cleared wide paths through all the marshes—paths so deep that three feet of ice did not close them, so wide that we have often paddled along them, marveling at the great floating masses of torn up aquatic vegetation. These paths were a hundred yards long and four feet wide and were cut through a mass of tangled cover high enough in most places to thoroughly conceal a duck hunter and his canoe. In the winter months the muskrats can easily dive from their houses into these under ice channels, and the whole marsh is before them to choose their meal from. The long yellow roots of the flag and the juicy tubers of the wild onion (the muskrat apple is the more poetic Ojibway) hang exposed before them or are readily torn out.—Bonnycastle Dale in Outing Magazine.

ACTION OF THE BANKS

According to the statement of the Canadian chartered banks for August, there has been a decrease in the amounts loaned in Canada, of roughly two million dollars, and an increase of money loaned abroad of roughly one million and a half. Demand deposits decreased nearly six million dollars, but savings deposits increased over two and a half million dollars.

These are the facts. Now, what do these facts mean? A loan made from a Canadian bank appears usually in the form of a deposit made in another, or the same bank. Current deposits are very largely the record of current business. The fact that they are decreased means purely and simply that business has been restricted.

But it is entirely different with savings bank deposits. They are actually the garnered wealth of the people. Those in Canada have been increased by two and a half millions in one month, and what have the banks done with the money? Three-fifths of it they have sent out of the country into the United States. This may be explained on the soundest principles of banking finance, no doubt. But it points to a condition of affairs extremely inimical to this country's welfare. It means that the Canadian banks, in the case of a financial stringency, have the resources to come to the rescue of another country, instead of mitigating the effects of that stringency in their own country.

It is all very well for the banks, says the Winnipeg Telegram, to take the high and mighty tone that the banking business should be left to bankers. This is the tone the insurance companies took in the United States, and some curious things have happened to them. It is the tone that the chiefs of the Standard Oil Trust took, and some curious things have happened to them. If it is to be the stand taken by the Canadian banks, it is quite likely that some curious things will happen to them also.

The danger, which the banks do not seem to appreciate, lies in this, that once popular sentiment is aroused there is no saying what particular direction it will take. The banks are creatures of the Government. As such, the Government has power over them. The Government is controlled by the people. Oftentimes the people have a wild way, in trying to cure an abuse, of accepting a radical remedy. Let our Canadian people take warning and find a remedy themselves. They may take this for granted, that a campaign against them, based on no matter, what economical heresy, would rouse the Canadian people at the present time, as nothing else has done within twenty years.

THE ASIATIC PROBLEM

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not been successful in the evasion and postponement of the Japanese trouble, writes an Ottawa correspondent. As Mr. Borden, addressing a great meeting in Vancouver, reminded the people, Sir Wilfrid himself is largely to blame for the present condition of things. In his last campaign before he took office, Sir Wilfrid was asked to announce his policy on Asiatic immigration into British Columbia. The Liberal leader then declared that the question did not interest any province except British Columbia, and his government would carry out the wishes of that province.

Sir Wilfrid has made many vague promises since, but the western men never knew what they had to expect. While they have been entertained by anti-Japanese declarations from members of the Laurier Government, and members supporting it, they have found the administration encouraging the evils which it promised to abolish.

For ten years the Laurier Government allowed Canada to remain outside the treaty between Britain and Japan. Until last January that treaty did not give the Japanese the right to settle in this country. Then on the motion of Sir Wilfrid himself it was enacted at Ottawa that Japnese should have the same right as any other people to supply the labor market of Canada. Meanwhile the legislature of British Columbia repeatedly passed "the Natal Act," excluding Asiatic foreigners, and the Government at Ottawa as often refused to permit that law to go into effect. The government voted down an amendment to the Grand Trunk Pacific contract providing that Asiatic labor should not be employed in construction. In every way Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues have been pro-Japanese at Ottawa and at London, while they have been furiously anti-Japanese at Vancouver and Victoria.

The Trades and Labor Congress at Winnipeg brought Sir Wilfrid to the ring-bolt recently, by a peremptory message demanding that he should take steps to abrogate the treaty in regard to Canada. The Premier took several days to consider and then informed the Congress that he would have an inquiry made into the whole question of Oriental immigration. The government has already held inquiries of this kind without arriving at any conclusion. It is also announced that a commissioner will be sent to Japan to discuss the question with the Mikado's government. Less than a year ago the notorious W. T. R. Preston, who had made himself impossible as commissioner in London, was appointed to Japan to represent the trade and commerce department. It is pointed out that while in England Mr. Preston got mixed up with Lazarus, otherwise Louis Leopold, whose agency sent many mechanics on false representations to this country. Mr. Preston went to the Hawaiian Islands and Australia on his way to Japan, and Japanese have since been coming from those southern countries. He is now in China or Japan, and the government finds it necessary to send some one else. Wherever Mr. Preston goes he accomplishes purposes that are not desirable. But the farther away he is the better he serves one great political purpose, and that is to postpone and prevent the full disclosure of the ballot switching operations of the machine during the time he was organizer.

This is a high honor for, and pleasing recognition of his ability and attainments.

Fine Samples of Western Wheat

Otonabee Lady Returns Home From Visit to Manitoba

Mr Jeffrey Dinsdale, of Lang, Otonabee, called at the Review office today and showed the staff some fine samples of Manitoba wheat, which were brought back from the Prairie Province by Mrs. Dinsdale, who spent some time in the West. The wheat was in the head, and was unusually interesting from the fact that it was grown on the farms of former Peterborough county men. One sample was from the farm of Mr Wm Wood, of Melbourne, Man., and excellent wheat it was. Mr. Wood is a former resident of Otonabee and has been located in Manitoba seven years. He is getting along splendidly and at any rate, is growing fine wheat.

The other sample shown the Review was grown on the farm of Lytle Bros. at Roland, Man. They are former residents of Omemee, and have been in the west for several years and are also getting along well. They have a splendid farm, situated in one of the best districts in Manitoba.

Will be in Hard Circumstances

Such is Prediction of Local Man in Reference to Condition of Some Peterboro' Families

A local gentleman, who is officially connected with a charitable institution in this city, informed the Review this morning that the coming winter would be a hard one for many people in this city.

"There are several families," he said, "who, from present indications will have to receive aid before the winter is over. When the weather becomes too cold for outside work, a number of bread winners will find it impossible to secure employment." It would seem that there is a great deal of truth in the above and there are undoubtedly many families in the city who find it hard to make both ends meet. The arrival of cold weather will probably see them in pretty hard circumstances.

Opening Meeting of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A.

A Large Attendance and Most Interesting Programme

If a large attendance and enthusiasm mean anything then the success of the A.Y.P.A. of St. Luke's church secured, for there were a great many present last night and a very happy evening was spent. Mr. H. C. M. Potter, the president, was in the chair. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt opened with prayers.

After business was transacted a puzzle contest took place in which Miss Elsie Dawson and Miss Electa Story obtained first and second prizes. The ladies entertained and served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, Oct. 18, when it will take the nature of a literary evening. Mr. R. A. Sutcliffe is in charge of the musical part of the programme, while Miss Clara Adams will give a paper on Tennyson, and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will give an address on "Travelling." A number of new members were enrolled.

Millbrook Fall Exhibition Eclipsed All Past Records

Four Thousand People in Attendance--Many Present From This City and Other Points---Fine Weather, Numerous Entries and Good Track Events Made a Successful Fair.

The Millbrook Central Exhibition directors seem to be especially favored by the weatherman, for it is always fine weather when the time comes around for their annual fall fair. The Millbrook show was held yesterday and it was without exception the greatest success of any fair ever held in that village. Fully four thousand people were on the grounds. The number of entries exceeded those of last year, and the receipts were also large, the proceeds both from the gate and from the grand stand exceeding past years. The weather looked very threatening early in the morning but about ten o'clock, the dark clouds cleared away, and Old Sol shone forth brightly for the remainder of the day.

The street to the fair grounds was one mass of people and the little village was literally besieged with visitors. They came from far and near. The noon train from Peterborough, Lindsay and other northern points, was overcrowded. When the train pulled into Peterborough, every available seat was taken and the hundred or more local citizens, who boarded it, either had to stand in the aisles or on the platform. Several complaints against the G.T.R. for not putting on extra coaches were heard, and the passengers were put to much discomfort. Many attended, too, from Port Hope, the regular train from that town carrying several hundred fair visitors. A special leaving Millbrook at 7.30 last night, allowed Peterborough and Lindsay people a couple of hours longer in the village than they otherwise would have had. In addition to all these there were many from the rural districts in the immediate vicinity, and the villagers of Millbrook turned out en masse to their big show.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church, served dinner on the grounds. The put up a splendid bill of fare and received large patronage.

President W. J. Lough, and Secretary C. H. Winslow were busy men all day, and they were greatly pleased with the results of the fair. They worked hard to make it a success, and it is gratifying to know their efforts were not in vain. The officers of the Millbrook Agricultural Society, are as follows,—

President—W. J. Lough, Ida.

1st Vice-President—Wm. Hannah, Bethany.

2nd Vice-President—Col. Sutton, Millbrook.

Secretary-Treasurer—C. H. Winslow, Millbrook.

Committee on entertainment. — W. S. Given, C. McNeil, T. A. Kelly, W. H. Lough, C. H. Winslow, Sec.-Treas.

Auditors—J. R. Fitzgerald, Millbrook, A. A. Smith, Millbrook.

POULTRY.

The poultry exhibit was exceedingly large and many fine birds were shown. Mr. W. S. Given was the judge of this department.

IN THE MAIN BUILDING.

The exhibits in the main buildings at most of the fall fairs this year, would have a hard time to excel Millbrook's showing of the usual lines that are exhibited in the main building. On the ground floor there was a large and beautiful display of flowers. Many kinds of them were shown and they were the subject of much admiration. The showing of vegetables and fruit was also a fine one, and from the exhibits it is in the townships of Cavan and Ida, that the large pumpkins and healthy looking vegetables are grown. Upstairs was the principal attraction for the ladies. Here was shown many different kinds of fancy work. The exhibits of art were varied and beautiful.

THE MIDWAY.

If there is anything that attracts the young folks at a fall fair it is the midway, and although it was not large, yet the Millbrook exhibition had one. The palmists that have been taking in all the fall shows were there and did a rushing business, there being many who wished to have the past and future of their live revealed. The "New York Sensation," and the "Canadian Wonder" were also there. It is to have your photo taken and placed on a button in ten seconds. Many find their pictures taken and Mr. Fowler, owner of the outfit, was a busy man. Then there was the largest steer and the smallest cow, to be seen for the small sum of five cents. This side show attracted a great many farmers.

The usual number of knife and cane boards that are always to be seen wherever there is a crowd, were there and appeared to do a big business.

SPEEDING IN THE RING.

The speeding events were not up to the usual standard for which Millbrook fair is noted. There were only two classes, the 2.30 and the 2.18. The fast mare, "Riley B." belonging to Burns and Shepherd, of Toronto, was present to enter the free-for-all, but when the other entries present saw it, they withdrew and this event had to be called off. "Riley B." gave an exhibition of speed at the request of the directors,—

The other events and winners were as follows,—

2.30 CLASS.

Billy C., W. Leith, Millbrook	1	1	1
City Queen, C. Bennett, Port Hope	2	2	2
Lula Chimes, Dr. McKiver, Lakefield	3	3	3

2.18 CLASS.

Harry Direct, J. Cottingham Peterborough	2	1	1
Hazel Belle, Dr. Johnson, Peterborough	3	2	2
Queen's Baron, Dr. Johnson Peterborough	1	3	3

The judges of these events were Messrs. R. J. Munro, and Charles Nixon. Mr. J. O'Neill of Port Hope was starter.

During the afternoon the 57th Regimental band of this city, numbering about twenty under the direction of Bandmaster Glidden, furnished excellent music from the grand stand. SPECIAL EXHIBITS

FINE CARRIAGE EXHIBIT.

The exhibit of Messrs. Tinney Bros., Cavanville, who showed ten vehicles expressly gotten up for the show, was much admired, and a goodly number of sales resulted, the principal seller being a runabout on ball bearings, with black body and red gear. The carriage on exhibition was sold, and orders taken for two others of the same style, as well as a number of other buggies finding customers. The exhibit comprised 10 splendid specimens of the work done by this competent firm, four steel tired buggies, three rubber tired, a democrat, cutter and a substantial farm wagon. The many sales spoke well for the popularity of the rigs turned out by Tinney Bros.

LANG & MAHER.

Lang & Maher, the popular clothiers, continued the good work they have been doing at all the Fall Fairs this season, and their exhibit and advertising was a noticeable feature on the grounds. Their tent was, as usual the centre of attraction, and the supply of yard sticks seemed to be practically inexhaustible. The passing comments on the display of men's clothing were very favorable, and showed that the opportunity to examine samples of the goods handled by this progressive firm, was fully appreciated by visitors to Millbrook fair.

GRAFTON & CO.

Did you attend Millbrook Fair, or was it the annual men's clothing exhibit of Grafton & Co., you went to see? That is the question might be asked of all who were on the grounds. Wherever you went or looked, there you were sure to see the big signs of Grafton & Co., stop to talk to a friend, and you looked into the face of a Grafton button, pinned on the coat lapel; their tent, containing samples of the latest Fall styles in suits and overcoats, fancy vests and children's wear, was the first point visited after passing in the gate, and long before the grounds were reached, their signs pointed the way to the greater exhibit.

Ages of Wisdom.

"I believe it's a fact that a man must get to be at least thirty before he really knows anything."

"Yes, and he must be at least forty before he learns to quit telling what he knows."—Philadelphia Press.

Stupid.

"What a tiresome convention!"

"Why?"

"They talked of nothing but the weather."

"Who were they?"

"Meteorologists."—Puck.

Will Power.

"I wish they wouldn't leave reading wills until after the funeral."

"How so?"

"One would know so much better what flowers to send."—Lippincott's.

Very Particular.

"What kind of woman is she?"

"She's very particular as to details. She wouldn't want a mansion in the skies unless she could select the style of architecture."—Houston Post.

1905—Stanley Wade.

1907—Fred Wilson.

Above are the names of the sturdy young athletes who have won the senior and junior championships at the annual field day of sports held by the Peterborough Collegiate Institute from the day of the inception of the athletic idea, to the annual track and athletic meet of the Collegiate for the year of 1907, which was successfully run off yesterday afternoon at Nicholls Oval. It will be seen that the field day was not observed every year since it was instituted, but there have been regular yearly events since 1904 in both the senior and junior series and judging from the enthusiasm displayed yesterday by the spectators and athletes, the annual field day of the local Collegiate Institute will be a permanent fixture. There were 18 entries in yesterday's events, nine in each division, senior and junior, and they were, taken as a whole, well above the average of those of most of the previous year. No less than four senior and six junior records were smashed, as well as two in the open events.

Allen Bravender, winner of the senior championship, established a record of 11 1-5 seconds for the hundred yard dash, and of 4 ft. 10 ins. for the high jump. He also made a new record in the baseball throwing contest, in the same class. A. McGarlaty broke the record in the pole vaulting and standing jump events, clearing 9 ft. 9 in. in the first, and jumping 9 ft. 3 1-4 ins. in the second.

Fred Wilson, who won the junior championship, made four new records in the junior division, and won seven events altogether. The rest of those who entered acquitted themselves very creditably and in many cases very first place.

The air was cool enough to allow the contestants to extend themselves to the limit of their energy, without unduly heating themselves, and yet not chilly enough to be uncomfortable to the spectators.

A half holiday was given the pupils of the Collegiate and a larger number of both sexes were present to cheer on the athletes. A fond parent was seen here and there, too, looking encouragingly at his or her particular favorite and wondering, in case he was defeated, how he had come to lose, when he had told at home how easy it would be to carry off the laurels. All the members of the teaching staff of the Institute were interested spectators.

The events were run off without a hitch, thanks to the careful preparations and arrangements of Secretary Kenner. Mr. Kenner has always stood for the highest in athletics during his long residence in Peterborough and the pupils of the Collegiate Institute are to be congratulated upon having such a widely informed and energetic secretary for their field day sports.

The other officials also have done their utmost towards making the occasion such a successful one.

Black Cloud and Drummer Boy Not Allowed in Green Race

Mr. Bert McCollum Indignant Over Treatment Received at Hands of Officials at Warkworth Fair—Time Taken Privately and Marks May be Given Winners—An Apparently High-handed Action.

Mr. Bert McCollum is of the opinion that he was treated in an absolutely unjustified and high-handed manner at the Warkworth Fair yesterday when he attempted to start Black Cloud there in the slow race, or Class B. There were six entries in the event, and Mr. McCollum says that Secretary Walker called the drivers to the judges stand and asked them if they had any objection to Black Cloud entering. They said they had and also took exception to Drummer Boy, the property of Mr. Elgie of Colborne.

Mr. McCollum informed the Review this morning, that he is at a loss to understand why Black Cloud and Drummer Boy were not allowed to start.

Although no official time was announced the time was taken privately by Messrs. McCollum, Elgie and Sciber, the latter gentleman being a resident of Belleville and a spectator at the fair, and they are prepared to swear as to the accuracy of the time they recorded in every heat in both classes, and will endeavor to have a bar put against the winners, if possible. They will take affidavits as to the time caught in the different heats and forward copies of them to Mr. E. King Dodds, editor of the Canadian Sportsman.

The trotting contests at the fall fairs come under the head of speeding in the ring, or trials of speed, but nevertheless constitute races in the conception of the National Trotting Association, inasmuch as the horses race for money. Admission is charged to the grounds, and entry monies are accepted. If the time made by the winners exceeds that of the marks they had previous to starting it is taken as the horse's official record. The distance covered by the horses yesterday at the Warkworth Fair in each of the events was not a full mile, but under the association rules, any distance over half a mile is sufficient in which to establish a mark for a horse.

Following is section 4 of rule 44 of the rules and regulations of the National Trotting Association,—

TRIALS OF SPEED.

"Records cannot be made or bars incurred where there is no pool selling, book-making or other public betting on the event, no money competed for, no entrance charged or collected from the competing horses. No admission fee charged to the gate or grand stand and no privileges of any kind sold. Such performances shall not be considered public races."

As before explained the scope of the above is too wide to enable the events at Warkworth yesterday to come under the head of simply trials of speed.

Below is a summary of the two events with the time as recorded by the private timers. As before stated the course covered was not a full mile and that accounts for the fast time made in the free-for-all.

Class A., or Free-for-all,—
Holland Boy	2	1	1	1
Guy	1	3	2	2
Bourbon Brook	2	3	3	3

Time 2.18, 2.17, 2.12, 2.11 1-2.

Class B. or Slow Trot,—
Sweet Marie	1	2	1	1
Livery Maid	2	1	2	2
Billy C., also known as Frank Scraggs	3	3	3	3

Time 2.39 1-4, 2.37 1-4, 2.34, 2.34.

INCENDIARISM AT GARDEN HILL

Temperance Hotel in That Village Burned to Ground

The old Temperance House at Garden Hill was burned to the ground, Thursday evening and is believed to have been the work of incendiarism.

This was the second attempt to burn the building, but the guilty ones were at last successful. The odor of coal oil was very strong, and the perpetrators had everything well arranged for a big blaze.

The house is owned by Mrs. Farr, of South Monaghan, and is insured for $300 which does not nearly cover the loss.

Mrs. J. Galvin is visiting friends in Bedford.

Mrs W. Campbell, Morganston, is in the city today.

Miss Eva Roberts, Roseneath, is registered at the National.

Mr and Mrs. Malcolm Baker, of Warkworth, are in the city today.

HARVEY FAIR THE BEST EVER

Splendid Exhibition Held at Lakehurst—Excellent Exhibits

The annual fall fair of the Harvey Township Agricultural Society, was held yesterday at Lakehurst, and is described by those present, as the "best ever." The attendance was the largest, the exhibits in all departments the largest and best, and the weather everything that could have been desired. A number from Peterborough were in attendance, and had the usual good time, or perhaps better than in the past.

Owing to Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P.P., being late in arriving, the committee came to the conclusion that he was not coming, and at two o'clock decided to have Warden McNulty open the fair, an honor that had been conferred upon Mr Bradburn. Mr. McNulty made a neat speech congratulating the society upon their splendid exhibition and referring to the excellence of the exhibits and the many signs of prosperity that were in evidence. In the course of his remarks he said that he, for one, would not favor any action having in view the abolishment of the branch societies. If they were all managed in the same manner as the Harvey township one, they would be highly beneficial.

Mr. Bradburn and Mr. G. W. Bennett arrived later in the afternoon, as well as a number of others from Peterborough.

The judges of horses were Mr. Ed. M. Elliott, Mr. Geo. Fife, of Otonabee and Reeve Scott, of Smith. The equine exhibit was far above the average and the judges had a difficult task to pick the winners.

A number of trials of speed proved a source of much interest, the different events being keenly contested.

Fort William Y.M.C.A. is Booming

Movement is Meeting With Most Gratifying Success

A Fort William despatch says:—Local enthusiasts who a week ago met about the formation of a Y.M.C.A., are meeting with the greatest success. Having set as their goal $2,000, they have already secured $2,200, and money is still coming in. This is the Association of which Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, of this city, has been appointed secretary. He will leave for Fort William on October 10th.

Public Abattoir is Proposed in Interest of the City

All Slaughtering of Animals Would be Done Therein Under Proper Sanitary Inspection—How Such an Establishment Would be Conducted—Building Would be Utilized by all Butchers.

Considerable discussion is being heard in the city in reference to the erection of a public abattoir.

At present there are about fifteen slaughter houses inside or just outside the city limits. Some of these are reported to be in an excellent sanitary conditions and others not. They are regularly inspected by the sanitary inspector.

Recently the Dominion Government appointed several duly qualified meat inspectors, one of whom is located at the George Matthews Co pork packing house in this city.

If a public abattoir was erected, all the slaughtering would be done at the abattoir, under the most up-to-date conditions. There would also be a cold storage system in connection.

It is proposed that the city should erect the building and lease privileges to the different butchers. All slaughter houses would be done away with and the killing of animals would be carried on under proper inspection and in a manner that ensures perfect cleanliness.

All slaughter houses are at present—no matter how excellently conducted—more or less of a nuisance. They would be abolished. There is no doubt in connection with the undertaking of an abattoir, that the scheme would be generally endorsed and would yield a revenue sufficient to the city, to more than pay the interest and sinking fund on the outlay.

Abattoirs are located in all large cities and are a guarantee that the meat supply of the citizens is fresh, clean, of good quality, and properly handled.

By a civic ordinance, all slaughter houses are closed up and all the saying, dressing, etc., of animals done at the abattoir.

Protests Against Assessment Are Already Being Filed

Although the first meeting of the Court of Revision is still a month away protests against the assessment are already being filed at the city hall. From present indications the court will have more work on its hands than it has for years, and there promises to be some warm times before everything is smoothened out. From the amount of talk being indulged in, apparently 75 per cent of the ratepayers in the south end of the city will object to the figures at which they have been assessed. The Court of Revision will meet about the first of November.

To enlighten the public it may be stated that the city council can do nothing regarding the assessment. The Court of Revision is the only place where appeals against the work of the assessors, are threshed out. The city council appoints the assessors, but once they have been appointed the council has nothing more to do with them. All the rolls are now complete with the exception of that for Ward No. two which has not yet been handed in.

CHORAL SOCIETY FOR LAKEFIELD

Steps Towards Organization of One Now Being Taken

Lakefield, Oct. 5.—A movement is on foot for the purpose of forming a choral society among the music loving people of the village. Mr. W. R. Norris has been approached by a number of people with a view to forming such a society, and if a sufficient number can be secured this fall and winter will in all probability see a chorus formed. The object is certainly a good one and in the right direction, and we hope that those interested will take hold and make it a success.

RIOTING IN CALCUTTA

Seditious Agitators Cause Renewal of Hostilities.

Europeans Pelted From the Housetops —Wounded With Heavy Bricks —Students Blame Police For the Trouble—Brutality Is Alleged—Denied by Eye-Witnesses—Street Cars Damaged.

Calcutta, Oct. 5.—The rioting here, caused by seditious agitation during which about 40 policemen were wounded Tuesday night, was renewed Thursday evening in a number of streets of Northern Calcutta.

Students and hoodlums collected on the roofs of houses and in the roadways and pelted passers-by with bricks, Europeans being especially singled out for attack.

The Bengalie newspapers yesterday morning throw the whole blame for the riots on the police and print statements alleging police brutality, all of which is denied by the authorities and eyewitnesses. There was no loss of life, but many persons sustained severe contusions and scalp wounds, and many street cars were damaged.

RYAN MAY WIN OUT.

Court of Appeal Reserves Judgment In Montreal Bank Case.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—The Court of Appeal yesterday reserved judgment in the case of Bank of Montreal v. Peter Ryan, to set aside $1,000 for wrongful use of defendant's damages awarded the defendant of account.

In the afternoon George H. Watson, K. C., who appeared for Peter Ryan, discussed at length the various clauses of the Banking Act, and pointed out that the position the bank held was entirely different to that of the ordinary creditor and debtor. He contended, in support of Justice Clute's judgment, that under the act a bank had no right to sell a customer's account.

OCCUPIED VICTIM'S BED.

Burglar Objects to Leaving House Before Daylight.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 5.—When Thomas Crossley, 80 years old, of Frosty Valley, near here, awoke early Thursday morning, he found a man in bed with him, swearing at him for pulling off the bedclothes.

Crossley shouted for help, but was silenced with a threat to kill him. The man then coolly told him he was a burglar, that he had ransacked the house, and that he meant to remain until daylight. He did so.

New Route to the Pole.

New York, Oct. 5.—The following message was received here yesterday by Herbert L. Bridgman from Dr. Frederick A. Cool, the scientist and explorer of New York:

"Etah, Aug. 6, 1907.

"My Dear Bridgman,—I have hit upon a new route to the North Pole and will stay to try it. By way of Buchanan Bay and Ellesmere Land and northward through Nelson Strait over the Polar Sea seems to be a very good route. There will be game to the 82nd degree, and here are natives and dogs for the task. So, here is for the pole. Mr. Bradley will tell you the rest."

Dr. Cook and party left North Sydney, N. S., in July on the American auxiliary schooner yacht John R. Bradley, which landed the party at Smith's Sound. Mr. Bradley returned to North Sydney on the yacht Oct. 1.

Salt Goes Up In Price.

New York, Oct. 5.—A tacit understanding has been reached between the International Salt Co., known as the salt trust, and certain independent manufacturers in regard to regulating the future course of the market for evaporated salt.

As a result of the understanding, prices have recently been advanced 50 cents to $1 per ton from the low figures prevailing a month ago, when sharp price cutting was in progress.

Incidentally a policy of retrenchment has been inaugurated and various firms have reduced their working forces.

Canadian Kidnapped.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—There is a sensational story in the recounted adventures of Fred C. Dorway, a Canadian telegraph operator.

He claims he was bequeathed $180,000 by a New York woman two years ago, was kidnapped at Montreal by a relative of the woman, and taken to Vera Cruz, Mexico, where he was thrown in jail.

He escaped, his release, and is here [illegible]

WIFE ASKED SALARY.

But Judge Decides That Her Claim Is Absurd.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—One of the most peculiar cases which have ever been dealt with by the Hull Superior Court has just been disposed of by Judge Robidoux. Joseph Dubois of Aylmer, Que., was brought before the court charged with the non-support of his wife.

In the evidence it was shown that Mrs. Dubois had refused to live with her husband or keep house for him unless he paid her $2 per day for her services. He therefore refused, and his wife left him.

The judge held that the wife's claims were absurd, and dismissed the case.

WIRELESS WORKING WELL.

Marconi Sends Messages Every Day Over the Atlantic.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 5.—"Wireless telegraphy will be a commercial success within the time I have mentioned," said Signor Marconi yesterday. "Every day I am talking with Clifden, and receiving replies."

"Everything is working most satisfactory, and I have no complaint to make," were the words of the inventor.

He expressed himself as being much pleased over the recent rise in Marconi stock, which is now quoted at £1 8s. 3d., an increase of 30 per cent. within the last three weeks.

Few More Japs Coming.

Tokio, Oct. 5.—(C. A. P.)—With reference to telegrams reporting that a Canadian commission is coming to Japan to negotiate for restriction of Japanese immigration to Canada it was reiterated here on trustworthy authority that the Japanese Government will not consent to any restriction, inasmuch as immigration may be restricted when the Government considers it necessary without any formal agreement, which is regarded here as a contravention of the Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty. Moreover the Japanese consul-general at Honolulu reports that the bulk of Japanese immigrants, who desired to transmigrate to Canada, has already left Hawaii and that not many more are expected to invade Canada.

To Attract France.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—A deputation composed of Messrs. L. J. Labrosse, O. Aubin, A. A. Mahaffy, D. J. McDougall, M. P., P.'s, A. C. Macdonell, and J. E. E. Leonard, M. P.'s, Rev. Father Forget, and H. B. Valliares, of Ottawa, waited on Premier Whitney and Hon. Frank Cochrane yesterday morning, and urged the Ontario Government to invite French, German and Belgian newspaper men to visit Ontario.

The Ministers said that the province had derived benefit from the visits from English journalists, but pointed out that it was too late to do anything this year. It would be well to hold the question open till next spring. If there were results then, not only Northern Ontario, but agricultural and industrial Ontario should be inspected by the visitors.

Caruso In Tears.

London, Oct. 5.—Despatches from Vienna report that Caruso, the tenor, was engaged to appear in "Aida." Before the performance he learned that the seats had not been booked, presumably because of the high prices demanded.

This indifference piqued him, and he asked that the performance be postponed. This was impossible, and he sang indifferently. The applause was naturally limited. In his dressing room after the performance he burst into tears, declaring that he had never experienced such treatment in his life.

An Easily Won Prize.

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 5.—William Smith, a farmer living near Ludlow, drove to Londonderry to attend the Grange Fair. Arriving on the fair grounds, Smith could find no suitable place to hitch his horse, so he unharnessed the animal and put him in a vacant stall in one of the sheds. When he got ready to return home, Mr. Smith found that the judges, thinking his horse was on exhibition, had awarded a premium, and bestowed a red ribbon.

Strike at New Orleans.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—The dock and cotton council of New Orleans, whose membership is made up of all classes of laborers employed in connection with the shipping of the port, numbering about 12,000 men, voted yesterday afternoon for a general strike. They demand an increase in wages.

Halifax Liberals will tender Hon. W. S. Fielding a welcome on his return.

ROSS WILL COME HOME.

Young Canadian Gives Erratic Answers to Press Representatives.

London, Oct. 5.—(C. A. P.)—Dugald Ross, interviewed by the Canadian Associated Press, declared his finances were in an excellent condition, and that if no money came yesterday he would to-day have money to burn, he stated.

He repeated his story of being done by two Americans whom he met at the Waldorf-Astoria, but cut the story short on the Canadian Associated Press telling him that the story was old. He spoke of purchasing a Daracq car, but only a half share, and from the Daracq car tale he jumped to the farm in Streetsville, saying he had horses there worth $5,000 each.

He then stated his intention to bring home racehorses to this country, but in the next breath declared he had done with this country and would never come back, but would go to Western Canada and buy up a few thousand acres of land.

"I had some intention of selling some shares in a bank in this country, but I guess I'm done for here." Asked if Mr. Ross, manager of the Metropolitan Bank Streetsville, was any relation of his, he replied, "None," and then added, "he might be a distant relation."

He declared his intention of returning to Canada immediately. Ross was astonished to learn his doings had been cabled to Canada. "Oh," he said, "I told my story to a Toronto newspaper friend this morning, and he cabled it out.

The manager of the Burlington Hotel, Dover, informed the representative of the Canadian Associated Press that Ross left the hotel Thursday night, leaving as his address St. Enoch's Station Hotel, Glasgow. The Canadian Associated Press learns, however, that Ross is in London. The manager of the Berkeley Hotel, Piccadilly, yesterday received from Ross a check for $160, drawn on the Metropolitan Bank, Streetsville, in payment of his bill.

To a representative of The Evening Telegram Dugald Ross says he does not want money. A friend in Scotland, he says, is sending him £200.

RUNS INTO OPEN SWITCH.

Passenger Train Collides With Cars on Siding.

Galt, Oct. 5.—The northbound passenger train, due here at 11.15 a. m., ran into a train of coal cars standing on a siding in the yards and the engine of the passenger train was badly smashed.

Fortunately none of the passengers were injured. Conductor Cameron, in jumping, hurt his hip.

A gang of trackmen making repairs neglected to obey the foreman's orders to close the switch.

Warning Was Fatal.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—Looking out from under his engine-room at the new wing of the Confederation Life Building, William S. McNellis, engineer for the Dominion Co., was struck by a falling scantling yesterday afternoon and had his head split open. He died at midnight.

On the ironwork, 30 feet above, an employe of the company was putting in an end. Two scantlings of four feet each were used to hold the corners astradle the girder. The man gave the signal to loosen the chain, undoing the planks, which he attempted to hold from falling with his knees. One slipped and he called: "Look out below!"

McNellis evidently heard the warning, for he peered out from under his cabin, placed there for any such emergency, and received the stick on his head.

After a Perfect Rail.

New York, Oct. 5.—There is said to be a hitch in the negotiations now in progress looking to the manufacture of a perfect steel rail, because the steel rail manufacturers assert they cannot make the rail demanded by the committee of the American Railway Association.

It is on the chemical composition of the steel that the railway men and the steel makers cannot agree. The railway committee wants a rail low in phosphorus and high in carbon, with a quarter of the molten mass at the top of the ingot cut off as a "discard."

Sidetracked Explosives.

Cobalt, Oct. 5.—Orders have been issued by the T. and N. O. Railway to stop the loading and unloading of dynamite at the Town of Cobalt, as a special spur line is being built for the purpose of side-tracking all explosives to a place of storage that is being prepared.

The railway will refuse to carry high explosives in small quantities, though these may be carried in car lots.

President at Memphis.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 5—With bands playing, children singing and enthusiastic men shouting for deep waterways, Memphis threw wide her gates yesterday afternoon to President Roosevelt, a score of governors and many other personages prominent in the Mississippi Valley.

Speaking of a deep water channel from the gulf to the lakes, the President said he favored rapid improvement of the Mississippi River.

Set Sentence Aside.

Winnipeg, Oct. 5.—In the court of appeal a unanimous order was made setting aside the sentence of ten years imprisonment passed by Police Magistrate Daly on Sept. 27 upon F. D. Edwards, the Toronto broker, who got into trouble here for selling shares of a stock which did not exist.

Will Re-enter Cabinet.

St. John, N. B., Oct. 5.—It is now settled that Hon. H. A. McKeown will re-enter the Provincial Cabinet, either as Attorney-General or Solicitor-General.

Meteor Starts Fire.

Verkhnednieprovsk, Russia, Oct. 5.—A large meteorite fell on the village of Daniivalovka Thursday night and set the place on fire.

Mrs. James Stone, 74 years old, of London, was injured, perhaps fatally, by a street car on Saturday.

TO FIGHT THE AUTO

Ontario Farmers Protest Against Use of Roads by Machines.

Rural Members to Bring In Drastic Legislation at Coming Parliament —Many Protests to the Secretary of Farmers' Institutes — May Take the Shot Gun Says One Farmer—Women Afraid of Them.

Toronto, Oct. 4.—"From the time that the roads are fit for travel in the spring until winter the women are naturally afraid to go anywhere if they have to drive owing to the prevalence of these reckless automobilists."

"Our roads are systematically abused by motorists who drive their cars with an absolute disregard of speed and all other regulations."

"We have many instances where horses have been frightened and women thrown out of their rigs, and the automobiles have raced right on by."

Mr. G. A. Putnam, provincial superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, has a desk literally stacked with letters from the rural districts protesting against the use of their roads by automobiles, the foregoing being a few extracts.

"There is no question that it has materially affected the attendance at Women's Institute meetings," he said, "and feeling throughout rural Ontario seems to be running high against the automobile using the country roads at all."

One woman writes to Mr. Putnam: "It seems bitterly unfair that the people who cleared the country and built the roads should have to give up the opportunity of driving upon them because a few rich people with money buy automobiles, and think they own the roads."

As previously intimated the rural members of the Legislature plan concerted action in introducing legislation next session. "We'll wait no longer than next session," said one farmer. "Then, if the nuisance continues, we're liable to get out and pump shot into a few of their machines."

TO MARRY TITLE.

Another Wealthy American Girl Seeks to Be a Countess.

New York, Oct. 4.—Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt to Count Laszlo Szechenyi of Budapest, is made in The Herald yesterday.

The count is 28 years old, rich and good-looking, has an hereditary seat in the Hungarian Parliament and is one of the chamberlains of the Austrian Emperor.

Miss Vanderbilt, who is the youngest child of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt and Mrs. Vanderbilt, inherited from her father a fortune of more than $10,000,000. She came into possession of this inheritance on attaining her majority last August.

FELL FORTY FEET.

Montreal Machinist Meets With Accident Which Will Prove Fatal.

Brockville, Oct. 4—Crossing a bridge near the G. T. R. Depot in the darkness shortly after midnight, James Rowan, a Montreal machinist, walked off the side and fell headlong into the creek, about 40 feet below.

With only a few inches of water and a rocky bottom, Rowan came to grief and when removed to the hospital it was found his back was broken, paralysing the entire lower portion of his body.

He is alive, but cannot recover. Rowan had ridden on the blind baggage of an express from Montreal with a chum, who rescued him from the water.

Lemieux to Go to Japan.

Ottawa, Oct. 4.—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, Minister of Labor, will in all probability be the Minister of the Crown who will go to Tokio on the 20th inst. to represent the Government and endeavor to settle the question of the Japanese invasion of the Pacific coast. It is likely that the Minister will be accompanied by a high official of the Government, who will supplement Mr. Lemieux's diplomatic efforts.

Half-Million Contract.

Montreal, Oct. 4.—Peter Lyall, Montreal contractor, has been awarded the contract for the construction of the new Montreal postoffice, to cost $500,000.

Mr. Lyall was defeated last election by H. B. Ames. He already has a number of Government contracts.

Under Secretary May Go.

NEW FRENCH TREATY.

Means Canada's Commercial Emancipation Says Hon. Mr. Fielding.

Quebec, Oct. 5.—Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur, who has just arrived from Europe, spoke at considerable length last night on the French treaty, the occasion being the presentation of an address by the Quebec Board of Trade, congratulating them upon the success of their mission to Paris.

Mr. Fielding made the principal reply. He said it was not quite exact that the present treaty was the first negotiated by Canadians directly with a foreign power. One was so negotiated with France 14 years ago, and while he did not condemn it, seeing it was a step in the right direction, yet it was not altogether equitable. It was true they might have asked for its renunciation. This might have prejudiced the entente cordiale between England and France, however, and they preferred to meet the French Government and reason the matter out with them.

He did not pretend that they had scored any great point against the French Government, and told his auditors not to expect anything sensational when the details of the treaty were laid before Parliament, where they must first become public, but he believed that no interest in Canada had been prejudiced by anything they had done, while much had been accomplished towards proving that Britain has given us complete freedom in the negotiation of commercial treaties, and towards the maintenance of the entente between England and France, and so of the peace of the world.

BARTELS BACK TO JAIL.

Syracuse Millionaire Brewer Must Stand Trial Over Again.

Toronto, Oct. 5.—Herman Bartels, the Syracuse brewer, who was released from Toronto Jail yesterday, after serving three months for his sensational escape from Osgoode Hall, while on trial for extradition, appeared before Justice Riddell yesterday.

His honor decided that there should be another writ of habeas corpus, and that the whole trial for Bartels' extradition must be fought over again, on the grounds that Bartels had forfeited his former writ by running away. Bartels was taken back to Welland Jail to await trial.

A son of Bartels said that his father was willing to go back to Auburn for trial, as the charges against him were slight and that he had realized that he was a foolish man to try and evade trial.

GAVE LIFE FOR HIS COAT.

George Smith Run Over by M. C. R. Train—Dies After Operation.

Chatham, Oct. 5.—George Smith, aged 18, employed by the M. C. Smith, who was formerly a farmer in Chatham Township, had been working for the road but a short time. During Thursday's heavy rain his coat was wet and he put it across the tracks to dry. Later he saw a train approaching and the coat in danger of being cut up. He attempted to save the garment, stumbled and fell across the tracks, so that his leg and arm were frightfully injured. He was brought to Chatham, where amputation was performed, and he died.

It is cut in five gores, and while the fullness is disposed in tucks simulating box-pleats and so arranged as to be easily let out as necessity or comfort may demand, there is no undue bulkiness around the waist or hips. On the contrary, the skirt is designed with such skill as to be unusually graceful and it is this quality which renders it so superior to most skirts of this order. It is here modelled in navy blue serge, but any preferred silk or soft wool material may be used with equal success. The [illegible] calls for 9 3-4 yards of 27 inch fabric.

The Last Stroke.

BY LAWRENCE L. LYNCH,

Author of "A Woman's Crime," "John Arthur's Ward," "The Diamond Coterie," "Against Odds," Etc.

CHAPTER XXII.

As the inspector and Ferrars approached the theatre they were obliged to slacken their pace for, although the performance must have been well on its way, there was a crowd about the entrance.

"It's a first night for some new 'stars,' now that I think of it, and you'll find a lot of the sporting gentry here whenever a new and pretty face, that has had the right kind of advertising, is billed. That accounts for our friend's presence here, of course," said the inspector.

They made slowly, their way toward the entrance, and as they reached it, and were about to pass within the brilliantly lighted vestibule, Inspector Hirsch grasped his companion's arm and pulled him back within the shadow of a friendly bill board.

"H'sh!" he whispered. "Here's Hobson!" He drew Ferrars still further out of the crowd. "He must have lost his man, or else—hold on, Ferrars; I'll speak to him." And he glided into the crowd and Ferrars saw him pause by the side of a flashily dressed young fellow who seemed utterly absorbed in trying to revive a smoldering cigar stump. He gave no sign of recognition, as the inspector paused beside him, and seemed engrossed with his cigar and his own thoughts, but Inspector Hirsch was back in a moment with a grin upon his face.

"Your man has tired of the Vaudeville," he said, "and Hobson got close behind them—the other chap's still with him, too—to hear them planning to go on to the Savoy for a short time. Harry's evidently doing the theatres with his 'young duber,' as the Swiss calls the fellow, and will probably pluck him, if nothing intervenes." He looked hard at Ferrars, "My man won't lose sight of them. Want to go on to the Savoy?"

"By all means," replied Ferrars, and they set out, noting, as they skirted the crowd, that Hobson was no longer visible.

Crossing the street, they hastened their steps, and upon arriving at the Savoy, took up their station near the entrance once more. The crowd here was not dense, and they had not long to wait before two men approached from the direction of the Vaudeville, walking slowly, and entered the vestibule of the Savoy.

The taller of the two was broad-shouldered, dark and handsome, after a coarse fashion, while the other was smaller, with a weak face and uncertain manner. Both were in evening dress, and when they entered the theatre, Ferrars and the inspector followed.

"I can stay with you an hour longer," said the latter, "Then I must go about my own affairs."

Ferrars nodded. He was watching "Quarrelsome Harry" closely, and after a time, as that personage began to look about as if in search of some expected face, he procured an opera glass and with its aid, began to sweep the house.

Then, suddenly, he started, and after a long look at a certain point in the dress circle, he turned quickly toward the inspector.

"Do you know anyone in authority here?" he asked.

"I know the head usher over there; or rather, he knows me."

"That will do. Just call him, won't you? Introduce me. Tell him I'm after a crook who is up to mischief here, and ask him to help me."

After a time this was accomplished, and soon after the inspector took his leave.

And now came the entre-act, and a number of ladies left their places and went, some to the cloak room, some to the foyer. The two men in whom Ferrars was interested went out among many others, and Ferrars followed. In the refreshment room they took places at the side, and the detective, contrary to his usual plan, passed them, and took a place midway between that occupied by the two men and a certain table, farther down, where a party of six were seated.

To the waiter, who came to serve him, Ferrars said, himself and some chief waiter," and slipped a coin into his willing hand.

When the chief waiter came, the two exchanged some whispered sentences, and then, as the man withdrew, our detective addressed himself to his light repast. He had been careful to keep himself unseen, so far as Harry Levey was concerned; and he had now chosen his seat behind a pillar, which hid him from view, while he still could, by moving slightly, look around it.

It was while taking one of his frequent peeps around this pillar that Ferrars saw "Quarrelsome Harry" tear a leaf from a small pocketbook and write a few words upon it, doing this in the most unobtrusive manner possible, with the bit of paper upon his knee.

Since they had exchanged those few whispered words together, Ferrars and the head waiter had not lost sight of each other, and now a slight movement of the brows brought the man to Ferrars' table.

"Now," whispered the detective, "and be sure you are not observed."

The man nodded and passed on, seeming to scan, with equal interest each table as he passed it. Nevertheless he saw a note slipped into the hand of a vacant faced young waiter, and a few words of instruction given. Then the young man turned away, and began to move slowly toward the opposite side of the room.

A little beyond Ferrars' table he encountered the head waiter, present arbiter of his destiny.

"Kit," said this personage, in a low tone, "slip that note you carry into my hand and wait behind the screen yonder until I give it back to you. Quick! No nonsense, man; and mum's the word!"

As between a stranger with a liberal tip, and the august commander of the dining-room corps, Kit did not hesitate, and a moment later the head waiter dropped the note into Ferrars' palm with one hand, while he placed a bottle of wine beside his plate with the other.

Putting the bit of paper between the two leaves of the menu card, Ferrars boldly read its penciled message.

"Drive to The Cafe Royal. Ask to be shown to No. 9. I will join you there soon."

A moment later this note was placed by Kit, beside the plate of the one for whom it was intended. The next, Ferrars, having tossed off his glass of light wine, arose and sauntered out of the refreshment room.

But he did not return to the theatre. Instead he took a cab and was driven to the Cafe Royal.

Here again he sought out a person in authority, to whom he exhibited his star, and a card from Inspector Hirsch, and was at once shown to No. 8.

"If questions are asked," he said, as he slipped a goodly fee into the hand of authority, "remember that No. 8 is vacant, but is engaged for an hour later."

Left to himself, Ferrars moved a chair close to the wall between himself and number nine. It was but a flimsy barrier of wood and he nodded his approval, turned down the jet of gas, until it was the merest speck, and sat himself down to wait. But not for long; soon he heard the next door open, a sweeping rustling sound, and the scraping of a chair. Then a bright light flashed up, the door closed, and all was still for a short time.

Then, again the door opened, there was a heavy step, low voices, and Ferrars knew that he might, if he would, lay his hand upon those whom he had sought so long, and, for a time, it had seemed so hopelessly.

"Are we quite alone here, do you suppose?" It was a man's voice, strong and gruff. "Let us see." And he rang the bell. The man who had admitted Ferrars, and who had no mind to fall out with the police, responded, and at once showed conclusively that the adjoining rooms, Nos. 8 and 10, were quite deserted, although, he admitted, he had locked number eight in order to secure it for a party at midnight; whereupon wine was ordered and he was at once dismissed.

"Well," began the heavier voice again, "why in the name of goodness haven't you pushed things more? I told you, from the first, that all was safe. There will be no crossing the big pond now. How long do you mean to dally?"

"We can't dally now," replied the lighter voice. "Didn't you see the notice in the papers? They are calling for the heirs. I don't understand it, but they tell me that unless we come forward now, the matter will be referred to some other court, and then there must be along delay. No, I must produce these papers now and if there should be any question, any flaw—"

"Pshaw!"

"Or if they should call for further proof of identity, you know. Suppose someone should be found, at the last moment, acquainted with her!"

"Bosh! How foolish!"

"Or who remembered me?"

"I tell you this is folly! Latham's first wife died so long ago, and at a Swedish spa. And she never had many friends. As for relatives, well, we know there are none now."

"Sometimes I fear the children will remember; that it will all come back to them, some day."

"I tell you this is simply idiotic; the time has come, and everything is in train. You have all the papers, certificates of marriage, copy of will, and who is to prove that the first Mrs. Latham died, and that she was the last of the Paisley line, on this side, or the other? You were married abroad, you have all her family papers and her jewels. Her children call you mother."

"Hush! You are not my brother, remember that; only my brother-in-law."

"All right. How lucky that Latham's brother never came back. Now what did you want especially to say to-night?"

"This. I must meet those lawyers to-morrow."

"Oh! And I as nearest male kin, must be your escort, and support you through the trying ordeal."

"Not at all. I am especially requested to come alone."

"The d—l!"

"But they will want corroborative testimony, and I want to beg of you not to take anything to-morrow, and not to stay out the rest of the night. Much depends on the impression we make. And if we should fail—"

"We can't fail; or you can't. Aren't you next of kin?"

Ferrars got up, and crept noiselessly to the door. He had heard enough, and he had much to do. A new enquiry to open up. He knew that he should find Hobson, who had not been dismissed, outside, and near, and he meant to leave "Quarrelsome Harry" to him once more.

CHAPTER XXIII.

And now let us turn the clock back a few hours, that we may relate how Hilda and Ruth made the well laid plans of Ferrars of no effect, so far as himself and another were concerned.

Mr. Myers had left the ladies of his party safe in their snug quarters at Hampton Court, and went, early, to the city to meet Ferrars, as has already been related; but if he expected them to remain in statu quo, on such a day, and in easy reach of Bond street, it speaks ill for his knowledge of women, especially of Ruth Glidden, who knew her London well, and who—when Mrs. Myers began to long to see the inside of Howells and James, and their royal array of painted and other rare china, and Hilda looked yearningly over the guide books for the city—took matters into her own hands.

There was no reason why they should not go to town, especially so she privately informed Mrs. Meyers, as Hilda was moping. She could guide them anywhere where they might wish to go.

And this is how the three ladies came to be seen at Marshall and Snelgrove's, linen drapers, so-called; at Redmayne's and Redfern's and at Jay's, for Hilda's sombre bedecking. Jay's has been called the "mourning warehouse" of the world, not because Jay keeps on tap a perennial and unfailing supply of tears, but because "all they (feminine) that mourn" may be suitably clad — at enormous expense by the way—by Jay, & Co.

And here it was that our little party, sweeping into one of the superb parlors where models display Jay's sombre wares, came face to face with Mrs. Jamieson, who, seated upon a broad divan, was gazing at a little blonde, of her own size and coloring, who displayed for her benefit a flowing tea gown of soft, black silk, lighted up here and there with touches of gleaming white.

Of course there were greetings and exclamations, and such converse as may be held in so public a place; and Ruth, who, somehow, made herself spokesman for the party, exclaimed that they had "just run over for that little outing and because Hilda needed the change. Oh, yes; they were well escorted: Mr. Myers was with them, and also Mr. Grant."

At the name, which was the only one by which she knew Ferrars, Mrs. Jamieson flushed and paled, and the smile with which she received this news was slightly tremulous. And then she told how she was stopping, for a short time, with a friend in Bloomsbury. Her husband's business affairs, that had called her so suddenly back to England, were now almost settled, And then she should leave London for a time. She had been thinking of a place in Surrey; she hoped to be in possession soon, and then surely they would not return too soon for a visit to her, among the Surrey Downs? And where were they stopping?

Upon which Ruth confided the fact that they were not yet in permanent quarters. They must be settled soon, however, meantime, etc., etc.

They parted soon, and it was only when they were riding homeward that it occurred to them that Robert Brierly's name had not been spoken, and that Ferrars, perhaps, would not be best pleased to know of their unpremeditated excursion.

As for the little widow, she went back to Bloomsbury in a state of excitement unusual for her.

To know that Ferris Grant was in London, and that she might see him soon, set her pulses beating, and her brain teaming with plans for their meeting. What had brought him to London just now? What, indeed, save herself? Unless— and here she paled and her little hands were clinched till the black gloves burst across the dainty palms—unless it were Ruth Glidden.

What was Ruth Glidden to the Grants? she asked herself futilely, and why were they together? And then, for ten minutes Mrs. Jamieson wished she had never seen Ferris Grant.

"I was very well content until then," she assured herself. "And my future seemed all arranged; and now—" She longed to meet him, and yet—

"If I had but waited! or if I had not been so hesitating! Now I must go, and he must not know. A month later and I might have received them all in my sweet Surrey home, have met him with full hands, and there would have been no need of explanation, while now!" She struck her hands together, and set her lips in firm lines. "I must see him, once, and then we need not meet until all is arranged. If I only knew where to send a note."

She had been absent since luncheon, and upon her arrival at home she found this brief note awaiting her:

"Mrs. Jamieson.

"Dear Madam: Being in London for a short time only, and with little leisure, I take the liberty of asking if I may call upon you in the morning at the unfashionable hour of eleven o'clock? Yours respectfully,

"Ferris Grant."

It was late when she reached Bloomsbury, and she had little time to dress for dinner, and the evening, for she was going out again, but she replied to this note, bidding him come, and assuring him of his welcome, at any hour. Then, reluctantly, and with a look of distaste, amounting almost to repugnance upon her face, she began to dress for the evening.

When Ferrars reached his rooms, after leaving the cafe, his lips were set, and his eyes gleamed dangerously, for a little time he paced the floor, and then, impelled, by some thought, he looked to see if any letters had arrived during his absence. Yes, there they were, half a dozen of them. He glanced at their superscriptions, and then opened a little perfumed and black-bordered envelope. It was Mrs. Jamieson's reply to his note of the afternoon, and he read it and put it down slowly.

"I shall be prompt," he said to himself, "to keep that appointment and, I wonder whether its outcome will make me more or less her friend. If it will alter or modify my plans; and if, having met this once I shall have the courage, the hardihood to meet her again; and to say what I must say, if we meet." He put down the little note and took up the one next in interest.

The handwriting was that of Ruth Glidden, and the stationery that of a fashionable Piccadilly dressmaker. "Dear Mr. F.," so ran the note.

"I am aware that you did not wish us, any of us, to be seen of men, in London, until certain things were accomplished; and I take upon myself all the blame of the little journey we, Mrs. Myers, Hilda and myself, took this afternoon. We felt quite safe in visiting a few shops 'for ladies only,' but at the third we met Mrs. Jamieson. This may, or may not, be of moment to you. At all events, I have ceased my conscience, and Hilda's, by letting you know. Nothing of any moment was said on either side, and no questions were asked.

"Yours penitently,

"Ruth G."

Over this womanlike note Ferrars wrinkled his brows, and, finally, smiled.

"I had not meant that they should meet until—but pshaw! What does it matter? Everything seems urging me on, and shaping my course. So be it! It is time for the last stroke, and to-morrow, before this hour I shall be a free man, or a failure."

Ferrars was prompt in his appearance at the Bloomsbury cottage, and Mrs. Jamieson had been for a long half hour awaiting him, alone in the drawing room. Her face was somewhat pale, and there was a hint of agitation in her greeting, and a shade of gravity in his.

She talked of Hilda, and was full of pleasure at their meeting; and by and by she spoke of Ruth, her beauty, her grace, and style. Was it true that she was an heir?ss? And was she not, in some way, related to Miss Hilda, and himself? Or perhaps to the Brierlys?

It was the first mention of that name by either, and Ferrars, looking into her eyes, answered.

"She bore the same relation to Robert Brierly that Hilda bore to Charles. They had been lovers since childhood."

"How sad, strange and romantic! How pitiful!"

"The sadness outweighs the romance, and it is strange that the same hand should have struck at the happiness of both their friends. I have asked myself," he went on, musingly, "what would be the fate of the destroyer of so much happiness, if these two girls could be made judge and jury, with the slayer at their mercy."

"Ugh!" The lady shuddered and turned her face away. "The thought is unnatural!"

"I don't know; women have been dread enemies before now, and are generally good haters. They make great criminals, too. But I fancy a woman must always betray herself, at least her sex, in some way."

"Mercy!" She crossed the room suddenly to change the position of a translucent screen through which the sun had begun to filter. "You are positively grewsome, Mr. Grant! Let us change the subject. Or, first let me ask if they have found any trace of the cr—the person?"

"The clues have been very unsatisfactory for the most part. But the ladies both hope to see justice done yet. We all hope it, in fact."

"And what is most lacking?"

"From the first, the motive seemed most difficult to discover. But we won't dwell upon this longer now, Mrs. Jamieson."

"Ah! And I was just getting up courage to ask you to tell me what had been done, what progress had been made. I was so near to being a witness, you know, and—"

"And of course you are interested, I quite understand that. If you really care to hear, Mrs. Jamieson, I will tell you the whole story when next we meet. It is quite interesting. I will tell you that and other things." He arose and stood before her. "I must not tarry now. Shall you be at liberty this afternoon?"

"I am so sorry. I am promised to my hostess. She thinks I live too secluded a life. But I am about to make a change." She brightened visibly as she told of her Surrey prospects, and her hope of seeing his party, and himself, there. And then her smile faded.

"I fear I may not see you again for at least a fortnight. I have promised Mrs. Latham, my hostess, that I would go over to Paris with her. She has been very good to me." She faltered. "How long shall you remain in England?" She added.

"How long shall you remain in England?"

"More than a fortnight at least."

"I shall see you again?"

"Mrs. Jamieson, never doubt it." He was drawing on a glove, as he uttered the words, and across the busy fingers he looked into her eyes. "It was to see you that I came to England, and so—" he bowed low, "till we meet." He caught up his hat and stick, and before she could put out a hand had bowed himself from the room, and she heard his quick receding step across the little vestibule.

For many moments after, she sat where she had sunk down at his sudden going, and presently the slow tears fell upon the hands that supported her bowed face.

For years she had been an unhappy woman, living an unloved, unloving life. Then ambition and hope had taken hold of her mind, and she had tested herself, and found, in that small body, the strength to dare much, and to risk much; and now—how she thrilled at the thought—wealth, success, and love; all would come to her together. What else could his words mean? She had only to be courageous, and firm for a little while. To be patient for a few

And just then, the maid's voice broke in upon her dream.

"Madam, the char woman is here for the money. Do you still wish me to give her the litt,e suit?"

The woman turned as suddenly as if Nemesis had spoken.

"Yes!" she said, and the voice was husky, and the face almost terror stricken.

* * * * * *

"Ruth."

Robert Brierly came up the piazza steps, where Ruth sat alone and dropped upon the topmost one, at her feet. "I have just received a note from Ferrars."

Ruth looked up from her bit of needlework. There was a note of suppressed excitement in his tone, which she was quick to observe.

"He seems to have changed his mind," Brierly went on, "and bids me come up with Myers."

"To-day?" The work fell from her hands.

"Now. In half an hour."

"But Robert, after all his caution!"

"Let me read the note, dear," he said, unfolding the sheet he had held in his hand. "It is very brief, and pointed:"

"Dear Brierly: Come up with Myers, and be sure that you are not observed when you enter Haynes' office. He will know what to do with you. If I have not been an awful bungler — and I don't think I have this time — you will stand a free man to-night, able to go up and down the earth without menace from the assassin's knife, and will have come into your own, which means a fortune. "Ferrars."

"Ruth," he spoke softly. "Do you know what that means?"

"Better than you do, perhaps." She spoke hurriedly, as if to gain time, and her cheeks were already aflame. "Your mind was so entirely set upon finding Charlie's murderer, Rob., that they thought it best not to risk a new anxiety by telling you too much about the other; besides, there could be nothing certain, you know, until Mr. Myers had investigated. You had a hint of it."

"Oh, to be sure. And I have not been quite blind to their kindly cunning. Will it be a very great fortune, Ruthie?" He caught her hand, and held it fast.

"Very!"

"Because if it is, I intend to come back and lay it all at your feet, formally, abjectly, and with utmost speed."

Ruth wrestled away the imprisoned hand and gave her chair a backward push.

"Robert Brierly, if you dare to come and offer me a fortune, a hateful old English fortune—that I despise; if you only ask me to accept you after you are sure of that money I won't! I will not! Never!"

"Ruthie!" She sprang up, but he was before her. "Oh, you can't escape now. I intend to propose to you this minute. I'll not run no risks, after such a threat as that. Ruth, if you run away, I will shout it after you, and Mrs. Myers and Hilda are half way down the stairs now. Quick, Ruth, dear, will you marry me? I shan't let you go until you say yes."

And then, in spite of herself, Ruth's laughter bubbled over,

"You stupid! As if we hadn't been engaged for years! At least I have."

Half an hour later when Mr. Myers and Brierly came out upon the piazza together they found Ruth awaiting them there, equipped for a journey.

"Why, Ruth," said the lawyer, "are you going to the city?"

"I am going with you!" the girl replied firmly. "You need not argue. I mean to go. And Mr. Ferrars will not object. He will need me."

CHAPTER XXIV.

Solicitor Wendell Haynes sat at his desk, at half past two, seemingly busy, while across the room, at a smaller desk, sat a second person with his shoulder toward the outer door, and a screen partially concealing him. From the inner room came the low hum of voices. At the side of the room where the clerk's desk stood, and the tall bookcase towered before the concealed door, the curtains were lowered; but there was a strong light upon the solicitor's corner, and upon the chair, placed near his desk, manifestly, for a visitor.

When Ferrars appeared without the disguise he was expected to wear, the solicitor wondered. But the detective explained in a few words. He had made certain discoveries which would enable him to end a very unpleasant piece of business at once, he hoped. And his disguise would only hamper him.

"I must ask you, however, to add something to your role," he said finally, and at once made plain what more would be required of the solicitor.

As for Ruth Glidden, she had waited in dignified silence, and much to the wonder of the politely reserved solicitor, until Ferrars appeared, and then she went straight to his side.

To guard against all emergencies, the detective had left with the inspector, a card telling him, and his men, where a telegram would reach him at different hours of the day, and at a quarter past two a message arrived, bearing the signature of the Swiss.

"Q. H. and a lady on the way to meet you now."

So it ran, and having read it, Ferrars asked:

"Is your boy safe, Mr. Haynes? and trusty?"

"Quite. I find him really valuable."

"Then please instruct him to go and bring a brace of policemen, as soon as he has shown the next arrivals in." And he held out the telegram by way of explanation, adding, as the solicitor read and returned it, "The man is coming, too. I can't just see why. But we will soon know. By the way, that door on the north side, in the inner room; where does it lead one?"

"Into a side hall, connecting with the other."

"I thought so. Then, as soon as they are in, I will just slip out, myself, and see my man, who won't be far from the door, you may be sure, once his quarry is inside. He will be needed, perhaps, to serve the warrant, which he carries, ready for an emergency. Hist!"

There was the sound of an opening door, and, as Ferrars seated himself, the office boy entered and announced the two visitors.

To be continued.

Assault Cases in Police Court

Boy Hit Another Lad With a Chestnut — Three Vagrants Remanded Till Thursday

Jos. Dineen, a boy of about 11 years of age, was charged with assaulting Jas. E. Eyres, on Thursday last, by hitting him with a chestnut in the eye. Dineen pleaded guilty. Jas. Eyres stated that he was going home, when suddenly something hard hit his eye. He could not see for sure who it was that threw the chestnut. Thomas Luck, another lad, who was also throwing chestnuts, stated that it was Dineen who hit Eyres.

Mr. Wm. Eyres stated his boy came running home crying and holding his eye. At first it was thought not serious, but upon an examination by Dr. Carmichael, it was found that there was danger of losing the sight.

His Worship enlarged the case for one week to see if the eye would get better. He said that stone throwing was an abominable habit, and the boys around Smith and George streets seem to be particularly fond of this kind of sport.

Timothy Dineen, brother of Joseph, was granted permission to have a specialist examine Eyres' eye.

ANOTHER ASSAULT CASE

John Russell, a small boy, was charged with assaulting another little fellow, Bruce Hamilton. He pleaded not guilty. Young Hamilton went into the box and stated that he was going along Smith street, and for no reason at all Russell kicked him and then struck him in the eye. Annie Hamilton, sister of the first witness, corroborated her brother's evidence. She further stated that gross and insulting language was used towards her.

Young Russell stated that a boy by the name of Willie Tebo told him to kick young Hamilton. His Worship fined Russell two dollars, and swore out an information against young Tebo.

A charge against Charles Hiller for using bad language to Annie Hamilton, was dismissed.

THREE VAGRANTS.

John Ford, Ralph Cheyne, Thos. Homes were charged with vagrancy at the police court today. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded until Thursday morning. These fellows came to the city Saturday night and got drunk. They had no place of abode, and no means of support. They are well dressed and able bodied men. Chief Roszel remarked that Peterborough had enough toughs without bring more from Toronto.

DRUNK AGAIN.

Alf Choate, who has appeared several times in police court within the last fortnight, was again in the dock this morning. He pleaded guilty to the charge of being drunk and was fined two dollars. He handed out a five and received his change. He works hard, then spends his wages on whiskey and paying fines in the police court.

CLERGY INTERESTED IN WORK OF Y.M.C.A.

Ministers Entertained by Fellowship Club on Saturday Night

The strongest kind of evidence of the interest of the clergymen of the city in the Y.M.C.A. was shown at the annual gathering in honor of the ministers given on Saturday evening by the members of the Strangers Fellowship Club.

The following ministers were present: Revs. Dr. Langfeldt, Potter, Webb, Pearson, Keith, Coon and Manning.

Regrets were sent by Revs. Canon Davidson, Major and Brace.

Mr. R. E. Harding, president, occupied the chair, and extended a cordial welcome to the ministers and at the same time voiced the appreciation of the officers dof the interest taken in the work by the ministers of the city.

Mr. G. H. Williamson then gave a short address on the "Relationship of the Y.M.C.A. to the church," pointing out that it was the child of the church and should never occupy any other relationship than that of an auxiliary. He emphasized the fact that the management was in the hands of members of evangelical churches.

Short addresses were given by all the ministers present, each expressing the value of the work to the churches, and the work of the retiring secretary, Mr. Williamson.

Rev. H. J. Keith spoke especially of the care of the churches in Foreign lands for Y.M.C.A. work.

Rev. J. G. Potter gave strong testimony of how the club and the Association had helped him in his church work.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt emphasized the value of personal effort and said that among many others one of the most active young men in his church had been sent to him by the Association.

He said the Association should always stand on the platform that had made it such a power in the world, namely, loyalty to Jesus Christ.

Rev. H. M. Manning said that young men could best get young men and therefore the Y.M.C.A. was indispensible.

Rev. J. R. Webb said the Association could not afford to sacrifice the "Paris Canay" of membership. He paid a strong compliment to the General Secretary when he said he was a minister among them. He cited instances of how the Association had helped young men, strangers in particular.

Revs. Coon and Pearson also spoke briefly on the same lines as the other speakers.

The meeting closed with "Blest be the tie that Binds."

SOME NOTES ON Y.M.C.A. CAMPAIGN

The six day campaign closes on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

There is much work to do yet—every man on the committee will have to hustle.

It will be for citizens to decide whether the campaign will end successfully or not.

The Peterborough Y.M.C.A. has no endowment of any kind. It has to depend every year for half its budget from subscriptions by citizens, who are interested in young men.

The Y.M.C.A. work in Peterborough is run with less expense than any other work of the same size in Canada.

To-night many prominent citizens are expected at the tea at 6.30. Let there be a good rally of the citizens and young men's committee.

Everybody give the work a push,

THE FUTURE OF BARNARDO HOME

Senator Cox Likely to Deed "Hazel Brae" Over to Authorities in Charge of Work

Mr. Owen, superintendent of Barnardo Homes in Canada, was in the city last week, and visited Hazel Brae, the local home for girls. Hon. Geo. A. Cox, who owns the property, some years ago, placed it at the disposal of the late Dr. Barnardo. It is necessary, if the home is retained, that the heating facilities and sanitary arrangements be improved. The urgency for these alterations has been felt for some time. It is said that Senator Cox, promised the late Dr. Barnardo, that he would present the property occupied by the local Barnardo Home, and that it would be publicly known as the "Margaret Cox Girls' Home."

As the necessary improvements will cost a large sum of money, it is intimated that unless an actual transfer of the property is made, that the home, for so many years, carried on in Peterborough, will be removed to Toronto. It is felt when this matter is presented in tangible form to the Senator that he will at once, have the necessary papers drawn up and the property handed to the Barnardo Home authorities.

The exercises in connection with the Graduating Class of Nicholls Hospital Training School will be held in the Y.M.C.A. hall on Tuesday evening of this week at 8 o'clock. Rev. R. J. Webb will deliver an address to the nurses. Representatives From the Medical Staff will assist and Miss Helen Davies, Miss Meldrum and Mr. Bemrose, of Toronto, will contribute the musical programme. The public are invited to attend this interesting event. There is no charge for admission. 2d

Nervous Women

Their Sufferings Are Usually Due to Female Disorders Perhaps Unsuspected.

A MEDICINE THAT CURES

Miss L Stowell

Can we dispute the well-known fact that Canadian women are nervous?

How often do we hear the expression, "I am so nervous, it seems as if I should fly;" or, "Don't speak to me." Little things annoy you and make you irritable; you can't sleep, you are unable to quietly and calmly perform your daily tasks or care for your children.

The relation of the nerves and generative organs in women is so close that nine-tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous debility, the blues, sleeplessness and nervous irritability arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Fits of depression or restlessness and irritability. Spirits easily affected, so that one minute she laughs, the next minute weeps. Pain in the abdominal region and between the shoulders; loss of voice; nervous dyspepsia; a tendency to cry at the least provocation——all this points to nervous prostration.

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition and prevent months of prostration and suffering so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Miss Lelah Stowell, of 177 Wellington St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"Your Medicine is indeed a Godsend to suffering women, and I only wish that they all knew what it can do for them and there would be no need of their dragging out miserable lives in agony. I suffered for years with bearing-down pains, extreme nervousness and excruciating headaches, but a few bottles of your vegetable Compound made life look new and promising to me. I am light and happy and I do not know what sickness is, and I have enjoyed the best of health now for over four years. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has sent sunshine into thousands of homes and hearts."

Will not the volumes of letters from women made strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound convince all women of its virtues? Surely you cannot wish to remain sick and weak and discouraged, exhausted each day, when you can be as easily cured as other women.

SEIZE MUNITIONS OF WAR.

General Captures Rifles and Ammunition From Sultan of Morocco.

Tangier, Oct. 7.—Advices received here from Mazagan give details of the recent important success for Mulai Hafig, brother of Sultan Abd-el-Aziz, who at the head of two armies is contesting for the Sultanate.

The Sultan, it appears, sent a number of machine guns, 3,000 rifles and 1,000,000 cartridges to Mazagan for the use of the imperial troops which were destined to operate against Hafig's forces.

About midnight Oct. 3 one of Hafig's general succeeded in entering Mazagan, seizing all the war munitions of the Sultan and despatching them to the headquarters of Mulai Hafig, one of whose armies is understood to be approaching Fez, the Moroccan capital.

All the native and many of the foreign reports agree that the movement headed by Hafig is arousing national enthusiasm throughout the empire. Abd-el-Aziz, in the meanwhile, is apparently hemmed in at Rabat. His preparations to entertain the French minister, M. Regnault, and the Spanish minister, are regarded as mainly intended to further his efforts to obtain a loan of $2,000,000, which, it is said, instead of being used to pay the troops, would be devoted to carrying on the Sultan's campaign against his popular rival, Mulai Hafig.

WAR ON THE PRESS.

C. P. R. Refuse to Receive Despatches For Winnipeg Papers.

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 7.—The fight between the C. P. R. Telegraph Co. and the western newspapers is rapidly reaching a climax.

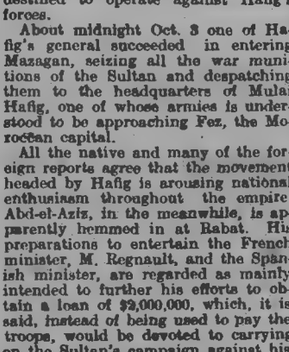
The C. P. R. on Saturday refused absolutely to handle any news for the local papers, and have notices posted giving their operators orders to take no stuff.

The Telegram correspondents at Selkirk tried two hours to get a story through, but failed entirely.

The Edmonton Journal, editorially condemns the C. P. R., and says "The issue with respect to Government ownership of telegraph and telephone is intensified, however, much we regret the circumstances, by the attitude assumed rightly or wrongly by the C. P. R., and in view of this the duty of the people seems clear to support Mr. Borden in his efforts to obtain for them a commodity, wholly beyond private control."

R. L. Borden, speaking at Calgary, said: "Government ownership of telegraph and telephones is also another question of importance. Great Britain has had them for years and why not we. The Conservative party will establish such a system of telegraph and telephones if we get into power. The way things are carried on at present is a disgrace."

On the 600 miles of the N.T.R. now under contract, it is estimated over 18,000 men are now at work.



Airship is Successful; Has Problem Been Solved?

British War Balloon Manoeuvres Over London.

Sails From Aldershot to the Metropolis — Distance of Thirty-Five Miles — Was Under Perfect Control—Goes Twenty Miles an Hour—Steering Gear Worked Well—Britain Ahead of Other Powers.

London, Oct. 7.—That the British army has solved the problem of aerial navigation was proved to the satisfaction of Londoners on Saturday when the dirigible balloon which has been given several trials at Aldershot camp sailed from Farnborough, 35 miles southwest of here, to London, and after manoeuvring over the city started back to its headquarters.

The balloon crossed the Thames at Blackfriars Bridge, and making a sharp turn, proceeded over Fleet street and the Strand, making a complete circle over the latter thoroughfare to the great satisfaction of many thousands of watchers.

The balloon then went around Trafalgar square, over the new War Office and past Westminster Abbey, and the Houses of Parliament, traveling at the rate of about fifteen miles an hour and being under complete control.

After the visit to London the balloon was manoeuvred over the House of Commons, to the south, and then proceeded to the Crystal Palace. After circling the towers of that building the airship was brought to earth on the bicycle track, the landing being accomplished without damage. The voyage occupied over three hours.

Col. Capper and Mr. Cody expressed the greatest delight over her performance. The only defect noticeable was that she apparently kept a steady course with the greatest difficulty when going against the wind. The airship made 20 miles an hour with a steady ten mile breeze.

The balloon is named Nulli Secundus, and when she made her notable trial trip Sept. 10, at Farnborough, was in charge of Col. Capper, Capt. King, and F. S. Cody, an American. The balloon is sausage-shaped, about 100 feet long by 30 feet in diameter and has a lifting capacity of about one ton, which after deducting the weight of the car, engines and other apparatus, permits carrying a crew of three men of average weight.

The car, which is shaped like a boat, is constructed of aluminum and canvas. The engines are so built that the exhaust vapor is turned into gas and is carried up into the balloon above, by means of a tube. The capacity of the balloon is 75,000 cubic feet. The patroleum for the motors is carried in two torpedo-like cylinders above the car.

During the recent trials Cody stood at the engine in the forepart of the car and controlled the steering plane. Col. Capper steered.

The Nulli Secundus was built in secret, and is understood to contain new developments in aerial navigation, which will put Great Britain well ahead of all the other powers in the matter of dirigible balloons, the British invention being said to be able to deliver a considerable gunfire.

Big Blaze in Toronto; Two Deaths Are Result

Woman and Child Burned to Death—Others May Die.

Tailor's Shop In Jewish Quarter Burned Out — Inmates Leaped From Window in Night Attire—Men Badly Injured—Fireman's Gallant Conduct—Premises a Veritable Fire Trap—Cause Yet Unknown.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—One woman and one child are dead, and two men may die owing to burns, suffocation and shock sustained at a fire which broke out in Aaron Ormstein's tailor shop at 156 York street, shortly after 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The dead are his wife and 5-year-old girl, the latter dying soon after being removed to the hospital, and the woman about 1 o'clock this morning.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but it originated in the rear of the store, above where the victims were sleeping. The building is a three-storey brick, in the heart of the Jewish business quarter.

Ormstein, who had been at work cleaning up his shop for the week-end, was awakened by fumes of smoke in his room at the rear of the first floor of the building. He endeavored to arouse the remaining 11 inmates.

Just what did happen during the next few minutes it is hard to say. One story is that he, with his 3-year-old boy, clambered upstairs, and that he aroused two young women in the third floor back room, and asked them to save the child. They tried to get the mattress and pillows from the bed through the window, but could not, and then, frightened, they leaped 20 feet or more to the metal roof of a shed. Whether Ormstein then threw the child to the girls below to catch, and then jumped, or whether he got down again to his own room and then out of the window, is not certain, but the four were found in the yard in the rear by firemen, the girls in scant attire, while Ormstein was partly dressed. He was frantic and was screaming with terror. The girls had also fallen from the shed to the ground, some ten feet.

Work of Rescue.

Fireman Alf. Everest of hose 16 mounted to the second floor and entered the room. He located Fierstein, who had evidently descended from above in an effort to get out. Lieut. Davidson of Bay street truck went to the third floor, and found Mrs. Fierstein, carrying her downstairs and to a neighboring house.

George Henderson of hose 1 distinguished himself. Crawling on his hands and knees he got into the second floor hall bedroom. He felt on the floor and over the bed, and then with the glare of the flames to help, peered under the bed. There he found the baby. He hurried into the street with the child and across the street, where he used artificial respiration until life was assured.

Meanwhile the deputy, with Firemen Gates, Williams, McGregor, Best, Harris, Smith, Oliver, McGregor, Cassie and others struggled up through the suffocating fumes to the third floor. There Mrs. Ormstein and Ernstein were found apparently lifeless, Ernstein being in his room with his feet through the doorway. They were promptly and tenderly carried down into the open air.

It is remarkable that the occupants of the building did not fare even worse than they did. The whole lay-out seemed favorable to disaster. The store and workshop occupied the ground floor, from which a dark, narrow stairway turned up into the floor above. The hall on the second floor is narrow and dark. Even yesterday afternoon the corridor was as black as night, and so was the one above.

Damage to building is estimated at $500, and no insurance is carried.

FATAL WRECK ON T. & N. O.

Gravel Train Derailed and an Italian Killed.

Cobalt, Oct. 7.—In a railway accident on a branch of the T. & N. O. near Englehart, in which six flat cars were derailed, an Italian, whose name is not known, was killed Saturday night. Another man was also slightly injured.

The train, which was made up of 20 gravel cars, was running backwards into the gravel pit, five miles from Englehart, and is said to have been traveling at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

The track was badly damaged, as were also the derailed cars.

Bank Swindler Arrested.

Orangeville, Oct. 7.—Bespattered with mud, High Constable Hughes, Manager Kirkwood of the Sterling Bank, and W. D. Henry drove into town at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon with William Hanlan of Schomberg.

Hanlan was arrested in the morning at his home on charges of forgery, resulting from his cashing of two notes, purporting to be signed by Patrick Garrity, on which he got $300 from the Bank of Commerce and $100 from the Sterling Bank on Thursday last.

The prisoner was positively identified, and Magistrate Pattullo remanded him to jail. He is said to have a record.

Taft at Nagasaki.

Nagasaki, Japan, Oct. 7.—United States Secretary of War Taft, on his arrival here Saturday from Kobe, on board the steamer Minnesota, was welcomed by the mayor and municipal officers, and was banquetted during the day by the municipality. The Minnesota sailed at midnight for Manila.

Cannot Recover.

San Francisco, Oct. 7.—Judge Sewell has decided that Eymoto, the Japanese restaurant-keeper, whose place in Folsom street was damaged by a mob some months ago, cannot recover from the city and county damages for anything excepting the actual loss incurred.

CONDEMNS THE LORDS.

British Premier Hopes to See Them In Sackcloth and Ashes.

Edinburgh, Oct. 7.—Premier Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman returned to the attack on the House of Lords Saturday evening, when, in an address before a great gathering of Scottish Liberals here, he reviewed the measures that had been rejected by the House.

He dwelt with vehemence upon what he called the arrogance and high-handedness of the Lords, and said he hoped to see them in sackcloth and ashes before another session had gone by.

It was the intention of the Government to send certain bills back again to the House of Lords after their passage, proforma, by the House of Commons.

Whatever the result, the Premier said he believed that on the main issue the Government must ultimately go to the country, and he knew that it would not appeal in vain.

Lusitania Is Off Again.

Liverpool, Oct. 7.—With nearly 3,000 passengers of all classes on board, the new Cunarder Lusitania left here on Saturday night on her second voyage to New York. There is much interest in this trip, as there is a widespread belief that a real attempt to eclipse the record of the Hamburg-American liner Deutschland will be made.

It is declared that the British Admiralty is looking to this voyage for evidence of speed powers, as the agreement between the Government and the Cunard Co. regarding the subsidy of $750,000 a year now comes into force. This subsidy is to be reduced if the agreed average speed is not maintained.

Queenstown, Oct. 7.—The Cunard steamship Lusitania, which sailed from Liverpool for New York Saturday night, made rapid progress to this port, averaging 24 knots an hour. The vessel left here for New York at 10.25 o'clock yesterday morning.

Three-year-old Percy Robertson, son of the leader of the Opposition in the Alberta Legislature, was fatally injured at Nanton Saturday, being run over by a waggon.

ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET.

Young Parisian Suicides In Presence of His Sweetheart.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—A young Parisian named Victor Hanc committed suicide in a most dramatic manner on Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock, shooting himself through the head in the presence of his sweetheart.

Hanc was very much in love with Miss Mary Hane, and had been vainly trying to induce her to marry him. As, however, he was only 21 and she but 16, her parents objected to their getting married, although the girl returned Hanc's affection.

On Saturday afternoon Hanc made a last and violent appeal that at least Miss Hane should promise to marry him in six months, and on her persistent refusal he pulled a revolver out of his pocket, and, placing it against his breast, killed himself at one shot.

The two lived in the same boarding-house and were standing at the door of Hanc's bedroom when he ended his life. Miss Hane collapsed, and has since been at the General Hospital in a very weak condition, so much so that she is as yet unable to give a clear account of the affair.

SHOOTING AT HAMILTON TRACK.

Colored Man Fired Five Shots But Nobody Got Hurt.

Hamilton, Oct. 7.—At the Jockey Club, King Weston, a colored man, started out with a revolver yesterday morning to collect some money which he said E. Bowman, another colored man, owed him. Weston chased Bowman around a tent and then across the eastern end of the track, firing five shots and emptying his revolver as he ran. His aim was bad, and none of the shots took effect. Weston was arrested later by County Constable Carey and another officer. He was so badly frightened when placed under arrest that both constables are prepared to swear that he turned pale. He was taken to the cells at No. 3 police station and will come before the magistrate this morning. Both are racetrack followers and strangers to the city.

COSTS $150,000 TO RELEASE KAID.

Raisuli Also Claims Protection of British Flag.

Tangier, Oct. 7.—The release of Kaid Sir Harry MacLean, who for some time has been held captive by the bandit, Raisuli, at last seems to be within measurable distance.

The Associated Press was informed yesterday on the best possible authority of the acceptance by the British Government of Raisuli's reduced terms for MacLean's release, the principal items being $150,000 ransom and British protection for Raisuli and his family.

Great Britain's advance of the ransom will be guaranteed by Sultan Adb-el-Aziz.

Sir Harry MacLean's brother is now at Rabat, bringing the negotiations with the Sultan to a close.

SUICIDE OR CRIME?

Galt Citizen Found Shot But Gun Not About.

Galt, Oct. 7.—The body of Nicholas Pautler, who has been missing for over a week, was found yesterday afternoon at Moffatt's Flats, a short distance south of the town.

The body was found lying beside the river bank, with a bullet hole in the forehead, although the gun has not been found, indications point to suicide. The deceased was well known in Galt. No reason can be assigned for the suicide. An inquest will be held to-day.

PISTOLS AND SWORDS.

After Exchanging Shots Duellists Try New Weapons.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The Count De Rozan and the Marquis De Sardelys fought a duel in the Bois de Boulogne Saturday, as the result of a private quarrel.

After exchanging two shots with pistols without any effect the duel was resumed with swords, and the count sustained a slight wound in the right arm, which caused the seconds to separate the combatants.

Must Arbitrate.

The Hague, Oct. 7.—The sitting Saturday of the committee on arbitration, under the presidency of M. Bourgeois, was the most important and animated since the beginning of the conference, and led to the approval of the principle of obligatory arbitration by thirty votes to six. The negative votes were those of Germany, Austro-Hungary, Greece, Turkey, China and Roumania. Four powers abstained from voting. They were Japan, Luxembourg, Montenegro and Switzerland, and there were found absentees, Argentine, Gautemala, Nicaragua and Venezuela. In so much as it is known that Argentina is favorable to the proposal, the ayes rise to 31.

Three Drowned In Canal.

Montreal, Oct. 7.—Word was received here last evening that two women and a man had been drowned at Chambly Canton yesterday afternoon in the Chambly Canal.

No details so far are forthcoming as there is neither telegraphic nor telephonic communication with the village at night.

It was stated that the three had been driving along the banks of the canal, and in some way fell in.

Can Raise Assessment.

New York, Oct. 7.—The legality of the action of the supreme officers of the Royal Arcanum in rearranging the insurance assessments of the order was declared Saturday, in a decision in the appelate division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. The decision of the lower court is reversed.

Acquitted of Murder.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 7.—The jury in the Rowland murder trial at 9.30 yesterday morning returned a verdict of acquittal.

Dr. and Mrs. David Rowland were jointly charged with poisoning the woman's former husband, Charles B. Strange.

P.A. Malcolmson, of Walkerton, has been appointed Deputy County Judge of Klein.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION

Terrible Accident at Standard Steel Company's Works.

Four Dead and Twenty Fatally Injured—Shower of Molten Metal — Men Mutilated Beyond Recognition—Streams of Burning Liquid Flood the Works—Many Buried Beneath Wreckage—Damage $100,000.

Butler, Pa., Oct. 7.—An explosion in No. 1 cupola of the Standard Steel Co. here late Saturday night caused the death of four men, fatally injured twenty and seriously injured ten others. Nearly all the men were foreigners. The large wheel plant, 150 by 100 feet, was demolished, causing a loss estimated at $100,000.

The condition of the thirty men injured is pitiable. The features of a majority are mutilated beyond recognition. The hot metal was showered over them, causing horrible injuries, and at midnight the physicians attending them said that at least twenty would die.

The explosion was caused by the upsetting of a metal pot in the cupola, which contained 5,000 pounds of molten metal ready for casting. A span of the pot broke, allowing the liquid iron to spill over the wet sand. An explosion followed so quickly that none of the workmen in the building had a chance to escape. Streams of the burning metal poured out on the workmen, some of whom were engulfed and literally cooked. Twenty men near the cupola had every shred of clothing blown off by the force of the explosion. Many were buried under the wreckage, and were not rescued for an hour after the catastrophe.

FLOOR COLLAPSED AT RALLY.

150 Men Precipitated Into Cellar—Lamp Set Debris on Fire.

Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 7.—During a Republican rally in the North End Athletic Club rooms Saturday night the floor collapsed, precipitating 150 men into the cellar of the building. By the explosion of a lamp the building was set on fire and the crowd of men struggled in the flames and debris almost helplessly.

The fire was extinguished in about an hour, and when the men were all taken out of the cellar it was found that one, Harry Dean, a well-known Republican worker, was perhaps fatally injured. He was harried to the hospital.

Among those injured were John Oswell, Republican candidate for mayor, who had just spoken as the building collapsed, and Senator Irving H. Chase, one of the most prominent men in the city.

MAY PURCHASE FISH.

Probable Way of Avoiding Friction With Newfoundland.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The United States State Department has received word from Prof. Alexander, who is in Newfoundland waters looking after the interests of American fishermen, that the modus vivendi recently concluded is not working well.

Few of the American fishing vessels have arrived on the fishing grounds. Negotiations are on between the American fishing captains and the Newfoundland authorities directly, which, it is hoped, may remove any further friction, the basis of which is the purchase outright by the Americans of the fish caught by the Newfoundlanders.

Such an arrangement would, it is believed, largely meet the objection of Sir Robert Bond to the shipment of Newfoundland fishermen on American vessels.

SIXTY GIRLS KILLED.

Terrible Accident in Japanese Cartridge Factory.

Tokio, Oct. 7.—A terrible explosion occurred Saturday morning at the Takatsuke factory, Osaka, while a number of girls were at work sorting shells and cartridge which had been condemned. Sixty-three of the girls were killed and over sixty others injured. As this is sent the factory is on fire, and a number of boats containing explosives were also burned.

Fire Threatens Farms.

Frokesch, Sask., Oct. 7.—For two days a prairie fire has raged south of this town, the sky for twenty miles being illuminated by a lurid glare.

Reports are coming in of strenuous efforts to keep back the fire from homesteads, in some places the flames having reached as far as garden rails.

Stables, wheat and outhouses have been destroyed, but there has been no report of any loss of life.

Practically all of the inhabitants turned out here Saturday and ran a fire guard around the town.

Similar efforts have been put forth along the line west of here.

Claims Conspiracy.

Toronto, Oct. 7.—Hon. A. G. MacKay, M. P. P.; W. P. Telford of Owen Sound, and A. E. Sampson, Owen Sound, are defendants in an action of damages for alleged conspiracy to squeeze J. R. Sinclair of Toronto out of $1,200 property, the benefit of a judgment.

Action has also been entered at Osgoode Hall by Sinclair against the above-named and William Proudfoot, Charles Doty, N. W. Doty and the Toronto General Trust Corporation.

Stormy at Sea.

Cherbourg, Oct. 7.—The American liner St. Paul arrived here yesterday seven hours late. She encountered fierce storms, during which heavy seas swept her decks clean. Her funnels were thickly encrusted with salt.

Spanish Parliament.

Madrid, Oct. 7.—The autumn session of the Spanish Parliament will begin Oct. 10. Among the matters that will claim the attention of the Cortes, is the present situation in Morocco.

Seven true bills indicting individuals of rioting were returned by the Grand Jury at Vancouver on Saturday.

The Last Stroke.

BY LAWRENCE L. LYNCH,

Author of "A Woman's Crime," "John Arthur's Ward," "The Diamond Coterie," "Against Odds," Etc.

The lady, who entered and bowed in stately fashion to the solicitor, was all in gray, except where, here and there, a bit of violet protruded. The hair, which was white, rather than gray, was worn low about the ears, and rolled back from the centre of the forehead, giving an effect of length to the face. The eyes looked dark, behind their gold rimmed glasses, and seemed set far back, in dark hollows. The mouth was slightly sunken, but the cheeks and chin, though pale, were sound and smooth, and the brow showed a scarcely perceptible wrinkle, beneath a veil of gray gauze spotted with black. She had a plump figure, its fullness accentuated by her rustling gray silk gown, with its spreading mantle glittering with steel beads, and finished with a thick, outstanding ruche at the neck. Atop of the high coifed white hair, sat a dainty Parisian bonnet, all gray beads and violets, and the small hands were daintily gloved, in pearl gray.

"I have taken the liberty of bringing my husband's brother, Mr. Haynes," she said, as she advanced into the room, "Mr. Harry Latham."

The tall, dark fellow behind her advanced, and proffered a hand with an air of easy geniality.

"Mrs. Latham," he explained, "fancied I might be of some use, by way of identification. I hope my presence is not de trop; if so—"

"You are very welcome, sir. Sit down, pray, and we will begin our little inquiry. You have brought the papers, Mrs. Latham?"

Mrs. Latham, who had been looking with something like disapproval, upon her aristocratic face, toward the partly visible person behind the screen, turned toward the speaker, and, as she advanced to lay a packet of papers, produced from a little bag, upon the desk, the solicitor called out, as if by her suggestion, "Richards. I shall not need you, for an hour or more." And before the lady could turn toward him again, the man at the desk had vanished through the door just at his back.

Glancing toward this closed door, the lady seated herself, and drew the packet toward her. "I suppose we may begin with these?" she said, untying the packet with deft fingers, and laying the papers one by one upon the desk before the solicitor, as she talked. "I think all the needed proofs are here; my marriage certificate, and that of my mother as well; other family papers that may, or may not, be of use—letters relating to family matters and to the Paisleys of an earlier day—a copy of the will of Hugo Paisley, the first, letters announcing the deaths of various members of the family; also a copy of my grandfather's will. I think you will find them quite correct, and conclusive." She stopped, and looked at him inquiringly. "You will need to examine them, of course, if only for form's sake?" she asked, somewhat crisply.

"Possibly, yes. All in good time, madam." The solicitor took up one of the papers, and glanced at the first words.

"I would like to ask," now spoke Harry Latham, "how soon—supposing of course all things are correct, and Mrs. Latham's claim proved — how soon can she take personal and complete possession of the property? I am a busy man, myself, and my time—"

"I fancy you will not be needed after to-day," broke in Mr. Haynes, somewhat abruptly, "As to the property, once the claim is proven there need not be a day's delay. The late incumbent was a very far-seeing person." He turned abruptly to Mrs. Latham. "Madam, may I ask why you were not more prompt in putting forward your claim to so fine an estate?"

She turned toward him with a slow smile.

"That is a most natural question. I did not at first, imagine myself a claimant; a certain Hugo Paisley, the younger, or his heirs, was before me in the line of succession, and I have waited to see if they would not be heard from. I had no wish to claim that which might not have been mine."

"And you are satisfied now that no such heirs exist? Of course this must be proven."

"Of course. I have been at some pains, and to much expense, to learn if there were such heirs. With the help of friends we made inquiry in the United States, where Hugo went years ago. He was never heard of again."

"And was your search rewarded by definite news?"

By an accident we learned of a member of the family, and through him traced all the remaining ones. They were three, a mother, the great granddaughter of Hugo Paisley, and two sons. The mother has been dead some years. They were not a rugged family."

"Consumption," came from the dark man at her elbow.

"Yes, consumption. The two sons died within a few months of each other."

"I see. And of course you have the proofs of death?"

"They can readily be proved at need," the lady coldly answered.

"Then there remains but one more question. Where you are concerned, supposing your claim to be disputed, could you prove beyond a doubt that you are the Bessie Cramer, who was the last descendant in this country of the Paisleys, your mother having been a Paisley?"

"Of course!"

"And you are then able to furnish proof that there was no other Mrs. Gaston Latham? That Gaston Latham married only one wife?"

A loud laugh broke upon this speech, and the man arose.

"Would the word of Gaston's only brother of any worth? As a witness to the marriage, the only marriage of his only brother? Fortunately I knew Miss Bessie Cramer as a slim young girl. I was a boy in roundabouts then."

Solicitor Haynes arose, and looked gravely down upon his client, ignoring the man's words, and even his presence.

"I must tell you, Mrs. Latham, that there has been a claim set up by the American heirs."

"There are no heirs!" warmly.

"Only yesterday I had a visit from an American gentleman, a Mr. Myers, attorney-at-law. Do you know of him?"

"I know no Americans, and very little of the country."

"Then you have never crossed the ocean?"

"No, indeed! It's quite enough for me to cross the channel."

"Mr. Myers has presented a claim." The solicitor's eyes were narrowing.

"For whom?"

"For—a—I think the name is Brierly; as I was about to say, having made an appointment with you, I thought it best that you should meet him." He touched the bell at his side, as he spoke the last word.

"But," interposed the man, "this is some old claim, or else a fraud! The Brierlys are dead!" The last words harshly guttural.

The office boy had entered now, and Mr. Haynes quietly gave his order.

"See if Mr. Myers is in number seventeen, William."

"Mr. Haynes," said Mrs. Latham, with a touch of haughtiness, "Why should I need to see this man? These deaths can be proved."

The solicitor bowed formally. "So much the worse for Mr. Myers, and his claim," he said. "Of course you must meet him; there is no other alternative. He is a gentleman, and he certainly believes in his claim."

"He's not up-to-date, then," interposed the brother-in-law somewhat coarsely, and even as he spoke the door opened and Mr. Myers having taken his way around by the side hall, entered, hat in hand,

CHAPTER XXV.

As the solicitor turned toward the newcomer the man and woman exchanged glances, and while he was still confident, not to say defiant, he looked to the unobservant solicitor with a nervous apprehensive glance, and leaning toward her would have whispered a word of his anxiety; but she shook her head, and the next moment the solicitor was naming them to each other and, as Mr. Myers paused before the lady, continued with the utmost directness.

"Mr. Myers, this lady denies the existence of any and all American heirs. She fears you may have been deceived. Do you know this man Brierly to be living at present?"

"I believe him to be living."

"Mr. Myers," said the lady sweetly, "I am very sorry to think or say it, but you have certainly been grossly tricked! If you have seen a would-be claimant, you have seen a fraudulent one. How long, may I ask, since you left America?"

"I have been in England for some time, and I will admit, madam, that I do not quite understand this case in all its details. Still, may it not be possible that you have been misled? There seems to have been complications." He checked himself, and appeared to be considering his next words, then he resumed. "I think I can help you clear up this misunderstanding. I brought with me here a young man lately from the United States. He claims to have seen Mr. Brierly very recently. With your permission I will ask him to join us."

The Lathams again exchanged swift glances, and the man gave his head a quick negative shake. But the solicitor went promptly to the door. They did not hear the brief order he gave the boy, and he did not come back at once.

"Who is this young American who has seen the invisible? And how came he here to-day?" asked the man who was now frowning heavily, and moving restlessly in his seat. "What is his name?"

Mr. Myers had picked up a book off the desk, and was turning its pages slowly. He seemed hardly to hear the fellow's words.

"He's a very bright young fellow," he said musingly. "I don't think he would be easily deceived. He's quite a clever detective, in his way." He was studying the pair from under bent brows. Just then Mr. Latham's hat fell from his hands to the floor, and before he had recaptured it, the solicitor had entered followed by a serious-faced young man, whom he carelessly named to the two strangers.

"Mr. Grant."

The lady's hand went suddenly to her heart, and her face was ashen, beneath the dotted veil.

"Are you ill, madam?"

"A twinge," she faltered.

"It's neuralgia," declared the man, drawing his chair toward her. "She's subject to these sharp attacks, Better, Bessie?"

She nodded and fixed her eyes upon "Mr. Grant," to whom Mr. Myers was saying:

"This lady, Grant, is positive that the Brierlys, of whom you have talked to me, are not living now. There has been tricking somewhere, and deception. Will you help us to understand one another?" The lawyer's face had grown very grave.

Francis Ferrars seated himself directly before the woman, whose eyes never left his face now, and were growing visibly apprehensive.

"There has been more than tricking, worse than deceit here, and if I am to make it clear to you, madam, I must begin at the beginning. So far, at least, as I know it."

The woman bent her head slightly. "Go on," said the man. He had never seen Ferrars either in "propria personna," or as Ferris Grant.

The detective began with a brief sketch of the Brierly brothers, and then described, vividly, the discovery of Charles Brierly's dead body beside the lake at Glenville. He paused here and his voice grew stern as he resumed.

"I had never seen Charles Brierly in life, but, standing beside his dead body, looking down into that face so lately inspired by a manly, strong soul, I knew that here was murder. There was no possibility of accident, and such men, I know, do not cheat death by meeting him half way. It was a murder and yet he had no enemies, they said.

"The case interested me from the first, and when I had seen the sorrow of the fair girl he loved, and who loved him, I gave myself eagerly to the work of seeking the author of this most cowardly blow.

"That night I walked the streets of Glenville alone, and, passing a certain fashionable boarding house, I saw, in a room lighted only by the late moonbeams, the shadow of a woman, who paced the floor with her bare arms tossing aloft in a pantomime of agony, or shame."

He glanced about him. The two lawyers were standing, side by side, near the door, erect and stern. The man in the chair opposite, was affecting an incredulous indifference. The room was intensely still when the voice ceased and no one stirred or spoke.

"Next morning, early, I viewed the scene of the crime, and I saw how easily the destroyer might have crept upon an unsuspecting victim, owing to the formation of the shore, the shelter of the trees and shrubs, and the protection of the curving Indian Mound. There had been showers two days before, and in certain spots, where the sun did not penetrate, the earth was still moist under a huge tree just where the slayer might have stood, I found the print of a dainty shoe, or rather, the pointed toe of it. In two other sheltered places I found parts of other footprints, and, a little off the road, in a clump of underbrush, I found two well formed footprints, all alike, small, and pointed at the toe. But I found something more in that hazel thicket. I found my first convincing, convicting clue. It was just a shread, a thread of a black mourning veil, such as widows wear. Later I found a poor simpleton, who had been in the wood on the morning of the murder and who had been horribly terrified. For a time he would only cry out that he had seen a ghost, but by and by he grew more communicative and, from what he then said—for he described the 'ghost,' at last as a thing all white with a black face—I knew how to account for a white fragment which I found not far from the black one. A hired carriage had passed over that lakeside road on that fatal morning, and I learned that the lap cover with it was large and white.' Large enough to cover a woman of small stature, who, with a black veil drawn close across her features, and rising suddenly from among that clump of hazel, could easily terrify a simpleton into leaving the place where his presence was a menace."

He paused a moment, but he might as well have been looking upon carven statues. No one stirred, no one spoke, and he resumed his fateful story.

"Then came the inquest. I believed, even then, that I knew the hand that took Charlie Brierly's life. But I did not know the motive, and, until I did, my case was a weak one. Besides, a woman sometimes strikes and still deserves our pity and protection. 'I must know the motive,' I said, and waited. Then, at the inquest, as Robert Brierly, the brother of the dead man, whose presence in the town was known only to a few, came forward to testify, a woman, who did not know him, and whom he did not know, fainted at sight of him, and was taken out of court. Then I knew the motive."

"Ah-h-h!" A queer sighing sound escaped the lips of the woman still sitting stonily erect before him, but he hurried on.

"But knowledge is not always proof—in a court of law—and I must have proof. That night a woman, dressed as a boy, by courage and cunning combined, forced her way into the rooms so lately occupied by Charles Brierly. Fear of detection had begun its work upon her mind, and she went, most of all, to try and throw justice off the track. In Brierly's desk she left a letter, very conspicuously placed, an anonymous letter, so framed as to throw suspicion upon the dead man's betrothed. This again, showed the woman's hand. She also carried away a watch, a pistol, and some foreign jewelry and dainty bric-a-brac, to make the work seem that of a thief; and last, she found, upon a letter file, a newspaper clipping, which she also carried away. If she had left that I might have overlooked its value. As it was I found the paper from which it had been cut, secured a second copy, and discovered my clue to the tangle. It was an advertisement for the heirs of one Hugo Paisley, and I soon found that the Brierly brothers were the sought for heirs. Then I knew that Robert Brierly's life was also menaced, and I warned him, and tried to set a guard about him.

"In the meantime a boat had been found, not far from the scene of the shooting; it had been seen on the lake that morning, and its occupant was a spy, keeping watch up and down the road, and the hillsides, while his confederate carried out their program of death. I had already fixed upon the woman, and now we began to look for the man."

Just here the man calling himself Latham, got up stiffly, and moved toward the window near the clerk's desk, where he leaned against the casement as if looking down upon the street. No one seemed to notice him, and the narrator went on.

"And now I had to find my final convincing proofs of the motive and the deed. The brothers Brierly were, all unknown to themselves, the heirs to the Paisley estates, and of Hugo Paisley by descent. Through some error the murderers of Charles Brierly had been led to think him the sole living member of the family, and when Robert Brierly stood forth at the inquest, the woman who had shot down his brother with hand and heart of steel, fell fainting, at the sight of him, and, perhaps, at the thought of her wasted crime.

"And now it was a drawn game, in which both sides were forced to move with caution, and, for a time, I could only watch the woman, on the one hand, and the safety of Robert Brierly, on the other, for he now stood between the plotters and their goal.

"But despite my watchfulness, the second blow fell. And the first time Robert Brierly ventured upon the city street alone, after dark, he was struck down, almost at his own door. It was a dangerous hurt, and, lest the assassins should find a way to complete their work, we took him away, as soon as he could be moved."

The woman was sitting very erect now, her eyes smoldering behind the gleaming glasses, her hands tightly clinched upon her knee.

"I knew that we must force the issue, then," Ferrars went on. "And Mr. Myers came over here to substantiate his client's claim to the Paisley estates, and to look up the pedigree, the past and present history, of the other claimants. How well he succeeded need not here be told. He did succeed."

Mrs. Latham had risen to her feet, and, for a moment, seemed struggling for composure, and the power to speak clearly.

"All this," she said then, "which is very strange, does not explain why you dispute my claim in favor of a dead man. As for this murder—if you have proved what you charge—"

"One moment," Ferrars broke in. "Let me add, in that connection, that one night, one of my agents in the character of a burglar, entered this woman's room at her hotel in Glenville. She found in a trunk, the veil from which the black fragment found on the bush, was torn, and also a suit of boy's clothes. The veil she brought away, the clothes were given away to a poor woman only this morning, and she sold them to my agent. As for the man, he has been traced by the stolen watch and jeweled ornaments. He tried to sell, and did pawn, them in Chicago, in New York, and here in London. In fact the chain of evidence is complete; nothing more is needed to convict these two."

The woman's face was white and set. "After all," she said in a hollow voice, "you have not proved that the Paisley estate is not mine by right. "Mr. Brierly, the elder, being dead!"

"Even so, the second wife of Gaston Latham cannot inherit, and her brother even in the character of brother-in-law, cannot share the inheritance. One moment," for the woman seemed about to speak, "Let me end this. Last night, in room number eight at a certain cafe, I heard the plotters in conference, and I know that the daughter of Mrs. Cramer, who would have inherited after the Brierlys, is dead. The game is up, Mr. Harry Levey. You and your sister have aimed two heavy strokes at the happiness of two noble women, and the lives of two good men, but the final stroke is mine! And now, Mrs. Jamieson, if that is—" He did not finish the sentence. The man Levey had drawn closer and closer to the inner door, while Ferrars spoke, and now with a swift spring he hurled himself against it, plunged forward and would have fallen had not Ferrars, always alert, bounded after him, and caught him as he fell. For the inner door had opened suddenly, at his touch, and when Ferrars drew the now struggling man backward, and away from it, the others in the room saw, in the doorway, a man and woman side by side.

At sight of Robert Brierly's face the woman, who had faced the ordeal of denunciation and conviction almost without a quiver, threw up her hands, and uttering a shrill scream, a cry of mortal terror and anguish, fell forward upon her face.

Then came a moment of excited movement, which would have been confusion but for the quick wit of Ruth Glidden, and the coolness and energy of the detective.

While the entrapped villain was struggling like a fiend in the grasp of four strong men, Ruth knelt beside the fallen woman and lifted her head.

The next moment, two or three officers came hastening in, and Ferrars and Brierly, seeing their captive in safe hands, came together to her aid. She looked up at them with a questioning face.

"Did you know?" she asked, her face full of horror. "Did you know her?"

Ferrars nodded and as the officers led their captive, cursing and blustering, out at one door, he lifted the senseless woman, and carried her to the couch in the inner room.

"Bring water!" Ruth commanded, "and leave her to me."

As the two men closed the door between them and the two, so strangely different women, Brierly laid a hand upon the detective's shoulder.

"Ferrars," he said, "What did Ruth mean? Who is that terrible woman? And how is she concerned in your story? It is time I should know the truth."

"Quite time. That woman is Mrs. Jamieson, or the person you knew under that name. She is cleverly disguised, but I expected some such trick. She went to "the states" to rid herself of you and your brother; and she took that man, who is really her own brother, and who tried to kill you, as her fellow criminal."

"And did she—" Brierly stopped shuddering.

"She shot your brother; there is not a doubt of it."

"My God! And I thought — they were alone in the office." And Brierly dropped weakly into the nearest chair and dropped his face upon his hands.

"You thought," finished Ferrars, "that I was interested in the woman. I was. I suspected her from the very first, and so did Hilda Grant."

In the inner room Mrs. Jamieson opened her eyes and looked up to meet the gaze of the fair woman who was in all things what she was not.

Ruth bent over her, a glass of water in her hand.

"Drink this, Mrs. Jamieson," she said simply.

A shudder like a death throe shook the recumbent form. She lifted herself by one elbow, and caught at the glass, drinking greedily. Then, still holding the glass, she said slowly:

"Then you know me?"

"Yes."

"How?"

"By your voice, a little, but mostly by what Mr. Ferrars said."

"Mr. Ferrars!" she gasped. "Do you mean him?"

"I mean the man you have called Grant. Did you never guess that he was a detective?"

"And he knew!" The woman rose to her full height and again, as on a night long since, and in another country, her arms were tossed above her head, as Ruth nodded her answer, and for a moment her face was awful to look upon, so tortured, so despairing, so full of wrath and wretchedness and soul torture, and heart agony, for women can love and suffer, though their souls be steeped in crime.

Ruth, who had taken the half emptied glass from her hand as she struggled to her feet, now put it down, and, startled by her look and manner, moved toward the door, but the woman, her face ghastly, cried "Stop!" with such agonized entreaty that the girl drew back.

"Don't!—I can't see him yet—Wait!—Let me—" She sank weakly back upon her couch, and Ruth noted, while turning away for a moment, how her hand toyed with her dainty watchguard, in seeming self forgetfulness, drawing forth the little watch a moment later, and looking at it, as if the time was now of importance. Then she threw herself back against the cushions.

"My—vinaigrette—my bag!" she moaned between gasping breaths.

The little bag had been left in the outer office, where it had fallen from her lap, and Ruth opened the door of communication a little way and asked for it, saying, as Ferrars came toward her, "Not yet."

As Ruth turned back, she heard a sharp little click, like the quick shutting of a watch case, and when she held out the vinaigrette, Mrs. Jamieson was swallowing the remainder of the water in the glass.

"Your salts, Mrs. Jamieson."

The woman looked up with a wild scared look in her eyes, and held out, for an instant, the little jeweled watch.

Entrance of Inspector and Policeman Broke up the Game

Poker Players Surprised at Local Hotel Early Sunday Morning—Alleged Law Breakers Taken to Police Station.

The entrance of P.C. Newhall and License Inspector Jos. Stewart into a room at the National Hotel on Sunday morning about 2.30 o'clock, rudely broke up a game of poker, the participants in which included a number of prominent professional men belonging to the city.

The men were seated at a table in one of the rooms upstairs, and were hot and heavy at the game. Considerable money was spread on the polished hardwood before them, and it is also stated that liquid refreshments were also a component part of the scene that greeted the officers of the law.

Gaining admittance to the hotel, the two officers went quietly to the room where the game was going on and walked in without ceremony. It appears that one of the gentlemen engaged in the game had gone out of the room a few minutes before, and expecting him back again, so one looked up when the door opened. The result was that the officers had a good view of what was going on before they were noticed. There was a wild scramble when it was noticed that P.C. Newhall and Mr. Stewart were in the room. Some of those who were playing grabbed for the money on the table, but despite this, the bulk of it was secured by the officers, and also some of the cards. In the scramble that followed the appearance of the policeman and inspector, some of the wet goods was spilled and there was considerable disorder.

The room was guarded, so there was no escape, and additional help was 'phoned for to the police station and soon P.C's. Meharry and McDonald were on the scene. The seven men found in the room were taken to the police station, where their names and other necessary information were taken, after which they were allowed to go home.

As a result of the raid, charges of allowing gambling on the premises, and of selling liquor after hours will be laid against the National Hotel, while the men found in the room will be charged with gambling. They come up before Magistrate Dumble at a special session of the police court this afternoon at four o'clock.

News of the raid spread rapidly over the city and the general subject of conversation on the street today.

It appears that Inspector Stewart had been keeping watch for some time and that the raid was well planned. From the officers' standpoint everything worked out just as was ordered.

Remarkable Catch of 'Lunge Made Near the Nassau Dam

The attention of the C.G.E. Angling Club is respectfully called to the remarkable fishing exploit reported to have been made by gentlemn from the other side, exhibiting a dexterity and presence of mind seldom equalled and never excelled. The incident, when it is transferred to the annals of the club, will undoubtedly stand as a record for many years to come.

On Friday afternoon a couple of American gentlemen of the executive staff of the General Electric Co. at Schenectady, N.Y., and who were in the city, were taken by friends for a trip over the lift lock, and up the canal to inspect the power house at Nassau. After leaving the lift lock, and when near the high level bridge crossing the canal at the Norwood road, a gust of wind blew into the canal an umbrella, which one of the visitors was holding. By the time the launch was turned, that the umbrella might be recovered, it had sunk, being of the steel handled and ribbed variety. The spot was marked and on returning a pike pole was procured and the umbrella fished for. It was finally located and pulled up, bringing, entangled in the ribs and support, a three pound muskonge. The visitors were astonished while the local men, being members of the famous Angling Club, pointed out that resourcefulness was the first requisite of a fisherman, and to those who achieved greatness in the sport all implements were alike so long as they brought results. It is understood that the inspector of fisheries will not prosecute under the clause with reference to nets of tiny size and shape, or such other devices, and that this means of raising fish will become popular along the banks of the Erie canal

Addition to Locks and New Dam for Burleigh Falls

It is understood that it is the intention of the Government to raise the head of the water six feet at Burleigh Falls. This means that an addition of six feet will be built to the present locks. It is understood that a new dam will also be constructed. In case this is done, a large reservoir will be formed, and 6,000 horse power developed. The depth of water on the lock sills will be increased from six to nine feet.

Lakefield Prospector Makes Valuable Strike at Apsley

Located an Eight Foot Vein of Gold and Copper Bearing Quartz, also Deposits of Conundrum---Is in the City To-day Registering His Claim.

Vein of free milling quartz containing gold and copper, eight feet wide.

Vein of corundum on surface Large deposits.

Location, about a mile and a half south of Apsley post office, Chandos township.

Discoverer, Mr. Wm. P. Gray of Lakefield.

The above paragraphs contain in brief form the more important points in connection with the valuable mineral discovery that has been made in Chandos township near Apsley. Judging from the quality of the ore, a rich strike has been made and it would not be surprising to see prospectors rushing into the new fields that promise such richness in minerals.

Mr. Wm. Gray of Lakefield, the man who has located the gold and copper bearing quartz, and corundum, is in the city today and was seen at the Munro House by a representative of this Review. Mr. Gray had a number of samples of the ore discovered along with him, and from appearances they appear to be very rich. They are being sent to Belleville to be assayed and the report of the assayer's work will be awaited with great interest.

Mr. Gray is an experienced prospector, having been engaged in this work at Cobalt for the past three years, and also at French River, and other points in Northern Ontario. He located some of the best mines at Cobalt, among them the Hudson Bay mine, and the four inch vein discovered near the centre of the town of Cobalt.

He has been prospecting in Apsley for several weeks, and having a thorough knowledge of rock formation came to the conclusion that there was minerals there. He continued his pursuit diligently, and was rewarded one day last week by making a strike on some property belonging to Mr Wm. Wilson, located in the fourth concession of Apsley, about a mile and a half south of Apsley village. The vein of quartz discovered is about four feet below the surface and is eight feet in width. Mr. Gray is not aware how far it extends in length but there appears to be any amount of it. The deposits of conundrum are on the same property and within a few hundreds yards of the gold and copper bearing quartz. The conundrum deposit is most extensive and appears to be of much commercial value. Mr. Gray says there is better mining property around Apsley, than at French River and Abittibi. Every encouragement, and assistance is also given the prospectors by the settlers and the land is mostly bare whereas at French River, the bush is thick and heavy.

Mr. Gray is greatly pleased with the prospects, and believes that it will not be long before a plant for taking the gold and copper from ore will be established at Apsley. As regards the conundrum, all that has to be done is to mine it and ship to the points where it is used in the manufacture of gun powder and other products. Coe Hill on the I. B. & O. railway is the nearest station to the spot where the minerals have been discovered. It is fifteen miles distant.

Mr. Gray has secured the surface rights on fifty acres of the property and has his claim staked. He is in the city today having his claim registered.

"It is to Laugh" A New Humorist

Indian Relics Not the Only Things Being Unearthed in Peterborough

A local newspaper paragrapher who is noted for his keen sense of humor and originality of style penned a subtle thrust in the columns of his paper on Saturday when he said that the person—a brother newsmonger—who took away the Indian skinning stone found by one of the members of a gang of men digging on George-st., knew more about spreading in the ring at rustic fairs than he did about Indian relics. This sparkling conception of an active mind is apparently original for after a research of many hours among this side splitting lore of noted humorists it cannot be found in any of their works. Mark Twain has regretfully acknowledged by special wire that he did not originate the joke. The person at whom this scintillating jest was aimed graciously acknowledges the truth of the witticism and admits that he is more or less familiar with country fair spreading events—especially when they happen at Warkworth. It wouldn't be a bad plan for a certain individual to discard the pen of journalism and devote his valuable time to the one in which hogs are housed. To use an oft quoted expression it is sometimes desirable for some people "to get back to the soil," or in this particular case the woods would do. At any rate some place where the rich jokes of rural journalism are in vogue. But never mind Hiram Skinner and Seth Perkkins laughed uproariously.

AMUSEMENTS

A ROMANCE IN IRELAND.

"A Romance in Ireland," Allen Doone's new play is modelled in many respects after the famous "Kerry Gow," so much so in fact that the person deriving pleasure from Jos. Murphy's celebrated play could not fail to be entertained and pleased with the production. "A Romance in Ireland," was presented at the Grand Opera House on Saturday night and was accorded a warm reception by a large audience. Allen Doone, who had the leading role, that of Larry O'Daly, was even better than in Kerry Gow. He was supported by a splendid company, several of whom appeared with Mr. Doone on his last appearance here.

The plot in "A Romance in Ireland" is based upon the mysterious disappearance of a large sum of money. Larry O'Daly being accused of the theft. He is turned from home by his father and is forced to bear other misfortunes, but at length his rival for the hand of the sweet colleen, Norah Doyle, confesses to having placed the money in the pocket of Larry's coat and all ends well. In the cast are Biddy Dolan, "a decant widdy woman," taken by Miss Kittie O'Brien, and Mickey Brady, "who thinks he can sing," played by Mr. Chas. Daly. These two furnish the comedy, along with Mr. Doone. Tom Hall as Gerald Doyle gave a clever portrayal of that part, while Malcolm Blevins, as Captain Downs was a mild villain, bringing himself into the good graces of everybody in the last act, by confessing the wrong he had done. Seth Smith as Father O'Flynn was also among the best in the cast.

The plot works out well, the interest being maintained right up to the finish. A strong vein of humor runs through it all and some exceedingly clever dancing is done by Chas. Daly and Kitty O'Brien, while Allen Doone's singing was superb. Among his numbers was Murphy's song "A handful of earth from Mother's grave," which he rendered with fine effect.

The scenic effects and general stage embellishments were in keeping with a high class production.

Ministerial Association Held its Opening Meeting

With perhaps the largest attendance in its history, the consideration of several important matters and the election of officers, were some of the features that characterized the opening meeting of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, at the Y.M.C.A. this morning. There was a splendid spirit of enthusiasm abroad and the opening meeting augurs well for an excellent season's work.

The meeting was conveped by the president, Rev. Canon Davidson, after which the introduction of new members took place, the new clergymen being Rev. E. A. Pearson, Rev C. H. Coon, Rev. Dr. Marsh and Rev. Mr. O'Hara.

Canon Davidson gave an excellent review of the work of the past year, commenting on the different matters that had been discussed and giving some suggestions for the benefit of the association in future.

The election of officers for the current year then followed and resulted as follows,—

President—Rev. J. R. Webb.
Vice-President—Rev. Dr. Langfeldt.
Secretary-Treasurer—Rev. H. J. Keith.

Rev. Mr. Webb is a former president of the Montreal Ministerial Association, and no doubt the association will follow along progressive lines under his presidency.

The following resolution was passed in connection with the removal from this city of Mr. Geo. H. Williamson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A.—

"That this association desires to place on record its high appreciation of the great help to the church life of this city, of Mr. G. H. Williamson, the retiring secretary of the Y.M.C.A., and profoundly regrets his removal from this work in Peterborough, but with the pleasing hope of continuing same among men in his new field of labor."

Mr. Williamson made a suitable reply, expressing thanks for the appreciation of what he had tried to do.

Short addresses were given by different ministers on various topics.

Before adjournment a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Canon Davidson for the brilliant manner in which he had guided the association during his term of office as president.

The effect was somewhat novel, bringing to the minds of old-timers, the days of long ago.

HOW TO ARRANGE FLOWERS.

Never Put Different Varieties Together In the Same Vase.

There is as subtle an art in the arrangement of flowers as there is in the arrangement of a coiffure, and many a flower "blushes" as privately in the cramped quarters of an overcrowded vase as it would amid the recognized solitude of the "desert air."

She who would obtain the best effects from her flowers should remember the methods of the late Celia Thaxter, the poetess of the Isles of Shoals. Mrs. Thaxter, who was passionately fond of flowers, had enormous gardens in her island, which daily yielded her quantities of flowers. Her house from kitchen to garret was filled with vases of bloom, and these vases were a joy to the eye used to bouquets of uncongenial tints and alien floral personalities. For, instead of the familiar ragout of flowers, Mrs. Thaxter separated each variety, and so all over her house there were great vases of roses, and there were equally great vases of trailing wisteria, there were bowls of sweet peas and tall urns full of velvety nasturtiums. Every flower was assigned a separate apartment, and the result was a sense of harmony and repose which is never afforded by the indiscriminate mingling of flowers.

But more dangerous than any jargon of floral tints is the huddling together of flowers. Frequently nowadays one sees a vase of daisies which is clutched so tightly together that every petal encroaches upon its neighbor's anatomy. The result is as unpoetic as a knot of hair which is screwed up on the back of the head without any preliminary of wave or pompadour. After encountering the tenement arrangement of flowers, so to speak, it will occur to many that the well known speech of Robert Chambers' "Poet Beautiful" in regard to "a single flower against a mere background of nothing at all" is not without value.

NOVEL SCORE CARDS.

No Great Artistic Ability Required to Make Them.

A novel idea for score cards was seen at an afternoon party recently. The cards were cut in the shape of a face, but none of the features was indicated. A few wavy lines were drawn in. The features were drawn separately, cut out and used as stickers for scoring.

As the games progress the results obtained by the winners were ludicrous in the extreme, as the face gains a feature at a time according to the number of games won.

Two eyes, two eyebrows, two ears, a nose and a mouth provide for eight progressions. If additional progressions are needed neckties, scarfpins, eyeglasses and heads may be drawn.

CARD WHEN FINISHED.

No great amount of artistic ability is needed for this work, as any simple pen drawing may serve as a model and the features copied from that. By changing the lines of the mouth and the position of the eyes different expressions may be obtained. The drawing will answer the purpose if done in black and white, but the effect will be still better if the different features and the face are tinted with water colors.

She Raised the Dust.

A woman who was unskilled in any art or trade became a professional duster. She had never been trained to work and was quite at a loss to know what to do when circumstances rendered it necessary that she should become self supporting. She had a large circle of friends, who were very well to do, and, hearing one of them complain of the carelessness of her maid in dusting the beautiful and costly bric-a-brac with which her house was filled, she offered to do the dusting periodically. She supplied herself with dusters of various kinds, exquisitely clean chamois skins for polishing, camel's hair brushes and skewers for dislodging the dust from crevices. Eventually she had several engagements. This is a true story, and it offers the suggestion that if a person thinks long and earnestly he or she will be likely to find at last something to do.

Forced to Wear False Hair.

Even though a woman's own hair is heavy and beautiful, the milliners are in league with the hairdressers to force her to wear the store kind. The latest creation in headgear from Paris, called the haystack hat, requires the hair to be dressed high. A thick pad must be pinned on the crown of the head, and over that the hair must be rolled. Then the hair is arranged in little curls. On this mass the hat is poised and fastened with two long pins. The hair then is loosened in front and pinned up to the brim of the hat. "This new wrinkle," a woman says, "may require a girl from the milliner's shop as maid to place the hat properly and drive in the hatpins where they will do the most good."

Is Repreeentative of a Firm in Montreal

Mr. Y. Tsuboi, a Japanese traveller, representing a Montreal firm, dealing in bric-a-brac, chinaware, etc., is registered at the Oriental. He is one of the very few Mongolian travellin gsalesmen who have visited Peterborough, although a short time ago a Chinese representative of A. Shue Shing and Co., Montreal, was in the city selling ginseng to local Chinamen, and while here was the guest of Sing Lung, a George street laundryman. A Japanese teacher also paid a visit to Peterborough a short time ago.

The reason both the Japanese gentlemen registered at the Oriental is probably because the name of the hotel appealed to the men from the land of the rising sun.

THE MOTOR HAS BEEN REPAIRED

And Work is Resumed in Woodworking Department of Green's Foundry

The motor of the woodworking department of Mr. G. Walter Greene's foundry, the field of which blew out last week, was again installed in the foundry on Saturday, after having been repaired in Toronto. The woodworking operations are once more being carried on in full swing.

THE TURF

Black Cloud, City Queen, Billy C., Brown Gyp, Hazel Belle, and Harry Direct will likely start in the speeding events at the Norwood fair. The races there will probably be fast and interesting as a large string of horses are expected to enter. This will probably be the last time the local horses mentioned will start until the meet of the Peterborough Turf Club on Thanksgiving Day.

Argos were beaten by Montreal at Montreal on Saturday by 8-17. All the players of both teams have been disqualified by the C.A.A.U. for playing against Ernie Russell, who is a pro hockeyist.

Prospects are Splendid For Successful City League

Six Teams Will be Entered Including Sevens From Lakefield, Keene and Omemee—Several New Men Will Figure on Local Lineups—Annual Meeting to be Held in Short Time.

Judging from the ante-season outlook, the City League will produce better hockey than ever this winter. Six good teams will be entered for certain, and that is about the right number to have in the league to permit of the arrangement of an ideal schedule. Four of last year's teams, the Strathconas, Lakefield, Charlotte street and Auburns will be entered, and Omemee and Keene will also be represented. The Bankers, High Lifes and Orphans have not yet decided to enter, and last year's players from these teams will probably be identified with some of the other local City League aggregations. Six men who have not yet made their appearance in local hockey circles will be on the lineups of some of the Peterborough teams in the league. Lakefield will be strengthened by the addition of Charlie Blomfield, who was one of the best men on the forward line of the Cement Town seven two years ago, and "Colonel" Ridpath, who last year shone so conspicuously with the Parkdale junior O.H.A. team, will also turn out with the local option seven. There seems a possibility of the Bankers being represented, as they have at present Kelly, Ferguson, Weir, Barber, Cahill and others to choose from and some good men may arrive here before the date the resident rule says they shall have to be in the city to be eligible to play—December 15th.

In the course of the next three or four weeks the annual meeting of the City League will be held when the constitution will be revised, the officers elected and all preliminary arrangements made for the coming season.

Twenty Four Men in Uniform At Practice on Saturday

A Geat Workout With "Bill" Crowley on Coaching Lines--Team Will be in Pink of Condition for Game With the Vics.

To use the expression of "Gene" Hurtubuise last Saturday afternoon saw the best practice the Peterborough Rugby team has had in four years." There were 24 men out in uniform—mostly juniors, and a well organized and helpful work out was indulged in. Crowley, Dillon and Hurtubise were the only members of the veterans association on hand and they seem to get younger every year. Several who practiced and played a game or two with last year's team were out and the team will be in the best of shape for the game with the Victorias next Saturday.

From present indications the back division will be strong and the wing line will undoubtedly be the best the local team has had in years.

"Bill" Crowley engineered the workout and handled out some timely instructions. Two lively halves of three-quarters of an hour each were played the senior half division and junior wing line piercing against the senior half line and the junior wings. All the players showed up well and the team gives promise of being fifty per cent. better than that of last year and should in fact one of the strongest that has ever represented Peterborough. They have had lots of practice this year and have settled right down to business from the first of the season.

If any member of the Rugby club tackles you for the price of a season ticket don't turn him down. The team needs your support.

"Bill Crowley is about the best obtainable in the coaching line.

It's up to Gilbert and McDonald to jump into harness. They would be valuable acquisitions to the wing line.

There probably has never been as much enthusiasm shown at early season practices as there has been this year.

It was a good move to have the lights put in Riverside Park. Many valuable practice hours have been gained by their installation.

This team expects to defeat Victorias on Saturday and the game should be one of the best ever seen in Peterborough. Victorias have some dangerous men on their lineup this year and they made a fine impression on the fans at their workouts.

HAS BEEN SENT "TO SPORTSMAN"

Marked Copy of Review Dealing With Action of Warkworth Fair Officials

At the request of Mr. Bert McCollum, the sporting editor of the Review has forwarded a marked copy of Saturday's issue containing the article dealing with the refusal of the Warkworth fair officials to allow Black Blood and Drummer Boy to start in the slow class at the fair recently held in that place.

In the next number of the Sportsman, which is published on Wednesday, there will probably be some reference made to the matter. The affidavits of Mr. McCollum, I. Bigle and Mr. Scriber, of Belleville, as to the time made by the horses in Class A and Class B, the speeding events held at the fair, will be sent to the editor of the Sportsman in a few days. The object of the three gentlemen named in taking the affidavits is to have a bar put against the winners in the two classes.

TURF

Mr. Jas. Reilly, owner of Black Cloud, when seen by the Review today said he was highly displeased with the action of the officials of the Warkworth Fair in not allowing his horse to start in Class B., or the slow speeding event at the fair. Mr. Reilly does not care to say anything further for publication until the matter has thoroughly thrashed out by the proper authorities.

ATHLETIC MEET FOR BOYS' CLUBS

Will be Held on Saturday, Oct. 19th—Much Interest is Aroused.

An unusually interesting event in local athletic circles will be the field day of sports of the Boys' Clubs of Knox and All Saints' churches on Saturday, Oct. 9th. This will be somewhat out of the ordinary and will give the junior athletes of the city an opportunity to display their prowess. The programme for the day day not yet been drawn up, but a committee is at work and will have an announcement to make in a few days. It is likely that the events will be pulled off at Nicholls Oval. The fact that there will be contestants from the two local clubs will make the meet unusually interesting, and it is probable that a special prize will be offered for the club winning the largest number of prizes.

Both clubs have a large number of boys of athletic inclination and there will be numerous entries.

PAPER CHASE ON SATURDAY

Boys' Club of Knox Church Had Many Runners Out.

The Boys' Club of Knox church held a paper chase on Saturday afternoon, and had a big field of runners out. About three miles were covered, the start being made a short distance north of the C.G.E. Works, the course being out towards the boundary. Over twenty fleet-footed youngsters made the distance in good time.

Paper chases will be held regularly during the fall.

WAIT TOO LONG

Says This Home-Made, Helpful Mixture Should be Used Promptly.

A well known authority states that Backache and pains in the loins are only too often the danger signals which notify the patient that something is wrong with the Kidneys, and warns every one to be careful, particularly at this period of the year, when the skin pores are closed, forcing the Kidneys to do double their work of filtering the impurities and poisons from the blood and system.

At the first sign of Backache or pain in the region of the Kidneys, or weakness and Urinary trouble, the following simple home recipe should be used. Any one can prepare it:—Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Any good prescription pharmacy will supply these three ingredients at small cost, which can easily be mixed by shaking well in a bottle. Few people seem to know the value of these common remedies in the treatment of the kidneys. This simple prescription, when taken as directed, will regulate the urine, clear up and remove sediment, overcome back pains and cleanse the entire kidney structure, correcting bladder troubles in just a little while.

McAvoy Brand Soap cleans kitchen utensils, steel, iron and tinware, knives and forks, and all kinds of cutlery.

QUEEN OF QUAGMOND.

By Epes W. Sargent.

Copyrighted, 1907, by M. M. Cunningham.

Far out on the blue expanse of water two black specks turned smaller and smaller in the distance. Now and then the early morning sun caught the broad blades of the oars with a glint like the flash of a diamond, but presently the boats rounded the point of Indian island, and Nan turned to her aunt.

"Well," she announced briskly, "we are all alone for the day. Just think of that, auntie. We can imagine that we are original settlers and alone in the trackless waste."

Mrs. Edmond shivered at the suggestion.

"Don't, child!" she cried. "Is it not enough that we should be left alone?"

"It's the most delicious thing that has happened this summer," declared Nan. "Just think of having the whole of this beautiful lake all to ourselves! I'm queen of Quagmond lake, and you are the dowager queen, I guess. Let's clear away the remains of our royal banquet."

Suiting the action to the word, Nan briskly attacked the breakfast things, washing them in the tiny brook that went singing over the pebbles to the waters of the lake. It did not take long to dispose of the soiled things, and presently the girl turned to her aunt, her nut brown face glowing from the exercise.

"What do you want to do, dear?" she demanded.

"Whatever you wish." Mrs. Edmond smiled into the radiant face softly framed in the masses of soft hair. "I suppose that we had better wait until Mr. Leland comes over."

"Wint Leland is not coming over," said Nan decidedly. "I want to go somewhere now. Let's take a lunch and climb the mountain. It's such a tiny mountain it won't tire you. We can stop every little while. I hate to have to climb and climb and climb the way Wint Leland wants to."

"I'M HEAPING COALS OF FIRE ON YOUR HEAD, NAN."

"We will do it your way," said Mrs. Edmond gently. "Shall we start at once?"

"You're the dearest auntie that ever was," declared Nan as she planted an enthusiastic kiss upon the lady's withered cheek and danced off to prepare the lunch. Mrs. Edmond noticed that the girl kept scanning the lake and guessed the cause. Nan was afraid that in spite of the prohibition Winthrop Leland might come paddling around the corner, as he had done every morning since the Rankin camp had been opened.

The rest of the party would never have gone across the lake had they not supposed that Leland would be there to do squire duty. It was so like Nan not to let them know. There must have been a quarrel last night. She let her troubled glance wander out along the shore, but there was no sign of the canoe, and presently they tied the tent flaps and plunged into the soft green of the woods.

But even Squaw hill was something of a climb for Mrs. Edmond, and, as stops were frequent, it was well past noon when they at last halted for lunch, establishing themselves upon a grassy plateau divided by a tiny stream that later cut past the camp.

Both were hungry, and the sandwiches quickly vanished, but neither made a move to go. Below, the lake glittered like a sheet of burnished silver in the glare of the sun, a giant salver framed in the changing green of the tree clad banks. Mrs. Edmond leaned back against the huge rock and sighed contentedly. Nan dropped down beside her and rested her head against her aunt's knee.

"It's lovely up here," she said softly. "I wish that we didn't have to go back—ever."

"You would tire of it," said the older woman, with a smile. "You are too young and too active to turn recluse, Nan. Besides," with an allusion to the girl's speech that morning, "the queen should not seclude herself from her subjects."

"Not even when the subjects are unruly?" Nan asked, with a sigh.

"Then least of all," counseled Mrs. Edmond. "She should restore harmony to her subjects and show herself truly a ruler. What was the matter last night, Nan?"

The girl started and colored painfully at the directness of the question. She had not meant such a literal application of her remark.

"Wint was horrid last night," she said slowly, her glance directed toward the tiny Indian island out in the lake. "He was so certain that we could not do without him that I told him not to come."

"And then?" A soft hand fell lovingly upon the girl's soft hair.

"And then he said he would come anyway, because he knew I never could run the camp alone, and I told him I was perfectly able to run the camp and care for you and that I didn't care if I never saw him again, and he said I probably never should, and then he went away and never even said good night."

"Did you expect him to come after your rudeness?" Mrs. Edmond's voice gave no hint of the smile that was playing about her lips and in the corner of her eyes. Nan, looking straight out across the lake, did not see.

"He might have been polite," she said aggrievedly.

"After you had been so discourteous?"

"Well," she persisted, "he's so important. Just as though I could not build a fire or cook bacon and things!"

"It was very good of him to want to help. I think you should apologize to him," she counseled softly.

"I won't," said Nan mutinously. "Maybe," relenting a little, "I shall speak to him again, if he's very nice and humble, but I shan't apologize."

"Then let us hope that he will not expect it," suggested Mrs. Edmond. "Shall we go on?" And they resumed their climb.

Nan was glad enough to rest before they reached the summit. "It's different," she explained as she threw herself on the soft moss, "when there is some one to help you up the rocks."

"Even men have their uses," laughed Mrs. Edmond. "What a beautiful view we have from here!"

"When you look out," said Nan grimly, "when you look down and realize how far we have to go, I'm afraid it will be too much for you, auntie."

"Not at all," said Mrs. Edmond bravely, but she shuddered as she glanced at the trees far below them. "It will be going down hill, you know."

"I'm always making trouble for people," cried Nan penitently.

"It's a peculiarity of queens," reminded Mrs. Edmond, "but it will be easy going down, dear."

It was not an easy matter, however, for presently the sun sank below the line of hills, and the trail through the woods was dark and lonesome. Nan had insisted that Mrs. Edmond take her arm where the trail made it possible, and, though the older woman tried not to lean heavily upon the girl, Nan's shoulders ached.

Suddenly Nan stopped and clapped her hands.

"They're back!" she cried. "I'm so glad. I never could have cooked supper. I've been so worried about it—and so hungry!"

She pointed ahead. Through the trees the firelight glinted upon the white walls of the tents, and already the grateful odor of coffee filled their nostrils.

The thought gave them fresh strength, and they pushed ahead to the clearing, and Nan stopped short as Winthrop Leland sprang up from the shadows.

"Piggy," he called cheerfully, "not to let me in on the trip. I'm heaping coals of fire on your head, Nan. The coffee and biscuit are ready, and some of the finest trout you ever saw are waiting to be broiled. Supper will be ready by the time you've changed to moccasins and washed up."

"Wint," said Nan fervently, "you are an angel, and I'm sorry I was cross last night."

Mrs. Edmond slipped into the tent. The queen of Quagmond was about to abdicate in favor of a king, and she did not want to be present at the ceremony.

The Roman Candle Maker.

"The most solitary person in the world during working hours," says Rene Bache in the Technical World Magazine, "is the maker of roman candles. He occupies an isolated cell somewhat like that of an old time hermit, save that its precincts are more contracted, and nobody comes near him while he is engaged in his patient toil. The wages he gets are high, but not by reason of the loneliness to which he is condemned. He is paid for the risks he is obliged to take. The quarters occupied by this eremite artisan are a tiny house, which might almost be called a hut, with a floor space not more than six square feet. Standing by itself, at least sixty yards from any other structure, the little building is of wood, of the simplest imaginable architecture. If it were to be blown up, the financial loss would be almost nil, a point of some importance, inasmuch as its diurnal tenant is obliged to use considerable quantities of explosives in the business which engages his attention, for a roman candle is a sort of magazine or repeating gun, with a paper tube for a barrel and balls of fire for projectiles."

She Knew Him.

Mrs. K. had engaged a robust, middle aged colored woman to do some housecleaning. During the progress of the work Mrs. K. said:

"A colored man came along here one day last week and wanted work, and I let him wash some windows, but he did not do the work at all well."

"What fo' lookin' man was he?" asked the helper.

"Well, he was a big, strong fellow, and he had but one eye. He said that his name was White. He did very poor work."

"I spec he did, lady. He's de wus' no 'count in dis town."

"Oh, then you know him?"

"Know 'im? Why, lady, I's mah'ied to 'im!"—Exchange.

For the medium size 1 3-8 yards of 54 inch material are needed for the coat.

DEPARTMENT HAS TAKEN ACTION

To Put a Stop to the C. P. R. Legacy Swindle

It appears that the C.P.R. legacy game, which was tried on several Peterborough people, has been worked extensively all over the province. Reports come from hundreds of towns and cities to the effect that citizens have received letters asking that they forward $5 and receive the five shares of C.P.R. stock valued at $800.

The Post Office Department at Ottawa has taken up the matter, as the following despatch says:—

Ottawa, Oct. 7.—The Canadian Post Office Department has written to Washington requesting the postal authorities of the United States to take such steps as are necessary to put an end to the legacy fake which is being worked from an alleged lawyer's office in New York.

The Department was furnished with evidences thatt he mails are being improperly used for this fraud. Steps will be at once taken to prevent, if possible, the mails being further used for such an end, and the American authorities will make an endeavor to locate and punish the author of the game

A large amount of gravel is being taken from Kelly's pit near Bridgenorth, to be used in the construction of the new dam at Buckhorn. The steamer "Maple Leaf," with three scows, is doing the hauling. An unusually large amount of gravel is being used in the building of the new dam, and the boat and scows will be kept busy until the end of navigation.

WANTED LIGHT ON LOVE MAKING

Local Chinamen Desired Information About English Sentimental Vocabulary

A local Chinese restaurateur asked a young man, who was dining in his restaurant the other evening, if he knew of any book published containing rules and regulations of love-making in English. The latter replied that he knew of no special guide dealing with the fine points of Cupid's game, but said he would be willing to give the gentleman from the Flowery Kingdom all personal pointers on the delicate subject that he possibly could.

"I can make love in Chinese," said his inquisitor, "but I may want to marry a Canadian girl some day, and I would like to know just what to say in case I do."

ADJT. WIGGINS SAID FAREWELL YESTERDAY

To Fellow Soldiers at S. A. Barracks—Leaves on Thursday for Windsor

Yesterday at morning and afternoon services at the Salvation Army barracks, a large number were present, many taking advantage of the last opportunity to hear Adjutant and Mrs. Wiggins, prior to their departure for Windsor, where they will have charge of the corps in that town. The disagreeable weather in the evening prevented many turning out, but nevertheless, a good meeting was held. Messrs. R. Elliott, J. Boorman, and Mark Spencely spoke in eulogistic terms of the good work done in the interests of the Army since his coming to this city. They were sure he would be greatly missed and wished him every success in his new work.

The Adjutant expressed great regret at leaving Peterborough, but as he had given his life to the work of the Army and he felt it his duty to go at the call of the chief officers. He had enjoyed his stay in Peterborough very much. He had made many friends, not only in the Army but in other denominations. He had endeavored to make his work here a success and he was delighted to see that his fellow soldiers were pleased. He would always remember his stay in this city, and concluded his remarks by expressing a wish that the work would continue to prosper. Mrs. Wiggins also added a few remarks of farewell.

Next Wednesday evening a final farewell service will be held, when the departing officers will say goodbye to their fellow soldiers. Several fine selections by the band were given last evening, and also by the Songsters' Brigade.

Anniversary Day at Mark Street

Anniversary services will be observed in Mark street Methodist church on Sunday next. Rev. E. A. Pearson of George street church, will preach in the morning and Rev. C. H. Coon in the evening, the latter taking charge of the service in George street church in the morning.

WORK IS BRIGHT WITH PROMISE

Rev. J. C. Robertson Deals With Several Phases of Sunday School Labor

Rev. J. C. Robertson, D. D., of Toronto, general secretary of Sunday School work for the Presbyterian church of Canada, was a busy man yesterday, delivering no less than three addresses.

In the morning he spoke at St. Andrew's church, and in the afternoon, he delivered a special address to the children at the rally in Knox church. His words were closely followed and there was a large attendance.

In the evening, Rev. Mr. Robertson spoke in St. Paul's church and during his discourse referred to the importance of Sunday school work. He took as his text, Peter, 4th chapter, and 8th verse, "And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves; for charity shall cover the multitude of sins."

The preacher said these words contained a strong statement and an unusual promise. The strong statement was, "And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves." The unusual promise was "for charity shall cover the multitudes of sins." They were made by the Apostle Peter to the Christian church of his day. Peter was forced to this conviction by the experiences of his own life. The words were all the stronger because of the man who used them and under the circumstances of which they were written. The word charity had changed in meaning. We today look upon the outer act. In the words of the text, we think of the spirit that would lead to the act, the desire to help is essential in the Christian work. We need to remind ourselves that the church today stands for service, the opportunity to help others rather than be helped ourselves. In our desire to assist others we are helping ourselves, as we could in no other way.

All who have become interested in Sunday school work, look upon it as the greatest honor that God could confer on them. All the discouragements, the worries and the disappointments of the work, disappear when we stop to consider that God is permitting us to lead others to Jesus Christ. The best possible persons to help young men are young men, and all were thankful to God that this desire was manifested and expressed today as never before. The young men's movement has taken hold of the church as it has in no previous period, and the desire to help is daily growing stronger and stronger. The future of the Sunday school was indeed bright with promise and hope.

THE CAMEO.

It Gets Its Name From the Cutting, Not From the Stone.

The true nature of a cameo is very much misunderstood by the public generally. Most people think it is the stone itself, when in reality the method of cutting is what produces the cameo. The real meaning of the word is unknown, its derivation having never been discovered; but, correctly speaking, cameos are small sculptures executed in low relief on some substance precious either for its beauty, rarity or hardness.

There are emerald cameos, turquoise cameos, shell cameos, coral cameos. Indeed, any substance that lends itself to carving in such minute detail can be used for cameo cutting, and nearly all precious stones, except diamonds, have been so used for intaglios, but never for cameos. Emerald is the most common precious stone from which cameos have been made, and there are some very fine emerald portrait cameos in existence, notably those of Queen Elizabeth in the British museum. Shell cameos were first made in the fifteenth century.

Banded onyx is generally used for cameo work because of its hardness and coloring, and it is this fact that has caused the misapprehension, the stone being used so much in making cameos that it has now become better known as "cameo" than by its right name.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ANIMAL TRAITS.

Reminders in the Foal and the Calf of Their Wild Ancestors.

It is an interesting study to note in domestic animals the traits of their wild ancestors. There are some characteristics, of course, which are readily recognizable as being similar to those of animals still in a wild state, and for this reason they give a fair idea of the life and surroundings of progenitors. The habits of the dog and cat are too familiar to comment on, but take the foal and compare his traits with those of the calf.

The foal when a few days old can gallop as fast as he ever can in after life. He never leaves the dam and takes nourishment in small quantities, avoiding a full meal, which would impede swift escape. In lying down no attempt is made at concealment, and when he stands his head is held high. These habits show that the animal's ancestors spent their lives in the open and not in the forests and that they were great travelers.

The calf, on the contrary, fills himself with milk and is a poor traveler. When danger approaches his first impulse is to conceal himself. He holds his head low in order to look under the branches of the forest. All his characteristics point to the fact that the ancestral home of cattle was in a moist, wooded country, while the primeval horse roamed the plains.—London Chronicle.

A Chinese Solomon.

Two Chinamen, brothers, well advanced in age, quarreled over a piece of land which they had jointly inherited from their father and went to law. The native magistrate heard the testimony on both sides and determined that both were wrong and both right, according to the different points of view. Therefore, instead of rendering a judgment in favor of either, he ordered that both be locked up in a cangue with their heads fastened face to face and kept there until they settled their quarrel. The cangue is a sort of cage in which prisoners are placed with their necks locked into a hole in a board. It resembles somewhat the stocks which were used for the punishment of malefactors in olden times. When the brothers were placed in the cangue, they were both very stubborn and indignant, but toward the end of the second day they began to weaken and on the third day reached a satisfactory settlement and were released.

Costly in Human Lives.

In ancient times the great engineering works were costly in human lives. The making of the Red sea canal is said to have involved the loss of no fewer than 120,000 Egyptians. Buckle's examination made him believe the number to have been somewhat exaggerated, but he gives it as still a guide to the enormous waste of human life in those days. The men who kept 2,000 slaves engaged for three years bringing a single stone from Elephantine to the pyramids did not care a great deal so long as in the twenty years in which one of the pyramids was building there were forthcoming the 360,000 men required for the work.

The American Sailor.

It is related of Commodore Decatur that after he had tamed the Barbary powers, whose energies had been reawakened while the war of 1812 kept our navy busy, he set out in his flagship, the Guerriere, to make his way across the Mediterranean unattended and suddenly found himself in the midst of one of the corsair fleets which had remained in a neutral port during hostilities. The situation looked rather squally. The corsair admiral hailed, "What sheep is dat?" "The United States ship Guerriere, Commodore Decatur," was the reply. "Where you going?" was the next question. "Where I please!" thundered Decatur through the speaking trumpet, and the Guerriere proceeded unmolested. — Boston Transcript.

Man's Walk Shows Age.

"You can tell a man's age by his hands," said one of the girls. "They get knotty and veined and terrible. They get old sooner than his face."

"You can tell it most of all, I think," said the woman, "by his walk. I know a man who has been one of the brightest minds of his time who is still the best company I know, but the other day when I saw him come toward me at his home along the hall it made me awfully sad to see the heavy, old, old way in which he walked."—New York Press.

A HUNGRY GHOST.

Story of a Recent Premature Burial In China.

This is the tale of a ghost that eats, and it has thrown the towns of the Siangfu district of China into a commotion. The facts are related in the North China Herald. On March 27 the thirty-year-old son of Tzi Lung, a schoolteacher, was thought to have died of typhus fever. His family being very poor, the body was placed in a frail wood coffin and buried only a few inches under the soil outside the western gate of the town of Siangyang. On April 6 a man put his horse to graze on the spot. The beast found good grass near the grave and brought its foot down upon the soil above the coffin, the lid of which was broken. In a little while the owner of the horse saw a gaunt white arm thrust up through the hole made by the horse's hoof.

Thinking the dead man's ghost was about to rise to avenge the insult offered in the breaking of the coffin, the watcher hurried up and began shoveling earth into the hole to keep the ghost down. A muffled voice expostulated and begged to be freed, claiming to be the living son of Tzi Lung. The watcher fled in terror to the town, where he told every one he met of what had happened. The ghost's father urged that the ghost should be let alone and not further disturbed.

A large crowd, however, went out of the city to view the wonder. The ghost kept begging most piteously to be let out. One man had courage enough to unearth the cover of the coffin completely and open it, allowing the "resurrected" man to sit up. Rice soup and wine were brought and ravenously devoured by the ghost, still sitting upright in his coffin imbedded in the earth.

Finally the unhappy spirit was released and confined in a temple until he could prove himself to be a living man.—Chicago News.

Seward's Prophecy Realized.

When, shortly before his death in 1872, William H. Seward was asked what he believed to be the greatest achievement of his public career, he answered, "The annexation of Alaska." He added, however, "But the American people will not grasp the value of that acquisition for a third of a century yet." This shows that Seward, the empire builder, was also a prophet. Seward has been dead for thirty-five years, and it is only in recent times that his countrymen have appreciated the importance of Alaska as a possession. Strong opposition was offered in the house of representatives in 1867 to making the appropriation of $7,200,000, the price which Seward paid to Russia for the province. Said one of annexation's opponents in that chamber, "All that Alaska will ever be able to produce are polar bears and icebergs." For several years a nickname for the region was "Seward's Folly." But time has fully vindicated Seward.—Leslie's Weekly.

The Oldest Text Book.

Within the last few years a revolution has been accomplished at Oxford which ought really to affect the mind of the nation more than the difference between Lord Curzon and Lord Rosebery. A text book has been discarded which was already venerable for its antiquity at the beginning of the Christian era. Needless to say, we are referring to Euclid's "Elements," for what other text book ever had such a run as that? It has been accepted ever since its publication, which was in the reign of the first Ptolemy (B. C. 323-85). No writer has ever become so identified with a science as Euclid with geometry. The nearest approaches are to be found in the relation of Aristotle to logic and of Adam Smith to political economy.—London Spectator.

A Stairway of Concrete.

One of the most novel, useful and pleasing uses to which cement has been put in interior construction is the hanging concrete stairway. In its construction no structural iron whatever is used, only small channel bars one-quarter inch by three-quarter inch spaced about four inches and covered with expanded metal lathing. The false work can be removed in two weeks. The stairway supports not only its own weight, but, in addition, 7,500 pounds of marble, and a load of 2,000 pounds has been carried up the stairs without injury or deflection. Only the best quality cement should be used in interior work.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A RHYME TO PHYLLIS.

When Phyllis walks along the sands,
Clad in her bathing suit, and stands
And gazes out upon the sea,
I wonder not that mightily
The ocean rages for a space
To hold her in his cold embrace!

When Phyllis for a moment kneels
Upon the beach the wavelet steals
Up closer there to snatch a kiss
That fills it with such utter bliss
That, as it rushes back to sea,
It seems to dance in ecstasy.

When Phyllis, when her dip is done,
Lies basking in the yellow sun,
Who wonders, as she reels out there,
That suddenly the summer air
Grows languid and the breezes die
Away just like a lover's sigh?

Ah, would I were that favored sea
And Phyllis daily came to me!
Ah, would I were that wavelet small—
No laggard would I prove at all!
Ah, would I were the little breeze
That comes to kiss her from the seas!

Or yonder sun that smiles above
And dowers her with stores of love.
Egad, I'd even be that grave
Old lobster hiding 'neath the wave,
That, when my princess leaves the shore,
Just nips her toe and asks no more!
—John Kendrick Bangs in New York Herald.

THE FLYING FOX.

Curious Inhabitant of the Forests in Eastern Australia.

The flying fox is a very curious inhabitant of the forest near Moreton bay, in east Australia. It lives in flocks and moves generally toward the dusk of the evening, and the noise produced by the heavy flapping of the so called wings is very singular. The flocks like quiet places, where there are large araucarian pine trees, with an underwood of scrub and creepers. The foxes hang in vast numbers from horizontal branches of the pine trees.

When there is a clear space among the trees an enormous number of the animals may be seen, and their noise can be heard, for directly they see anything unusual they utter a short bark, something like the sound made by young rooks. Often every branch is crowded, and the young foxes are seen either flapping their wings and holding on with their hind feet and with their heads downward or snarling and fighting for places.

Suddenly the whole take to flight and flap their furry, winglike sides and wheel around like heavy birds. Many fly with their young holding on to them.

The creature is not a true fox, and there is a fold of skin which reaches from the fore to the hind legs. This is called the wing, and it enables the pteropus, as the animal is called, to float and turn in the air.

Obsolete Cures.

It was formerly believed that epilepsy could be cured by wearing a silver ring made from a coffin nail. Seven drops of blood from the tail of a cat and blood from a recently executed criminal were said to be valuable remedies for epilepsy. To cure a felon or run around hold the finger in a cat's ear for half an hour. For toothache trim your finger nails on Friday or eat bread that a mouse has nibbled or carry in your pocket a tooth from a soldier killed in battle. For ranula of the tongue spit on a frog. For alcoholism drown an eel in brandy and make the drunkard drink the brandy. To cure warts rub the wart with a potato and feed the potato to a pig.

Glued Clothes.

"In Korea," said a tailor, "needle and thread are unknown to tailoring. Their place is taken by glue."

"Glue?"

"Glue—a peculiarly fine glue made of fish. Making Korean clothes, the tailor does not bring two edges of cloth together and then slowly and painfully unite them with fine stitches of the needle. No; he overlaps the edges slightly, brushes on a little glue, presses the seam together and sets the garment away to dry.

"I wore glued clothes in Korea and found that they lasted almost as well as sewed ones."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Reading Aloud.

Surely the sum of human happiness might be indefinitely increased if the people learned to take a real delight in the simple, quiet and inexpensive pleasure of reading. Reading aloud in the family circle is an excellent way of bringing the members together. They have thoughts in common and subjects of conversation. How much better and how much happier is this way of spending an evening than the inane, driveling games which so frequently take its place!—Reader Magazine.

Very Strange, Indeed.

"Spellin' is awful funny, ain't it?" said little Tommy. "Now, h-o-r-s-e spells 'horse'"—

"Yes, that's right," said his mother.

"An' if you put another 's' on to it it makes it a whole lot o' horses."—

Property Holders Association Will Probably be Formed Soon

One of the gentlemen who is actively identified with the movement to form a Property Holders Association, told the Review this morning that he expected that a large and representative gathering of private property holders would be in attendance at the meeting of the Board of Trade to-morrow night. He said that the organization meeting of the association would probably be held at an early date when the officers elected will probably be a president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer or a secretary and treasurer with separate duties to discharge and a commissioner. These would form a committee to look after the interests of the holders of private property and commissioner would be the representative of the association at the monthly meeting of the City Council, where he could discuss with the Council any matters arising that would affect the property holders, coming under the head of either the written or unwritten municipal law. The policy of the association if formed will not be aggressive, but progressive and although the private property holders object to the valuation of their property being raised while that of the industrial concerns remains unaltered, they will do nothing to deter the establishments of manufactories in the city, but rather will encourage their location here.

"We want to see everybody given equal rights," said the gentleman to the Review interviewed this morning, "and desire to have the scales of municipal justice evenly balanced." After the meeting of the Board of Trade we will be in a better position to see how we stand and will be able to decide a date for the organization meeting.

A HUSTLING FIRM

The real estate dealers, Messrs. Bell and Taylor, are always hustling for business, and report a good movement in low priced homes of late. The workingmen show a greater desire than ever to own the homes they live in, and appear to realize that now is the time to invest in Peterborough property, before the inevitable increase in value comes that is consequent of a rapid growth such as the city is enjoying. This firm have a good list of properties, both in low and medium priced homes and in larger investments in the business section of the place. They also do a considerable amount of business in insurance, and we direct our readers' attention to their regular display advertisement in another column.

Send Out of Town for Their Hay

Liverymen Say They Can Get It Delivered to Barn for $15 per Ton

A local liveryman told the Review that he and some others engaged in the same line of business, intend to send out of town to get their hay if the present high price asked for it on the Peterborough market continues. He claimed that he could get delivered, right to loft door hay, all charges of transportation paid, for $15 per ton, whereas the price asked for hay in this city is $18 a ton. The hay from the outside towns would be delivered baled and pressed.

Staff Capt. Goodwin of Windsor to Take Charge of Local S. A. Corps

With the departure of Adjutant Wiggins from Peterborough, a new new regime will commence in the Salvation Army here. A lady will be in charge of the local corps, which will be quite a change from past. The new commanding officer of the Peterborough corps will be Staff-Captain Goodwin, of Windsor. She is a splendid officer and has done excellent work at Windsor, where she has been located for some time. She is expected in Peterborough on Thursday of this week, and it is expected that the work here will continue to progress under her guidance. It is many years since a lady was in charge of the local corps, and it will be somewhat novel for a time.

There will be a big time at the barracks this evening. In addition to the wedding, Adjutant Wiggins will make an announcement regarding the officer and will have several important things to say.

Improvements to be Made to the Police Court Room

Alderman Says its Present Condition is a Disgrace—Routine Business of the City Council—Reports of Committees.

The city Council held a regular meeting last night and owing to over two hours being spent in committee of the whole it was after midnight before adjournment took place.

The business was largely of a routine nature although several other matters were dealt with.

There were present Mayor McWilliams, Ald Johnston, Elliott, Stevenson, Bradburn, Morgan, Duncan, McIntyre and Phalen and the city clerk.

LEGAL COMMITTEE.

Ald. Phalen, chairman of the Legal committee, reported as follows:

1. That we referred the claims made by H. A. Hodden, Mrs. Soimes and the Mann Lumber and Cheese Box Co. to the city solicitor.

2. We instructed the city solicitor to prepare a by-law to prohibit the burning of refuse or waste material in any yard, lane, street, etc., within the area bounded by Brock street on the north, Aylmer street on the west, King street on the south, and the easterly limit of lot No. 2, east of Water street on the east. We did this on the suggestion of the Fire Underwriters' Association.

3. We received tenders for numbering the houses in the districts which the Council decided to have renumbered and after considering the tenders authorizing the chairman to negotiate with the lowest tenderer for putting up illuminum numbers, for which we had received a tender from the Peterborough Hardware Co. There will probably be something over a thousand houses to number or renumber and the cost will be about 20 cents for each house.

WHY JOHN D. HOLDS ON

Says He Is God's Steward of Standard Oil.

Has Good Conception of Himself—Feels Responsibility For His Wealth as a Steward—Widows and Orphans Would Suffer If He Let Go His Interest—Feels Duty Towards Them.

New York, Oct. 8.—John D. Rockefeller's private conception of himself, that he is only the steward of the Standard Oil wealth, responsible to God alone for his stewardship, was quoted Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Roberts MacArthur, the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, before his young people's class.

"I am the trustee of the property of others," he said, "through the Providence of God, committed to my care. I am the steward of vast interests belonging in great part to widows and orphans, and other who are actually or relatively poor.

"For this holding I am responsible to God. Were I to go, give up my interest in the Standard Oil Co., I would imperil the interests of these people, according to the popular supposition that my withdrawal would hurt the company's business. Therefore, I feel it my duty to God and to the people whose money is invested in my company to continue active in its welfare."

CANADIAN GIRL VIOLINIST.

Hailed In Germany by Some as the Greatest of the Age.

London, Oct. 8.—(C. A. P.)—Kathleen Parlow, a Canadian, 17 years of age, played before a Berlin company of 250 persons, invited to hear her. Berlin critics are full of admiration of the youthful performer, styling her Mischa Elman in female dress. Grunfeld, the violincellist, declared he never had heard anything like it before. Others pronounced her the greatest violinist in the world.

Mischa Elman is a boy violinist in England, who has been doing more wonderful playing. The local musical colleges do not know anything of Miss Parlow.

Came From Western Canada.

Montreal, Oct. 8.—Kathleen Parlow had already attracted attention because of the enthusiasm she aroused by her playing before the Czar of Russia. She belonged to Western Canada.

CLAIMS AGAINST MOROCCO.

French Minister to Visit the Sultan at Rabat.

Tangier, Oct. 8.—It is officially stated that the visit of the French Minister, M. Regnault, to Sultan Abd-el-Aziz at Rabat will be brief. He will present the French claims in detail, but will not wait for their complete adjudication, his present purpose being to secure the Sultan's acceptance of the principle involved. The Ministers of seven other powers here will go to Rabat in turn and present their letters of credence and such claims as their Governments have against Morocco.

Lusitania Speeding.

On board the steamer Lusitania, 2 p. m., Sunday, Oct. 6, by wireless telegraphy to the Associated Press, by way of the Lizard, England, Oct. 8.—The Lusitania, which left Queenstown at 10.25 on Sunday morning for New York, was approximately in latitude 51.06 degrees north and longitude 15.08 degrees west at 9 p. m. yesterday. From Daunt's Rock the steamer had averaged 23.36 knots, and was 257 nautical miles from that point. The wind was westerly, rain was falling and a heavy sea was running. It was understood that the Lusitania was attempting to make a record, and the vibration aft was marked.

Falling Derrick Kills.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—William Simpson, 45 years, 8 Palmerston place, was killed by the collapse of a derrick boom while working on construction at the Phoebe street school yesterday afternoon.

BLUFFED INTO SURRENDER.

Escaping Prisoner Yields to Mounted Police Ruse.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—An instance of the resourcefulness and quick wit of the members of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police has just been reported to Comptroller White here. A man named Davis, under arrest at Lethbridge, escaped from custody, succeeded in getting a boat and started to cross the river at that point. A Mounted Policeman named Mason, who was off duty, and therefore unarmed, joined in the chase after him and was the first to reach the shore. He picked up a stick, resembling a rifle, and pointing at the man in the boat, threatened to shoot. Davis told him not to fire and he would return. He then put the boat around and came back to the shore, where Constable Mason took charge of him. He had been at liberty only 25 minutes.

To Discourage Marriage.

London, Oct. 8.—The British Board of Education is about to issue a regulation which will practically amount to official discouragement of the marriage of women teachers. The regulation will insist that every member of a teaching profession who enters a training college which receives state grants shall sign an undertaking not to withdraw from teaching until after a term of years, in the case of men seven years, and in that of women five years. This undertaking will be in the nature of a legal bond, and for every twelve months which the teacher does not serve a penalty will be enforced. The penalty is not yet finally settled, but will probably be £20. It is felt that under the existing arrangement funds are often wasted upon training women teachers, many of whom leave their positions soon after becoming fully qualified in order to marry.

Will Select Examiners.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Dr. Seath, superintendent of education, states that hereafter the Department of Education will appoint its own examiners from among the Normal School teachers, the members of the faculty of education and the inspectors, while three grades of examinations which will be known as the entrance, model and faculty of education examinations will be established.

Hitherto the boards of examiners of the university have arranged the examination papers, both for the university and the Department of Education.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 8.—Mayor Bennett of Fort Dodge, who recently gained fame by issuing a ukase that all bachelors in the city must wed within a year or pay a fine, was taken at his word on Sunday by Nolan Snow, a chauffeur, who eloped with the mayor's daughter Mabel. CHARGES AGAINST POLICE.

Evidence Seems to Prove St. Catharines' Officials Are O. K.

St. Catharines, Oct. 8.—So far but little has come of the enquiry into the city police force as the outcome of recent statements by Judge Carman, chairman of the police commission.

When Mayor Riddel and Police Magistrate Comfort took their places in the police court room yesterday the judge was not present, but on his behalf Crown Attorney Brennan stated that the judge could not attend, and had delegated him to protest against his honor being placed in the light of prosecutor against the police. Arguments between the magistrate and Brennan followed, the farmer maintaining that the judge made statements which should be probed to see if they were true.

The mayor stated that the judge had denied the report of his utterances and thought the denial should be accepted.

Patrick McNaught, night watchman at Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway barns, said the police did not frequent that place at night, and that he had frequently noticed them on beat, but never in an intoxicated condition.

License Inspector King swore the police had always given him all necessary assistance, and that he knew nothing of any of them being anything but sober. Dr. Colgan, a veterinary surgeon, on oath said he had been on the street at all hours of the night and always saw policemen on the street. No one volunteered to give evidence against the police, and adjournment was made till Friday.

FRAUDS ON RAILWAY.

Chief Timekeeper Hunt of C. N. R. Arrested on Conspiracy Charge.

Winnipeg, Oct. 8.—W. A. Hunt, chief timekeeper at the C. N. R., was charged with attempting to defraud the company. He was remanded until the 14th. Jerome Cuthbert and R. Pearce, who were remanded until Friday, are also concerned in this case, which is likely to prove of considerable public interest. It is alleged that one of the employes of the company came into the office, stating he had been working under a conductor on one of the western lines, and presented his time and secured his time check. This was later presented to the cashier and endorsed in the name of Turnbull. He admitted to the cashier his name was not Turnbull, but presented another man, who claimed to be Turnbull. The cashier's suspicions were aroused and the police were called in, with the result that the three were arrested.

Record For Wireless.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 8.—Yesterday morning while Marconi experts here were testing several of the new receiving cones at the top of the towers at the Port Motien station, the operator in the room below picked up the wireless station at Manila in the South Pacific. The message received was that the American cruiser Philadelphia had arrived at that point all safe.

The best previous record for the distance by wireless was 4,000 miles, between Savannah, Florida, and a warship going down the South Pacific.

The distance from Port Morien to Manila, Philippine Islands, is about ten thousand miles.

Placed Bridge In Position.

London, Oct. 8.—The new Pere Marquette bridge over the south branch of the Thames was placed in position Sunday. After the old structure had been removed it took only about one hour for each section to be lowered and bolted in position. No trains were running, but if they had been no delay would have occurred, as the tracks and superstructure were not removed until the new spans were ready to be swung into position.

Two Football Fatalities.

Portage, Pa., Oct. 8.—Thomas Bartram, 20 years old, of Altoopa, Pa., received injuries during a football game Sunday that caused his death. He was kicked in the head during a scrimmage. His death, it is said, will result in the prosecution of those who played Sunday football.

OUTRAGES AT ODESSA

Jews Again Victims of Attack by Infuriated Unionists.

Cemetery Surrounded—Mourners at Funeral Stoned—Fired Upon and Wounded—Hebrews Fled In Panic—Black Hundred Ransack Stores—Proprietors Mercilessly Beaten—Cossacks Laugh as People Run.

Odessa, Oct. 8.—The unionists of Odessa continued their attacks and outrages upon Jews yesterday. They began by surrounding the Hebrew cemetery, where a funeral service was going on. First they stoned and then fire revolver shots at the mourning Jews, many of whom were wounded.

The Jews fled in panic. Later in the day members of the Black Hundred divided themselves into small groups and ransacked several Jewish shops, mercilessly beating the proprietors.

After further Jew-baiting detachments of Cossacks arrived on the scene, but instead of pursuing the Black Hundreds, they laughed at the rapidity with which they made their escape.

CONVICTS ATTACK GUARDS.

Wound Six, But In Return Fire Twenty-Two Are Killed.

Tobolsk, Siberia, Oct. 8.—A gang of convicts who were being escorted here from Tyumen, Eastern Siberia, attacked their guards Sunday and wounded six of them. The guards fired on the convicts, 22 of whom were killed.

Eleven of the prisoners escaped with rifles, which they had wrested from the members of the escort in the hand-to-hand fight which followed the outbreak.

RACE HORSES IN WRECK.

En Route to Windsor From Hamilton—Several Horses Injured.

Windsor, Oct. 8.—Two carloads of race horses en route to Windsor from Hamilton met with an accident just west of London on Sunday. The first car containing horses belonging to S. T. White, Maurice Welch and Geo. Neal, ran off at a switch and crashed into a coal chute, injuring Henry Ach and Dawson belonging to the last named.

The next car toppled over and injured J. B. Brannon's Jungle Imp and Kiamesha II. so badly that they had to be left at London.

The attendants who were in this car escaped with a few cuts. A special train brought the remainder of the horses on to Windsor.

RUSSIA AND CHINA AGREE.

New Telegraph Convention Was Signed Yesterday.

Pekin, Oct. 8.—A new telegraph convention between Russia and China was signed here yesterday. Under it China recovers all her previous telegraph rights in Russian Manchuria, and 2,000 miles of lines and connections are formally turned back to her. Russia surrenders the privileges she has exercised since the Boxer outbreak, and in the future will pay telegraph royalties to China.

May Order Prosecutions.

Ottawa, Oct. 8.—The Board of Railway Commissioners is now reviewing the evidence which has been taken by its inspectors on their investigation of the railway accidents of the past summer, and as a result of their consideration it is probable that several cases, in which there seems to have been willful neglect or gross abuse of the rules governing the operation of railway trains will be referred to the provincial authorities for prosecution.

Although the board institutes no individual prosecutions itself, it advises the provincial authorities in this way of any cases which it thinks ought to be followed up in the courts.

In some cases the blame seems to rest upon railway employes, but at least in one instance the responsibility lies upon a railway company.

Refuses Pardon.

Toronto, Oct. 8.—Walter Lowry, who was released from Belleville jail, where he was serving a two months' sentence for theft, by a judgment given by Chief Justice Falconbridge, on the ground that the conviction was wrong, refuses the pardon and will take the case to the Court of Appeal, where he will endeavor to have the magistrate made liable for damages for false imprisonment.

Attacked by Thieves.

Windsor, Oct. 8.—James Titheridge was assaulted by two robbers on a street near his Sandwich home. The assailants lay in wait for him and slugged him into unconsciousness.

Titheridge raised an outcry, and this brought assistance. The robbers were scared off, escaping in the darkness.

Titheridge had $250 in his possession, which the robbers were after.

Delhi, Oct. 8.—Freddie Hewitt, a little boy, was burned to death at his father's home, four miles from here, yesterday afternoon.

Before going to a neighbor's farm, his mother poured some coal oil into the stove. The boy lit a match and the oil caught fire. The house was burned down.

FIND VALUABLE RELICS.

Explorers From Cornell Make Many Important Discoveries.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 8.—The first report of the Cornell expedition to the Assyro-Babylonian Orient has just been received by Prof. Sternett, its organizer. The party consists of A. T. Olstead, O. B. Charles, and J. E. Wrench. The report says that the principal sites of the region explored have been fixed astronomically for the first time, disclosing many defects in even the best maps. At Boghaz-Keui, at the suggestion of the German excavators, the Hittite inscription, one of the largest known and generally considered quite illegible, was studied, and as a result of two and a half days' work the greatest part of the inscription was read.

The pre-classic site of Iconium, the most important city of Southeastern Asia Minor, has been found. Much of the pottery found there is similar to the early types found at Troy, and a better site for excavation has not yet been seen by the expedition. Over three thousand potsherds have thus far been collected and studied. Most important are the various sherds of Mycenaean character, showing connection with the Greek world of the time of Homer. In the material collected, it seems almost certain, says the report, that some of the most widespread views in regard to the earlier people of Asia Migor and their connection must be modified or abandoned. A marble idol of a type hitherto found only in the Greek islands in Pre-Mycenaean settlements was obtained at Angora. This link between the early inhabitants of Greece and of Asia Minor is of very great interest.

A SHAVE FOR SUNFIELD.

Peculiar Application Made Before Chief Justice Falconbridge.

Hamilton, Oct. 8.—A peculiar application in connection with the case of Jake Sunfield, accused of murdering Andrew Rodzyk, was made before Chief Justice Falconbridge at the Assizes by J. L. Counsell, the prisoner's lawyer, yesterday afternoon. The lawyer asked that the court make an order to have Sunfield shaved.

Since Sunfield's arrest, the jail authorities have been afraid to let him have a razor or to have him shaved, and he has grown a beard. He does not want the beard. The chief justice granted the order on the condition that the appearance of the prisoner at the time of his arrest is not changed. The case was considered by the grand jury, which will bring in its finding in the morning. The trial may not take place for another week.

WATCH CANADIAN BORDER.

U. S. Officials Determined to Keep the Asiatics Out.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Immigration of Japanese into America is increasing at so alarming a rate that it has been determined by the United States Government to adopt extraordinary measures to prevent the introduction into the United States, not only of Japanese, but of other Asiatic coolie laborers.

One result is an order increasing the force of immigration inspectors along the Canadian border, with a view to controlling, if possible, the flood of Asiatic immigration into America.

Don't Doctor Themselves.

London, Oct. 8.—Lecturing to the students of St. Mary's Hospital, Prof. William Osler said that doctors were notorious sinners. Success in the medical profession was largely a matter of good health, but those who did not work too hard smoked too much or were indifferent about exercise. The best students seemed to pay the least attention to nature's laws.

"Be skeptical," continued the professor, "as to the pharmacopoeia as a whole. He is the best doctor who knows the worthlessness of most medicines. Study your fellow-man and fellow-woman and learn to manage them. Remember, above all things, that you are in this profession as a calling, not as a business. Once get down to a purely business level and your influence is gone and the light of your life goes out."

Defends Pension Fund.

London, Oct. 8.—(C. A. P.)—The secretary of the G. T. R. has written to a protesting shareholder defending the $300,000 for pensions, saying the present condition of the labor market in Canada rendered it necessary to institute a fund similar to that created by other companies, otherwise the G. T. R. will be unable to keep its employes.

Would Split the Church.

Ottawa, Oct. 8—Rev. Dr. Armstrong, ex-moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, is authority for the statement that the Presbyterians will not go into the proposed union of the churches if it will cause a split in the church, and it will perhaps take considerable time to educate the people sufficiently in the advantages of the union before all would favor it.

German Diplomacy.

Berlin, Oct. 8.—It was semi-officially announced yesterday that Herr von Tschirsky, the Minister for Foreign Affairs, is leaving the Foreign Office and will succeed Count von Wedal as German ambassador at Vienna. Herr von Schoen, now ambassador of Germany at St. Petersburg, will become Foreign Minister.

Prairie Fires Do Damage.

Haibrite, Sask., Oct. 8.—Prairie fires came up from Montana, crept north to the township, doing serious damage and burned a few buildings. Joe Williams' crop of 140 acres was all burned. Frank Stockman's crop and barns were burned. Numerous others lost portions of their crops.

Elevated Outer Rail.

Caledon East, Oct. 8.—At the inquest here yesterday into the Caledon wreck it developed that the day after the jury examined the track the outer rail was elevated by sectionmen.

Percy St. John, a sectionman, testified to this circumstance.

The Last Stroke.

BY LAWRENCE L. LYNCH,

Author of "A Woman's Crime," "John Arthur's Ward," "The Diamond Coterie," "Against Odds," Etc.

"For years," she said, in a slow, strange monotone, "I have faced and feared danger, and failure. For years I have been prepared! Because of my cowardice and my conscience. I have always kept a way of escape." Her fingers fluttered aimlessly and the watch fell upon her lap. Her last words seemed to come through stiffening lips. Her face grew suddenly ghostly pale. Ruth sprang toward the door.

"Don't let him come yet." With these words the dying woman seemed to collapse, and sank limply back into the cushions; her head drooped, her chin dropped.

Ruth flung open the door with a cry of terror, and the four men—for the two lawyers had returned from their escort duty—gathered about the couch. They saw a shudder pass over the limp frame. The fingers fluttered again feebly, there was a spasmodic stiffening of the figure—and that was the end.

* * * * * * *

Four weeks later, a group of people were standing upon the deck of a homeward bound steamer, about to set out upon her ocean voyage. They were five in number, and they were welcoming, each in turn, the man who had just joined them.

There had been a quiet wedding, a few days before, at a little English church, and Ruth Glidden had become Ruth Brierly, as simply as if she were not an heiress, and her newly-made husband not the owner of English lands, houses, stocks and factories, that changed him into a millionaire.

"I could see no good reason for delay," Brierly was saying, as he grasped the hand of Ferrars, whose congratulations had been hearty and sincere. "Neither of us have need to consult aught save our own wishes; and besides our nearest friends are with us."

"Besides," interposed the smiling woman at his side, "we have been an encumbrance on Mr. and Mrs. Myers for so long—and it was really the only conventional way to relieve them of so many charges. And then—" and here she lowered her tone, and glanced toward Hilda Grant, who, having already greeted Ferrars, was standing a little aloof, "we can now make a home for Hilda, and have a double claim on her."

"In all of which you have done well," smiled Ferrars. "My only regret is that I must bring into this parting moment an unpleasant element, but you may as well hear it from me." He beckoned the others to approach; and, when they were close about him, said, speaking low and gravely: "'Quarrelsome Harry' has escaped the punishment of the law."

"Escaped!" It was Mr. Myers who repeated the word. "Do you mean—"

"I mean that he is dead. He was shot while trying to escape. He had feigned illness so well that they were taking him to the hospital department. He tried a rush and a surprise, but it ended fatally for him. He was shot while resisting rearrest."

"It is better so," said Mr. Myers. "They have been their own executioners. What could the law have added to their punishment?"

"Only the law's delays," said Ferrars, and then he turned to Hilda Grant.

"This is not a long good-bye," he said gently. "At least I hope not. I shall be back in 'the states' soon. And, may I not still find a cousin there? Or must I stand again outside the barrier alone?"

"You will always find an affectionate cousin," said Hilda, putting out her hand.

And now it was time to leave the ship. All around them was the hurry of delayed farewells, the bustle of late comers, the shifting of baggage, smiles, tears, last words.

Ferrars would remain for a time in London, but he knew, as he answered to the call "all ashore," that when he returned to the United States he would find in one of her fair western cities, a warm welcome and a lasting friendship.

The plot, by which the beautiful tigress-hearted woman whom they had known as Mrs. Jamieson had hoped to achieve riches, were cleverly planned. The real claimant had died in a remote place, and there were no near friends to look after her interests, or those of her young children. And then Harry Levey's sister, beautiful, and an adventuress, from choice, like her brother, had beguiled Gaston Latham, and had, by frequent changes of abode, by cunning, and by fraud, merged her own personality into that of the former wife. Then had come the baffling discovery of heirs in America, the plotting and scheming to remove them from their path—and the shameful end.

"Ferrars is a strange fellow," said Robert Brierly to his wife, one moonlight night, as they sat together, and somewhat aloof from the others on the deck. "Do you know he was the sole attendant, except for her servants, at that woman's burial. He went in a carriage alone. Was it from sentiment, or sympathy, think you?"

It was the first time the dead woman had been spoken of, by either, since that trying day of her exposure and death, and Ruth was silent a moment, before she answered; the awful scene coming vividly before her. Then she put her hand within her husband's arm, and said, slowly, softly:

"It was because he is a good man; because she was a woman without a friend, and because she loved him."

There was a long silence, and it was Ruth who next spoke.

"Have you ever thought, or hoped, that the friendship and trust that has grown out of Hilda's relation to Mr. Ferrars might, sometime, end in something more?"

"No, dear, and this is why: Yesterday, Ferrars said to me: 'There is a friend over in Glenville whom I hope you will not forget. Let him be your guest. And, if the day should come when your dear sister that was to be should enter society and be sought by others, give the doctor his chance. He has loved her from the first.'"

Ruth sighed.

"Hilda is too young to go through the world loveless and alone. Yes, and too sweet. And the doctor is a noble man. But all this we may safely leave to the future, and to their own hearts."

MORTON'S HOMECOMING.

By Lester Comstock.

Copyrighted, 1907, by C. H. Sateliffe.

The cabman regarded Morton with amazement as he gave his direction.

"That hotel was torn down five years ago," he said. "There's a twelve story office building there now."

Morton named another hotel, only to be met with fresh disappointment, and with an impatient gesture he sank back in the cab.

"I want to go to a good hotel," he said. "You know better than I where I want to go."

The burly figure climbed on the box, and presently the cab was rattling up Broadway. Listlessly Morton looked out of the cab window and marked the changes. It was like a new land, with only here and there a familiar landmark. Six years had wrought changes as great as those that had been effected within his heart.

THE VISION SEEMED SO REAL.

Six years before the world had seemed bright and pleasant. Lucy Desmond had loved him, and his prospects had begun to materialize. Then had come the crash. Howard Desmond had sacrificed his daughter to save his fortune. Half a million was needed to support his tottering ventures. Metcalf would lend the money, but not until Lucy had become Mrs. Metcalf had the loan been made. Ten days later the vein had been struck in the mine which Morton owned, and he was a millionaire almost overnight. For weeks he had railed against the fate that brought him fortune too late to give him the only thing worth while, the companionship of the woman he loved.

He had tried to meet her in their social encounters with the indifference that convention demanded, but there had come a night when the intoxication of the music, the heavy scent of flowers, had been upon them. It had been in the conservatory at the Clivers' dance, and for one mad moment he had held her in his arms, begging her to elope with him.

But even as he pleaded there had come the sense of right. He had gently released her and had fled the place. The dawn had found him still in his evening clothes pacing the floor of his apartment, and as the fresh morning air fanned his flushed face he made his resolution.

Before the end of the week he had disposed of all his American interests and had gone abroad. He left no kin behind, and none knew where he had gone. For six years he had roamed three continents, but always off the path of the tourist. Then had come the fierce longing for home, and he had come back.

Now that he was here he was not certain that he did not regret his decision. All had changed. Everything reminded him that he had lost his place in the life of the city. The stopping of the carriage roused him, and he paid his driver and followed the bellboy into the hotel.

He found the stillness of his room intolerable, and after vainly trying to interest himself in the papers he threw them aside and went for a walk. Perhaps in the busy throng he could shake off his memories.

Unconsciously he turned his steps in the direction of the park and was well into the shady recesses before he realized where he was. Then he roused himself with a start. It had been Lucy's favorite walk. It led to a little summer house just around the curve in the path, the little summer house where they had spent such happy afternoons before Cupid had fled in utter rout before the onslaughts of Mammon.

It seemed perfectly natural that when he had turned the curve he should see her sitting there in the same place where she had sat that afternoon when she told him of Metcalf's ultimatum. He smiled at himself for his belief, but the vision seemed so real that he kept on and presently sank into the seat beside her.

The girl raised her head and smiled.

"Lucy," he said wonderingly as he took the firm soft hand she offered. "Is it really you, dear? Of course I know it isn't, but you seem so real. You have come to me hundreds of times before, both waking and dreaming, but never so plainly, dear."

"But suppose that I am not a vision, Jim?" she asked with smiling lips. "Suppose that it really should be I?"

"Then I should have to go," he said firmly. "I cannot trust myself with you."

"Then let us pretend that I am a vision," she urged. "I really ought to scold you for keeping yourself hidden all these years."

"It was a coward's retreat," he admitted, "but I could not see you the wife of that man."

"And so you left me alone in my misery," she said reproachfully.

Morton shook his head. "It was not that," he said soberly. "It was that I cared too much for your fair name to stay on."

"I know," she said tenderly; "but, Jim, you might have left some word whereby we could have found you."

"To bring me back to misery?"

"To happiness," she said. "You seem to have found misery where you went."

She looked at the face of the man. Every line was touched by the hand of sorrow. Six years before he had been a laughing faced boy. She could remember his every expression. Now his face had gained a seriousness that became it well. He had not sought forgetfulness in dissipation, and the girl was glad.

"I suppose that I do show it," he said, noting her glance. "But you, being only a vision, have not changed. Your eyes have gained a sweet seriousness, but otherwise it is the face that has been before me all these years. You have come to me in many lands, Lucy, but there seems a reality to the vision here that I have never known before. I wish that I might always hold you so, dear."

"Wedded to a vision?" she asked mockingly. "Would that content you?"

"It had to content me all these years," he said simply. "It is better so than that I should seek the reality to rob her of her fair name."

"And yet that night," she whispered, "I was almost ready to say 'yes,' Jim. Had you persevered I should have yielded."

"I knew it," he agreed, "and for that reason I went away so far that no word might reach me and tempt me back to your side. Since I left New York I have spoken to no one whom I used to know. I did see Teddy Farrington in London once, but he did not see me, and I escaped him, but lately something seemed to call me back. I have been fighting it off for two years, but I grew hungry for the sight of home, to hear the sound of your voice and to look upon your dear face again. I never dreamed that I should find you here; that we should have our brief hour alone."

"And are you content with the hour?"

"It is better so. Should I stay on it would all come back. I think I shall return on the steamer Saturday. I—I am not as strong as I thought."

"May I go with you?" she asked softly as her hand slipped into his.

"Lucy!" The agony of his tones thrilled her.

"You silly boy," she whispered as the regal head bent toward him. "Don't you know that it was I who called you home? I could not find you save with my spirit and my love, and I have not called you in vain."

"But your husband," he stammered.

"He died two years ago," she said simply. "That was why I called you, dear. You answered to the voice of love."

Funny Toothache Cures.

Before the days of dentists and when people generally believed in the value of charms there were ever so many mysterious ways of preventing toothache. One of these was to dress the right side of the body first—right stocking, right shoe, right sleeve, right glove. A favorite plan in Scotland was to draw a tooth, salt it well and burn it in full view on glowing coals. In Cornwall many save their teeth by biting the first young ferns that appear.

The custom of catching a common ground mole, cutting off the paws while the little creature still lives and wearing them is traced to Staffordshire, England. Some people who are fond of exercise believe that walking twelve miles—no more, no less—to get a splinter of the toothache tree will drive away the worst ache and pain that ever tortured a poor tooth. The belief that toothache is caused by a worm at the roots is prevalent in many parts of the world; hence this cure: Reduce several different kinds of herbs—the greater variety the better—to a powder. Put a glowing cinder into this powder and inhale the incense. Afterward breathe into a cup of water and the worm will be gone forever.

Not His Province.

The New England ministers of early days were expected to preserve an aspect grave to the verge of solemnity on all occasions, not only on Sundays, but week days as well. If they possessed a sense of humor it sometimes made itself evident even in the midst of devotional exercises.

One New Hampshire parish was guarded and guided by a quaint speaking elderly man who had a slight limp. He was fond of outdoor work of almost every sort and was an able farmer as well as preacher, but all domestic matters he relegated to his wife.

One day the old traveling baker, seeing the minister at work in the field, drew rein, and when the jingling of his horse's bells had subsided he called out, "Any crackers wanted today, parson?"

The minister raised his head and surveyed the baker from under his shaggy eyebrows. No smile of greeting crossed his solemn face.

"Abraham in the field," he responded gravely. "Tharah (Sarah) in the tent," and without another word he resumed his hoeing and left the baker to digest his Biblical reproof and drive on to the house to find out if "Sarah" would buy any of his wares.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Oct. 7.—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Oct. 5 were 3887 cattle, 4317 sheep and lambs, 4404 hogs and 355 calves. Supplies on the market to-day consisted of 1825 cattle, 1500 sheep and lambs, 1525 hogs and 525 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the cattle situation as compared with that of a week ago. Supplies at this market were fully 200 head larger than last Monday, which naturally had a tendency to check any improvement in values; but, as the stock offered showed a larger percentage of good quality, there was no further depression in prices, as the demand was active from both local butchers and outside buyers, consequently a brisk trade was done, and only a few inferior beeves were left over at the close. There was also a good demand from packers, who bought about 300 head, for which they paid $3.25 to $3.50 for canners, $3.50 to $3.90 for bulls, and $2.25 to $2.75 for common stock, per 100 lbs. Cable advices from Liverpool on Saturday were firmer in tone and noted a slight improvement in prices for the best grades of cattle, but at the same time they reported trade slow, and, as exporters here evidently had sufficient stock on hand to fill their ocean space contracts, there was no demand from them for cattle. Choice beeves sold at 4¾c to 5c; good at 4c to 4¼c; fair at 3¾c to 3¾c, and common at 2½c to 3c per lb. The offerings of sheep and lambs were fairly large, but, as the demand for local and export account continues good, the undertone to the market remains steady and prices show no change from a week ago.

A fairly active trade was done, with sales of sheep at 4c to 4¼c, and lambs at 5½c to 5¾c per lb. There continues to be a good demand for calves, which are fairly plentiful for the season, and sales were made at $3 to $12 each, with some extra good ones selling as high as $15. There was no change in the condition of the market for hogs, but, according to private cable advices on Canadian bacon, which are claimed to be anything but encouraging by packers, the prospects are that prices for hogs must reach a lower level in the near future. However, the market was about steady this morning under a fair demand, and sales of selected lots were made at $6.25 to $6.50 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars.

4130. A PRETTY WASHABLE FROCK

The frocks for the little people do not lend so much to elaboration of design as in times past, but to fineness of fabric and exquisite development. Here is a simple dress for every day of "best" which is easily constructed and very pleasing. The lingerie fabrics are most used for such frocks, but a light weight cloth might serve as well. The simple round yoke and cuffs are of embroidery edged with a narrow frill of Valenciennes while the latter finishes the edge of the skirt. Tucks in front and gathers in front regulate the fulness and provide sufficient adornment for the body of the dress. If a party dress is desired, the sleeves may be in short puff and finished with a narrow band of insertion. For a cloth dress, braid would be the best adornment. The skirt may be finished with a ruffle or hem. For the medium size 2 yards of 36 inch material are needed.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. Had Good Time

"Surprise" Social Proved a Delightful Function

To the committee of St. John's A. Y.P.A. assembled in the gaily decorated school last night to bring off a "Surprise" Social, the rain storm was a "surprise" of a disconcerting nature. A greater surprise, however, awaited them, when sixty young folks assembled, in spite of the weather, and a right good time was spent.

From the opening piano duett, by the little boys, Cyril and Harold Devey, to the nicely served lunch, by Coleman Bros., there was not a dull moment—from 8.30 to 10 p.m.

Rev Canon Davidson welcomed the company and the programme prepared by Mrs. R. J. Devey and Miss Pratt was carried out. The vocal numbers given by Miss Pearl Morgan, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Baylies and Mr. G Chandler, were of a high order, and highly delighted the audience.

Mr. Chas. Coleman was in his element in a laughing song, as was Mr. Matt Drysdale, in a stump speech

During the evening Canon Davidson presented the tennis prizes to Mrs I. N. Barber and Mr W. Coleman who were heartily cheered on receiving them. Mr. R. J. Devey presided at the piano.

The next meeting of the Association is set for Oct. 21st, when Mr. C. Coleman and J. S. Bell will lead sides in a debate.

Poker Players Heavily Fined

A Fine of Sixty Dollars Imposed on Each—City Coffers Greatly Enriched

The seven citizens, who were found playing poker in the National Hotel Sunday morning were each fined $60 at a special session of the police court yesterday afternoon at four o'clock. The charge against them was for playing a game of chance, namely poker, on Sunday, Oct. 5th. Mr. G. W. Hatton appeared for the septette and pleaded guilty. He stated, that while within the meaning of the act, they were not guilty, to avoid publicity his clients pleaded guilty. His Worship then gave his decision. "The maximum fine for such an offence is one hundred dollars and the minimum is twenty dollars. Adding the two, and dividing the result makes the fine, sixty dollars," said His Worship.

Mr .Hatton thought that it was a very severe fine, but His Worship replied, "That it was 40 per cent. discount." The magistrate will consider within the next few days whether the sum of $113 found on the table in the room should be confiscated.

Horse and Cattle Market In Pretty Unhealthy Shape

Mr. Thos. Riley, Ennismore, Sells Horse for $60 After Being Offered $120 for it 3 Weeks Before—Horse Dealers Losing From $500 to $1000 on Carload of Horses--Cattle Market Also in Bad Condition

Three weeks ago, Mr. Thos. Riley, Ennismore, sold a horse to Mr. J. Duncan, of the firm of Duncan Bros. horse buyers for $120. As is often the case in horse buying the horse was not delivered to the purchaser at the time the agreement for its sale was made, but Mr. Duncan gave the owner of the horse $5 forfeit money. Since this time he gave the money to Mr. Riley, he thought better of the deal. However, and forfeited the $5 rather than buy the horse at the price at which he had first intended to pay for it. Yesterday Mr. Duncan gave Mr. Riley $60 for the same horse, just half the price for which he was going to sell it at first.

"He seemed more pleased at getting $60 than he did $120 in the first place," said Mr. Duncan "The horse market is in the worst shape it has been for years, both from the buyer's and seller's standpoints. The price of feed is so high that horse owners all over the country are anxious to sell and many horses that formerly would have brought a small price, anyway, will be killed this winter for the hides. On the more recent carloads shipped to Toronto, the buyers have lost from $500 to $1,000 a load."

"How is the cattle market?"

"It is just about as bad," he remarked. "About two weeks ago, Mr. H. Howden sold seven steers, averaging about 800 lbs. each for 2 cents a pound. The depression in the cattle market, as well as that in the horse market, is the greatest for a long time."

"Talking about the price of hay," said Mr. Duncan, "Burn's and Chappard's Repository, Toronto, has offered to take 600 tons of hay and give $22.50 a ton for it, all charges prepaid. This may seem a big figure, but it is right for they approached me with a view of buying hay for them."

Chairman of Board of Health Cannot be Paid

Cannot be Remunerated For His Services—Board of Health Held Short Session This Morning.

"You'd pay a laborer more than that for for digging in a sewer" said Chairman Eyres at the meeting of the Board of Health this morning when an objection was raised to the payment of a bill for $2.25, which the had put in as remuneration for a day spent at Stony Lake looking after the interests of the Board.

It appears that the chairman was instructed by the board to go to Stony Lake and make an investigation in connection with the outbreak of typhoid fever there. He went and this morning when the Board met he handed in a bill for $2.25 for remuneration for the day's service in addition to a smaller amount for expenses Mr. Eyres said he considered he was entitled to the $2.25 as his time was worth more than that per day, and further he had spent a great deal of time looking after the work of the Board and had not received a cent for it.

"When the Board sends me out of the city for a day," said the chairman, "I'm entitled to be paid for my time."

Mayor McWilliams said that while he had no doubt that Mr. Eyres' time was worth more than $2.25 per day, it would not be regular to pay him for his services. Many of the aldermen, particularly the chairman of the Board of Works, spent a great deal of time working for the city and received nothing for it. It was not legal to pay them under the present municipal constitution. If there was a paid commission governing the city it would be different.

"Do as you like with it," said Mr. Eyres, "I leave it to the Board."

Dr. McNulty said it would be establishing a precedent to pay Mr. Eyres and this was the opinion that prevailed among the other members. As a result Mr. Eyres will only be reimbursed for his expenses.

Those present at the meeting were Chairman Eyres, Dr. McNulty, Mr. R. Neill, Mayor McWilliams, Medical Health Officer, Dr. Bingham, and Sanitary Inspector Ball.

The passing of a few accounts was about the only business transacted. There are several important matters on the slate, but it was decided to leave them over until there was a more largely attended meeting.

The Mayor asked what had been done as to having all premises within the area specified in the by-law passed by the Council at the request of the Board of Health. He understood that the time set for this work to be completed in was September 1st.

Inspector Ball said the work was being done as quickly as possible, but that in some cases it was being held back owing to the people not being able to secure plumbers.

Mr. Ball was asked to have a report at the next meeting of the Board showing just how the work stood.

The Board adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman, and will meet again this week.

Was Convicted on Two Charges

Judgment in Case of National Hotel Reserved for a Week

On two charges, one of selling liquor after hours and the other of keeping a gaming house, violations of the liquor license act, J. A. Lawless, proprietor of the National hotel, was convicted this morning at the police court. Judgment in both cases was reserved for one week.

Mr. J. E. Hallerson, K.C., of Toronto, appeared for the defendant, and Mr. W. H. Moore conducted the prosecution.

A large crowd of interested ones were listeners throughout the proceedings, which were not over until 1.30.

Just before the Court commenced two officers each bearing a tray with several empty beer bottles and tumblers, trophies of the raid, walked in the court room, amid much laughter from the crowd. The seven citizens found in the room were in court and, as their names were called out, they went into the Council chamber where they remained until called upon. However, they were not put in the box as the defendant on the second charge pleaded guilty, and no witnesses were called.

LIQUOR CASE.

License Inspector Jos. Stewart was the first witness called in the liquor case. He stated that he was at the National hotel from 12.20 Sunday morning until nearly 3 o'clock. Police Constables Newhall and McHarry were with him. Part of the time witness was standing on the steps of the bar door and sometimes he was on the opposite side of the street. About 1.30 o'clock the bar was lit up and he saw one of the bartenders carry out several bottles; what was in them he did not know. When on the opposite side of the street he could see a lighted room just above the bar. He could hear the rattle of the bottles, the shuffle of the cards and could see one or two of the inmates. He saw the bar lit up again and the manager was counting some money.

CRAWLED THROUGH A CELLAR WINDOW.

When witness was questioned as to how he gained admittance he declined to answer unless the court ruled that he should. His Worship said that there was no reason why he should not tell. The witness said there was a coal window into the cellar, near the outside bar door, and it was through this that he crawled, in order to get to the main floor. He was followed by P.C. Newhall. Some one had been downstairs and they concealed themselves until the rascals the room and then they went up the back stairs along to the room where the drink was being consumed. The inspector tried the door but it was locked. He tapped gently on it. A voice from inside asked "who is there?" The inspector replied "a friend." The door was opened and the officers entered. There were only six men in the room at the time, but the other one returned while the officers were there. There were two trays on each of which there were about six bottles of Pabst Blue Ribbon lager. There was considerable money on the table, some of which was grabbed by one of the inmates, and $113 was taken by the inspector.

P.C. NEWHALL.

P.C. Newhall was the next witness. His evidence was pretty much the same as that of Inspector Stewart. He stated that one of the inmates exclaimed "Well you have caught us and good and squarely too. He stated that he had learned the pass word of this bunch, but when Mr. Haverson asked them to tell it he refused.

P.C. McHarry also gave evidence along the same lines as the inspector.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

The defence did not put in any evidence and upon what was given His Worship found the defendant guilty. Mr. Lawless was previously convicted and fined in August 1905 for a breach of the liquor act. Mr. Haverson did not admit this conviction and Police Court Clerk Armstrong and Inspector Stewart were put on the box to prove it. Mr. Haverson argued that his client should have been first asked if he would admit it. He had not been asked and Mr. Haverson stated that it should not be taken into consideration with the present one. His Worship stated that he would take a week to consider the matter and next Tuesday would give his judgment in both the liquor case and the case of keeping a gaming house.

POSTMEN ARE HANDICAPPED

By Citizens Not Having Receptacles for Their Mail

The city postmen are having troubles of their own as a result of citizens not having letter boxes or providing a receptacle of some kind for their mail. Frequently the postman calls at a house and finds the door locked. There is no place to put the mail and so he has to take the mail along with him and keep it until the next delivery. In other cases he has to wait several minutes at a door before his ring his answered and as the postman's time is valuable he is put to much inconvenience.

Every householder should have a letter box or a slit in the door where the letters could be dropped in. The cost of doing this would be small and there is no reason why it should not be done.

The postmen are industrious and anxious to give satisfaction and it is to be regretted if the negligence of citizens in not providing letter boxes is going to handicap their work.

Fair Has Tidy Sum to Credit

Surplus of $100 After Paying all Expenses

After paying out all prize money and meeting all expenses the Peterborough Industrial Fair will have a surplus of about $100. Considering the fact that the receipts were practically all taken in on one day this is highly creditable. The $100 will make a nice nest egg for next year's show.

Hallelujah Nuptial Event at the S. A. Barracks

A Hallelujah wedding will be celebrated at the Salvation Army barracks this evening at eight o'clock when two soldiers will plight their troth. The groomsman is Mr. Arthur Gooch of Toronto, and the bride, Miss Ethel Fisk of that city, formerly of Peterborough.

Mr. Gooch is a well known bandsman, being a member of Lippincott's street band of Toronto, while his bride is a popular young lady, and devoted worker in the Army.

There is $1,000 Yet to Raise

Will it be Done To-day in the Y.M.C.A. Campaign?

To the Editor of the Review:

Sir.—The Six Day Campaign, for —$1806 in subscriptions from citizens to meet the Y.M.C.A. budget to December 31st, 1907, closes this evening with the banquet at the building.

If the campaign is to succeed about $1,000 will have to be raised before this evening. It looks like a huge task, yet I believe the citizens of Peterborough will respond, and put the work on a good financial basis.

The annual budget is much smaller than other Associations with the same kind of a building and work.

Many citizens have not been seen personally by the committee and all such are asked to send in word, by phone or message, to say what they would like to do.

Even now the victory can be attained and the needed amount raised.

I consider the citizens of Peterborough can make no more satisfactory endorsement of my ten and a half years of service, than by enabling the Citizens' and Young Men's Committees, to report all the money pledged.

Thanking you for your co-operation and interest in the past,

Yours faithfully,
GEO. H. WILLIAMSON,
Gen.-Sec'y.

SLEEP AND DEATH.

Neither Pain Nor Consciousness at the Instant of Either.

The phenomenon called sleep may be summed up in the following propositions, says a writer in the Cosmopolitan:

First—Sleep is temporary death of the functions of the sensitive system, due to exhaustion by fatigue.

Secondly—This death is temporary because the vital system continues to perform its functions during sleep and restores the sensitive organs to their normal condition.

For our purpose death may be considered under the three heads—natural death, sudden death and death from disease. Natural death is death from old age. It differs from natural sleep only in degree.

The gradual loss of sensibility by the sensitive organs which precedes sleep now takes place in the vital system, and all the organs pass into permanent sleep together. There can be no pain preceding or at the moment of such a death, any more than there is pain preceding or at the moment of passing into temporary sleep.

Sudden death may be defined as death due to a sudden injury from without or within the body sufficient to destroy at once all irritability of both the sensitive and vital systems. It requires no argument to prove that a person who is suddenly stricken dead can suffer no pain. The element of time must be present in order to suffer physical pain, and in the sudden death of a person the element of time is absent.

We come now to consider the third and by far the most frequent form of death—namely, death from disease.

As soon as disease is established dying begins, which is but a more rapid than natural ceasing of all sensibilities, accompanied with more or less suffering, according to the cause which produces it. This dying and suffering, called disease, must terminate either in so called death, which is insensibility to it, or in recovery, which is removal of the cause of it. But in any event the suffering has been endured, no matter whether the final termination is death or recovery.

No one is conscious of or can recall the moment he passes from waking into natural or temporary sleep. Nor shall we, by a "supreme agony" or in any other way, be conscious of passing into permanent sleep.

Being born and dying are the two most important physiological events in the life history of our bodies, and we shall know no more about the latter event at the time it occurs than we did about the former.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Few men have courage enough to be timid and admit it.

You can't correct a mistake by telling how hard you tried.

Opportunity rarely comes to the man who spends all his time waiting for it.

Nearly every one imagines he is getting more than his share of hard knocks.

Content is like your eyes, nose or any other feature—to have it you must be born with it.

Until they come most any man will tell you how he would get the upper hand of burglars.

After a woman succeeds in getting her husband afraid of her she never can hope to get him in love with her.

A man may think he knows more than a doctor, but he is apt to listen when a lawyer tells him he needs a change of climate.

Most Prized Austrian Decoration.

The most prized decoration in Austria corresponds to the British Victoria cross, and its value arises from the rigorous conditions for obtaining it and the fidelity with which they have been observed. It is known as the Maria Theresa cross. "It shall be an inviolable rule," says the foundation statute, "that no person, whoever he may be, shall be admitted to the order for any other consideration than long service or wounds received before the enemy and not for any reasons of birth, favor or influence." "We ourselves join hands on this subject," adds the empress founder. The recipients of the cross are ennobled ipso facto.

No Sentiment.

Edith's Papa—And so you love my daughter? Edith's Admirer—I do indeed, sir. I cannot tell you how much I love her. Do you know what it is to see a single face everywhere, to hear a single voice ever sounding in your ears, to be possessed by the one idea, to feel all the time that the one presence is before you— Edith's Papa—No, young man, I have never had any of those feelings since I signed the pledge.

Prepared.

"Johnny, where have you been? Your hair is suspiciously wet. School was out two hours ago."

"I fell in the creek."

"But your clothes are not wet."

"Well, you see, mamma, while I was standin' on the bridge I thought maybe I'd fall in, so I took off my clothes, an' I did."—Life.

Buying Everything.

"Wealth won't buy everything," said the philosopher.

"That's what I tell mother and the girls," answered Mr. Cumrox, "but it looks as if they were going to keep on trying as long as the checkbook holds out."

Still Green.

Teddy brought a green caterpillar in from the garden one day, and, showing it to his mother, he exclaimed, "I've got a big worm, mamma, but he ain't ripe yet."—St. Louis Republic.

Mrs. Morrow Will Go to New York

One the Most Successful Musicians and Teachers of Peterborough to Leave City

Mrs. W. J. Morrow, widely known in Peterborough and the surrounding community, as a teacher of vocal art and pianoforte, leaves for New York tomorrow and will open a studio in the American metropolis. She will be accompanied by her husband and two sons, Vincent and Joseph. When Mrs. Morrow was at Cliff Haven, New York state, last summer delivering lectures on vocal art she made a very favorable impression on those who heard her lectures and had the opportunity of hearing her sing and play, and they advised her to take up her profession in New York. She has had the matter under consideration for some time and will be greeted by a large class of pupils when she arrives there. Those who are familiar with Mrs. Morrow's accomplishments as a brilliant musician and thoroughly informed and sympathetic teacher, have no doubt that she will have a large and successful class in New York. She has taught in Peterborough for the last eighteen years, giving instruction in voice culture, pianoforte, theory, rudiments of music, and other branches, involved in a complete musical education. She is a Fellow of the National College of Music, London, Eng., and a brilliant graduate from that college. She is also a pupil of Professor Augustus Alfred North of London, England, who has gained great recognition in musical circles by being author of that valuable work, "Voicometric Revelation in the Discovery of the Human Voice," and is highly spoken of by Prof. North. Since returning from her recent studies, abroad, Mrs. Morrow has been director of the Peterborough College of Music.

During her long residence in Peterborough, she has always stood for the highest in art and music, and has been favored with an exceptionally large class of pupils, many of whom, under her painstaking tuition have developed into accomplished and finished vocalists and pianists. She has been heard many times on the concert stage in Peterborough and has been given most cordial and encouraging receptions on the occasion of all her appearances. Many of her pupils have also become favorably known for their excellent work in this same sphere. Mrs. Morrow's withdrawal from this city will be sincerely regretted in the several circles in which she was held in the highest esteem and musical Peterborough, particularly, will suffer a severe loss when she leaves for New York. Her numerous friends and admirers hope that the greatest of success may attend her in her efforts in her new field of work.

6959.—A PIQUANT SHIRT WAIST.

The manish shirt waist is one of the favored modes this season, and a charming sample is here pictured. It has the centre front closing that is a feature of the new type of shirt waist, while the fulness of the front portions is disposed in groups of small tucks separated by wide single tucks. The back is seamless and quite plain, and the well-fitting sleeve is of the approved masculine shirt sleeve order. Any style of collar and belt may be worn with the waist, which is here made of a navy blue taffeta, though it is suitable for development in foulard, cashmere or French flannel, or in linen if a tub fabric is preferred. For the medium size 3 5-8 yards of 27 inch goods will be necessary.

6959—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

More New Docks Formally Opened on the Route of Trent Waterway

Wharves at Hale's Bridge, on the Otonabee and at Hall's Landing, on Rice Lake, Have Been Completed—Several Visitors Present in Connection With the Ceremony—The Importance of the Trent Canal to Peterborough and District.

More new Government docks on the Trent canal system were formally opened yesterday. The weather was ideal, the circumstances most happy, and the said enjoyable.

On the invitation of Supt. J. Harris McClellan, a party of gentlemen left on the steamer Sovereign at ten o'clock and shortly after eleven o'clock, the new wharf at Hale's bridge was reached. Here a party of Millbrook gentlemen were taken on board, and the dock on the Otonabee side of the stream was formally and duly declared open. The objective point for dinner was Gore's Landing and this spot was reached about one o'clock, where an excellent dinner was enjoyed. The Sovereign then made its way across the lake to Hall's Landing which is a couple of miles south of Bemafort post office, where considerable grain and live stock are shipped. Here a new wharf has been built. It was stated that it was not wide enough for farmers with teams to drive on and off. Some of the speakers explained that next year it would be widened as desired, and there would be no further cause for complaint.

Mr T. F. Matthews was elected chairman and briefly stated the object of the gathering.

Reeve Fisher, of South Monaghan was the first speaker. He welcomed the visitors to South Monaghan. "Our wharf," he added, "is not what we would like it to be. It is however better than none, and will probably be fixed when the government gets more money. We cannot either drive or back horses on the wharf, in its present state. This wharf is not intended for passengers, but principally loads of grain. Gentlemen, I again welcome you to our township."

Mr W. H. Meldrum said he was pleased to pay a visit to this end of the lake. He would like to see a wider wharf. Peterborough was prepared to buy all the grain that might be shipped and pay good prices for it. The Government was doing a good work in building so many wharves. "I am sorry," concluded Mr. Meldrum, "that the wharf does not please Reeve Fisher, but the Government may have more money next year to make it satisfactory to the farmers of this neighborhood. The canal superintendent has done all in his power to please the people."

Mr W. S. Given, reeve of Millbrook, expressed his pleasure at being present. The Government was to be commended for taking an interest in the transportation of grain of the farmers. It was not a political dodge, but a great convenience. He hoped that next year the approaches to the dock would be made a little wider.

Mr W. S. Davidson explained the absence of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., who had been called to British Columbia on Saturday on most urgent business. He was sorry the wharf was not as wide as they would like. "Anyway," concluded Mr. Davidson, "you have got the wharf, and you never had it before, and perhaps if you send Mr. Hall back to parliament and give him another chance, he will build it a little wider."

Mr. J. R. Stratton said, at the request of Mr. Hall, M.P., who was called away to the west, he was here today. "Mr. Hall," he continued, "asked me to represent him on the present occasion, and I am glad to have the privilege of doing so." He was glad to see the improvement in the transportation and communication of the people of Canada. He believed a certain proportion of the public moneys should be expended in local works, which were of as great importance to certain communities as larger works were to the people as a whole. This dock was to have been built next year, there was no appropriation for the work this year, and it was in consequence of yielding to the general anxiety to have it done, that certain other expenditures had been refused and this undertaken. It was not the intention of the government to leave the dock in its present state. It would be widened so that mows could come up and load at the sides, while a boat would be able to come up at the end. It would be time to find fault when the work was completed. Last year some $102,000 had been set aside by the government for works for the better means of transportation along the canal. Now wharves had been built at Wallace's Point, Smithman's, at the end of the street railway line in Peterborough, and at various points in Stony Lake. The people do not sufficiently appreciate the waters tributary to Peterborough, and importance of the works that have been completed. More money had been spent on the Trent canal in the last ten years than in all the time between that and Confederation. Channels and locks were now being made for the completion of the work and tenders would soon be called for the construction of the remaining sections. It was believed that the southern and northern outlets of the canal would be completed in two or three years.

Supt. J. H. McClellan said that he did not come to make a speech, he had brought those around down today to show them Rice Lake and the new docks. About 160 miles of the Trent Canal had so far been completed. This stretch ran through ten constituencies, and it was pretty difficult to satisfy all. He said that Peterborough got its full share of all that was going. Appropriation had been made for a new dock at Lakefield. It had not yet been built. Everything could not be carried out at once, as labor was scarce and wages high. The present dock at Hall's Landing was not what they intended it to be. It would be widened and made satisfactory to all.

Mr A. P. Poussette said that the superintendent of the canal was to be commended for the work he had carried out. This dock would be a great convenience to the people of South Monaghan and afford them facilities for shipping their produce to Peterborough, which was known to have the best market in the Dominion. In five years he believed the Trent canal would be completed, and transportation enjoyed from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario. He congratulated the farmers present on living on the shores of Rice Lake, one of the most beautiful sheets of water in the world, with scenery unsurpassed. They were the proud possessors of rich farms and good homes and would doubtless appreciate the convenience of the new dock and the improved transportation system.

Short congratulatory addresses were also delivered by His Honor Judge Weller., Mr. R. E. Wood, a South Monaghan boy; Mr. V. Eastwood, Mr. Richard Hall, Peterborough, Mr. J. C. Kells, of Millbrook, and others, after which the gathering broke up with cheers for the King. Supt. McClellan and others.

The return trip was then started, and the voyage made in good time. The street railway wharf was reached shortly before seven o'clock. The day was greatly enjoyed by all those on board and the outing will long be remembered as a very happy one.

Among those on board the Sovereign were Messrs. J. R. Stratton, Richard Hall, J. J. Lundy, W. H. Meldrum, A H Stratton, Dr Eastwood, Dr. McNulty, Dickson Davidson, W S Davidson, E S Cherry, Judge Weller, Dr. Halliday, A P Poussette, W J McCallum, R E Wood, T F Matthews, Dr. Bradd, F R Yokome, H LeBrun, V Eastwood, W T Hall, Milne Hamilton, J H McClellan, S Clegg, C Gordon, Peterborough. WEDDING BELLS

FLETCHER—SEABROOK

A pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, at the residence of Mr. Samuel Seabrook, Otonabee, when his daughter, Miss Phoebe, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh Fletcher, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Pastor Steuernagel, of Bethany Tabernacle, in the presence of only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jennie Seabrook, while the groom was ably supported by Mr. Benjamin Keith. After the ceremony hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the bride and groom and a sumptuous repast partaken of.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher left on the 4.48 train for Toronto, where they will in future reside.

Board of Trade Meets To-night

Present Mode of Assessment Will be Discussed

The Board of Trade will hold an important meeting in the City Council chamber this evening, at which the president, Dr. M. A. Morrison, requests a large attendance. Every citizen, every business man, every manufacturer, and every member of the Board is earnestly invited to attend. This will be the first meeting since the holidays and, as the subject—the present mode of assessment—is to be considered, every one should be present. This is a question which interests all property holders. Come prepared to take part in the discussion. Whether it is advisable to continue the present system, having two assessors, or to appoint an assessment commission to do the work as is done in the larger cities will be fully gone into and discussed. Remember the meeting tonight.

Six Day Campaign Closes To-night

Every Member of the Committee Should be at Banquet To-night.

The Six Day Campaign closes tonight at 6.30 o'clock.

Phone the Association tonight if you have not been called upon to say how much you will give.

There was a good interest at the tea last evening, although it did rain.

Let there be showers of pledges and cash before tonight shall close.

Every member of the committee should be at the banquet at 6.30 tonight to mark the close of the campaign. It is being provided by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Association, and will be the best gathering yet.

May it be a time of rejoicing—because the campaign succeeds.

Hon. Mr. Graham Cannot Come

Lack of Time Makes it Impossible for Him to Visit Peterborough

Hon. Geo P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, who was invited to come to Peterborough by the City Council cannot come. He was asked to spend a day in this city and look over the Trent canal.

At last night's meeting of the Committee of the Whole, a letter was read from Mr. Graham stating that at the present time, he had one hundred minutes work for each hour and that it would be impossible for him to come to Peterborough. He further stated that the near approach of the session and the fact that he had to take a trip to the Maritime provinces made it out of the question to lose even a day.

LADY RECOVERS HER LOST PUSE

Mrs. Chas. Scriver, of this city, who lost a purse, containing sixteen dollars one day last week, may have same by calling at the police station where it was brought today. The gentleman who found the purse saw the lost advertisement in the Review and at once sought an owner for it. Mrs. Scriver will no doubt be greatly pleased to get it. It pays to advertise.

St. Catharines' population, according to the assessor's rolls is 12,822.

Council Has no Responsibility

Does Not Control the Assessors —High Assessment is Again Discussed

The City Council had another round at the assessment question last night when it was again brought out that the only thing they could do was to do nothing. There were various expressions of opinion, as to how the assessment should be done, but nothing came of it, but the discussion.

Ald. Elliott, introduced the matter, saying that during the past few days he had been met by numerous ratepayers, who claimed that they were over assessed, and told that the assessors had been authorized by the city council to put up the assessment. The alderman denied the charge, stating that he never heard any word to that effect in the City Council.

Ald. Phelps and Ald. McIntyre agreed with Ald. Elliott, and denied ever having spoken to the assessors regarding the matter.

The mayor also spoke on similar lines and added that he had learned from Mr. McKee that this gentleman was assessing what he believed was right under the new assessment act, and that the figures at which he was placing the assessment, were near the actual values. The city council, the mayor pointed out, had nothing to do with the assessors, except their appointment.

Ald. Elliott said the growth of the city had been steady and not of the boom variety, and that he could not understand the big advances that had been made.

Ald. Morgan said Mr. McKee was putting up the assessment of the small ratepayer, the houses of mechanics and others of this class and was not putting up the assessment of the larger ratepayers to a corresponding extent.

"I wish you could see the way mine has been raised," said Ald. Bradburn.

Ald. Morgan went on to specify several cases where the assessment was higher than the price at which the owners were willing to sell the property.

Ald. Elliott said it would be better to have a lower assessment and a higher rate.

The mayor said the law called for an assessment close to actual values.

YIELDING TO DIVINE WILL

Rev. Canon Davidson Gives Advice That Can be Followed in Daily Life

Rev. Canon J. C. Davidson, in his sermon Sunday morning gave his hearers some good advice to follow in their daily lives.

He took his text from Romans 6-13. The Collect for the day, a special prayer which is used by all Christian throughout the world, is one which will assist us in ruling our hearts. At this season of the year we think what shall we do? We look forward to that feature which is ours, even with a desire to do that which is right, we doubt sometimes whether we can attain to that degree of righteousness which we should. In the power of faith no matter what the difficulties may be in the future, we may go forward to our end. We can throw ourselves upon Him who is always ready to assist us. There is only thing we are expected to do and that is to "yield," without our attempting to help ourselves, and yield ourselves to this working of God's Holy Spirit. If we place ourselves in the hands of God, it will be wonderful what He will enable us to do to help ourselves. He will enable us to step out among the temptations of this world and come out victorious. It is to us of the Church of England to yield ourselves and place ourselves where He can use us, and the Church will advance. If there is one opportunity which comes to us, it comes when we take part in a service like this that will enable us to follow Him and to do His will. King Hezikiah saw this in 2nd Chronicles when he said to his people "Yield yourselves." "Be not stiff necked." This brethren is the message for us in this communion service, which the King Hezekiah has given us, and which has been repeated by St. Paul and will help us to become as little children, and do the will of our Father which is in Heaven.

ADDRESSED THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

Rev. H. J. Keith Gave Lecture on India at George St. Church

Only a fair representation of the George street church Epworth League was present last evening at their meeting. The disagreeable weather prevented many from attending. Mr. Albert Gray acted as chairman, and after the opening exercises, introduced Rev. Mr. Keith, who gave an interesting address on "India." He spoke of the encouragements and discouragements connected with his work, and also related many interesting incidents. A number of the Indian idols were shown.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks was tendered Rev. Mr. Keith. Mr. Garnet Galley made the motion, and Rev. Mr. Pearson seconded it.

Mrs. Ella Jane Inkseter, of Hamilton, died yesterday.

THE BROCKVILLE BYE-ELECTION

The Conservative party has scored a signal victory in the Brockville bye-election, which took place yesterday.

Mr. A. E. Donovan was the Conservative Standard bearer, and he defeated Mr. Lewis, the Liberal candidate, by a substantial majority.

As is well known, the vacancy was created by the selection of the late member, Hon. George P. Graham, for a place in the Federal Cabinet. The Conservatives generously permitted Mr. Graham to be elected by acclamation, but the Liberals, when it came to the matter of returning the compliment, and allowing a representative to the Ontario Legislature to go in unopposed, declined to do so, and nominated Mr. Lewis, a lawyer, to carry their standard. Mr Donovan on behalf of the Conservative interest, practically fought the battle alone and put up a splendid fight, which has been crowned with success. Mr. Lewis was assisted by Mr Dan Derbyshire, ex-M.P., who resigned his seat in the Federal House to make way for Mr. Graham, and by a host of others, including the Hon. A. G. MacKay, the new Liberal leader, and by Mr. Graham himself, who left no stone unturned to ensure the return of his man. They conducted a campaign of gross misrepresentation, while Mr. Donovan dodged no issues at all. He met every question fairly, squarely and firmly.

Brockville electors have spoken, and their voice proclaims in no uncertain tone, that the constituency endorses the wise, progressive and honest administration of Hon. J. P. Whitney, who promised, on his accession to power nearly three years ago, to give the people of Ontario no cause for regret or apology for turning out the time-serving and pledge-breaking Ross Government, and ushering in a better and higher order of things.

Mr. Donovan, the newly elected M.P.P. for Brockville, is an honorable and upright gentleman, the hero of many a political contest, and in every way deserves the success which has capped his energetically conducted campaign.

All honor to Mr. Donovan and the Conservatives of Brockville on redeeming the riding and lining up on the side of clean, sound and progressive government.

WORK FOR THE WINTER

It is gratifying to learn that there will not be much anxiety about work in Canada during the coming winter and that about 40,000 men will be employed on various sections of the Transcontinental Railway.

The Canadian winters of late years have been long and trying and have proved a hardship to a number of people. It was feared in some quarters that owing to the threatened stringency of the times, the problem of no work would be a little more acute than ever.

An Ottawa despatch, however, conveys a different impression and conveys the information that the National Transcontinental Railway says that work of construction is to be vigorously pushed during the coming winter. There need be no anxiety about the unemployed for the winter months.

On The 600 miles of the National Transcontinental Railway under contract between Winnipeg and Moncton it is estimated that over 18,000 men are now at work. The average wage for ordinary labor is from $2 to $2.25 per day, while experienced or skilled men get from $2.75 to $3 per day. The monthly pay roll on this Government section alone of this new Transcontinental, is now considerably over one million dollars. On the Grand Trunk Pacific sections of the road from Winnipeg west, and employed generally on railway construction work in the west, it is estimated that another army of 20,000 men is engaged.

In the lumbering industry, whence comes another large demand for labor during the winter months reports to the labor department state that wages for shantymen show 15 to 25 per cent increase over last year, and are now at record figures. Winter wages are offered at from $28 to $32 for road cutters, while teamsters, choppers and sawyers are given $35 and general hands $34. Hands are not easily available even at these figures.

PEN POINTS

Brockville is all right.

Three cheers, and lusty ones, too, for Brockville.

How do you like your assessment? Is it high enough?

A pertinent query—How high will the price of milk soar this winter.

Hon. A. G. MacKay, the Opposition leader, is a little out of sorts today.

Just wait until the Court of Revision sits and there will be something doing every minute.

The Liberals of Brockville have been routed. Wonder how Hon. George P. Graham is feeling today.

Now, what is the harm in playing a little game of poker when the furnace fire needs constant attention during the cold weather.

Is there a coal combine? It, at any rate seems to take about all the money a man can combine, to buy a ton of the dusky diamonds.

Attend the Board of Trade meeting this evening. The question of the mode of assessment is an important one and will be fully considered.

Have you sent in your contribution to the Y.M.C.A.? If not, do so before this evening, and help to crown the six day campaign, which closes tonight, with success.

Help along the Canadian Club movement. It is a worthy organization, and the meeting in the City Council Chamber tomorrow evening should be largely attended.

Let us have a little game,
Win or lose, just the same;
If the police should happen to call,
Gather in the cash and all;
Out of the windows we will crawl,
And take to the timbers tall.

Are you in favor of the present mode of assessment or do you think that the work should be carried out under the direction of an assessment commission? Turn out at the Board of Trade meeting this evening, and give the public the benefit of your views on the question.

The Ministerial Association has reorganized and has elected a new president, Rev. J. R. Webb, who will well and worthily fill the position. The Review congratulates the esteemed pastor of Murray street church on his election to the important position.

A Baltimore man tells of an address made to some school children in that city by a member of the Board of Trustees. "My young friends," said the speaker, "let me urge upon you the necessity of not only reading good books, but also of owning them, so that you may have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a young man, I used frequently to work all night to save money to buy books, and then frequently get up before daylight to read them."

I consulted doctors, but got no relief. A lady friend who saw my sad plight recommended Zam-Buk. I procured a supply and within a few weeks from commencing with Zam-Buk my skin was as smooth and white as before the dread eczema came to trouble me. I can hardly find words to express my gratitude for the wonderful cure made by Zam-Buk.

Canada Should Not Fear The Japanese Invasion

This is the Opinion of Mr. M. Tusboi, a Japanese Gentleman, in City on Business Visit—Thinks American-Japanese Trouble Will be Peaceably Adjusted—An Interview With Interesting Visitor

Mr. Y. Tsuboi, a Japanese traveller, who is in the city representing the Japan Trading Company, 301 St. James street, Montreal, gave an interesting interview when seen yesterday afternoon at the Oriental by The Review.

Mr. Tsuboi will be here for a few days in the interest of this firm and is calling on local merchants with a view of securing orders for chinaware, lacquerado work, hand painted screens, crockery of different varieties, and other lines of goods dealt in by his company. Like the better educated Japanese gentlemen, he has a good command of the English language and is an entertaining and lucid talker. He is on a business trip throughout Ontario that will last about a month. There are three other Japanese travellers in the employ of this firm, which imports direct from Japan, and they are at present covering Quebec and the Maritime provinces. The Japan Trading Company is a young firm and has only been established about a year. Mr. Tsuboi says, however, that the house is doing a good business and states that his visit to Ontario, which is his first one, has been productive of satisfactory results.

THE CRISIS IN THE STATES

Mr. Tsuboi thinks the strained relations between America and Japan which originated on the western coast, had their source in the misunderstanding of the Orientals by some of the more ignorant class of Americans.

"I think the trouble will be amicably settled by diplomatic measures," he said, "and feel quite certain that there will be no warfare."

SHOULD NOT FEAR JAP INVASION

He did not think that Canadians should fear the industrial invasion of the Japanese and said that a large number of them would become useful residents of Canada as they appreciate the many advantages offered in this country. He said that although the Japanese laborer's scale of wages for manual labor is somewhat lower than that asked for by Canadian workmen similarly engaged, they nevertheless performed their duties satisfactorily and were peaceable and law abiding people.

"With so much work being done in the west," he remarked, "and with the resources of the country being opened up, it seems really necessary to have imported labor of some kind to carry on the operations."

IS A DRAUGHTSMAN.

Mr. Tsuboi has been in Canada for four years, coming originally from Nagoya, Japan, where he received a first class education. He was in the employ of the Canada Foundry Company as an architectural draughtsman for 3 years and a year ago relinquished his position with that firm to become identified with his present line of work. He has an elder brother, Mr. M. Tsuboi, who is taking an architectural course in the University of Pennsylvania.

From the nature of his educational acquirements he is naturally interested in anything in the mechanical or engineering sphere and was much impressed with the lift lock to which he paid a visit. He considers it a marvel of mechanical ingenuity and is going to send some picture post cards of the lock to his home in far off Japan. He also endeavored to secure admittance to the Canadian General Works, but as a stringent rule is enforced by the officials of that concern prohibiting the inspection of the plant by visitors who have no business to transact he was unable to see through the premises.

Who's Going to Make Those Beds at the New Fire Hall

Committee of the Whole Discusses the Problem and Decides on no Change for the Present—Many Other Matters Dealt With.

Whether the beds at the fire hall shall be made by the fire hall drivers, Engineer Wainwright, or Janitor Wilson, of the city buildings, was the problem that the committee of the whole council wrestled with for a half hour last night, when it was decided to leave the matter in 'statu quo," until a joint meeting of the Property and Fire, Water and Light Committee settles the question definitely. This matter has been up several times and the discussion on each occasion has been voluminous. It may be stated that at present the Parnell boys receive $50 each for making the beds at the fire hall, while Mr. Wainwright receives $120 for making the fires at the fire hall and the city buildings.

Those present were Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Duncan, Elliott, McIntyre, Morgan, Johnson, Phelan, Tovey, Bradburn, Stevenson, and City Clerk Armstrong.

STREET EXTENSIONS.

Some matters in connection with the further extension of Prince street to George street was referred to the Board of Works to report on at the next meeting of the Council. The Board of Works was also asked to report on the opening of Westcott street to Lock street.

Ald. Bradburn, speaking in connect on with private individuals having the right to open streets wherever the liked on their property, said that a change should be made in this respect. He referred to conditions in the west end, where St. Joseph's street, Bab's Lane, and others between Sherbrooke and Weller were all out of line. He thought it was ridiculous that the city should have to accept streets opened in this manner.

The Mayor pointed out that according to the present law, there was nothing else that could be done.

Ald. Tovey agreed with Ald. Bradburn, and referred to other instances where similar conditions existed as those referred to by Ald. Bradburn.

MR. CARVETH'S CLAIM.

It was moved by Ald. Elliott, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that Mr. Carveth be rebated for one-half the amount charged against him in connection with the insurance on the new fire ehall. The motion failed to carry on the casting vote of the Mayor.

WHO'LL MAKE THE BEDS.

The Mayor brought up the question of the duties of the janitor of the city buildings and the making of the beds at the fire hall. He stated that the Property Committee had decided that the janitor should make the beds at the fire hall at the beginning of the present quarter, which commenced Oct. 1st, and that the firemen no longer have the duty of making the beds. The chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee had not agreed with this, and the question was again opened.

Ald. Johnston said he thought that the Fire, Water and Light Committee should have been consulted in the matter. Everything was running smoothly at the fire hall and he did not think that any change should have been made, at least till the first of the year. Any change at the present time would be likely to disorganize the good order that now prevailed at the fire hall.

Ald. Elliott thought that the janitor had enough to do around the city buildings without making the beds at the fire hall. He suggested that the janitor make the fires at the city buildings, and have Mr. Wainwright make the beds at the fire hall.

Ald. McIntyre, chairman of the Property Committee, agreed with Ald. Elliott.

The Mayor saw no reason why Mr. Wainwright should be paid $75 for firing at the city buildings and the Parnell boys also be paid $100 for making the beds. It was a duplication of duties.

Ald. Morgan did not want to take the $100 extra from the Parnell boys. He would let the present agreement stand till the first of the year and let the new council settle the matter.

Ald. Bradburn said this would not be fair to the new Council.

"Let us take the bull by the horns and settle the matter tonight," said Ald. Elliott.

Ald. Johnston wanted to have the janitor look after the city buildings exclusively and let the present arrangements stand till the first of the year.

Further discussion followed along similar lines.

It was moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that Mr. Wilson be relieved of his duties in connection with the fire hall, and that the firemen be paid for making the beds until January 1st, 1908. The motion was lost.

It was moved by Ald. Phelan, seconded by Ald. Stevenson, that the matter of the making of the beds at the fire hall be referred to a joint meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to be settled, and that in the meantime the present arrangement remain in force.

This was carried.

FOR THE INDIGENTS.

It was moved by Ald. Elliott, seconded by Ald. Duncan, that the Legal Committee interview the County Council with reference to having several old and indigent persons in the city admitted to the House of Refuge.—Carried.

AS TO BOATHOUSES.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that the solicitor be instructed to notify all persons occupying sites along the river front to pay to the city a yearly rental for canoe boat houses of 25 cents, $1.00 for yacht boat houses, and to admit the city's titles.—Carried.

Ald Phelan moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the matter be left in the hands of the chairman of the Property Committee. The amendment was defeated.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Stevenson, that the question of making some changes in the regulations governing the building limits be referred to the Property Committee to deal with before the end of the year.—Carried.

A discussion on some other matters closed the meeting.

KING EDWARD SEES CIRCUS.

Unique Exhibition Given Before Him at Rothschild's Residence.

The King recently paid a flying visit to Halton House, Alfred de Rothschild's residence in Bucks.

One of the most interesting things King Edward saw there was the private circus which Mr. de Rothschild has lately established at Halton. A path from one of the lawns leads into a circle hidden from the general view by a thick wall of firs and greenery. An inner circle is railed off and fitted with all the trappings of a first-class circus and a miniature steeplechase combined.

In the centre and all around are tall electric arc lights, which throw a light equal to day when night performances are required.

But it was the animals, whose acrobatic skill is almost human, that interested the King most. There are eight ponies, smaller than Shetlands, two gazelles, a donkey and two small dogs, one of which—a fox terrier—is equally accomplished as a jockey and an acrobat.

The King spent a considerable part of the afternoon examining the animals, watching their capers and noting with satisfaction, which he did not hesitate to express, the comfort of their villa residences at the back of the circus.

Boycott of English Goods.

The Indian seditionists are now developing further mischief. Speaking at Calcutta, at a College Square meeting, a native named Abul Hossain congratulated his hearers upon the expected closing of various Manchester mills which manufacture for the Indian market. He said that they must continue boycotting English goods in such a way as completely to paralyze the commercial life of England, and declared that it will be "a bright day" when, "owing to the exclusive boycott of English goods, English laborers will be thrown out of work, and, maddened by hunger, will run up and down the streets of London crying for bread."

Wild talk of this kind, sedulously propagated from one end of India to the other, is so greatly shaking confidence in native subordinates that the necessity is becoming more and more evident of materially increasing the European element in those branches of the public service responsible for the maintenance of law and order, a reform which the prosperous condition of the finances of India fortunately abundantly justifies.

"The Hero of Dargai."

The retirement of Colonel [illegible], the man who led the Gordon Highlanders when they stormed the Heights of Dargai ten years ago, recalls a curious story of how he came to join that famous regiment. The gallant colonel is not a Scotsman, but a Welshman, and it was owing to a slip of the pen that he joined the renowned 75th Regiment. "I was intended," he says, "to go into the old 95th Regiment; but 9 and 7 are very much alike, and by a slip of the pen I was gazetted to the 75th." A story is told concerning Col. Mathias when he was leading the famous charge at Dargai. "Stiff climb, eh, Mackie?" he said, breathlessly, to the color-sergeant by his side. "I'm not so young as I was, you know." "Never mind, sir," the sergeant replied, "ye're going verra strong for an auld mon."

The Bishop of St. Albans recently reopened the old parish church at West Thurrock, Essex, which has been restored at a cost of $5,000. During the restoration work it was found that the walls of the church had been formerly repaired with stone coffins, which had been broken up for the purpose.

Didn't Get It Just Right.

The subject of profanity was being discussed the other evening at a dinner party in Harlem. When one of the guests facetiously hinted that his host could tear it off a little when no women were present the hostess became indignant. "I would have you understand," she said, with crushing dignity, "that my husband never says anything before ladies that he wouldn't say anywhere." She is still wondering why it was that everybody laughed.—New York Tribune.

Brockville Supports Whitney; Conservatives' Great Victory

Bye-Election Results In Landslide For Donovan.

Sweeps City, Village, and Township—Adverse Vote of 169 Turned Into Probable Majority of 250—Liberals Dumbfounded—First Time In Thirty Years Riding Is Conservative—Made Magnificent Run.

Brockville, Oct. 8.—W. A. Lewis, Liberal candidate for the Legislature, was fairly snowed under yesterday by A. E. Donovan, Conservative. Many of the polls being held in outlying parts full returns were not made last night, but the majority will be at least 250. Donovan won in the town by 105 majority and swept nearly every township and village.

The result is a great surprise to the Liberals, while the Conservatives celebrated to their heart's content. It is thirty-two years since a Conservative represented the old riding of Brockville in the Ontario Legislature. Not since the days of the late Postmaster Fitzsimmons have they had a look in. Such men as Lieut.-Col. Cole, Hon. C. F. Fraser, G. A. Dana and Hon. G. P. Graham have been his successors. Mr. Graham resigned recently to take a portfolio in the Laurier Cabinet, which accounts for this bye-election.

The Conservative candidate made a magnificent run, practically single-handed. Against him on the stump were Hon. G. P. Graham, Hon. A. G. MacKay and D. Derbyshire, ex-M.P. He appealed for an expression on the acts of the Whitney Government since its inauguration, and this issue was most bitterly opposed with criticism of the alleged unpopular administration of the Government. The result may, therefore, be reasonably taken as an endorsation of Mr. Whitney.

Fancy Skating at Roller Rink

Clever Exhibition Given Last Night by Two Experts

Prof. Genno and Miss Katie Batterton, two experts on roller skates, gave a decidedly clever exhibition at the Charlotte street roller rink last night. The spectators were delighted with the wonderful work done. Professor Genno and Miss Batterton waltz, do the two-step on stilts, and perform many intricate and difficult movements. The professor skating backwards jumps over a barrel four feet high. He also rolls a barrel standing on it with roller skates. The exhibition embraces many other feats that wins hearty applause from the delighted spectators. Prof. Genno and Miss Batterton will give exhibitions at the rink every night during the remainder of the week.

Will Wager $300 Against Hartley

Local Sports to Make Bet Against Local Walker

It is learned today that a number of local men have subscribed the sum of $300, which will be wagered against David Hartley, who will on Oct. 25th, attempt to walk from Bowmanville to Toronto and return to Peterborough, a distance of 137 miles, in thirty-four hours. About a half a dozen local sports have contributed the $300, and they are ready to stake it that Hartley cannot accomplish what he intends.

REYNOLDS SAYS HE WANTS RACE

Thinks That He Can Defeat Peterborough Pedestrian.

Jimmy Reynolds is anxious to arrange a match with Hartley, from Port Hope to Toronto and return. He will wager any amount of money that he can defeat Hartley on a fair heel and toe walk, but if Hartley prefers a go as you please contest, Reynolds asks the privilege of pushing a four wheeled cart. Jimmy believes that the cart would assist him in running. Here's a chance now for the ambitious Peterborough pedestrian.—Port Hope Guide.

Judging from the nature of Reynolds' challenge he has enough wheels in his head without bothering with a cart.

RUGBY

Snuff was spilt in the hall at Calgary, during R. L. Borden's meeting and many had to sneeze.

SEVEN CARS SMASHED; BRAKEMAN INJURED

A west-bound C.P.R. freight train ran into an open switch of the Bay of Quinte railway at Tweed last night, and crashed into the Quinte train, demolishing seven cars and damaging the engine badly. A brakeman of the Bay of Quinte line was slightly hurt.

Cattle Cars Were Wrecked On C.P.R. Near Agincourt

As a result of a freight train being wrecked about five miles east of Agincourt, the C.P.R. train which is due at Peterborough at midnight, did not arrive here until after ten o'clock this morning. The train was held up at Agincourt all night, and the passengers had anything but a pleasant time.

As far as can be learned three cattle cars, filled with cattle jumped the track about five miles east of Agincourt, and over a dozen cattle were killed. The accident took place about nine o'clock last night, and it took nearly ten hours to get the track clear. The wrecking train was brought from Toronto, and the passenger train was held at Agincourt. It was a long wait and everybody had their tempers more or less ruffled.

Just how the wreck occurred is not known and passengers on the train that was delayed had varied stories as to the mishap. One was that the engine was also off the track, and that a large number of cattle were killed, but as far as can be learned, only about a dozen were put out of the world.

Channel Will be Deepened

At Yankee Bonnet and Dangerfield on Otonabee

The dredge Emmerson is still working at Dangerfield, down the Otonabee river, deepening the channel. Further dredging will also be done at the Yankee Bonnet, a couple of miles below the locks. These points have always been shallow and a menace to navigation.

When dredging operations are completed the channel at Yankee Bonnett will be 400 feet long, 100 feet wide and ten feet deep, while the channel at Dangerfield, will be 800 feet long, 100 feet wide, and ten feet deep.

log driven into the canal at Chambly

Mr. Bruce Lee Badly Injured

Mr. Bruce Lee, of McCollum & Lee's livery barns, Water street, met with a very painful and severe accident today. While working in the loft of the barns he fell through the space made by reason of a trip door being opened to the floor 14 feet below. One of the men employed at the barns went to his rescue, and found him in an unconscious condition. Drs. Boucher and Scott were summoned, and he was restored to consciousness in about half an hour after the accident. His face was badly skinned and the blood ran ran from both his ears. It is also feared that he may be injured internally.

Committee Meets To-night

For Purpose of Considering Matters in Connection With Banquet at St. Andrew's

A meeting of the committee in charge of the Presbyterian Laymen's movement of Peterborough, met last night for the purpose of learning the progress made in reference to the banquet to be held on October 24th, in St. Andrew's church hall, when Rev. J. A. MacDonald, editor of the Globe, will give the address of the evening on the "Laymen's Movement of the Church."

The committee reported favorable work being done, and feel assured, that with a hearty co-operation of all churches concerned, success will crown their efforts. No doubt, a large number from the three Presbyterian churches will consider it a great privilege to attend the banquet to hear so great an editor and speaker on this very important subject.

The sale of tickets is now on at the low price of 40 cents, so that it may be within the means of all interested to attend.

The following gentlemen have the tickets for sale which can be secured from them any time between now and the 24th.

For St. Andrews, Geo. Evans and J. S. Ferguson.

For Knox, Wm. Carruthers and W Menzies.

For St. Paul's, Wm. Madill and Jas. Connal.

A programme is also being arranged for, which promises to be interesting consisting of solos, quartettes, etc., as well as short speeches by other prominent speakers. The pastors of other congregations in the city will be invited to attend, and no doubt a great awakening may take place relative to church work generally.

St. Andrew's church, Fergus has extended a call to Rev. T. J. Brown of Agincourt.

Springhill citizens have asked the Nova Scotia Government to operate the mines.

Twenty men, women and children were fined in Belleville on Saturday for robbing orchards.

Senator Cox on Crop Revenue

Edmonton, Oct. 7.—Senator George A. Cox, of Toronto, was the speaker at the Canadian Club luncheon today. Speaking of the revenue from the crops, he said he believed there would be as large returns this year in actual cash as in any other year because of the increased prices to be secured for grain. This country could now stand a series of bad crops.

Ten Cents per Day to Feed Prisoners at Local Gaol

And Some of Them Grow Fat on the Fare—Big Increase in Number of Prisoners—Mr. Nesbitt Presents His Annual Report.

The cheapest boarding house in the city, is located at the gaol that tops Victoria Park. It only costs ten to feed each person incarcerated therein, during the year, which is a pretty fair rate, considering the numerous advances that have taken place in the price of food stuffs.

Mr. Henderson Nesbitt has just made out his report for the year ending September 1st, and as usual contains many interesting statistics.

The report shows that it cost 10c. per day to feed each prisoner, compared with 9 1-2c. for last year.

The total number of prisoners in custody during the year, was 220, as compared with 189 for 1906, a big increase and an indication that there has been more crime or increased activity on the part of the police.

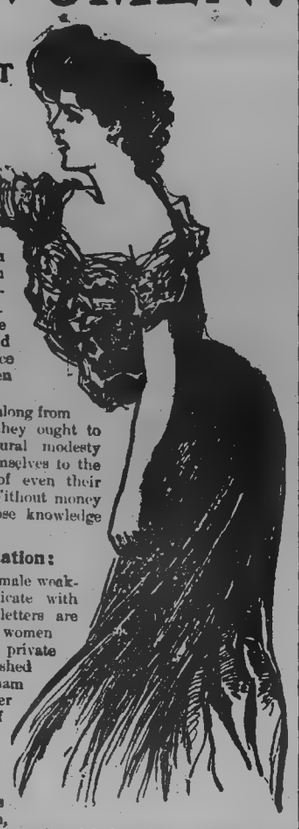
STOP, WOMEN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT



That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private ills to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers twenty-five years.

The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years under her direction, and since her decease, her advice has been freely given to sick women.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probably examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation:

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.—Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Following we publish two letters from a woman who accepted this invitation. Note the result.

First letter.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"For eight years I have suffered something terrible every month. The pains are excruciating and I can hardly stand them. My doctor says I have a severe female trouble, and I must go through an operation if I want to get well. I do not want to submit to it if I can possibly help it. Please tell me what to do. I hope you can relieve me."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Sts., Washington, D. C.

Second letter

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"After following carefully your advice, and taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I am very anxious to send you my testimonial, that others may know their value and what you have done for me.

"As you know, I wrote you that my doctor said I must have an operation or I could not live. I then wrote you, telling you my ailments. I followed your advice and am entirely well. I can walk miles without an ache or a pain, and I owe my life to you and to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I wish every suffering woman would read this testimonial and realise the value of writing to you and your remedy."—Mrs. Mary Dimmick, 59th and E. Capitol Streets, Washington, D.C.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women whose testimony is so unquestionable, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me." If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice—it is free and always helpful.

Was Guilty of Negligence; Jury Censures Engineer

Engineer Held Responsible by Jury For Collision on C.P.R.

Grand Jury However Place the Real Blame on Railway Company—Timetable Forced Train Crew to Ignore Rules—Two Lives Were Lost and Several Injured—Jurors Ask For Clemency.

St. Thomas, Oct. 9.—Murray Stephens, former Wabash engineer, was found guilty on two counts of willful negligence of duty at the Assizes here last evening, in failing to stop his train on approaching the diamond crossing east of the city.

Two lives were lost and several injured Aug. 25 in the collision, which resulted between C. P. R.-Wabash trains at that time.

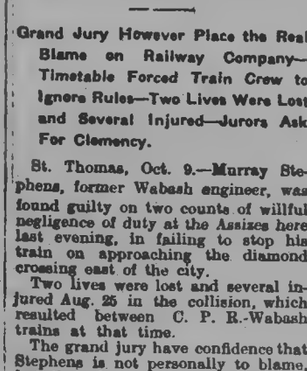
The grand jury have confidence that Stephens is not personally to blame, but that the railway company is to blame, and they are therefore petitioning for mercy.

The company's timetable, they point out, shows that to New Sarum is 5 1-4 miles from St. Thomas and that there are two stops—at the Pere Marquette crossing and the C. P. R. diamond—and that without these stops it takes ten minutes to make the run. The timetable allows ten minutes to make the run, so that the railway makes their engineers violate the rules.

The engineer, in a statement, said that he never knew of a case in 13 years where a passenger train came to a full stop at this crossing. "On the fatal day," he declares, "I saw the home signal was set in my favor and I never stopped to look for anything coming. I was running then at about a mile a minute, shoving right through to make up my time."

Crown Prosecutor Davidson in presenting the case to the jury explained that every railway man who neglects his duty and endangers life is, under the statute, guilty of a criminal act. It does not matter whether any one is injured or not, as long as an employe neglects to perform a duty that endangers life he is guilty of an indictable offence. The crown prosecutor proceeded to explain the facts in regard to the collision, and explained to the jury the location and character of the diamond crossing where the collision occurred. He explained the duty of the engineer to stop at all level crossings, and as well that there was a distance semaphore and the home semaphore set against the defendant's train, but that the train did not stop. The C. P. R. train came, so the evidence said, to a full stop before attempting to cross the Wabash track. The law says that no train can pass over a level crossing without receiving a signal from a competent person. Another clause of the code provides that no train shall pass over a level crossing until the train is first brought to a full stop.

Stephens was released on $2,000 bail and will be sentenced to-day.



Thorold Police Tangle.

St. Catharines, Oct 9.—The Thorold police tangle is worse than ever. Last month Night Watchman Reuter was suspended by Reeve McGill and Councillor Laughlin, two of the four members of the police committee, upon complaint of Chief Shee.

An investigation followed, and Monday night at the council meeting McGill and Laughlin recommended that Reuter be forthwith discharged. Councillor Broderick, also a member of the police committee, presented a minority report recommending the night watchman's reinstatement.

Mayor Millar is a fourth member of the committee, and refused to sign either report, with the result that both the motion to discharge and the amendment to reinstate were lost on a tie vote, and Reuter remains suspended with his future in obscurity.

Ending Tame; No Crap Game.

St. Catharines, Oct. 9.—The supposed crap-shooting episode of Sunday, Sept. 29, came to a climax yesterday when Chief Parnell charged William Aubron with taking part in a game of chance in a common gaming-house.

Four of the fourteen young men present when Cassidy's blacksmith shop was raided by the police swore positively that no game had been in progress, and that the object of meeting was simply the formation of a social club. The case was accordingly dismissed.

Canada's Horizon Grows.

London, Oct. 9.—(C.A.P.)—Dr. G. R. Parkin, secretary of the Rhodes' scholaraship trust, said the fact that during the last few years Canada had sent professors to the Universities of Oxford, Edinburgh, Birmingham and Manchester, indicated an extraordinary expansion of academic horizon, and that Canada was clearly on the way to become such a nation as the United States.

Drowned In a Slip.

Kingston, Oct. 9.—John N. Kivell, aged 56, district agent of the Singer Sewing Machine Co., was found drowned in the M. T. Co.'s slip yesterday morning. He was last seen shortly after 10 o'clock Monday evening, when he left the Grimason Hotel in company with a couple of others to go home.

St. Andrew's church, Fergus has extended a call to Rev. T. J. Brown of Agincourt.

The report that L. B. Archibald of Truro is dead, is untrue.

TO OVERRIDE DUNSMUIR.

Premier McBride Petitioned to Enact Exclusion Measure.

Vancouver, Oct. 9.—The abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese treaty and the passage of remedial legislation for British Columbia against Oriental immigration was the demand of the largest attended meeting ever held by the Anti-Asiatic League in Labor Hall Monday night.

The gathering was addressed by former Governor McInnes of the Yukon, City Solicitor Cowan, and Rev. Dr. Fraser.

At the close, the league wired Premier Laurier that the public meeting unanimously endorsed the resolutions of the Dominion Trades Congress and the Provincial Labor Congress regarding Orientals. They also protested against the commission to Japan because of the delay which would ensue.

A message was also sent to Premier McBride, requesting an immediate session to enact a national act, if Lieutenant-Governor Dunsmuir refuses his assent to the present measure.

MAY STOP SETTLEMENT.

Yankee Ships on Pacific Likely to Adversely Affect Japan.

London, Oct. 9.—The Times yesterday published an editorial article on the adverse effect the despatch of the American battleship squadron to the Pacific is likely to have on the amicable settlement of pending questions between America and Japan.

The paper protests against the assumption in the American press that the positions of Great Britain and the United States are identical on the immigration dispute and declares that Great Britain has an alliance with Japan which makes the cases quite different.

The Times believes that the American-Japanese differences will be amicably settled in spite of the despatch of the Pacific fleet, but says that if anything could impede or retard their solution it would be the dangerous assumption that Japan would agree to stop immigration as a matter of course if Great Britain and America joined in calling upon her to do so.

FOUR MEN DROWNED.

Big Wave Overturns Dory In North Sydney Harbor.

North Sydney, Oct. 9.—Yesterday morning four men left in a dory in North Sydney harbor to board one of the Newfoundland bankers lying in the stream.

When off Balast-heap a huge sea struck the frail craft, overturning it and throwing the occupants into the water.

That was the last seen of them and it was impossible to launch a boat to ascertain what schooner they belonged to or learn their names, the identity of the men, who doubtless perished, remains a mystery.

Wholesale Robbery From M. C. R.

St. Thomas, Oct. 9.—For some time past the wholesale robbery from cars on the M. C. R. has been going on, and W. H. Beal, Mrytle street, a car repairer, was suspected.

Monday M. C. R. Officer D. Monyhan of Niagara Falls issued a search-warrant, and with Police Constable E. Moylan searched and found about $200 worth of stuff stolen from M.C.R. cars, which was hidden from the cellar to the attic.

There were kodaks, cameras, tubs and crocks of butter, pails and cans of lard, whisky, tobacco, jellies, curtains, clothes, etc. The stuff recovered fills one of the cages in the lock-up at the City Hall.

While the search was going on, Officer Monyhan told Mrs. Beal to go and bring her husband. She went, but that is the last seen of Mr. Beal.

A warrant has been issued for his arrest.

Rear-End Collision In Fog.

Agincourt, Oct. 9.—A number of cattle were killed and five cattle cars overturned as the result of a wreck near here Monday night. Two freight trains were traveling eastward, the first a regular and the second a special. An accident occurred which caused the first, a stock train, to break in half.

A flagman was sent to hold up the extra train following, but owing to heavy fog his signal was not seen. The extra crashed into the rear of the stock train.

Ventured Back, Was Arrested.

Windsor, Sept. 9.—Lorne Stoneberg, who was released in Detroit on bail to appear on the charge of smuggling Chinese across the boundary line, ventured across to this side and was arrested by the local police on the charge of breaking into a car in the Grand Trunk yards and to stealing a quantity of whiskey.

Unless the local authorities consent to his return to Detroit his bonds will be estreated.

Gave Bishop $15,000.

Kingston, Oct. 9.—To mark the jubilee of Bishop Lorrain of Pembroke, his clergy and people of the diocese gave him $15,000 as an offering of affectionate regard. The offering will be devoted by the bishop to the erection of the Bishop Lorrain Jubilee wing to the Pembroke General Hospital.

Confesses Killing Girl.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 9.—Thomas Wood, aged 16 years, who was arrested on suspicion following the murder of nine-year-old Ethel Nivens, whose body was found in a thicket not far from her home in East Camden on Saturday, has made a confession.

Paris-Rome Train Wrecked.

Genoa, Oct. 9.—The Paris-Rome express was wrecked at St. Pierre D'Arena on Monday. One passenger was killed and six were injured.

No Canadians were hurt.

Steel Plant Closed Down.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 9.—The steel works are idle for the first time since the big strike of three years ago. Trouble is caused by a lack of water.

Victor Hane, a young Frenchman of Montreal, shot himself through the heart because a young woman rejected his advances.

TWO SCHOONERS SUNK

Wrecked In Severe Northwest Gale on Lake Huron.

"Erie Stuart" Struck Breakwater at Southampton — Destroyed Light and Went to Bottom—Crew Had Close Call—"Ontario" Likely to Be Total Loss—Some of the Cargo May Be Saved.

Southampton, Ont., Oct. 9.—Monday night's northwest gale was responsible for two wrecks at this port.

About 9.30 the schooner Erie Stuart, light, from Chatham for Parry Sound, while endeavoring to make the harbor, struck the north breakwater on Chantry Island, disabled the North Range light, and sank immediately. The crew had only time to jump to the pier.

The vessel is a total loss.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning the schooner Ontario, loaded with camp supplies from Chatham for the north shore, tried to make the Southampton harbor, but owing to the North Range light being disabled, was obliged to try and make the Saugeen River harbor. She struck on the bar at the mouth of the river, and now lies on a rocky bottom, about one hundred yards south of the entrance, and about the same distance from the shore. She is pounding heavy, and will likely be a total loss. The crew are all safe. Some of the cargo can be saved.

REMARKABLE CONFESSION.

Attempted Bribery to Secure Sacred Relics In Paris.

Paris, Oct. 9.—A sensation has been caused by the remarkable confession of Anonine Thomas, who was arrested with his mother and brother, charged with complicity in the theft of the famous Cope of Orth, valued at $120,000, from the Church of Ambasea, near Limoges. Thomas declares that after the passage of the separation law antiquaries of Paris, some of them millionaires, hired him and others to bribe parish priests to surrender the relics and substitute counterfeits which could later be turned over to the state.

This plan continued for months, and Thomas finally went boldly into wholesale burglary. Thomas estimated the amount of his robberies, about $400,000. The discovery of letters at the Thomas residence indicate that they had been engaged in performing illegal operations upon society women.

QUEBEC TOWN SHAKEN.

Huntingdon Residents Experience an Earthquake In the Night.

Huntingdon, Que., Oct. 9.—Yesterday morning shortly before 3 o'clock a severe shock of earthquake shook the village, apparently coming from the south.

The shock was violent, lasting several seconds and awakening people from their sleep.

A perceptible trembling of the houses was felt, and people turned on the electric lights, and many hastily dressed.

Received Infernal Machine.

Denver, Oct. 9.—Governor Henry A. Bucktel, David H. Moffatt, president of the National Bank of Denver, and Charles B. Contze, president of the Colorado National Bank, received through the mails yesterday infernal machines containing enough dynamite to do great destruction of lives and property had they been exploded.

But warning had been given to the recipients of the machines by Chief of Police Delaney, who had obtained a confession from Kemp V. Bigelow, by whom they were mailed, and no one was hurt.

Highwaymen Control Roads.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 9.—Representatives of important Persian trading companies in Persia have telegraphed to The Novoe Vremya of this city from Impahna, complaining that all the roads are in the hands of highwaymen, who refuse to permit the passage of foreign goods. The mails and trade are at a standstill, and the local authorities and consuls are powerless. The situation is still further complicated by the fact that the Mullahs are preaching a boycott of all foreigners.

Votes Not Sufficient.

Parry Sound, Oct. 9.—A vote was taken here on Monday on a bylaw to loan the Shortells, Limited, say $30,000, to establish a wood alcohol and charcoal plant.

The total polled was 30 short of the necessary two-thirds on the list, and the bylaw was therefore defeated.

Only 28 were recorded against, while 241 voted for the bylaw. It is peculiar that if 31 more voted against the bylaw it would have carried.

Pours Acid on Wife.

New York, Oct. 9.—Benjamin Greenberg, a wealthy Brooklyn jeweler, it is alleged by the police there, threw a half pint of nitric acid, down the back of his wife in Brooklyn, and then suffered a mobbing at the hands of an indignant crowd of one hundred persons.

Greenberg has been separated from his wife, Etta, for three years.

Lemieux's Trip to Japan.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—The Cabinet met yesterday afternoon to discuss the Japanese immigration situation and to give instructions to Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, the Canadian emissary to Japan. No definite proposals, however, were arrived at.

"The arrangements are yet incomplete," one of the Ministers said yesterday evening.

Cubans Threaten Strike.

Havana, Oct. 9.—The Cuban labor organizations yesterday decided to order a general strike in the island if the railways employ the strike-breakers who landed here Monday.

Make Montreal a free port, is the request of the Shipping Federation of Canada.

BOYS IN LEGACY FRAUD.

Arrested In New York for Conducting Ingenious Swindle.

New York, Oct. 9.—Ogden W. Coffin, 18 years old, a schoolboy, and Lucius Mesmin, aged 20, clerk for his father's wool importing firm of George Mesmin & Co., were arrested Monday night, charged with participating in a get-rich-quick scheme.

The boys had an office at 608 Sixth avenue. The detectives found they had been conducting operation under the assumed name of "Leonard B. Drummond, attorney."

The postal and police authorities had been receiving many complaints from people in Canada about their getting letters from a man giving the name and address.

The purport of those letters was that relatives living in this city owning shares of Canadian Pacific stock died bequeathing shares to the Canadian selected. The letters stated that if $5 for attorney's fees were sent to Drummond the stock would be forwarded.

Coffin has confessed. He claims that his mother is a widow in straitened circumstances, and he needed the money to pay his way through college. He claims that Mesmin originated the scheme and even went to the Canadian border and mailed the letters there beyond the reach of the United States mail authorities.

INVASION OF RIGHTS.

Newfoundland's Decision Made Subject of Comment.

London, Oct. 9.—(C. A. P.)—The decision of the Supreme Court of Newfoundland in disallowing the appeal to the Privy Council in the case of fishermen of Dubois gives The Standard opportunity to roundly attack the Government, which, it declares, has deliberately chosen to invade the constitutional rights of a self-governing colony, thereby violating repeated pledges infringing imperial law.

The Morning Post commends Canadian discrimination respecting immigrants and remarks that those Canadians who grumble at alleged British lack of interest in Canadian propositions can have no idea of the vast amount of British investments in the Dominion.

The Leader says Mr. Cockshutt's Toronto speech does not offer much encouragement to Mr. Chamberlain's schedule of forbidden industries, which the colonies were to leave to the Mother Country.

GETS TWO, NOT TEN.

Former Toronto Broker Has Sentence Modified at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Oct. 9—John D. Edwards, the Toronto broker, will serve two years in the Manitoba penitentiary instead of ten. This is the sentence of the Court of Appeal delivered yesterday after a most careful consideration of the case.

In passing judgment all the judges in appeal concurred. They also held it to be improper for any police magistrate or judge, in passing sentence upon a prisoner, to be influenced by anonymous communication or general accusations, as had been done in this case.

Lady Laurier at Welland.

Welland, Oct. 9.—Lady Laurier arrived at noon yesterday from Ottawa and last night opened the Fair of Nations, which Sir Isaac Brock Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, are holding in aid of the County Hospital, which is about to be established.

The opening ceremonies had a charming brilliancy. Eight booths, representing eight nationalities, have pleasing and pretentious architectural features.

The address given by Lady Laurier was followed by a grand march by 60 ladies and gentlemen in national costume. Adjoining the fair buildings are two large tents, in which the Booster Club gives a continuous circus performance. The fair closes on Thursday night.

Fierce Windstorm.

Halifax, Oct. 9.—A gale broke over the city at 5 o'clock last evening and at 7 had reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour. A heavy sea on the harbor interfered with the ferry boats.

Considerable damage was done along the water front. Telephone wires suffered most, and over 200 lines are out of order.

Many live wires were around the streets, making traffic dangerous. A heavy downpour of rain accompanied the gale. The storm subsided at eight o'clock.

Vancouver Riot Case.

Vancouver, Oct. 9.—A. W. Reid, the first of the rioters' cases, was disposed of at the Assize Court yesterday. The police testified that he had thrown a stone that broke a window. The defence was that Reid had suffered a sunstroke, was highly emotional and easily carried away by excitement. He was found guilty and sentenced to six months in jail.

Chinese Women Presented.

Shanghai, Oct. 9.—United States Secretary of War William H. Taft and party arrived here yesterday. The China and the foreign residents gave the secretary a hearty reception.

This reception marked an epoch in the matter of the status of women in China, for aristocratic Chinese women were presented and presided at refreshment tables.

Prize to McGill Man.

London, Oct. 9.—(C. A. P.)—The exhibition prize of £25, awarded to advanced students who have not commenced residence at Cambridge University, has been obtained by J. C. Simpson of McGill.

Killed While Hunting.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 9.—While hunting with a boy companion, James Allen, Jr., of Olean, was shot by the accidental discharge of a gun. The charge of shot bored through Allen's body.

Mackenzie King to Japan.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—W. L. Mackenzie King will probably accompany Hon. Mr. Lemieux to Japan.

The matron and two nurses of the Day Nursery, Montreal, are charged with cruelty to a baby.

Cables Unchanged—American Markets Generally Steady.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—London cables are firmer at 10c to 12½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9½c to 10c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market since Friday last, as reported by the railways, were 68 carloads, composed of 915 cattle, 1061 hogs, 1596 sheep and lambs, with 186 calves.

Exporters.

The only export cattle on sale were some few bulls that sold from $3 to $4.10 per cwt.

Butchers.

The best two cattle on the market sold at $4.85 per cwt. There were no cattle on the market good enough to bring $5 per cwt., but had there been there is no doubt it would have been paid. Geo. Rowntree bought nine loads for the Harris Abattoir Company. The highest prices for loads of steers and heifers, 900 to 1100 lbs., were $3.85 to $4.50 per cwt.; best cows, $3 to $3.65; mixed cows, $2.25 to $2.85; canners and bulls, $1 to $3 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

Receipts of feeders and stockers were light, with few of good quality on sale. Steers, 1000 to 1100, sold from $3.25 to $3.50; bulls, 1000 to 1300 lbs., at $2.25 to $2.50; stockers, $1.75 to $2.75 per cwt.

Milch Cows.

The quality of milkers and springers was not generally what could be called good, the bulk being of the medium class. No Montreal men being on the market, trade was dull and prices lower all round. The cow trade was the worst of the season, and unless the Montreal buyers turn up, some of the dealers will be left in the hole. Prices ranged from $25 to $43 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves, considering the quality, sell the best of anything on the market. Big, coarse, horsey calves, weighing 300 to 400 pounds each, sell up to 4c per pound, and sometimes more. One drover told The World that calves were the best to sell of anything he had. Prices ranged from $3 to $5.50 per cwt., and prime new milk-fed calves are worth $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The quality of the sheep and lambs generally was not good, many of them having little flesh, with the wool full of burs, carrying with them the characteristics of their late owners as regards farming. Export ewes, $4.25 to $4.40; rams and culls, $3 to $3.50 per cwt.; lambs sold from $5 to $5.50 for butchers' purposes, and culls at $4 per cwt., some of which were dear at that.

Hogs.

Hogs were more plentiful, over 1000 being on the market, and 900 more going to packers direct. Mr. Harris reports prices unchanged at $6.12½ for selects and $5.87½ for light fats.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Oct. 8.—Cattle—Receipts, 125 head; steady; prices unchanged.

Veals—Receipts, 100 head; active and 25c lower; $5 to $9.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 5100 head; fairly active; pigs, 10c lower; others, 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $6.80 to $7.10; mixed, $7.15 to $7.20; Yorkers, $7 to $7.15; pigs, $6.50 to $6.60; roughs, $5.50 to $6.10.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 4000 head; sheep, active and steady; lambs, slow and 10c lower; lambs, $5 to $7.65; Canada lambs, $7 to $7.30.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Receipts, 1126; no trading in live cattle; feeling dull; exports to-day, 730 cattle and 3800 quarters of beef; to-morrow, 2400 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 140; veals, steady; grassers, lower to sell; veals, $6 to $8.75; fed calves, $3.75 to $4; no westerns on sale.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 6625; sheep in light supply; good sheep, firm; lambs, steady to a shade lower, and slow; sheep, $3.50 to $5.50; few choice and wethers, $5.75 to $6; culls, $2.50 to $3; lambs, $6.60 to $7.75; culls, $5 to $5.25; no Canada lambs.

Hogs—Receipts, 3797, all for slaughterers; nominally steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Cattle—Receipts, estimated at about 10,000; market steady; steers, $5.20 to $8.30; cows, $3.30 to $5; heifers, $3 to $5.75; bulls, $2.60 to $5; calves, $3 to $8.50; stockers and feeders, $2.60 to $4.

Hogs — Receipts, about 35,000; market steady to 10c higher; choice heavy shipping, $6.60 to $6.75; light butchers', $6.30 to $6.55; light mixed, $6.40 to $6.75; choice light, $6.30 to $6.95; packing, $5.05 to $6.50; pigs, $5 to $5.40; bulk of sales at $6.30 to $6.60.

Sheep—Receipts, about 25,000; market steady; sheep, $3.50 to $4.25; lambs, $4 to $7.50; yearlings, $5.50 to $5.75.

Opened by Sir Mortimer.

Kingston, Oct. 9.—Kingston's "Made in Canada" exhibition in progress at the armories was formally opened last night by Lieutenant-Governor Sir Mortimer Clark, who spoke quite rapturously over the event, one of the finest ever seen in Canada.

The fair is under the direction of the Women's Aid of the General Hospital and is a large affair.

The object is to raise $7,000 for hospital purposes, the historical, allegorical and spectacular grand march setting forth Canada in all its periods, is a beautiful picture and in which 300 young Kingstonians take part.

James Rowan of Montreal, who fell from a bridge at Brockville, is dead from his injuries.

WITH THE KING AT SEA

ROYAL YACHT VICTORIA AND ALBERT A FLOATING PALACE.

His Majesty's Day When Cruising—How the Time Is Spent—Yacht's Elaborate Fittings—Crew Are All Picked Men — Lower Deck Musicians—King Edward a Good Sailor —Carries No Armament Aboard.

Many of the rulers of Europe spend their summer vacations on long cruises, but King Edward and Queen Alexandra are satisfied to drift idly around the British Isles on their magnificent yacht, the Victoria and Albert. This sort of life is just about as comfortable and peaceful as life in Buckingham Palace, but the King, although he is a good sailor, prefers the steam yacht to a sailing vessel.

There is a conspicuous absence of arms and armor on the Victoria and Albert, unlike the German Emperor's Hohenzollern, which is practically a second-class cruiser carrying a formidable armament of 4.7-inch guns. The Victoria and Albert is a marvel of elegance and luxury, says The New York Sun, being in the most literal sense a steel floating palace of some 5,000 tons burden, propelled by twin screws. She is a little smaller than the Czar's Standart, but far more shapely, being of the clipper type, with fine schooner bows and an elliptical stern.

Her engines develop 12,000 horsepower and are capable of propelling the yacht at 21 knots. The graceful bows carry a "head" consisting of a gilt crown surmounting a shield that bears the royal coat of arms and supported on either side by a foliated ornament in which the rose, thistle and shamrock are introduced.

From her graceful masts to the stately hull of royal blue and gold the Victoria and Albert is a real home on the sea, with spacious drawing rooms, boudoirs and business offices that would do credit to Buckingham Palace itself.

One Day at Sea.

King Edward's day at sea commences at 8 o'clock, when His Majesty rises to a light breakfast of coffee, rolls and an underdone chop. After breakfast the King's morning is devoted to state affairs and the mails are attended to by secretaries under the King's own direction. He himself rarely appears upon deck much before noon, but at this hour he will select a sheltered nook upon the promenade deck for his morning cigar.

Luncheon is served at 2, and the afternoon is devoted by the King to a novel or a game of cards. It is interesting to note that His Majesty has a keen appreciation of Thomas Hardy's work and those of Marie Corelli. As a rule dinner takes place at 8 o'clock unless it is a formal function at which guests of high rank are present. In this case the meal is served one hour later.

Afterward King Edward joins the gentlemen of his suite in the smoking room, and as a rule retires about midnight. Both the King's and Queen's favorite nooks on the yacht are found above the upper deck, where there is a spacious promenade fitted with shelters from the wind. As to the navigation of the craft, this is done by picked officers and men of the Royal Navy, commanded by a commander and a rear-admiral.

Honor to be Drafted.

To be drafted into the royal yacht is an honor much sought among officers, petty officers and men. There used to be among the lower deck hands a seaman named Hall, who was a guitar performer of no mean ability, and very often the King, while strolling around the decks after dinner, would say to him: "Come along, Hall! Bring your guitar aft and let us have a tune." The seaman boasted with perfect truth that he had had the honor of playing before the King and Queen more frequently than any great musician alive.

Altogether the officers and men of the Victoria and Albert number 360, quite apart from the personal servants of Their Majesties. And in going ashore the King invariably uses a boat rowed by bluejackets, with himself handling the tiller ropes in the stern sheets.

From first to last the present Victoria and Albert—which is a contrast indeed with her predecessor, Queen Victoria's own yacht—has cost nearly $6,000,000. Her coal supply is large enough for a radius of more than 2,500 miles at a cruising speed of 14 knots. Thus the floating palace will easily go from Portsmouth to the French Riviera without refilling her bunkers.

Silver Deck Fittings.

The entire scheme of internal decorations was carried out under the direct supervision of Queen Alexandra, and no attempt has been made after the gorgeous or elaborate. Even on the upper deck, which is exposed to very severe weather and the action of the salt spray, solid silver is used for the deck fittings.

The various suites are after the 18th century English style, done in white enamel. The necessary warmth and color is obtained in the furniture, carpets and draperies. Thus in the King's private stateroom the carpet is a royal blue, which harmonizes perfectly with the blue morocco of the chairs. The King's bedroom is very handsome, with its swinging bedstead of silver plate without draperies, satin wood furniture and ingeniously contrived stick and sword stands, as well as brackets and shelves and conveniences for the display of photographs and personal souvenirs.

The Queen's bedroom is much larger than the King's. The furniture is of satin wood, with silver fittings, and there is a stately canopied bed that has silken draperies suspended from the ceiling. The color scheme throughout is a soft green. The dressing-room is surprisingly large and has an immense bath of snow white Carrara marble, with dressing tables of inlaid satin wood, fitted with front and side mirrors.

Just opposite the royal sleeping apartments is a magnificent Louis XVI. drawing-room done in blue silk. Adjacent are several other state bedrooms for the reception of imperial and exalted guests. The magnificent dining-room runs one-third of the Victoria and Albert's whole length. It is lighted by 30 large windows.

A novel feature is the great screens of brocade, by means of which greater seclusion can be obtained if desired. Close by is a smoking-room, where King Edward and his imperial nephew the Emperor William have many times chatted. Electric elevators are provided for seasick royalties and other invalids, while down below is a perfectly fitted hospital and dispensary.

The business office occupied by the King's secretary has a big American roll-top desk. The floor is covered with the usual blue carpet and the walls painted with white enamel. Then follow the apartments of the gentlemen of the King's suite, including his equerries. There is a special dining-room for the lords-in-waiting. Here the woodwork and furniture throughout is of dull English oak. The floor is covered with a red plush carpet and the chairs and settees are in scarlet Morocco.

There is even a children's nursery fitted with toy gymnastic appliances and a library of fairy tales.

On this magnificent yacht the rulers of the British Empire go cruising in the summer, just after the Goodwood races, from sea to sea, calling at various ports and paying and receiving visits. It is well known that Their Majesties greatly look forward to this season of peace and quiet when they are free to live their own lives untrammelled by cares of state.

SAILORS' VICTORY AT LAW.

Were Badly Treated In an Eastern Prison During War.

A signal victory for British seamen was scored in the House of Lords recently in a shipping action which has occupied the attention of the courts since the close of the Russo-Japanese war.

The case came before their lordships by way of appeal by the defendants, the Palace Shipping Co., Limited, as the owners of the steamship Franklyn, from a decision of the Court of Appeal affirming substantially a judgment of Mr. Justice Lawrance.

The plaintiffs were the crew of the Franklyn, who in December, 1904, signed articles for a voyage from Cardiff not to exceed three years' duration to any ports within certain degrees, including Hong Kong.

The ship loaded coal at Cardiff for Hong Kong. The crew knew that coal was being treated as contraband of war by both Russia and Japan, and that the ship was liable to seizure, but they did not know until the vessel arrived at Hong Kong that her owners intended her cargo to be carried on to Sasebo, in Japan. As soon as they were told that the ship was going on to Sasebo they refused to proceed. They were then taken by the master before the port magistrate, charged with having impeded the progress of the voyage, and sentenced to 70 days' imprisonment.

They were marched off to a Chinese prison, where they suffered great hardships and privations. Meanwhile the ship went on her way manned by a crew of Chinamen. The British sailors were released on May 1, and sent home as distressed seamen.

The action was then brought by the crew to recover wages from the time they were cast into prison at Hong Kong, and for damages.

Mr. Justice Lawrance held that the plaintiffs were justified in refusing to continue the voyage and that they were entitled to recover wages. The defendants appealed, but lost the day, the Court of Appeal allowing the crew wages to the date on which the order was made.

It was from this order that the owners appealed to the House of Lords, and the main question argued was whether the men were justified in refusing to proceed to Sasebo.

The Lord Chancellor said the men had been treated with harshness and injustice. Indeed, in his opinion, the conduct of the owners to these men was illegal from beginning to end. The master had no right to require them to sail to Sasebo, for the risk was not a commercial risk nor the voyage a commercial voyage, such as the articles contemplated.

The judges of the Appeal Court, continued his lordship, were quite right in giving the men wages and maintenance down to the date of their judgment. He shared the regret of Lord Cozens-Hardy that the court had no power to award the men damages for their sufferings in Hong Kong. Could they have given such damages they would have been exemplary.

The other noble lords concurred, and the owners' appeal was dismissed with costs.

6930.—AN ACCEPTABLE NEGLIGEE MODEL.

A negligee that may be developed either as a wrapper or a dressing sack is sure to prove a desirable acquisition to the woman who elects to be her own dressmaker. The pretty wrapper shown in the illustration is of this practical order, the dressing sack development being shown in the small sketch. Tucks arranged to simulate box pleats dispose effectively of the fullness in front and back, while the well-shaped yoke insures perfect fitting at the neck and shoulders. The ribbon belt may be omitted if desired, and the wrapper allowed to flow in straight unbroken lines from yoke to hem. French challis was used for making as pictured, but crepe, cashmere or Flannelette are equally suitable materials. For the medium size 3 1-2 yards 36 inches wide will be needed for the dressing sack, or 6 1-2 yards of the same width for the wrapper.

BRAVE RESCUE OF CREW

Schooner Martello Driven Ashore In Gale at Souris.

Sailors Lost Their Boat—Were Forced to Take to the Rigging—Two Men Put Out In Dory In Darkness—Saved All Hands—Vessel Entirely Broken Up—Wreckage Strews the Beach.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Oct. 9.—At 4 o'clock yesterday morning, when the fierce southwest gale was at its highest, the sixty-ton schooner Martello was driven ashore at Souris, near the wharves, and her wreckage now strews the beach. She was owned by Capt. Hayden, River John, N. S., and was employed this summer carrying gravel from Cape George, N.S., for the new concrete railway wharf under construction. Monday night at nine o'clock she anchored in lee of the breakwater, the gale freshened, the anchor dragged, and the schooner was driven on the ruins of the old wharf. In attempting to put out the kedge anchor, the crew lost their boat. Giving up hope of saving the schooner, they took to the riggings and shouted for help. In less than an hour two men, guided through the inky darkness by the shouting, reached the vessel in a dory, and rescued all hands, Capt. Hayden, his 16-year-old son, and another man. Fifteen minutes later the little schooner was in kindling wood. The boy, clinging in terror to the rigging and afraid to venture down, had to be forcibly removed. The rescue was effected by M. McIntosh and Mark Cheverie.

FRENCH CAPTAIN EXCITED.

Took Out a War Risk and Started Exciting Rumor.

Antwerp, Belgium, Oct. 9.—The action of an excitable French captain, whose vessel was bound for Northern Pacific ports, in taking out a war risk policy on his cargo Monday, caused a groundless report that the Antwerp underwriters, fearing hostilities between the United States and Japan, were exacting war premiums for their policies.

Mr. Graham Explains.

Ottawa, Oct. 9.—Hon. George Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, returned to Ottawa yesterday from Brockville. In speaking of the bye-election results in Brockville on Monday, Mr. Graham noted that the Liberal candidate was handicapped by the fact that the Ontario Government had announced an expenditure of over $75,000 on the Brockville Asylum during the coming year. Consequently the knowledge that Mr. Donovan would have the disposal of the patronage, the electors knew that there would be only one more term of the present Government, and many of them were willing to give Mr. Donovan a chance for that length of time in view of the fact that he had been previously defeated.

Faces Serious Charge.

London, Oct. 9.—William Tracy, an attendant at the London Asylum for the Insane, is charged with having on Monday night climbed over the transom leading into the room of Miss Moule and attempting to assault her. Squire Chittick heard the complaint yesterday and remanded the accused for a week. Tracy had only been employed a short time in the asylum. Miss Moule is the daughter of Police Clerk John Moule, and was recently appointed stenographer at the institution.

She was fined $2 and costs or a week in jail, and the others were allowed to go.

AMUSEMENTS

SIDE-TRACKED

Mark Twain tells of an incident which happened on one of his lecture tours. He delivered one of his most comical addresses to quite a large audience in a country town, had exerted himself to please them, but had utterly failed to cause an audible smile. He had finally closed with the impression that he must have been a failure. As the audience was leaving, one of the gentlemen came up to him and said; "Mr. Twain, we enjoyed your address very much, as it was extremely interesting, but do you know, there were many times during the evening I had just all I could do to keep from bursting into laughter, some of your remarks were so very funny."

If you will attend a performance of that comedy-drama, "Side-Tracked" at the Grand Opera House, Saturday, matinee and night, you will find something quite as funny as any of Mark Twain's remarks, but don't keep from laughing, you will never be able to do it. And you need not, we don't expect you to do so; for 'Side-Tracked' is built for laughing purposes, and as such it is a great success. Do not forget the date, Saturday, Oct. 12th.

Board of Trade to Hold Banquet

Decided on Last Night—Should be no Increase on Rent of P. O. Boxes

In addition to the assessment questions two other matters were discussed at the Board of Trade meeting last night. One was the holding of a Board of Trade banquet in November and the other, the proposed increase in the rent for post office boxes, commencing the first of the year.

It was decided to hold a banquet the following motion being passed.—

Moved by R. E. Wood, seconded by H. LeBrun, "that the president, vice-president, Messrs. R. E. Wood, F. D. Kerr and J. H. Larmouth, be appointed a committee to make arrangements for a banquet to be held in November; that they provide a speaker for that evening and work out the details."

Previous to this the following resolution, passed at the last meeting of the council of the Board of Trade, was read,—

"That the council of the Board of Trade, recommends that at the next general meeting of the Board, arrangements should be made for a banquet to be held in November.

"That a committee be appointed to provide a speaker for the evening and to work out the details."

POST OFFICE BOXES.

Dr. Morrison called attention to the statement that had been made that it was the intention of the post office department, to increase the box rent at the local post office, after the first of the year, as a result of the new system of postal delivery. He thought such action was not desirable and held that the Board should urge the department to make no change from the present rate, at least not to increase it. There were many business men who wanted to retain their boxes.

It was moved by R. E. Wood, seconded by T. F. Matthews, "that the Postmaster-General be requested to allow the box rent at the post office to remain as at present on that the rent be reduced." Carried.

Increased Accommodation is Required for Protestant Home

Question Was Discussed at Annual Meeting Yesterday Afternoon—Enlargement is Necessary—Reports Were Read and Officers Elected.

"Recognizing the important work that is being done by the Protestant Home, and facing the fact that the County House of Refuge refuses to take any of the poor of the City of Peterborough, the enlargement of this building for the Protestant poor is imperatively necessary and a conference to discuss the question should be held at once."

The above motion was made by Rev. A. H. Brace, and seconded by Rev. J. G. Potter, and carried unanimously by the Board of the Peterborough Protestant Home, at their annual meeting held yesterday afternoon.

Those present were Revs. Dr. Langfeldt, E. A. Pearson, J. G. Potter, A. H. Brace, and Mesdames Roger, Birdsall, R. S. Davidson, R. F. McWilliams, Hazlitt, Campbell, Jas. Wood and Miss Nicholl.

The president, Mrs. Roger was in the chair and opened the meeting. After the minutes of the last annual meeting had been read and confirmed the secretary, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams read her annual report, which is as follows,—

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

It is with a deep sense of regret that this annual report must chronicle the loss during the year of our much loved and valued president, Miss Roger who was removed from us early in the summer. Miss Roger had served the Home most efficiently for many years, having filled successfully all the offices of the Board and it would be impossible to exaggerate the sense of loss, which other members of the Board feel now that her skilled and experienced hand no longer guides the helm.

The past year has also brought other keenly felt losses to the Board. Removal from the city has robbed the Home of the services of Mrs. Jas. Hall, who was for so long our energetic vice-president, and absence from the city, has deprived us temporarily at least, of the services of Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, the first vice-president, and Mrs. Miller, for a number of years, our most faithful and efficient secretary.

We close our year's work with seventeen inmates in the Home. This is a smaller number than we have had for some time. This being in part due to the opening of the County House of Refuge. Two inmates were transferred to that institution, two were discharged for persistent disobedience of the rules, one became incurably ill, and three others returned to their homes. It is pleasant to note that we have no deaths to chronicle this year.

In connection with those remaining it is perhaps a matter of public interest that out of the fifteen patients, eight or 53 per cent. are not paid for in any way, whilst two others have only small contributions made. It is the policy of the Home, that patients shall be paid for whenever it is at all possible, but exceptions have been made in all these cases.

When the County House of Refuge was opened, the Board decided that it was not advisable to admit any more men. It is intended to convert the Home by degrees into one for old ladies only, it being felt that the Home would in this way be made more comfortable and more easily managed.

Too much cannot be said in praise of our matron, Miss Fraser, and her assistant, Miss Margaret Fraser. Their untiring care of and kindness to the patients, is keenly appreciated by the Board, who feel always indebted for their unselfish services.

In conclusion it should be said that the Board deprecate greatly the lack of interest on the part of the public generally, and hope that this coming year will bring new friends to it. They feel all the more indebted to the few friends who have contributed to the comfort and pleasure of the inmates, especially to the Examiner and Review Companies, which have furnished copies of the daily papers.

M. S. McWILLIAMS,
Acting-Secretary.

DISCUSSION.

Considerable discussion took place on the subject of what was to be done in the way off increased accommodation, that the good work might be more satisfactorily carried on. It was thought that the public should take a greater interest in providing for the city's poor, and that more interest might be aroused. It was deemed advisable to hold a citizen's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. the date to be fixed later.

The meeting was brought to a close by prayer by Rev. E. A. Pearson.

Sensational Charge Made By Sanitory Inspector Ball

Says Religious Predjudices Influenced Board of Health in Connection With Recent Scarlet Fever Case—Stormy Scene at To-day's Meeting of Board.

There was a stormy scene at the meeting of the Board of Health this morning, and for a time, strong words were shot across the table and the speakers pounded the wood with clenched fists, to give emphasis to their statements. First, Chairman Eyres and Medical Health Officer Bingham had a wordy set-to, but it was only an infant to the one that followed between Mr. Neill and Sanitary Inspector Ball. It was the most exciting scene that has taken place at a Board of Health meeting for years.

The trouble all grew out of the placing of the scarlet fever patient in the city buildings. The matter was introduced by Mr. Eyres and at first it looked as if there was only going to be the usual verbal exchange between the chairman and the medical health officer. But the introduction of the question ended much more seriously.

Mr. Eyres brought up the matter by reading a motion he had prepared to the effect that the placing of the scarlet fever patient in the city buildings was done entirely by the medical health officer, that the chairman of the board had protested against any such action being taken, and that it should go on the minutes of the board that the board disclaimed all responsibility for the steps that had been taken. Mr. Eyres gave some more details regarding the matter, and when he had finished Dr. Bingham arose.

"AN ASTONISHING EXHIBITION"

"This is a most astonishing exhibition, gentlemen," said Dr. Bingham. He went on to say that himself and Mr. Eyres had gone around the city looking for a vacant building in which the patient might be placed, and when they looked over the one in the city hall, Mr. Eyres agreed that it would be a good place for the girl.

"I beg your pardon, sir," said Mr. Eyres. "I said the place was alright but that it was contrary to the law."

"You were as anxious as anyone to have her put there," replied Dr. Bingham, "until you saw the tide turning and you turned with it."

There was some sharp cross firing between the chairman and medical health officer as to whether the former had been in favor of having the patient placed in the room in the city buildings.

"You were delighted with the room," said Dr. Bingham, "and said it was quite satisfactory."

"I said the room was alright but that it was contrary to law, and if the medical health officer says anything else, he is stating what is not true." Mr. Eyres finished his statement with a hard right to the table.

The mayor explained the circumstances that had led up to the girl being placed in the city hall room, as far as he was cognizant of them. In his office, with Mr. Eyres and Dr. Bingham both present, the chairman of the Board had refused to accept any responsibility for placing the patient in the room, but had uttered no word of protest. The medical health officer said he would accept all responsibility for the action and the mayor told it was his (Dr. Bingham's) business and to go ahead and do what he thought was right.

Dr. Bingham said that the chairman of the Board didn't interpret the law correctly. The case under discussion was a special one.

At this point Dr. Burnham read a letter that had been received from Dr. Hodgetts, of the Provincial Board of Health, to the effect that complaints had been made from Peterborough to the Provincial Board that the law had been broken in this city by the placing of a scarlet fever patient in a room that was not therequired distance from inhabited dwellings. Dr. Hodgetts wanted to know what the civic authorities of Peterborough were going to do regarding the matter.

Dr. Bingham said the people in Toronto did not know anything about the case, and weren't qualified to express an opinion.

Maor McWilliams wanted to know why the girl had been removed from the home where she was staying. There had been scarlet fever cases before and it had not been done.

Dr. McNult said she had been taken from the house because the gentleman where she was working had a delicate wife and six small children.

A SENSATIONAL CHARGE

At this point the Sanitary Inspector arose and said he was going to make a statement and tell what he thought, even if it was going to cost him his official head.

"Why was the girl removed?" he asked. "I have posted on the doors of poor men in this town contagious disease cards," said Mr. Ball, "and there was no word about taking any one away from their homes. Why was she taken away? you ask. My frank opinion is that she was taken from her home because she was a poor girl and a Roman Catholic, and if this board wants to go ahead in this manner, I want the people to know it."

Mr. Ball went on to say, with considerable heat, that when there was a case of contagious disease at Mr. O'Neill's house the patient was not removed nor the occupants of the house isolated. When there was a contagious disease case at a local hotel the place had not been Quarantined. "Why are these distinctions being made? Why was Mr. Neill privileged?" asked Mr. Ball.

Mr. Neill appeared to be indignant at the statements of the Sanitary inspector.

MR. NEILL REPLIES.

"You are fond of making statements, Mr. Ball," he said, "and of giving opinions that facts do not warrant it. You said there was not going to be any distinction if you could help it. There have been no distinctions. You have made statements about me that were not warranted."

"I have made no statements about you," broke in Mr. Ill.

"Two respectable citizens heard you make them," said Mr. Neill.

"Who are they?" asked Mr. Ball.

"They are leading citizens," said Mr. Neill.

Mr. Ball.—"Name them."

Mr. Neill.—"I can name them easily."

Mr. Ball.—"Why don't you name them then?"

Mr. Neill.—"I will when the time comes and it is necessary."

Mr. Ball.—"It will be necessary you will find out."

There was some more lively exchanges, but finally some order was restored and Mr. Eyres said that until Mr. Ball told him the girl was a Roman Catholic, I did not know whether she was a "Roman Catholic, Protestant, Jew or anything else."

"Has any harm been done by putting the girl there?" asked Dr. Bingham.

And the Board acknowledged that there had not.

The medical health officer offered to take all responsibility for what had been done and thought nothing more need be said about the matter.

"You're just wasting time talking nonsense," he said. The girl will be out again in a few days and everything will be alright.

To make peace between Dr. Bingham the Mayor moved, seconded by Dr. McNulty, that the clerk be instructed to place in the minutes of this meeting that the Medical Health Officer accepts the full responsibility for the placing of a scarlet fever patient in the top floor of the city buildings.—Carried.

Dr. Bingham said he was quite satisfied if Mr. Eyres would agree not to say that one case of fever made an epidemic and the chairman advised him not to say too much.

Adjournment then took place.

Board of Health Talks About City Milk Tests

The question as to who should perform the milk tests for the city and whether the test being made at present is satisfactory, was considered at this morning's meeting of the Board of Health. It was decided to let a joint meeting of the Board of Health and committee of the city council go into the matter fully and decide what is best to be done.

There were present at the meeting Chairman Eyres, Mayor McWilliams, Dr. Burnham, Dr. McNulty, Messrs. R. Neill and A. Parker, Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer, and Sanitary Inspector Ball.

The sanitary inspector reported in connection with his visit to Stony Lake in connection with the outbreak of typhoid fever there. The report had been previously dealt with by the water commissioners and no action was taken beyond the passing of a resolution that, if deemed advisable, a conference be held with the water commissioners regarding the matter.

MILK TESTS

The chairman wanted to know why the work of having the milk tests made had been changed by the city council from Toronto to Peterborough.

The mayor stated that Mr. Downham, who was now making the tests only ascertained the percentage of butter fat in the milk.

Mr. Eyres said it was no use discussing what was past. The best way out of the trouble was to instruct the sanitary inspector to have the samples of milk sent to Toronto in future and have them tested by the provincial analyst. He was a higher authority than any one in Peterborough.

Dr. McNulty said it was only during the warm summer months that he considered it was necessary to have the milk tests. It would be impossible to have samples of milk sent to Toronto during hot weather as it would ferment before it could be tested. He favored having the tests made in Peterborough by a competent person. Such a person would have to be appointed and paid. It was nothing more or less than charity to send the samples to the provincial analyst. Dr. McNulty continued with the statement that the council and Board of Health did not meet together often enough to discuss these matters.

The mayor said that Mr. Downham was fully competent to make the tests to ascertain the percentage of butter fat in milk, in other words to find out whether the milk was being watered, but he made no pretence about being able to make a chemical analysis.

Sanitary Inspector Ball agreed with what Dr. McNulty had said regarding sending samples to Toronto during hot weather. This had been tried, but the milk reached Toronto in such shape that it was unfit for analysis.

DO AWAY WITH BOARD

Mr. Neill said it was news to him that there was a health committee in connection with the city council. As the council had all the power regarding appointments, expenditure, etc., he thought it might be advisable to have all the powers of the Board of Health delegated to the Health Committee.

"You mean to do away with the Board of Health," said one of the members.

"That's my suggestion," said Mr. Neill.

The mayor pointed out that the Board of Health had certain powers which did not belong to the health committee.

After some more discussion along similar lines to the above, Mr. Neill moved and Dr. Burnham seconded, that the Board of Health meet the health committee of the city council and go into the matter of milk tests, the chairman of the Board to make the appointment.—Carried.

Insulting Words to a Young Girl

Young Lad Charged With This Offence in Police Court

Willie Tibault, a boy of about 12 years, appeared before the Magistrate this morning charged with using grossly insulting language towards a little girl named Annie Hamilton on Thursday last. Tebault pleaded not guilty.

Norman Russell swore that young Tebault told his little brother to say the bad words and the little Russell boy also said that Tebault told him to say them. The defendant's grandfather stated that the boy was out driving with him at the time stated by the little girl that the words were used.

His Worship further enlarged the case until to-morrow morning in order to bring another witness to court. He said that he intended to see the matter to a finish. Any boy guilty of using such language deserved to be severely flogged.

Presentation to Mr. James Barry

Mr. James Barry, late county treasurer of Douro, and who leaves for Vancouver in a few days, was waited on at his home last evening and was made the recipient of an appreciative address on behalf of the township council, which was read by Mr. J. J. Allen, township clerk. The C.M.B.A. presented him with a handsome meerschaum pipe. On behalf of that body Mr. A. Whibbs read the address. The ladies of Douro presented Mr. Barry with a gold cake dish and a gold fruit spoon. Mrs. Frank Maher read the address and Mrs. James P. Collins made the presentation.

The address given to Mr. Barry was gotten up by the Review Job department. It is in folio shape, the pages of handmade paper, beautifully bordered and illuminated, the whole bound in velvet brown leather with silk linings. The address was greatly admired and conceded to be the handsomest thing of the kind yet seen. The script of the address was done by Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, who is a penman of rare accomplishment in that art, being beautifully, written, graceful and distinct.

CUPID'S COURT.

An Adverse Decision, an Appeal and an Oral Argument.

The judge's daughter was perturbed.

"Papa," she said, knitting her pretty brow, "I am in doubt as to whether I have kept to the proper form of procedure. In law one can err in so many little technicalities that I am ever fearful. Now, last evening George"—

The judge looked at her so sharply over his glasses that she involuntarily paused.

"I thought you had sent him about his business," he said.

"I did hand down an adverse decision," she answered, "and he declared that he would appeal. However, I convinced him that I was the court of last resort in a case like that and that no appeal would lie from my decision."

"Possibly the court was assuming a little more power than rightfully belongs to it," said the judge thoughtfully, "but let that pass. What did he do then?"

"He filed a petition for a rehearing."

"The usual course," said the judge, "but it is usually nothing but a mere formality."

"So I thought," returned the girl, "and I was prepared to deny it without argument, but the facts set forth in his petition were sufficient to make me hesitate and wonder whether his case had really been properly presented at the first trial."

"Upon what grounds did he make the application?" asked the judge, scowling.

"Well," she replied, blushing a little, "you see, he proposed by letter, and his contention was that the case was of that peculiar character that cannot be properly presented by briefs, but demands oral arguments. The fact that the latter had been omitted, he held, should be held an error, and the point was such a novel one that I consented to let him argue it. Then his argument was so forceful that I granted his petition and consented to hear the whole case again. Do you think"—

"I think," said the judge, "that the court favors the plaintiff."

MONEY SYSTEMS.

The World's Coinage Muddle and the Range of Units of Value.

Twenty-six different monetary units are used by the forty-eight principal countries of the world. Thus Great Britain uses the sovereign or pound sterling, France and six other countries of Europe use a unit equal to the franc, and Canada and the United States use the dollar.

In value these different units range from 4.4 to 494.33 cents of money of the United States. They are represented in their turn by coins the values of which are either multiples or fractional parts of the value of their own chief units, and there are no doubt at least 200 such sufficient coins not one of which seems to have a value equal to that of any commonly known unit of weight, as the gram, for example, or the ounce of gold, although forty-three of these forty-eight countries have accepted gold as their standard measure of values.

This lack of logical relation of coins to any widely used unit of weight of the precious metals may be due to the fact that money systems seem to have grown up haphazard, under diverse conditions of life, in different parts of the world.

Such diversity in moneys may have been of little moment when millions of people spent their lives knowing nothing of the existence of other millions and there was little traffic. But these differences in monetary units are of importance now that international commerce includes millions of tons of products of the toil of all lands and billions of dollars each year to settle its bills, for such differences put upon trade a wholly unnecessary tax. No account is made here of the burden laid on domestic trade by like variation in the value of such units at home, as of the tael of China, which has sixteen different values within that empire.

"Old Hundred" Scares Birds.

It is a strange but well authenticated fact that the wild creatures of the woods dislike the sound of that solemn hymn "Old Hundred." Muir, the naturalist, proved the truth of this by singing it in the woods of the Sierras to the birds and squirrels, which were very tame from never having been frightened by the report of a gun or other alarming sound. They would come and sit near him upon the branches of trees and listen to any lively tune he might sing, blinking their bright eyes as though they liked it, but at the first sound of "Old Hundred" they would beat a quick retreat to their holes or nests and never appear again until he changed the tune. This experiment was made in different places on various occasions with exactly the same result.

When It Rains in India.

While Jupiter Pluvius reigns in India nothing can be done out of doors. The rain at times is simply a white liquid sheet dropping straight down from the heavens, so that no very great stretch of imagination is required to convince one that a deluge is not an impossible event.—Wide World Magazine.

In Prospect.

"Have you lived here all your life, friend?"

"Not yit, but ef I don't git money enough to move I reckon I'll have to!"

It is not reasonings that are wanted now, for there are books stuffed full of stoical reasonings.—Epictetus.

A gravel train on the T. & N. O. at Englehart, was derailed on Saturday and an unknown man killed.

Is Your House Ready for Mail?

What the Householder Should do to Assist the Postmen in Mail Delivery?

The coming in of house delivery of mail matter calls for some provision on the part of householders to receive the same. Where such provision is not made the postman is placed in the position of either being obliged to wait, often in rain, for the inmates to come to the door, or to retain the mail for delivery on a subsequent round.

The letter box opening in the door covered by a neat metal plate, obviates to a large extent the difficulties of delivery, and these should be provided at each house. The Kingan Hardware Co. can supply a varied lined of these plates and send skilled mechanics to place in position. Samples can be seen at the store where orders will be taken.

Grand Wedding at S. A. Barracks

Happy Young Couple Married Amid Much Rejoicing

A wedding of unusual interest was celebrated last evening at the Salvation Army barracks when two young soldiers pledged their troth. It was the marriage of Miss Ethel Fiske of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, and Bandsman Arthur Goode, of Lippincott street band, Toronto. The bride is an estimable young lady and very popular among her fellow workers. The groom is a prosperous young man and holds a lucrative position in the Queen city. The occasion was one of great rejoicing and happiness was the keynote of the whole proceedings. It was a grand hallelujah wedding and at times the people cheered and clapped their hands vigorously. The ceremony was performed by Brigadier Collier, of Toronto, a prominent staff officer connected with the prison and social work of the Army in that city. The large hall was well filled with friends of the contracting parties. At 8.30 the bridal party to the strains of music by the band walked to the front and took their places. The bride wore the conventional bridal suit of an army soldier and carried white carnations. The bridesmaid, Miss Dessie Gooch, was similarly attired and also carried white carnations.

After the ceremony hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the happy young couple.

A number of short addresses were made relative to the joyful occasion. Brigadier Collier and Adjutant Wiggins added a few words of good advice to the two soldiers who were just launching on to the sea of matrimony. They wished them many years of happy life and hoped their days would be spent in much usefulness in the work of the army.

Sergt.-Major Braund was the next speaker. He heartily felicitated the newly married couple. He recalled his marriage some years ago. He and his wife had put God first in everything, and their's had been a happy union. He advised the young couple who had just been made one to serve the Lord and all would be joy.

Sergeant Mrs. Lloyd also added a few words of congratulation.

Messrs. Smith and Harwood, of Toronto, employers of the bridegroom, came down to Peterborough especially to witness the ceremony. Both gentlemen spoke last evening, in eulogistic terms of the worth of the groom. He was an exemplary young man, faithful in his work and regular in his duties as bandsman in the Army. Mr. Harwood believed that the bride was getting a good husband. He joined their host of friends in wishing them a happy wedded life.

After a few selections by the band the audience dispersed and about thirty of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties adjourned to the Sunday school where a sumptuous wedding repast was partaken of, Mr. Thos. Hooper doing the catering. Mr. and Mrs. Gooch will reside in Toronto.

HAS HEEL-COMFORTING COUNTERS

Action of a a Heel-Skinning Counter

Improvement Number Three

Don't know what is meant by a shoe counter? Well, it's the stiff leather that fits around the heel. It's the back stop of the shoe. It forms a leather cavity into which the heel fits. If wrongly built that cavity can inflict more agony than any other section of a shoe. In nearly all shoes it's given little or no care. It's usually constructed of Hemlock tanned, scrap sole leather, hard and stiff as stone, and is licked together in the cheapest way without shape or form. Result? A rigid, unbudgable, heel-skinning, pain-producing, walk-hindering counter.

Foot-rite counters are somewhat different—slightly. They're made of special oak-tanned counter stock, stout but soft, and being shaped the exact shape of a human heel, they are heel sockets, and when the heel ball fills them, they're practically ball and socket joints like the human shoulder, capable of moving in any direction and bound together by air section.

Action of a Foot-rite Heel Comforting Counter

What good are these Foot-rite ball and socket counters? They're this good! Their soft leather won't skin the heel, even though it may rub at every up and down movement, but that up and down rubbing is entirely eliminated by the ball and socket suction which forces the sole under the heel, also the counter at the back and sides, to hug the heel snugly as it lifts and lowers in walking. This suction is not noticeable. Like the shoulder joint it performs its office without being felt.

There's a Foot-rite store in town. Ask to see the Foot-rite Heel Comforting Counters.

Anywhere in America, Canada or Great Britain—$4.00, $500 and $6.00. Every pair Goodyear Welt sewn, which is an added advantage.

Six Day Campaign Ended; Amount Aimed at Was Raised

Over $2,300 Realized for the Y.M.C.A.—Success Crowns the Movement—Banquet Last Evening Was Well Attended—Mr. Williamson's Services Appreciated.

The whirlwind six day campaign on behalf of Y.M.C.A. finance is ended, and the amount aimed at—$2,300—has been more than raised.

The Citizens' Committee sought to collect $1,800 and the young men $500.

When the first report was read at the gathering last night, the sum in cash and pledges was announced at $1706. Before the assembly dispersed this was raised to $1810. The young men reported as having in cash and pledges $507—$7 more than they undertook to collect. The total contributions are, therefore, $2317, which will place the Association free of all financial obligation until the end of the year. The valuable services of Mr. George H. Williamson, the retiring general secretary, were also appreciatively referred to during the course of the evening.

An excellent tea, provided by the Ladies' Auxiliary was enjoyed, and done ample justice to. Mr. J. C. Shook made an ideal chairman, and presented the citizens' report, which showed $1706 collected in cash and pledges. He was sorry that the $1,800 aimed at had not been raised, but he urged the committees to carry on its good work and see that the Association had a surplus in the bank instead of a deficit.

Mr. C. M. Copeland, general secretary, spoke briefly. He said that all the campaigns conducted by the Y.M.C.A. in Ontario and Quebec had raised the sums they set out to covar and he was sorry the Peterborough Association was short $94. He believed that the small deficit could be made up, and he would gladly give the $4 provided the remaining $90 was raised. In North America during the past year some $12,000,000 had been expended in new buildings by the different associations. In Ontario and Quebec provinces during the past five years, about $350,000 had been put into the construction of new Y.M.C.A. edifices.

Mr. W. McLaren, on behalf of the young men, reported that they had started out to raise $500 and had collected $507. They found that the young men took a great interest in the work. His report was received with loud applause.

Hon. J. R. Stratton was next called upon. He sympathized with the movement to place the Y.M.C.A. on a proper working basis. He appreciated the work of the Association, and wanted to see it go on. The aims and objects of the Association were good. He was very sorry that Mr. Williamson, the general secretary, was leaving Peterborough. The institution could not be run on air or wind. It must be managed on business principles, and was deserving of the help of all. Many subscriptions lists had been circulated of late—all for worthy objects, no doubt— and, although he had already given $50 to the Y.M.C.A. fund he would double his subscription, provided that five more persons gave ten dollars each. Thus, the amount required to make up the sum of $1,800 would be realized. Messrs. Peter Campbell, D Hughes Charles, Vincent Eastwood, Robert Fair and J. C. Shook each spoke up and said they would each donate $10 more to what they had already contributed. This made $50, which, added to the $50 extra gift of the speaker, totalled $100 and with the $1 promised by Mr. C. M. Copeland, was $104 all told. This added to the previous sum of $1706 made the grand aggregate from the citizens 'committee, $1810.

Then the building rang with cheers and cries of "Mr. Copeland, your bluff has been called." Mr. Stratton resumed his seat, amid loud applause, after saying that Mr. Williamson would carry to Fort William the confidence and good will of all for his success in his new field of labor.

OTHER SPEECHES

Mr. D. Hughes Charles, who has been an untiring worker on the citizens' committee said that, previous to the present campaign, he had not taken a great deal of interest in the Y.M.C.A. He had done something on this occasion, however, and had become interested in the work through Mr. Williamson. He had met with a good reception in his canvass, and was glad that the finances of the Y.M.C.A. were being put on a sound basis. The privileges of the Y.M.C.A. were not sufficiently appreciated. That which cost but little was not highly prized. Mr. Charles said that the benefits received from the physical department alone were well worth the price of a ticket of a year's membership. The Y.M.C.A. was well equipped, particularly the gymnasium.

Mr. Robert Fair said he had not previously evinced much interest in the Y.M.C.A. but he had done a little on this occasion. They were all sorry to lose Mr. Williamson, and he hoped the Association would be successful in securing the services of a man, who would carry on the work oin the future, as well as it had been done in the past.

Mr. Peter Campbell said that he had great respect and admiration for Mr. Williamson, but he did not think that gentleman had been engaged to look after the finances of the institution. He thought that the duties of a secretary should be to guard the moral welfare of the Association and its members, and not the financial end, which should be attended to by the Board of Directors. Mr. Williamson had, at times been placed in an awkward position. He believed that the Board should relieve a secretary of all monetary worries. He was, indeed, sorry that Mr. Williamson was leaving the city.

Mr. J. C. Shook admitted, on behalf of the Board of Directors, that they had been somewhat remiss in placing financial responsibility on the secretary. They intended in the future to take the public more into their confidence, and give greater publicity to the proceedings of the Y.M.C.A. He also expressed his gratitude to the press for the help given at all times.

Mr. R. E. Harding, president, said that he was proud to occupy the position. He believed that the institution in Peterborough was doing as much general good as the Y.M.C.A. and, if he were a Carnegie he would devote his wealth to establishing Y.M.C.A.'s. They made better young men; they built up young men who, on going out into the world, would see that public libraries and other institutions were erected. He was very sorry that Mr. Williamson was leaving. He had his faults, like other men, but he would like the man, who had not any faults to cast the first stone. He had done his best to assist Mr. Williamson in the work and, in parting with him, they were losing one who carried with him the respect and good will of all friends of the Y.M.C.A.

Hon. J. R. Stratton referred appreciatively to the active efforts of Mr. Harding as president, and moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Williamson, to whom he paid many compliments. He asked all to drink heartily to the toast of the retiring secretary. The company sang, "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and gave three rousing cheers.

Mr. Williamson, in replying, said that the success of the campaign had been due to the citizens' committee and the young men. It showed what could be done when they all worked unitedly and enthusiastically. In Canada only two Y.M.C.A. secretaries had been in one place longer than 10 1-2 years—the length of his tenure of office here. Changes were necessary, in the work of Y.M.C.A.'s both for the success and benefit of the institution, and for the development of a secretary. His associations with the Board of Directors and the members of the Y.M.C.A., had been very pleasant. He hoped that the time was not far distant when there would be erected a boys building, which was absolutely necessary for the success of that branch of the work. He also trusted that the dormitories would be extended. It was also an important department. In going to Fort William he was thankful for the many kind expressions for his future success, and he looked forward to a new era of association work in Peterborough. He warmly thanked all for the kindness extended to him during the past 10 1-2 years.

Messrs. J. W. Bennett and R. E. Harding moved a cordial vote of thanks to the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the splendid supper provided, and the gathering then broke up. Thus ended most successfully the six days' campaign.

During the evening Mr. Duncan Campbell sang a solo in good voice.

OPEN MEETING OF THE R. T. OF T.

Addresses and Musical Program —Band of Hope to be Organized

Last night Dan Spence Council, R.T. of T., held an openmeeting at their hall on George street. Interesting addresses were given by several members. A good vocal and instrumental programme was rendered, and refreshments were served toward the conclusion of the evening.

Rev. Mr. Manning, in a vigorous speech, dwelt on the evils of intemperance, and complimented the society on its excellent work in its cause.

Mr. Dunsford, the next speaker, told in a graphic manner of the collision and wreck of two ships many years ago. He was a passenger on one of the ships and was one of the three survivors of the terrible disaster.

Mr. J. W. Care, who occupied the chair, spoke on the worthiness of the cause of temperance, and incidentally paid a tribute to St. Peter's T.A.S. for their consistent and invaluable work in that respect.

Mrs. Jas. Kendry advocated the organization of a Band of Hope, and a meeting will be held in the near future for the purpose.

Another open meeting of the society will be held in the latter part of November, but the date has not yet been decided upon.

Method of Taking Assessment for 1908 Scored at Citizens' Meeting

Two Hundred Citizens Turn Out in Answer to Board of Trade's Call to Consider Mode of Assessment—Resolution Passed Urging Court of Revision to Make Investigation—Speakers Express Their Indignation.

Large Increase in Assessment, Especially in South End, Thought to be Uujustifiable—City Council Blamed for Having Assessors Work Separately—Prominent Citizens Give Their Views.

Moved by W. H. Meidrum,
Seconded by D. Hughes Charles,

"That this meeting of citizens, called by the Board of Trade of the city of Peterborough, after hearing and discussing the assessment for 1908, and the large increase, and, as claimed, the unjust assessment, especially in wards 1 and 2, this meeting would respectfully impress on the members of the Court of Revision the desirability of thoroughly investigating the conditions affecting the assessment of 1908, and if such assessment is unjust to any citizen of the city, we recommend such assessment should be equalized in the interests of both citizens and city."—Carried unanimously.

The above resolution, passed unanimously at the meeting last night, called by the Board of Trade to consider the assessment question of the city of Peterborough, gives a pretty fair idea of how the ratepayers feel regarding the assessment for 1908.

The meeting was held in the City council chamber, and not for years has the room held such a large assembly of prominent citizens. The number present and the various speeches left no doubt that the ratepayers of the city are worked up to a high pitch in connection with the way the property has been assessed this year. The meeting was called by the Board of Trade, and those present are a unit in saying that it was the most largely attended and the best meeting ever assembled under the auspices of the Board. Citizens who had never been inside the council chamber in their lives clambered up the stairs and some of them stood up throughout the entire meeting. There were not seats enough to accommodate all, even though a large number of extra chairs were brought in. There were nearly 500 present, and the outstanding feature was that over 90 per cent. of them were ratepayers. Many stated that it was the largest meeting ever gathered in the council chamber. Lawyers, doctors, business men, laborers, retired citizens, in fact all classes were represented, and there was a unanimity of opinion that there is something seriously wrong with the way the assessment has been done this year, and that if something radical is not done, the city is going to be seriously affected. In fact, it is felt that to leave the assessment as it has been placed would be almost a calamity to the city.

Ratepayers are asked to bear in mind that the above resolution will not result in their assessment being lowered by the Court of Revision, even though the values placed upon property by the assessors may be very unjust. The Court of Revision will onlydeal with those cases of which they shall have notice of appeal in the proper time. If you consider your property is assessed too high, make your appeal in the proper time. All appeals must be in before Monday, October 21st. Ratepayers are asked to bear this in mind.

To sum up the points brought out at last night's meeting in concise form, it may be stated that the more important ones were as follows:—

1. That much dissatisfaction exists in the city as a result of the assessment for 1908.
2. That apparently wards one and two have not been assessed upon the same basis as wards 3, 4 and 5.
3. That the City Council erred in having the two assessors do the work separately, and that the apparent unequal assessment has been the result of this action.
4. That the mode of assessment best suited for the city of Peterborough is to have two assessors working in conjunction; that if the present assessors will not act together, one or both should be displaced and others appointed.
5. That an assessment commissioner would be too costly for Peterborough at the present time, and would not give the same satisfaction as two assessors working in conjunction.

Some of the speakers went so far as to propose that this year's assessment should be cancelled, and the assessment for 1907 be taken for 1908, subject to such changes as the Court of Revision might see fit.

The point arose in this connection would it be legal to take such action, and the legal gentlemen present expressed the opinion that it would not. The resolution given above was passed to show the feeling of a meeting of representative citizens, and that it might influence the Court of Revision to make an investigation of the way the assessment has been done for 1908.

The meeting was exciting at times, and one or two of the speakers said strong things about Mr. McKee, who assessed wards one and two, but the general trend of the speeches was that the assessors had tried to do their duty honestly, but had made mistakes as a result of working separately. Mr. McKee and Mr. McGrath were both present at the meeting, and made statements as to the way they had assessed.

The City Council came in for the bulk of the blame for the muddle regarding the assessment, it being contended that the council should never have appointed the two men to work separately. The opinion was expressed that the council had shown poor judgment in this matter, and did not act in the best interests of the city.

There was practically a unanimity of opinion that the assessment of Peterborough can best be done by two men working together.

The chief trouble lies in the fact Mr. McKee is alleged to have assessed wards 1 and 2, the south end of the city, too high, compared with Mr McGrath's assessment for wards 3, 4 and 5. An equalized assessment is what the ratepayers are clamoring for.

Dr. Morrison, president of the Board of Trade, presided, while the secretary, Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, looked after the clerical work.

Referring to the assessment question, Dr. Morrison said that the matter to be considered was the mode of assessment. He asked Mayor McWilliams to outline the present system, and to give such other information as he might consider would be of interest. The meeting was not called to criticize the work of the assessors, but to consider the system of assessment in vogue.

MAYOR McWILLIAMS.

Mayor McWilliams said that about five years ago the Government of Ontario appointed a commission to go into the whole system of the province. The commission brought in a report, and as a result a law was passed that many important changes were made, one of the most noteworthy of which was the abolition of the assessment of personal property.

Another important change was the separation of the land value from the building value. He read from the Act the clause which says that real property shall be assessed at actual value.

In connection with vacant lands, Act reads that such land shall be assessed at the figure at which it would sell, or, in other words, at its selling value. The whole trend of the new Act was to have the assessment closer to the actual value than under the old law. He emphasized the point that the law could not be interfered with or any change made in it by the City Council, Court of Revision, or any other body in Peterborough. As regards the appointment of assessors, he said that for fifteen years Peterborough had four assessors, Messrs. McGrath, Kincaid, McKee and Aldrich. About two years ag othe council decided that the work would be done better by two assessors, and Messrs. McGrath and McKee were appointed. Continuing, he outlined the appointment of Messrs. McKee and McGrath for the present year, when it was decided to have one of them assess wards 1 and 2, and the other wards 3, 4 and 5. Mr. McKee had 1 and 2, and Mr. McGrath, 3, 4 and 5. The scheme adopted was that they should change about each year.

The council had to take the responsibility for the appointment of the assessors. The opinion prevailed in the council that is one man could be found who would be satisfactory to do all the assessing, an improvement would be made over the present system. To date they had not been able to find one man whom they could agree upon as being entirely satisfactory.

Have the assessors carried out their work in a satisfactory manner? This was the next question dealt with by Mr. McWilliams. Both Mr. McKee and Mr. McGrath were thoroughly posted as to the Assessment Act. Both the assessors should take no instructions from an yone. When they were appointed they were complete bosses of their work, in fact they took an oath that they would not receive instructions from any one. He was emphatic in the statement that the Council had never tried in the slightest manner to influence the assessors. The Mayor went on to say that he had no conversation with either of the assessors until after the complaints started to be made, especially from wards 1 and 2, about the high assessment. He spoke to Mr. McKee regarding the protests, and was told by the assessor that he (McKee) was assessing close to the actual value, being required to do so by the new Act. The point arose, had the two assessors been working on the same basis? If the two parts of the city were assessed upon an equally stiff basis it made no difference whether the assessment was made on 75 per cent. or 100 per cent of the actual value. The amount of money required to run the city each year was a sum that was pretty fairly taxed. If the assessment was high, the rate could be lowered and the taxes would not be raised. The city required a certain sum of money, and it made no difference whether it was obtained by the assessment or by the rate. A high assessment meant a low rate, and vice versa.

THE FIRST PROTEST.

A ratepayer of No. 1 Ward said he was quite willing to accept the assessor's valuation of his property, if the assessor could show that his property had advanced $1,720, amount it had been raised by the assessor this year. If he could be shown that the property had increased that much in value in one year, he was willing to accept it.

"Probably that new school has increased the value of your property that much" said W. H. Meldrum.

"Perhaps so," was the reply, "then so much the better for the buyer, not for me."

MR. WOOD'S OPINION.

Mr. R. E. Wood said he believed the trouble over the assessment this year arose from the fact that the assessment in the past had been too low. The duty of the assessors was to see that the burden of taxation was placed fairly upon the shoulders of the ratepayers. He emphasized the point that the assessors were more likely to get a uniform assessment if they assessed close to actual value instead of on a 60 or 75 per cent. basis.

Speaking of the council's appointment of the assessors, Mr. Wood said that if the council voted upon the appointment of one man for an assessor without considering the question of votes for the next election they would not find it such a difficult matter.

Applause greeted this statement.

A STRONG STATEMENT.

Mr. J. J. Turner, sr., told a story, the point of which that a certain man who had a family of six children on a salary of $1.00 per day, should have been on the same side as the lunatic who asked him how many children he had, and his salary, in other words to an asylum. That was the side of the wall Mr. McKee should be on, said Mr. Turner, implying that Mr. McKee should be in an asylum.

"That's a hard thing to say about any man," broke in an auditor.

"You can take it as you like it," said Mr. Turner, "if you don't like what I say you can do the other thing."

"No personalities," said the chairman, and Mr. Turner came back to his subject. He stated that the store in the Grand Opera House block occupied by the J. M. Greene Music Co., had been assessed last year at $2,000. This year it was $3,000, although all he had done to it was to give it a coat of paint. He specified several other cases, where he considered the assessment was far from being fair.

RESULT OF AN INVESTIGATION.

Mr. R. E. Layfield said that he believed the two assessors of the city had tried to assess the property at what they considered fair. He had taken some pains in making an investigation of the assessment in No. 1 ward and part of No. 3 ward, where the conditions were much the same as in No. 1 ward, namely, a large amount of building going on. He found that the increase in the assessment in ward 3 for 1908 over that of 1907 was about 15 3-4 per cent., whereas in ward 1 the increase was 41 per cent. There was something wrong; the two assessors were not working on the same basis. A serious mistake had been made, and something should be done to effect a remedy. He suggested that if necessary, this year's assessment should be dropped and last year's, or the assessment of two years ago, be reverted to, with such changes as the Court of Revision might make.

Mr. Layfield's statement was clear and logical and met with general approval.

Mr. John Carlisle was the next speaker and imparted the information that Mr. McKee had told a gentleman who was now in the room that he had been told to raise the assessment. He wanted to know who had given him these instructions.

MR. McKEE DENIES.

Mr. McKee arose and denied that he had made such a statement.

Some gentleman in the audience said he had heard Mr. McKee make the statement and told him so forcibly, but the assessor denied the charge in entirety.

Some one in the audience said he had heard that Mr. McKee had said he had been told by the mayor to boost the assessment to the highest notch.

This statement caused a big laugh.

Mr. Eisenburg, of the junk firm of Low, Eisenburg & Co., said he didn't know much about assessing, but he was willing to sell his business to Mr. McKee at the assessment value.

It was pointed out that the assessors did not regulate the business assessment.

REV. FATHER McCOLL.

Rev. Father McColl said everybody could see it was of the greatest importance to have the city evenly assessed. It was a matter of justice. He did not know the methods used by assessors. And in connection with the assessment on the property in which he was interested, had been raised, but he was not going to complain if the other property in the city was assessed proportionately. He thought that the best way to have the assessing done would be to have two men go around together. Two men, he thought, could be secured who could work together. Speaking plainly he would say if a man refused to work with another he should not be employed. He considered that the two assessors had tried to do their work honestly.

W. H. MELDRUM.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum said he considered that the mistake had been made in having the two assessors work separately. If the two men had been unable to see eye to eye as to the value of property, then it was all the more important that they should have worked jointly. Mr Meldrum went on to say that it was a serious matter, and the assessment in the south end of the city, had killed business in real estate in that district. He would favor a public meeting being called in the opera house, if it was necessary, to show the council that the people were in earnest. He would favor, if this year's assessment was found unjust, going back to last year's assessment and would move to this effect.

MR. HUGHES-CHARLES.

Mr. D Hughes Charles agreed with Mr Meldrum that the mistake had been made in separating the two assessors. "We want everybody to be contented," said the speaker. "We don't want any man to think that his neighbor has an advantage over him." He did not doubt the honesty of either assessor, but there was something wrong. No one man should have a right to say what any man's property was worth. He could not understand how Mr. McKee had arrived at the assessment on the Bank of Commerce property. According to the assessment the business of the bank must have increased four fold to warrant it and the business had not grown that rapidly.

MR. McKEE'S STATEMENT.

Mr. McKee said he believed he had assessed according to the law. His opinion was that a more equitable assessment could be arrived at by assessing close to the actual value. The assessment in the past in many cases had been too low. This is what was causing the trouble. He had tried to do his work honestly and to follow the act by which the assessors were guided.

MR. SHEEHY PROTESTS.

Mr. R. Sheehy also protested against what he called the big injustice that had been done. He wanted to know who had loaded up Mr. McKee to raise the assessment. Somebody must have told him to do it.

At this juncture, Mr. Meldrum's motion was brought in in slightly different form from what appears above, as it was revised before being passed.

Mr. W. H. Moore gave his opinion that it would not be legal to cancel this year's assessment and go back to that of a former year. The City Council, said Mr. Moore, had made an egregious blunder, and the blame should rest on the whole body. The speakers during the evening had got to the crux of the matter, when they pleaded for an equalized assessment. Personally, he believed in having an assessment close to the actual value. It did not matter a fig whether the assessment was high or low, as long as it was equal and fair. Mr. Moore went on to say that he favored having an assessment commissioner, a man who was well acquainted with the city. This commissioner would have assessors working under him, but he would have complete control. He thought that nothing could be done this year to redeem the blunder that had been made. The only redress was in the Court of Revision.

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION.

Mr. F. D. Kerr arose to point out that the Court of Revision only paid attention to cases of assessment that had been appealed to them by the ratepayers, who felt that they were unjustly assessed. He wanted it understood that the resolution to be passed, did away with the necessity of appealing to the Court of Revision. Mr. Kerr, expressing his opinion, as a ratepayer, said he believed the assessment should be done by two men working together. Peterborough was not large enough yet for an assessment commissioner.

MR. McGRATH SPEAKS.

Mr. McGrath was among the last of the speakers, and he considered that the way the assessors had been appointed this year, had been childish. As far as he was concerned, personally, he had nothing whatever to say against Mr. McKee. They had always been friends. He had worked with each and every assessor that had been appointed for the last fifteen years, and had never had any trouble until the present year. "There is a reason back of Mr. McKee not wanting to work with me," said Mr. McGrath, "but that is his own business." Mr. McGrath gave his views as to how the work of assessment should be done, and they appeared to meet with every approval. He made a good impression and was loudly applauded on resuming his seat.

Mr. H. C. Stabler also spoke briefly in connection with the motion, making the point that the man who offered to sell for the assessed value often looked down when some one came along who offered to take him at his word.

On Mr. Meldrum's and Mr. Hughes Charles' motion being put it was carried unanimously.

Before adjourning a vote of thanks was passed the Board of Trade for having called the meeting and given an opportunity to citizens to express their views on such an important question.

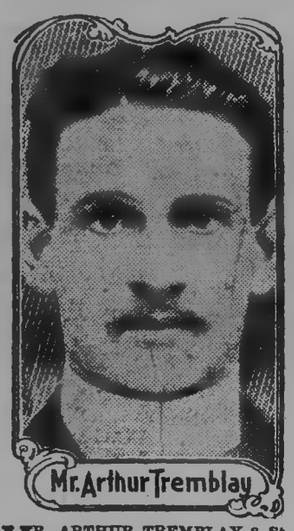
A SHORT HISTORY

A Serious Case of Chronic Catarrh Gradually Overcome By Pe-ru-na.

A REMARKABLE CASE.



MR. ARTHUR TREMBLAY, 8 St. James street, Mont Pleasant, Que., Can., writes:

"About three years ago, catarrh in its most serious form assailed me.

"I consulted a specialist who prescribed medicines as constitutional treatment and a liquid to use locally.

"This gave me relief for a time, but soon afterwards the disease returned.

"I was then suffering very much, my appetite had left me and I was growing weaker.

"I had frequently read pamphlets regarding the cures made by Peruna, and although somewhat dubious as to its doing me any good, I decided to try a few bottles.

"I had not taken Peruna for more than two weeks before a marked improvement was perceptible.

"As I continued taking the remedy, the disease gradually disappeared and in a few months I was entirely rid of the nauseous malady."

A SURE THING FOR THE BOYS

The Daily Review News Boys Competition, With Twenty-two Prizes Began on Tuesday Oct. 8th.

Attention is directed to the newsboys competition, the particulars of which are given on another page. It contains the largest and most valuable list of prizes ever offered, away ahead of anything yet attempted. The rewards are a sure thing and the conditions easy, Absolute fairness is insured in the few and simple conditions.

Parents need have no hesitation in letting the little fellows take part. It has the educational feature that it encourages the boy to earn for himself, and he will value very much more highly that which he has gained by his diligence and energy, than that which is given to him. The little fellows will be taken care of. Not herded in a dingy cellar or kept out in the cold, but will have admission to the Review Business Office, where they will be looked after. Papers will be ready shortly after four o'clock each day, and served to the boys promptly.

Graduating Nurses Given Their Diplomas and Medals

Y.M.C.A. Unable to Accommodate Large Number Who Were Present to Witness Interesting Exercises—Addresses by Mr. Richard Hall, Chairman of Board of Trustees of Nicholls Hospital, Rev. J. R. Webb and Drs. Eastwood and Young—Miss Bertha Mowry Read Valedictory.

"O, woman, in our hours of ease,
Uncertain, coy and hard to please,
But, when anguish wrings the brow,
A ministering angel thou."

The idea thus expressed in the immortal words of Sir Walter Scott, was the note that lent beautiful significance to the interesting ceremony connected with the awarding of diplomas and medals to the graduating calss of the Nicholls Hospital Training School for Nurses. It endowed four young ladies—Miss K. Douglas, Miss Margaret Radcliffe, Miss Bertha Mowry and Miss Carrie Steele—the members of the graduating class for 1906'07 with the right and privilege of practising the noble art of nursing the sick and suffering.

The ceremony marked the culmination of three years of study and training, the passing, with honors, of the required examinations and the diplomas and medals presented were the outward token testifying to the qualifications of those who received them to exercise the calling upon which they had entered under such promising auspices. The occasion was also an impressive one and the young ladies took a solemn vow committing them to a diligent devotion to the duties their work involved and a faithful performance of the obligations they assumed.

The Y.M.C.A., where the ceremony was held was tastefully decorated with flags and sprays of autumn foliage. It was filled to its utmost capacity by an audience representing the best social, moral and intellectual elements of the city. The graduating candidates garbed in the snowy uniform of the army to which they were about to enlist, occupied the front range of seats in company with the Lady Superintendent of the hospital, De La Mater, Miss Helen Coleman, assistant supt. and the other members of the nursing staff. Upon the platform were Mr. Richard Hall, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and other officials of the hospital, a number of the members of the medical staff and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt and Rev. J. R. Webb. A number of other officials of the hospital physicians, and clergymen, were present among the audience.

CHAIRMAN'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Richard Hall, who presided, began the proceedings by giving the following address:—

It is not my intention to make any lengthy remarks on this occasion. The programme arranged for the evening is an interesting one and we shall proceed at once with it. I want to thank you, however, on behalf of the trustees and nursing staff for your presence here indicating the interest you show in the work of the Nicholls hospital and the graduating nurses. I am not speaking idly when I say that we are proud of our young lady graduates who have or to-night will receive this diploma, for without a single exception they have proved a credit to the institution, some of them holding positions of considerable importance both in Canada and the United States. I am sure we all join in wishing the graduates God speed in their chosen calling.

Mr. Hall's address was followed by a tenor solo sung in a finished manner, which revealed artistic temperment and intelligent interpretative ability, by Mr. Frank Bumrose, of Toronto. The number was entitled "Let me like a soldier fall."

The enthusiastic applause which greeted his singing demonstrated both the appreciation and good judgment of the audience. He was heartily encored and responded with a capitally sung and exceedingly pretty little love ditty, "Dear Heart of Mine." Mr. John Crane was the capable accompanist for Mr. Bemrose's selections during the evening.

REV. MR. WEBB.

Rev. Mr. Webb in his address to the nurses said: "I fully appreciate the great honor done me to-night in having been chosen to deliver the address. I have just come from marrying a beautiful young lady to a fine young man and have come here to marry four young ladies to their life's work."

He congratulated the members of the graduating class upon their success and said they owed a great debt, which they never could repay, to the Nicholls hospital. Mr. Webb stated that the mantle of Charlotte and Robert Nicholls had fallen in some sense on the shoulders of Mr. Richard Hall, (applause) and said that Peterborough should be most grateful that the affairs of the Nicholls Estate are in the hands of those who manage them. There must be a motive behind every action. Christ is incarnate in the world co-day.

"Your work," said the speaker, "is in the very highest sense a call to the Christian ministry." He urged the young graduates to do all in their power to faithfully discharge the responsible duties in connection with the fulfillment of their exalted mission.

At the conclusion of Mr. Webb's address Miss Mollie Meldrum rendered a piano solo that was given a cordial reception. Miss Meldrum displayed decided brilliancy of technique as well as a natural gift of sympathetic interpretation.

REV. J. R. WEBB

Who Delivered the Address to the Graduating Nurses Last Night.

DR. YOUNG.

In his charge to the nurses Dr. Young remarked that it afforded him great pleasure to note the high state of efficiency the graduates had reached under the instruction of Miss Coleman, the former superintendent, and the present superintendent, Miss De La Matter. He said if those receiving diplomas and medals did as well during their professional career as they did at their graduating examinations their life in their chosen sphere would be a highly successful and useful one. He then read over the declaration the four graduates had to take, vowing that they would fulfil the responsible tasks entrusted them and do all in their power to unflinchingly meet all obligations involved in the carrying out of their work. As the doctor read the declaration the four members of the graduating class repeated it in chorus.

THE PRESENTATION.

The diplomas and medals were then presented by the Lady Superintendent, who pinned the medals on each of the graduates. When they had resumed their seats, little Miss Dorothy Hill, presented several beautiful bouquets to different nurses in attendance. They were the gifts of numerous ladies of the city.

Miss Helen Davis, the talented Peterborough soprano, rendered a solo, which was perfectly adapted to her superb soprano voice. Her selection was generously applauded. Miss Gladys Crane played the accompaniment in good taste and with correct tonal expression.

BANDAGING PRIZES.

Dr. Eastwood in presenting Misses Radcliffe and Steele with the bandaging prizes complimented the young ladies on their success and also took occasion to speak of the satisfactory conditions existing at the Nicholls hospital. He said that the treatment of an entirely satisfactory character had been given the patients of the hospital and spoke in the highest terms of Miss De La Matter and her able staff.

Mr. Frank Bemrose sang another solo in fine voice and bowed his recognition of a recall.

THE VALEDICTORY.

Miss Bertha Mowry then read the valedictory. She spoke in a clear and musical voice, that could be heard distinctly by every person in attendance. At the conclusion of the reading she was given a flattering ovation by the audience, being greeted with prolonged applause. In her recital of the valedictory, which was worded in particularly appropriate and effective language, Miss Mowry said the graduates owed a debt of gratitude to the many beneficent and sympathetic persons interested in their welfare, and that of the hospital, but particularly to the deceased Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls. She voiced the appreciation of the treatment received at the hands of the board of management, and thanked Mr. Richard Hall for the kindly interest he had always shown in the progress of the hospital, as well as in the individual members of the nursing staff. She also referred to the courteous and considerate treatment received at the hands of the members of the hospital staff of physicians and from Miss De La Matter, and Miss Coleman, who had both been efficient and kind instructors, aiding and advising the nurses in training in every way possible and showing a great interest in their professional advancement and personal comfort.

She spoke very feelingly of the connection of her fellow nurses and herself with the Nicholls hospital and said they would all deeply regret leaving the place which held such dear memories, and associations for them, formed during their three years of study and practice under its charitable roof.

Mr. Hall thanked those present for their attendance, and all others who had assisted in any way otwards making the occasion such an unprecedented success.

"God Save the King," brought to a close the most largely attended and successful function of its kind ever held in Peterborough.

THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

MARK TWAIN AS A BOWLER.

Bewildering Results He Achieved In His First Game.

More than forty years ago in San Francisco the office staff adjourned upon conclusion of its work at 2 o'clock in the morning to a great bowling establishment where there were twelve alleys. I was invited, rather perfunctorily and as a matter of etiquette—by which I mean that I was invited politely, but not urgently. But when I diffidently declined with thanks and explained that I knew nothing about the game those lively young fellows became at once eager and anxious and urgent to have my society. This flattered me, for I perceived no trap, and I innocently and gratefully accepted their invitation. I was given an alley all to myself. The boys explained the game to me, and they also explained to me that there would be an hour's play and that the player who scored the fewest ten strikes in the hour would have to provide oysters and beer for the combination. This disturbed me very seriously, since it promised me bankruptcy, and I was sorry that this detail had been overlooked in the beginning. But my pride would not allow me to back out now, so I stayed in and did what I could to look satisfied and glad I had come. It is not likely that I looked as contented as I wanted to, but the others looked glad enough to make up for it, for they were quite unable to hide their evil joy. They showed me how to stand and how to stoop and how to aim the ball and how to let fly, and then the game began.

The results were astonishing. In my ignorance I delivered the balls in apparently every way except the right one, but no matter—during half an hour I never started a ball down the alley that didn't score a ten strike every time at the other end. The others lost their grip early and their joy along with it. Now and then one of them got a ten strike, but the occurrence was so rare that it made no show alongside of my giant score. The boys surrendered at the end of the half hour and put on their coats and gathered around me and in courteous but sufficiently definite language expressed their opinion of an experience worn and seasoned expert who would stoop to lying and deception in order to rob kind and well meaning friends who had put their trust in him under the delusion that he was honest and honorable. I was not able to convince them that I had not lied, for now my character was gone, and they refused to attach any value to anything I said.

The proprietor of the place stood by for awhile saying nothing; then he came to my defense. He said: "It looks like a mystery, gentlemen, but it isn't a mystery after it's explained. That is a grooved alley; you've only to start a ball down it any way you please and the groove will do the rest; it will slam the ball against the northeast curve of the head pin every time, and nothing can save the ten from going down."

It was true. The boys made the experiment, and they found that there was no art that could send a ball down that alley and fail to score a ten strike with it. When I had told those boys that I knew nothing about that game I was speaking only the truth. But it was ever thus all through my life—whenever I have diverged from custom and principle and uttered a truth the rule has been that the hearer hadn't strength of mind enough to believe it.—From Mark Twain's Autobigraphy in North American Review.

Joseph Brossard, of Montreal, was found dead in bed, asphyxiated.

WITH BRITISH GUNNERS.

Physique of Canada's Visitors Excites Wide Admiration.

The members of the team of the British National Artillery Association, who have been so dexterously handling the big guns at Petawawa camp, are a fine body of men. Their physique excites the admiration of military men in Canada. Well set-up, bronzed, active and muscular-looking in their khaki uniforms, they appeared ready and prepared for the serious business of war. The khaki was worn, it was stated, at the request of Canadian officials, who desired the visitors to have something distinctive.

LORD STRADBROKE.

There were no frills about their dress, and none of the brilliance which attached to the uniforms of the city entertainers. Even the boots of the Britishers still showed signs of the dust of Petawawa, which could not be rubbed off.

The personnel of the visiting team is not the same as in many corps; five of them are students at Edinburgh University, one is a school teacher, others are clerks, office hands, mechanics, etc., but as a body they are an unusually intelligent lot of men. They are picked from all over the British Isles, and every one of them has nothing but praise for the way in which they have been treated in this country. All are volunteers.

They are accompanied by Lord Stradbroke, president of the council.

THE TREE DOCTOR.

His Method of Treating a Trunk That Is Decaying.

When a tree doctor treats a decayed tree he begins by cutting an aperture in the tree large enough to allow him to get at the inside and remove all the decayed wood. This is essential to the success of the operation. When this work has been done the cavity is ready to be filled. The composition used in case of large fillings contains five parts of sand to one part of portland cement, except for the outer part, where these ingredients are used half and half, this outer coating being several inches thick. To hold the cement in place while it is hardening a stout tin or zinc is employed, this being secured to the trunk of limb in a way to preserve the natural shape. The tin is put on in strips, being fastened with round steel nails having a broad head and a small shank. The strips are wide enough to lap over upon the sound wood, and the nails are placed from half an inch to an inch apart, acording to the strain imposed.

The first strip of tin is put on at the lower part of the aperture and the cement put in until it reaches nearly to the top of the tin. Then a second strip is put on, lapping over the other two or three inches, and the two nailed together. Then more cement is used, and so on until the cavity is filled, the last strip of tin being bent down while the final application of cement is being puddled into place and the cavity entirely filled, and then it is straightened up and nailed in place. In case of extra large cavities large sheets of tin or sheet iron are nailed on the outside to prevent the tin from bulging out until the cement has hardened, when they can be removed. The smaller the cavity the larger are the strips of tin employed, as the strain is proportionately less. In twenty-four hours' time the cement will have hardened completely, and the tin may all be removed.

This remedy is applied successfully to fruit trees as well as shade trees.

A LESSON IN NERVE.

The Laundry Didn't Charge For the Ruined Shirt.

"When I came to open my bundle of stuff sent home from the laundry this morning," said the bachelor man, "I found in it, sent back washed, but not ironed, one shirt that had pinned to it a ticket reading like this:

"'We are returning this shirt on account of it not being in a condition to withstand ironing.'

"This was a new one to me, but when I came to open up the shirt and looked it over I didn't wonder that they hadn't tried to iron it; one arm was all but torn from its socket, and there was a hole punched through one cuff, with a tear extending from this hole for an inch or two up the sleeve. The shirt was sure not in condition for ironing, but how did it get so?

"I certainly never sent it to the laundry in that shape. I'd have had hard work tearing the sleeve out of the shoulder the way this one was torn, and I couldn't have made that hole in the cuff without some sort of a sharp and big punch. Clearly the shirt had been torn and mangled in that manner by being caught in the laundry machinery, and so I wrapped it up in a neat little bundle and took it over to the laundry office, intending to make a claim for the value of it. I spread the shirt out on the counter and called the clerk's attention to it and told him that I couldn't have torn the shirt in that manner; it must have been done in the laundry, and how about it?

"'Well,' said the clerk, 'we made no charge for it.'

"As the full significance of this came upon me—they had torn my shirt all to pieces, but they didn't make any charge for it!—I staggered back, and I kept on staggering that way until I had got out of the door.

"I shall never make any further claim for the shirt. I got back far more than its value in that lesson in clear, cold nerve."

Twenty men, women and children were fined in Belleville on Saturday, for robbing orchards.

Property Owners Object To Proposed New Sidings

Claim That Switches Which Grand Trunk Want to Build Will Affect Their Property--Board of Works Meets.

Property holders, adjacent to the point on Bethune street, where the Grand Trunk is desirous of building two new sidings, are up in arms against permission being granted the railway people to put in the proposed switches. A petition to this effect, was read at the meeting of the Board of Works last night. It was signed by the thirteen property owners of the locality affected and they requested the Board to take what action they could to prevent having the sidings built. Letters were also received from several of those interested, pointing out that the building of the sidings would result in the lowering of the value of their property.

It appears, however, that the city can do very little in the matter. They can endeavor to make an agreement with the Grand Trunk, but if the company are not satisfied they can take the matter to the railway commission, and if this body gives the railway permission, the city can do nothing. The commission has absolute authority.

This point whether the railway company could be compelled to reimburse property holders whose property might be decreased in value was also discussed last night. The mayor, while he said he was not certain on the point, did not think that the company could be made to pay.

The Board of Works, passed a resolution that they could not recommend the granting of the request to build sidings.

There were present, Ald. Duncan, chairman; Mayor McWilliams, Ald. Johnston, McIntyre, Stevenson, Bradburn, City Engineer Hay, and the City Clerk.

A BAD CORNER.

A complaint from Mrs. (Rev.) Kilgour and others, was received relative to the mud hole at the corner of Weller and Park streets. It is claimed that a catch basin is required at this point. On motion of the mayor and Ald. McIntyre, the request was referred to the City Engineer to be reported on.

A PROTEST.

Samuel Ball wrote, protesting against a granolithic sidewalk being laid on the south side of Dalhousie street, from Rubidge to Reid streets. Nothing was done regarding the communication.

In regard to the request for surface drainage on Benson street, the chairman stated that the sewer was now almost completed and he did not think anything could be done.

The engineer said there was no water on the street worth speaking of, and it was decided to take no action at the matter at present.

TO EXTEND PRINCE STREET.

A request was received from Mr. T. Free, asking for the opening of Prince street through to George street. It appears that part of the land for the extension of the thoroughfare will have to be secured from Mr. Overend, and this gentleman refuses to give the strip of land required, namely 16 feet. The City could expropriate the land but the council does not care to do this. Mr. Free will give the other fifty feet required to have the street the proper width, 66 feet. The opening of the street will give Mr. Free access to his lots that will front on it.

On motion of the mayor, seconded by Ald. Johnston, it was decided to let Mr. Free open the street to a width of 48 feet. This will leave two feet in front of Mr. Overend's property, and will prevent him from building on the street. Mr. Free will have to enter into an agreement to give over to the city this two feet of land whenever it may be required.

G.T.R. SIDINGS.

A petition was received from a number of ratepayers, near the G. T. R. tracks, south of the station, protesting against the Grand Trunk putting in two new sidings in that locality. They pointed out that at the present time, they suffered considerably from the noise of the trains, the smoke and other annoyances, caused by the proximity of the tracks. These nuisances would be increased if the company is allowed to build the new sidings. The petition was signed by thirteen property holders.

The mayor pointed out that the question whether the company could put in the proposed switches would rest with the Railway Commission. If the Commission granted them permission, the city could do nothing.

Ald. Stevenson said the proximity of the railway tracks was a nuisance to persons residing along Bethune and other streets in the vicinity.

Ald. Bradburn agreed with this and said he had known cases where cars loaded with cattle had been left all night on sidings close to dwelling houses. He thought an agreement might be made with the company so that this would not happen again.

It was moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that owing to strong objections from property owners in the adjacent locality, this board cannot recommend that permission be granted the Grand Trunk to build the two new sidings. Carried.

On motion of the Mayor and Ald. Johnston, it was decided to extend the time for receiving tenders for the removal of the buildings on the extension of Aylmer street, until Monday next.

Several other matters were also dealt with.

Personal Appeals Must be Entered

By all Ratepayers Who Feel They are Over Assessed

Although a citizens' meeting has protested against the unjust assessment in the city and asked the Court of Revision to investigate and remedy matters, if valuations are excessive, this does not remove the necessity for every ratepayer, who feels that he is over-assessed to enter an appeal with the city clerk. This must be done by each ratepayer. A general protest will not do. Individual ones must be lodged and the appellants should appear before the Court of Revision.

This point was made clear in the admirable address delivered by Mr. F. D. Kerr at the Board of Trade meeting on Tuesday night. The important thing for ratepayers to remember is again emphasized, viz., the necessity of making personal appeal where it is felt that the valuation is excessive or unjust.

ALL RUN DOWN
Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invariably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

It makes the weak strong, the sick well, and assures lasting good health.

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Engineer Stevens Sentenced On Charge of Negligence

Murray Stephens Must Spend Six Months in Prison.

Chief Justice Metz Out Punishment to Wabash Employe — Goes to County Jail—Jury Makes Scathing Charge Against Railway Company —Condemn System of Making Fast Time—Plea For Mercy.

St. Thomas, Oct. 10.—Murray Stephens, the Wabash engineer, was yesterday afternoon sentenced by Chief Justice Meredith to six months hard labor in the county jail for disobeying rules and causing the death of two people at the C. P. R. crossing, this city, a year ago.

The engineer's counsel, Mr. Cruthers, asked for a nominal sentence. He thought the prisoner was more the victim of a vicious system than anything else. He agreed with his lordship that no railway company would dismiss a man directly for making a stop and losing time, but there were other means of degrading a man. If he did not make time he was given slower runs.

There was no intention to do any harm, and this man was an unfortunate victim of circumstances. He had been struggling since the collision in callings he was not used to to support his wife and children, five in number.

His lordship expressed his regret at having to impose punishment on a man of so honorable a calling, but it was his duty to impose some punishment for the serious offence, which was made a crime by the statutes. On the charge of manslaughter the sentence would have been much more severe. He did not think it right for prisoner's counsel to try and place the whole blame upon the higher officials.

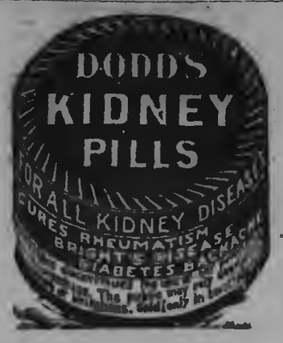
There was no doubt that circulars were issued, pointing out the fact that the laws and rules were being violated.

The grand jury made what was practically a plea for mercy, and a serious charge against the railway companies, that it is calculated will arouse much comment.

The clause in the address referred to is as follows:

"The people are awakening to the fact that the traveling public have a right to demand from railway companies that they exercise caution, and be vigilant in protecting the lives of passengers traveling on railway trai.

From evidence before us we are forced to the conclusion that the officers administering the law have not prosecuted in some cases the parties primarily responsible for the great loss of human life during the past year. Trainmen will not 'run' semaphores when they know that, by so doing, they will incur instant dismissal and other punishment; but they will run them when the act is winked at by high officials, to make fast time. While we are in favor of enforcing the law in all cases, to protect human life, we do not favor the prosecution and conviction of the humble parties to the offence, and letting those in exalted positions escape the penalty incurred. Let no guilty man escape. We believe, if the law is administered in this manner, there will be fewer railway accidents.



FRENCH TROOPS AMBUSHED.

Two Privates Killed and Two Others Injured.

Oran, Algeria, Oct. 10.—A French reconnoitering column consisting of two companies of sharpshooters, and a squadron of Spanish and Algerian irregular cavalry combined was ambushed on Tuesday at Guelb Hill, about nine miles from Oudjda, Morocco, by the warriors of Beni Snassin tribe, and the commander of the column was killed.

The attack of the Moors was repulsed, but the French troops lost two privates killed and two sharpshooters wounded.

French troops have been sent from Oudjab to prevent tribesmen, who are threatening extermination.

Body Was Missing.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—A sensational incident has developed in the fact that Dazes' body was taken from the Water street hospital morgue and buried before the doctors, McKinnon and Dowling, had finished their post-mortem.

They had done part of the work, but had conducted no autopsy. They told the jury about it Tuesday night, and the 12 men decided they wanted the two house surgeons and an orderly to explain matters.

Drs. McKinnon and Dowling say they could not do all their post-mortem work the first night, as the hospital surgeons refused either to lend them gloves, or sell them any, and that when they arranged to come back next day, and did so, the body was gone.

To Report on Ross Rifle.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—It is announced in militia orders that the following board is detailed to report on the Ross rifle when the present test, carried on at the Musketry School, is completed:

President, Col. Sam Hughes; members, Col. Anderson of Ottawa; Capt. J. E. Hutcheson, 43rd Regiment, Ottawa, and Major R. A. Heimer, of Ottawa.

Cassie Chadwick Dying.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Chadwick, the bank wrecker, yesterday was reported much worse at the Ohio Penitentiary, where she is serving a ten-year term. Her pulse is weak and she is partly delirious.

She made confession of the Roman Catholic faith on Tuesday.

DOVERCOURT ARSON CASES.

Palmeter Acquitted of Firing His Own House—Other Charges.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Ross Palmeter was found not guilty by the jury in the sessions yesterday of setting fire to his house and barn in Dovercourt. As there are several other indictments of arson against him, he was remanded until Saturday on $1,000.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Winchester severely criticized the methods of fire insurance agents, which came to light during the trial.

"I don't know that I am sure, gentlemen," he said, "whether some law should not be passed to prevent people from over-insuring their buildings."

"I understand that agents are interested in getting as large a premium as possible and of inducing people to insure a greater amount than they should.

"Then, if an accident should happen and a fire take place, they simply pay the exact value of the goods or property destroyed, while they have been reaping the benefits of a much larger insurance.

"While they have a right to benefit from this course, something, I consider, should be done to prevent it.

"I think, however, at this time something should be done to prevent insurance agents and others from acting in that way towards people who don't understand their own business as well as the agent does."

SUBMARINE MINES.

Safety of Neutrals to Be Considered In War Time.

The Hague, Oct. 10.—The eighth plenary sitting of the Peace Conference yesterday discussed rules for laying submarine mines and the conventions governing the rights and duties of neutrals in time of war.

The naval convention had been adopted unanimously with reserves by several powers, when Sir Ernest Satow (Great Britain) read a declaration saying that Great Britain did not believe the convention to be sufficiently protective of the rights of neutrals to navigate freely, which he said was more pressing than for belligerents to spread mines on the seas.

Baron Marschall von Bieberstein (Germany) in reply said that the execution of the provisions of the convention must be left to the consciences, good sense and military honor of the belligerents, who would not use mines without taking every possible precaution to avoid danger to neutrals.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

No One to Blame For Killing of Nicholas Turbinoff.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—Purely accidental was the verdict of the jury at the inquest on Nicholas Turbinoff, who was shot at 21 Eastern avenue on Sept. 29.

The deceased was a Macedonian and frequently received large sums of money from his fellow countrymen for transmission to Europe.

The medical testimony given shows that the version of the death given by the relatives was accurate. They said he was about to remove his coat when a 32-calibre automatic pistol which was in the pocket, and fully loaded, fell to the ground and exploded, the bullet passing through the flesh of the arm, penetrating the chest and completely destroying the left lung, creating a severe hemorrhage, from which he died before medical aid could be secured.

TIED HANDS AND FEET

C. P. R. Operator Held Up and Robbed at Woodstock.

Depot Looted by Two Masked Men In Early Morning Hours — Thieves Cleaned Out Station and Got Away —Took $52 of Company's Money— Also $10 and Watch From the Operator.

Woodstock, Oct. 10.—The sum of $62.45 in money and a silver watch and chain were secured by two masked burglars, who at 2.35 a. m. entered the C. P. R. station, held up the night operator, Harry Southcote, at the point of a revolver, tied his hands and feet and then made their haul.

Just $10.25 of the money belonged to Southcote, and the remainder was C. P. R. money, which they took from the till.

Southcote was at his desk when the men entered, and one called "Hands up!" He turned and saw a revolver levelled at his head and promptly raised his hands.

The other man climbed over the partition and securely tied his hands and feet together, after which he went through his pockets and the till. The couple then decamped, and probably got out of town on a night train.

After a time Southcote managed to free himself and turned in an alarm to the police.

LEMIEUX GOES TO JAPAN.

Rumors of Early Assembly — Archibald Campbell, M. P., for Senate.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—With the presence of Hon. R. F. Sutherland, Speaker of the Commons, and W. S. Calvert, Liberal whip, in the city, rumors of an early assembly of Parliament are current. At a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon the matter was brought forward, but no agreement was reached.

It is also said that Archie Campbell, M. P., will be raised to the Senate.

It was finally decided yesterday at a meeting of the Cabinet, that the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux would be the Canadian emissary to Japan, to lay the proposals regarding immigration before that Government.

The Chinese who entered Canada by the east and omitted to pay the poll tax of $500, thereby being sentenced to imprisonment, will, after all, be deported. This was decided upon yesterday. It seems that, according to the present statute, if a Chinaman is imprisoned he walks out of durance a free man at the end of his term.

Next session of Parliament, the law will be amended so that deportation will necessarily follow the non-payment of head tax.

WAS POISON IN THE TEA.

Farm Hand Under Arrest on Charge of Poisoning.

Cornwall, Oct. 10.—Joshua Annable, formerly of Winchester Township, who resides near Moosejaw, Sask., recently had a narrow escape from being poisoned, and a farm hand named J. Barlow was arrested on the charge of administering the poison.

Mr. Annable claims that while they were at work in the fields Barlow went to the house to prepare dinner. When Mr. Annable reached there Barlow claimed to be too ill to eat, or even drink tea. Annable took a mouthful of the tea, and finding it bitter, became suspicious. He hid the tea that was in the pot, and becoming ill, hastened to a doctor, where he got relief.

Mr. Annable held suspicions that Barlow was the guilty party in the burning of a neighbor's shack, and to this fact attributes the attempt at poisoning.

INDIAN CARRIED PERUNA.

Hit Hard by C. P. R. Train But Nothing Happened.

Vancouver, B. C., Oct. 10.—What might have been a fatal accident occurred on the Canadian Pacific Railway about 31 miles west of Agassiz.

Westbound train No. 97, in charge of Conductor Buckley, struck an Indian on the shoulder, but without seriously injuring him.

The man was asleep on the track, with two bottles of peruna, one partly empty.

Married His Grandmother.

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—Tom Hugh Alison of Manlius, N. Y., who married his grandmother, is here on his honeymoon. "My grandfather, Dr. Buffum of Rochester, was a peppery old fellow," said he. "First, he disinherited my sister because she married a barber. This left me his sole heir. He decided to marry, although he was past 80, to keep me from inheriting his estate.

"I didn't know it, but the girl he picked out was my sweetheart, only 17 years of age. She decided to accept his offer, to save the estate for me. That was nearly six years ago. He died a year ago, and the young woman whom I called my grandmother became my wife."

Confessed Bank Robbery.

Sudbury, Oct. 10.—Frederick Morris, who was arrested on Monday on a charge of vagrancy, confessed that in April he with others robbed the Union Bank of London.

Morris says he is a son of B. C. Morris, shipowner of Harwick, Essex, a graduate of Cambridge and has traveled abroad.

The Attorney-General's Department has been communicated with.

Medal For Bravery.

Kingston, Oct. 10.—At the "Made in Canada" Exhibition at the armories in aid of the Kingston General Hospital, on behalf of the Canadian Humane Society, a 14-year-old lad of this city, was presented with a bronze medal for having within the past year saved two young people from drowning.

James Camm, aged 65, a night-watchman for a basket factory at Bridgeton, N.J., was found murdered at his post, [illegible]

J. J. O'Connor, who chartered the boat, points out that this is the beginning of a new business in Canada. In fact, it is so new that there is not an eastbound tariff for the carrying of pig iron fixed by any steamboat company.

Mr. O'Connor stated that from this on there would be an almost continuous trade between Toronto and other manufacturing points in the east and the local furnace.

MANY LIVES IN DANGER.

Big Blaze in New York Street Car Barns.

$400,000 Worth of Property Destroyed Thousands of Persons Into Panic —Squad of Firemen Had Narrow Escape From Falling Floor—Service on Cross-Town Electric Lines Seriously Hampered.

New York, Oct. 10.—Hundreds of lives were endangered, thousands of persons were thrown into panic, 125 electric cars, used on several cross-town lines, were destroyed, and property loss to the extent of $400,000 was caused by a fire in the 14th street car barns yesterday. Service on cross-town car lines was hampered and will not be put on a normal basis until a sufficient number of cars to replace those destroyed can be drawn from the other city lines.

The fire had gained great headway before it was discovered, and when the firemen arrived the adjoining tenement houses were cleared of tenants. Chief Croker led a big squad of men to the fourth floor of the burning car barn. Their work was just beginning to tell when the great steel girder which supported the floor above, where 125 electric cars were stored, began to twist and bulge under the intense heat. Croker roared to the men to run for their lives. Less than a minute after the last man had reached a rope put in place for the emergency, the fifth floor came down with a crash. A few minutes later the wall of the building fell into the street. The flames destroyed the barn and several adjoining tenements before they were subdued.

FEEDS FIRE OF HATRED.

British Imperialists Must Treat the Asiatics Better.

London, Oct. 10.—(C. A. P.)—The "Mahratta," (Poonah), drawing a parallel between the anti-European feeling in India and the Asiatic feeling in Western Canada, declares that the former is being fanned into flame by the reports which are reaching India of the treatment meted out to its people in foreign lands, "even by those races who have been pouring into India and feeding on Indian substance as if the country was legitimate pasturage for their whole horde. It must, therefore, be evident to the British imperialist that if he wants hatred of Europeans in India to abate he must undertake that anti-Asiatic feeling in Africa and America will be proportionately brought under control."

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

THREE YEARS FOR M'CULLY.

Pal From Kingston Gave Evidence Against Him.

St. Thomas, Oct. 10.—Three years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed yesterday on Fred McCully, charged with assault and robbery.

McCully was charged with having, on Dec. 12, 1908, with Stephen Walsh, assaulted Frank Sweedland of Union, on the St. Andrew's Market, and robbed him of $25. Walsh was tried by Police Magistrate Glenn and sentenced to four years' imprisonment in Kingston Penitentiary. Walsh was brought from Kingston to give evidence against McCully, who first elected to be tried before Police Magistrate Glenn, but afterwards changed his plea and elected to be tried by jury.

SAWS HIDDEN IN FRUIT.

Friends of Convicts Send Means to Escape In Bananas.

Montreal, Oct. 10.—Three convicts escaped from the Three Rivers jail, and are now said to be hiding in Montreal.

Several of their friends, ticket-of-leave men, were in the habit of bringing them fruit. It was discovered that these friends had supplied the convicts with small saws hidden in the bananas they brought them.

Would Stop Pulp Export.

Ottawa, Oct. 10.—The Canadian manufacturers of pulp and paper waited on the Government yesterday and asked that the export of wood pulp be prohibited.

The delegation represented the pulp and paper section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. They pointed out that if the export of pulp were prohibited the Americans would come to Canada and develop the paper industry of the Dominion instead of depleting the forests by taking away the raw material.

The deputation included President J. D. Rolland, C. Riordan, J. R. Booth, Mr. Rowley, manager of E. B. Eddy Paper Co.; F. C. Campbell of the Canada Paper Co., H. Beirmans of the Belgo-Canadian Manufacturing Co., L. Armstrong of Grand Mere, Que., and Albert Maclaren of Buckingham.

Hotelkeeper to Jail.

Streetsville, Oct. 10.—Before Magistrate Crawford yesterday James Farrell, proprietor of the hotel at Streetsville Junction, was sent to jail for four months for selling liquor without a license.

This was his second offence and he was not given the option of a fine.

Attacked by Bees.

London, Oct. 10.—A horse accidentally upset a hive of bees belonging to Mr. Sargent, of Blue House Farm, Rawreth, Tuesday. The insects attacked a dog and two passing cyclists. The dog was stung to death, while the cyclists suffered severely from the stings of the infuriated insects.

Brakeman Killed.

Tweed, Oct. 10.—An accident occurred here about 8 o'clock Tuesday night on the Ontario Power Works Railway siding, in which Alexander Ferguson of Perth, brakesman on the C. P. R., lost his life by two cars leaving the track and throwing him under them.

Seven incendiary fires in Belliot, Wis., in the last week have aroused property owners to take extraordinary precautions to prevent repetitions of the crimes.

HAMILTON MURDER CASE.

Widow Says Sunfield Shot at Her—Trial Proceeding.

Hamilton, Oct. 10.—The trial of Jake Sunfield for the murder of Andrew Rodzyk commenced yesterday afternoon. The taking of the evidence will probably consume another day, and it is not expected that the case will be given to the jury before Friday.

Before the jury was empanelled, J. L. Counsell, the prisoner's lawyer, put in an affidavit saying that he believed that, owing to unfair reports of the affair printed in the newspapers it was impossible to get a fair trial in Hamilton, because there had been a prejudice against the prisoner and against all foreigners.

Crown Prosecutor Blackstock put in a counter affidavit from Crown Attorney Washington, who stated there was no ground for Mr. Counsell's contention. Chief Justice Falconbridge said he would be loath to believe that Mr. Counsell's contention was true, and he ordered the trial to proceed. Twelve jurors were selected, but two of them were excused because they said they were prejudiced against the prisoners, and two more were chosen in their places.

The crown prosecutor stated that he would seek to show that there had been bad blood between the accused and Rodzyk, and that Sunfield had threatened to shoot him like a dog.

Mrs. Rodzyk, widow of the murdered man, was the only witness called yesterday, and she was undergoing cross-examination when the court adjourned. She stuck to her former story that Sunfield shot at her. She did not see her husband shot, but said that she, Sunfield and her husband were the only person in the house at the time of the tragedy. Cross-examination failed to shake her story.

GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Gordon Hunter Protests Against Verdict as Most Unfair.

North Bay, Oct. 10.—The grand jury found Gordon Hunter of Haileybury guilty of manslaughter in the death of Ed. Boylan from injuries received while being ejected from the Vendome Hotel at Haileybury last June.

The defence sought to prove that Boylan was abusive and acted offensively in the hotel, that Hunter was carrying out his instructions in maintaining order, and that Boylan was injured by falling down the steps of the hotel, no undue violence being used in his ejection.

Judge Riddell's charge to the jury was unfavorable to the prisoner. Upon being asked if he had anything to say, he stated to the court that he considered the verdict most unfair.

Hunter, who is very popular in Haileybury and a quiet, well-behaved man, feels his position keenly, and the verdict was a great surprise and shock to him, as well as his mother, wife and little daughter, who were present at the trial.

Prominent Haileybury citizens who are attending the Assizes were confident that Hunter would be acquitted, and many bitter comments were heard in the hotel corridors as to the verdict.

GOT SEVEN YEARS.

Horse Stealing a Very Serious Offence at Chatham.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—George Yott, of Big Point, was brought before Magistrate Houston in the County Court, and will spend the next seven years in Kingston Penitentiary.

The magistrate observed that down south many a man had been hung for horse stealing, and that under the circumstances the sentence was a just and equitable one.

Yott came up on the charge of stealing two valuable horses from Dr. Macfarlane. The animals were taken to Windsor, and for some time the case baffled the efforts of a number of sleuths set to work on it. Yott was finally apprehended, and was found guilty.

SPARK EXPLODED FILMS.

Wonderland at Chatham Cleaned Out by Fire.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—A disastrous fire occurred in Wonderland, a 5c and 10c moving picture theatre, just before the afternoon performance yesterday, resulting in over $1,000 damage, and damage by water and smoke to the contents of a warehouse on the second floor.

The fire was caused by sparks coming into contact with the films. An attendant had his hand quite severely burnt.

Was Capelli Insane?

Toronto, Oct. 10.—T. C. Robinette, assisted by W. A. Moss, will make application at Osgoode Hall at 11 a.m. to-day, for a new trial for Frank Capelli, the Italian convicted of the murder of William Dow, near Parry Sound, on Christmas night.

Capelli pleads that he killed Dow in self-defence, and a number of affidavits filed show that he was struck by McCormick, that a general row followed, and that Capelli became the centre of a howling mob.

Dr. N. N. Robertson swears that in his opinion Capelli was insane at the time.

Verdict Wilful Murder.

Quebec, Oct. 10.—The coroner's jury in the case of Bardi, the Italian who was killed last week at Harvey Junction on the Great Northern Railway by another Italian named Demonte, rendered a verdict of "wilful murder," and the prisoner is now in Quebec Jail waiting the preliminary investigation, which will take place to-day before Judge Chauveau.

Broke Jail—Seventy Days.

Brockville, Oct. 10.—Problem Turner was arraigned before P. M. Deacon on a charge of breaking jail on July 22, to which he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to serve 70 days, in addition to his six months' term in the Central Prison. His absence from jail numbered 61 days, so that in reality only nine extra days are added.

Fort Bayard, New Mexico, has been turned into the largest sanatorium in the country, and hundreds are recovering from tuberculosis while there.

THE FUTURE OF AN OCCUPATION IS DETERMINED BY ITS SERVICE TO SOCIETY AND ITS PERSONAL ADVANTAGES

One of the highest and most altruistic institutions of society is LIFE INSURANCE for PROTECTION OF WIFE AND CHILDREN AND PROVISION FOR OLD AGE.

Only with its advent did it become possible for men who died during their productive period to provide adequately for their dependents. It alone can offer indemnity for earning power. In many a home it prevents the dispersion of the children, is the sole source of food and shelter and their only means of education into good citizenship. It does more to lessen pauperism and the resulting ignorance and crime than do all charitable institutions combined. It cures thriftlessness, that most prevalent of human maladies.

Life insurance adds moral fibre to every man insured. Through the immediate creation of an estate it widens his outlook, relieves him from anxiety, frees his capital, serves as collateral, secures his business, in times of stress and accumulating apart from the hazards of trade suffices for his own and his family's needs when his other possessions may have been lost.

The Sun Life of Canada

Offers a man something as good as gold. Its policies give the maximum of security at the minimum of cost. If you have obligations; if your life means something to others, insurance is for you. Investigate the cost of absolute protection in the SUN OF CANADA.

Fine Performance On Roller Skates

Splendid Skating by Prof. Genno and Miss. Batterton

Prof. W. E. Genno and Miss Katie Batterton, who are giving exhibitions at the Charlotte street roller rink all this week, are drawing large crowds each evening and last night was no exception to the rule. Their exhibition is marvellous and they are certainly creating a remarkable impression in this city. The two artists waltz and two-step on rollers most gracefully, and do several other stunts that are well worth seeing. Their performance on skates was also exceedingly well done. Professor Genno, on skates, jumped both forward and backward, over a large barrel. The couple were loudly applauded by the crowd. They will be on the floor of the rink each evening this week, and will also give a matinee on Saturday afternoon.

Toronto Trio Again Remanded

Three Young Men Charged With Vagrancy—Said to be Wanted in Weston

The three Toronto fellows, Ralph Cheyna, Thomas Holmes and John Ford, who came to this city Sunday morning and appeared in police court on Monday, charged with vagrancy, were again brought before His Worship this morning. They were further remanded for one week. They pleaded not guilty.

Mrs. King who keeps a boarding house on Park street, stated that the trio came to her place on Sunday morning. They had breakfast and dinner there. At ten time, when they returned, one of them was quite drunk. He made threats, using bad language. She became nervous and telephoned for the police.

P. C. McDonald stated that on receiving the message he at once went to the house. When he arrived they had fled but afterwards, in company with P. C. Meharry, he got them at the C.P.R. station. They said that they had come from Toronto on a freight train, just for the ride and to see this city.

During the week Chief Roszel was in communication with Inspector Duncan at Toronto, and this morning received the following letter from the chief constable there:

Chief of Police,
Peterborough, Ont.

Sir.—Referring to your phone message to Inspector Duncan, respecting Thomas Holmes, Ralph Chene, and John Ford, I would inform you that they are not wanted by this department, but they are believed to be wanted in Weston, Ont., for forcing their way into a store and breaking the door and a window. One of the three has a black eye, received in the encounter with the store-keeper. I would suggest that you communicate with the chief constable of of that town.

Yours truly,
H. J. GRASSETT,
Chief Constable.

Chief Roszel will communicate with Weston, and if they are wanted there the three will be sent back to stand trial. The trio deny having been in Weston for over a year.

Edward O'Brien, of Otonabee was charged with vagrancy. He was discharged.

CASE DISMISSED

Willie Tebault, charged with using bad language to little Annie Hamilton on Thursday last, was discharged. It was proven that the lad was not on the Smith street bridge at the time insulting words were used. His Worship said that there were so many different stories as to who used the offensive language, that he would dismiss the case. However, if it was ever shown that such words were used towards young girls, he would punish the culprit severely.

Peterborough Man Meets Tragic Death at Hamilton

Frank O'Brien, Aged Eighteen, Son of John O'Brien of This City, Run Over by a Heavily Loaded Freight Car and Instantly Killed.

Special to the Review.

Hamilton, Oct. 10.—Frank O'Brien, of Peterborough, was instantly killed about 12.30 this morning at the east end plant of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Co. by being run over by a heavily ladened freight car.

The young man secured employment at the plant about three months ago as a switchman. This morning he was riding on the side of a car laden with ingots, when he was jolted off. The car passed over him, fracturing his skull, breaking ten ribs and severing his spine. Death was instantaneous.

Coroner Reinie is holding an inquest. O'Brien was 18 years of age his mother, brother and sisters reside in Peterborough. The body will be sent there for burial.

LOCAL DETAILS.

The late Frank O'Brien was the eldest son of Mr. John O'Brien, who resides in North Monaghan just south of the Roman Catholic cemetery. His parents were notified of his death this morning, but have not received any details of the tragic event.

The unfortunate young man went to Hamilton in July and had been working there ever since. He is survived by his father and mother, five sisters, Mamie, Nora, Josephine, Nelly and Margaret, and three brothers, Martin, John and Willie. Frank was the eldest of the family and was seventeen years of age.

The remains will arrive here tonight on the 7.30 C.P.R. train, but the funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

The deceased young man had many friends in Peterborough and the news of his death was received with sincere regret.

A Canadian Club is Now Assured for Peterborough

Committee Formed at Meeting Last Night to Arrange for Election of Officers and to Frame Constitution —Encouraging Attendance of Representative Citizens.

A meeting for the purpose of considering the formation of a Canadian Club for Peterborough was held last night in the Council Chamber, and was attended by forty-five representative business and professional men of the city, who displayed much intertest in the proceedings, which were engineered with despatch and effectiveness by Mr. F. D. Kerr, who occupied the chair.

The matter of organizing a Canadian Club in Peterborough has been under consideration for some time, and the clergy, professional and business men generally have expressed themselves as thoroughly in sympathy with the movement, which is beyond argument a very worthy one. In other towns and cities in Canada where the Canadian Club has been formed, it has been a decided success, both from a standpoint of membership, as well as from that of civic and national advancement. The object of the club is a broad and high-minded one, and is not selfish or individual in any sense of the word. Its object is to promote the broadest form of citizenship and to firmly cement the bond of good fellowship among its members by bringing them together under the most desirable forms of social and intellectual relationship.

From present indications the formation of the club is assured. The spirit displayed by those who attended the meeting was a commendable one, and many of the large number of gentlemen present made many timely remarks relative to the method of procedure in connection with the organization of the club, and several framed valuable resolutions that were adopted. Mr. H. R. H. Kenner acted as secretary pro tem.

After the transaction of much preliminary business, the meeting adjourned until Thursday, next, Oct. 17th.

Shortly after eight o'clock, when a good number of responsible citizens had gathered at the place of meeting, Mr. H. R. H. Kenner stated that those present were much indebted to Messrs. D. Hughes Charles, F. D. Kerr and J. E. Hodgson, who were prime movers in calling the meeting. He sugested that Mr. F. D. Kerr be appointed chairman of the meeting. His suggestion met with the heartiest approval, and Mr Kerr took the chair.

Mr. Kerr said the clergymen have intimated, either privately or by letter that they are in sympathy with the formation of the Canadian Club. He said he had received several letters from local clergymen, who expressed their regret that they were unable to be present on account of religious duties. The organization of the club was for the purpose of cultivating citizenship in its local sense, aside altogether aside from party politics and sectarian bodies. It has been found in all cities and towns where a Canadian Club has been organized that the most desirable conditions are found when an intellectual treat is accompanied by a dinner or banquet, at which the guests sit and listen to speakers of prominence dealing with important questions of the day. The speaker believed that the organization of the club in Peterborough would do a great deal towards the approaching and dealing with important questions as they arose. He apologized for the absence of Mr. Charles, who has been so actively identified in the movement for the formation of the club, and said, although he was forced to be in Toronto on business, he was with the meeting in spirit.

Mr. Kerr called upon Mr. Hodgson to express his views on the matter of the formation of the Club.

Mr. Hodgson said that when the opportunity was afforded of hearing men discourse on important subjects, it would give the citizens of Peterborough a better chance to intelligently grasp the broader affairs of life.

Dr. Cameron told of the establishment of the Canadian Club in Toronto, and spoke of the methods adopted by the club. He also referred to the different parts of the Dominion in which clubs had been established. By their organization members of various nationalities, or originally so, were enabled to meet each other, under circumstances that promoted the best of good feeling and a desire for mutual benefit along the most worthy lines of citizenship.

Mr. Larmonth, the next speaker, said that the chief value of the organization of the club was the opportunity thus given of hearing noted men speak on subjects timely and important.

Mr. Kerr then read over the names of the gentlemen who had promised to join the club, among which were those of many prominent professional and business men of the city. He thought it would be desirable to have someone present make a motion to the effect that a Canadian Club should be organized in Peterborough.

Col. H. C. Rogers moved that the Club be formed, and said that, judging from the enthusiasm displayed in other places at which he had attended meetings of the Canadian Club, there was no reason why a most successful branch could not be formed in Peterborough. His motion was seconded by Mr. T. F. Matthews, and the joy pervading humanity caused the resolution was unanimously adopted.

At this juncture Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was elected secretary pro tm.

Dr. Cameron told of the officers of different clubs with which he was more or less familiar, and suggested the appointment of a President, Vice-President, Secretary-Treasurer and Executive Committee.

Mr. Hodgson moved that the following be the nominating committee:—Doctors, Halliday and Cameron; Lawyers, D. O'Connel and F. D. Kerr; Business Men, T. F. Matthews, W. H. Hall and S. R. Armstrong; others, R. Layfield and J. H. Larmonth; teachers, H. R. H. Kenner, and, he said it had been suggested, himself. Mr. Kerr said if those in attendance thought of any other names for the committee they would be perfectly at liberty to suggest them.

Dr. Eastwood said he did not notice the names of any of the ministers on the list. Mr. Kerr said that the difficulty that suggested itself in this respect was because it would, in his opinion, be a little difficult to select any particular clergyman to be on the committee when the Club was to be strictly non-partisan and non-sectarian.

It was moved by Mr. Hodgson, seconded by Mr. R. E. Wood, that the nominating committee suggested be the one selected.

Mr. W. H. Moore moved that there be a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Secretary-Treasurer and an executive committee of five. He thought that five would be a sufficient number for the committee.

Mr. Hodgson moved, seconded by Mr. Wood, that the gentlemen named for he committee be the ones to arrange for the selection of officers and frame a constitution.—Carried.

Mr. Kerr thought that the matters referred to in Mr. Moore's motion could be looked after by the committee chosen.

Mr. A. P. Poussette suggested that the constutution formulated by other Canadian Clubs be adopted, and moved that the same constitution as that of the Canadian Club in Toronto be the one selected.

There was no seconder to these motions, although after considerable discussion had been indulged in, one gentlemen present seconded what he thought was Mr. Moore's motion, but the latter said the seconder's understanding of the meaning of his motion was not correct, and said that anyway it was a suggestion rather than a motion.

After Chairman Kerr had read letters of regret from several who were unable to attend, the meeting adjourned.

In each case of three murders in Oklahoma, the victims had their ears slipped from their heads.

Signal Practice Held Last Night

There were 16 or 17 players out at the signal practice of the Rugby Club last night, and the players were well drilled on the code and the different signal plays. The team will have all the signal plays at their finger ends for the game with the Vics on Saturday.

Another practice will be held tonight at 7.30. All those who wish to catch a place, together with any others, are requested to attend.

Freight Train Disaster Near Trenton—Several Cars Ditched

Special to the Review.

Belleville, Oct. 10.—One young man killed and another probably fatally injured was the result of a collision between two freight trains just east of Trenton at five o'clock this morning.

A freight was going west, and another backed into it. Wm. Rhinehart of Buffalo, who was in charge of a string of race horses, was killed, and Ernest Groves of Toronto, was very badly hurt. Groves is now in the hospital here. Many of the cars were ditched.

The members of the Nicholls hospital graduating class were photographed at Roy's yesterday morning, together with the lady superintendent and assistant superintendent. The group is a particularly good one, the graduates carrying the beautiful bouquets with which they were presented, immediately after receiving their diplomas and meddals at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday night. Another splendidly arranged and effective group is that of the graduates, the superintendent, and her assistant, the head nurse, and several of the staff physicians.

THIEVES ENTERED SEVERAL SHEDS

London st. Residents Complain of Losing Wheelbarrows and Rakes

Police Magistrate Dumble stated this morning that there must be thieves in this city who are making a practice of entering sheds, and carrying away things. He had lost a fine new wheelbarrow, and two good rakes. Other neighbors, too, have been complaining of losing several articles. Mr. Dumble thought that when they had taken two rakes they must have stolen them in order to sell them. He advised Chief Roszel to visit some of the junk and second hand shops, and probably the articles might be recovered.

Some Horses In Fair Events

Horsemen Well Pleased With Treatment But Purses Too Small

With the conclusion of the Norwood fair, the fall fair speeding events in this part of the country are over, and the local horses will probably not start in any events this fall until the matinee of the Peterborough Turf Club on Thanksgiving day. Among the horses from Peterborough and the surrounding community that started at the fairs in this vicinity this year are Dr. Johnston's Hazel Belle, J. Cottingham's Harry Direct, Martin Connors' Lady Gothard, Geo. Lipsett's Peggy From Paris, Lou Bennett's City Queen, J Kelly's Black Cloud, C McKiver's Lulu Chimes, Little Girl until recently the property of J. Elmhirst, Keene, and Billy C, owned by W. Leith, Millbrook.

The horsemen are well pleased, generally speaking, with the treatment they have received at the hands of the officials of the fairs, although Mr. Bert McCollum is by no means overjoyed with the treatment accorded him at Warkworth, when the officials there would not allow Black Cloud to start in the slow speeding event. The purses have been too small to suit the horsemen, but outside of this, with possibly the exception referred to, the local turfmen are well pleased with the treatment they have been given.

Wanted to Borrow $5

But Real Estate Man Couldn't See it That Way

A local real estate man this morning told of about as striking an example of a case of cool and unadulterated nerve as one would run across in many moons.

"The other night," he said. "A man walked into my office as I was seated talking to a friend and introduced himself to me. He remarked that I would perhaps think it strange that he should make himself known, but said he wanted to borrow $5 to tide him over for a few days."

There is nothing on the real estate man's books against the individual who so unceremoniously introduced himself and asked foor the loan.

SLIGHTLY MIXED IN HIS WORDS

Citizen Does Not Want "Granulated" Sidewalk Laid

"Granulated" sidewalks are the latest. The majority of citizens may not have heard of them, but apparently they exist just the same. At the meeting of the Board of Works last night, a letter was read from a local citizen in which he objected to a "granulated" sidewalk being laid in a certain portion of the city. "Granolithic" was the word intended to be used, but apparently the writer of the letter got his words mixed. If he had been a grocer it would have been different.

Resignation Was Accepted

There Will be no Investigation into P. C. McDonald's Charge

There will be no investigation made by the Police Commissioners in connection with P. C. McDonald's resignation from the force. His resignation has been accepted, and a new man will likely be engaged to take his place. The matter was dealt with at the meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon, when there were present His Honor Judge Weller, His Worship Mayor McWilliams, and His Worship Police Magistrate Dumble.

The following letter was read from P. C. McDonald.;

To the Police Commissioners of the City of Peterborough;

Gentlemen;

I beg to tender my resignation as a member of the Police Force of the City of Peterborough, I find that I am not being treated by the Chief of Police with the consideration to which I am entitled, and I feel it, therefore, impossible to hold the position longer. I will be very glad if the Commissioners would allow me to retire on the fifteenth of this month.

Yours truly,

J. B. McDONALD

Chief Roszel was present and denied that he had shown any favoritism or discrimination in dealing with the members of the force.

After discussing the matter for some time, the following resolution was passed;

"That in view of the fact that no charges are made, and no investigation asked, for, and the Chief Constable has denied any unfair treatment, no action be taken in regard to the allegation of want of consideration on the part of the Chief Constable made by Constable McDonald ,and that Constable McDonald's resignation be accepted."

Several other matters in connection with the force were discussed. No action was taken in regard to securing a successor to P. C. McDonald.

An offertory was made for missions amounting to $58.

The election of officers for the deanery took place yesterday. Rev. W. C. Allen, of Millbrook, was elected rural dean, and Rev. J. H. Teney, of Omemee, secretary treasurer of the deanery.

Dr. Bruce Smith in the City

Here Inspecting Local Hospitals and Charitable Institutions

Dr. Bruce Smith, Provincial Inspector of Prisons and Charities, is in the city in connection with the discharge of his official duties. He inspected St. Joseph's Hospital, the House of Providence, the Protestant Home and the gaol this morning, and will inspect the House of Refuge and Nicholls Hospital this afternoon.

"I was surprised to find some poor old men belonging to the city of Peterborough, in the gaol," said Dr. Smith, "but understand that arrangements are being made to have them removed to the House of Refuge. I trust that when I come to the city again, they will be placed in the more comfortable and appropriate quarters provided by the House of Refuge."

He said the gaol had been much improved since his last visit here by the interior painting of the building which had been performed by the prisoners. He said the accommodation in both the Protestant Home and the House of Providence, was somewhat limited, but was pleased to note that the inmates of both institutions enjoyed the best of health. Dr. Smith said he was glad to see an addition being made to St. Joseph's hospital, and also remarked on the cleanliness of the hospital, and the satisfactory way in which it was conducted.

Will There Be Friction?

Citizen Says Commissioners Must Probe Into P. C. McDonald's Resignation

A prominent citizen has informed the Review that there will be some trouble between some of the people of Peterborough and the civic authorities, if the police commissioners do not give their consideration to the reasons why P. C. McDonald decided to resign as embodied by that officer in the wording of his resignation. The gentleman who gave the Review this information thinks that the retiring officer has not received fair treatment at the hands of certain other members of the force and to use his expression, has been given the "double cross." He said he thought McDonald was an efficient and courteous policeman and stated that in his opinion the city would be deprived of a good guardian of the peace when his resignation took effect.

Thousands Thronged Fair Grounds; Norwood Exhibition Was Success

Over 6000 People Were Present—Entries Were 500 Ahead of Last Year—Ideal Weather Contributed to Enjoyment of Occasion—Peterborough Man Won Marathon Road Race—Speeding Events Were Keenly Contested—Supt. J. Lockie Wilson Praises the Excellence of the Show —Various Features of the Day Reviewed—Directors Were a Well Pleased Body of Men--Two Accidents on the Grounds--Notes of the Gathering.

Norwood fair and the clerk of the weather seldom fail to agree. In thirty-nine years they have had only three dissensions, which is a pretty good record.

On Wednesday the greatest annual event in the history of East Peterborough capital was pulled off. It was favored by splendid weather and everybody was happy. It was not too warm or too cold. There was just nip enough in the air to give zest to the movement, alacrity to the step, heartiness to the greetings and color to the countenance.

The attendance was between 6,000 and 7,000 persons, no less than 300 going down from Peterborough and returning by special train in the evening. The exhibition in all departments was good and thoroughly representative. Last year the entries numbered 2,300; this year they ran 2,800—an increase of 500 ,which is a pretty good showing.

Everybody who is in the habit of attending fall fairs, was in the grounds. There were politicians and would-be politicians, county councillors, reeves, clergymen, lawyers, doctors, dentists, farmers, business men, mechanics, etc—in fact everyone seemed to be out for a holiday and enjoyed it. The school children of East Peterborough and Norwood village were admitted for five and ten cents, and by two o'clock the grounds were thronged with a dense mass of humanity, numbering, a already stated, over 6,000. The receipts at the gate were $1,100 ,and for booths and privileges $100, making $1,200 taken in outside of membership tickets. The latter numbered about 200, so that Norwood fair will continue to maintain its splendid financial position.

"The Midway" was a great source of interest. There were all kinds of attractions and devices to amuse and entertain, but nothing of an objectionable character. All the booths, side shows and vaudeville performances were well patronized.

The speeding events were exciting and closely contested, while Mr. Ray Best, of Peterborough, was warmly congratulated on carrying off the trophy in the file mile Marathon race—ten times around the —track. The time was 24 minutes and 25 seconds. Fred Simpson was a close competitor.

MR. WILSON SPEAKS.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, Provincial Inspector of Fairs and Exhibitions, was on the grounds. He was an interested spectator of all the events. Asked for his opinion of the Norwood Fair, he said: "This is one of the best country fairs that it has been my pleasure to attend this year. The showing in cattle—Ayrshire, Durhams, Holsteins, Polled Angus, etc., is particularly good. The roots and vegetable display is fine, and nowhere have I seen as creditable a showing in potatoes. The apple exhibit is also worthy of special mention. Surveying the crowd I never saw a healker, happier and better dressed lot. The young men and boys are well behaved. The result in all the events is taken good naturedly, and there is no swearing or boisterous conduct. The grounds are well laid out, but new buildings are required. There should be an extension to the cattle sheds, a new poultry building, a grand stand and a new hall. All these are badly needed. The buildings should be well lighted and whitewashed, or given a slight coat of paint both inside and out. This imparts to the structures a bright and clean appearance. There should also be an arena roped off for judging cattle and seats arranged around the side so that many who are interested could look on. Judges should also explain why they have awarded certain animals first, second, or third prize. After the judging a first, and say a third prize animal, should be brought into the ring and the differens points explained; say first and third prize animal so that the characteristics would be more sharply defined and intelligible to those interested, as often there is very little difference between a first and second prize animal. The society today have four of the Government judges in attendance, which is a splendid thing. They are Dr. H. G. Reed, of Georgetown, on horses; W. H. Beatty, of Wilton Grove, on beef cattle and sheep; John Jackson, of Abingdon, on dairy cattle and swine, and Mr. P. F. McGregor, of Almonte, on poultry. There are 185 judges appointed by the government to act at the different fairs when their services are required. Mr. Wilson ha sunder his jurisdiction 500 horticultural and agricultural exhibitions.

JUDGES OF THE DAY.

The judges in the different events were:—

Horses—Dr. H. G. Reed, Georgetown.

Beef Cattle and Sheep—W. H. Beatty, Wilton Grove.

Dairy Cattle and Swine—John Jackson, Abingdon.

Poultry—P. F. McGregor, Almonte.

Speeding Events—E. M. Elliott, Peterborough.

Dairy Produce and Miscellaneous Domestic Products—T. W. Robinson, Peterborough; E. C. Squire, Norwood.

Grain—John Duff, Indian River; C. E. Pakenham, Norwood.

Field Roots—John Clements, Warsaw; Thomas Drope, Roseneath.

Noxious Weeds—Miss McKenzie, Norwood.

Garden Vegetables—A. Watt, Warsaw.

Fruit—A. B. Girman, Brickley.

— Artisan Manufactures—I. N. Ackerman, Norwood.

Domestic Manufactures—Jas. McNeil, Keene; C. W. Waters, Norwood.

Ladies' Work—Mrs. Fox, Morrisburg; Miss M. A. Archer, and Miss A. Peters, Norwood.

Fine Arts—Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson, Norwood; Miss McKenzie, Norwood.

NOXIOUS WEEDS

A very creditable and unique attraction in the main building was a display of noxious weeds, made by the pupils of S.S. No. 12, Asphodel, Miss Helen Fowlds, teacher. There were 106 specimens of weeds, all nicely mounted and properly classified. The exhibit was certainly a most interesting and instructive one.

MARATHON RACE.

The Marathon road race—ten times around the track—a distance of five miles, was keenly contested. The entries were Messrs. Ray Best and Ernest Bruce, of Peterborough, and Fred Simpson, of Hiawatha. Great interest centred in the event and the last lap was a fight to a finish. Best took the lead and maintained it. He crossed the tape about three or four feet ahead of the Indian, Simpson. Bruce was a considerable distance in the rear. Best won a fine gold watch, while Simpson will be given a silvr watch. The time was 24 minutes and 25 seconds. Mr. Best was warmly congrattulated on his victory, while Simpson was also cheered for his game fight for first position.

SPEEDING IN THE RING.

The speeding in the ring attracted a large number of spectators, who would permit no crowding on to the track. Mr. Ed. M. Elliott was judge. The track was in good condition and the following were the results:—

TWO ACCIDENTS.

During the afternoon an accident occurred, which was not serious. Harry Direct, in the second heat in the free-for-all speeding contest, stepped through the wheel of the sulky of Bourbon Brook. The driver of the latter horse was thrown but not hurt. On the next lap, when Harry Direct and Black Cloud came around, the crowd was gathered on this track, looking at the broken wheel. They did not disperse in time, and Joseph Killoran, the young son of Lawrence Killoran, liveryman of Norwood, was run over. He was picked up bleeding at the nose and mouth and carried into an adjoining house. He was not injured internally but certainly had a close call.

On Tuesday, Thomas Clarke, son of Robert Clarke, got in the way of a large roller, engaged in rolling the track. He was run over. His knee was severely injured and his leg received a bad wrenching. He will b elaid up for some days.

GRAND CONCERT.

In the evening a grand concert was held in the Norwood town hall, which has been greatly enlarged and refurnished throughout. There was a large attendance and a fine programme was presented by great and visiting talent. Mr. Harvey singer, was the stellar attraction of the evening.

NOTES OF THE DAY.

The Norwood Brass Band, under the leadership of Mr. A. Breault, furnished excellent music during this afternoon and added to the liveliness of the proceedings.

Mr. Frank Birdsall, the energetic president, was here, there and everywhere. Mr. Birdsall has been connected with the society ever since its inception. He has been president for about twenty years and is the right man in the right place.

Secretary Roxburgh and his assistant Mr. Jas. Calder, were most obliging and attentive and everything passed off without the slightest friction.

Mr. E. J. Laing of Norwood, who is the special representative of the Capital Cream Separator, the Singer Sewing Machine, and the Empress range, had a creditable display just outside the main building. Mr. Laing made a number of sales, and the lines which he represents are unexcelled. He is well and favorably known to the residents of East Peterborough and enjoys their confidence and esteem. He has sold many Capital Cream Separators and Singer Sewing Machines, which never fail to give satisfaction.

Mr. George Humphrey of Westwood a former member of the South African Constabulary, was present in his khaki uniform. He took an active interest in the success of the fair, and assisted the judges in calling off the different classes in the live stock exhibit.

The Norwood High School Cadets under Captain Huycke, were on the ground, 22 strong, and went through a number of evolutions in admirable style. Capt. Huycke is an excellent instructor, being a member of the 3rd P. W. D. Guards. The uniforms of the cadets are grey, with purple trimmings. They were much admired and won approbation from Col. Young, D.A.G., on the occasion of the last inspection.

The majority of the 400 visitors from Peterborough, returned home last night on the special, which left Norwood at eight o'clock. The train was densely packed, the two coaches being filled to suffocation. The C.P.R. should certainly have put on more cars, in view of the number which had to be transported.

The Ayrshire cattle, showed by Mr. Alex. Hume, and Messrs. Stewart & Son, of Menie, Ont., were splendid animals, McLeod's herd of Polled Angus, and Knox's Shorthorns, also were much admired.

F. Birdsall & Son, had sever Durhams on exhibition, all of their own breeding. They captured all the prizes, including the herd championship, best male and female. The herd of Birdsall & Son, is headed by an imported bull, bred by Campbell, of Scotland. A finer showing of Durham cattle was never seen on this grounds.

All the hotels and eating houses were crowded, the church sheds filled with vehicles, as well as many private yards. Verily it was a memorable day for Norwood.

Sheep men had their troubles, as they were all asked to show pedigrees, and not having known of this rule, some had left them at home. Many noted prize-winners were left out on this account. Later, the president and directors, ruled that this regulation be laid aside, and the sheep were re-judged.

Thrown From Buggy in a Runaway—Many Interesting Matters Told by the Review's Correspondent.

Lakefield, Oct. 9.—Mr. Battersby, Young's Point, whilst driving with his wife and child to Lakefield, on Monday last, met with an accident, which might have been attended with very serious results. The horse took fright at a steam thresher on the road and bolted, throwing Mr. Battersby against a telephone pole. Luckily Mrs. Battersby and the baby escaped any injury, but Mr. Battersby sustained a very severe cut on the upper part of his chin.

Mr. Gerald Hayward, an old resident of Lakefield, who is at present staying with Mr. Harry Garbutt, of Smith, also met with a severe accident a few days ago, at Millbrook fair on fair day. Mr. Hayward was running along the railway track to catch the train, when he fell into a cowcatcher, breaking his breast bone, and three of his ribs. At last accounts Mr. Hayward was progressing very nicely towards recovery, although it will take him several weeks to regain his old-time vigor.

AN "AT HOME."

The Grove boys are greatly elated over their victory with the Peterborough team on Saturday last, the score being 32—5 in favor of the Grove.

The Harvest Festival of St. John's church takes place on Wednesday, 9th inst.

Lakefield has brought forth several well known figures in the field of sport. The latest addition to the number is Mr. George Hilliard, jr., son of Mr. G. B. Hilliard, who has done splendidly in the R.M.C. sports, lately held at Kingston.

Mr. Hilliard came out second for the trophy, winning first prize in the quarter mile in the exceptionally fast time of 51 seconds; 2nd in the 100 yards, and third in the 220 yards, and in kicking the football.

Popular Douro Residents Honored by Their Friends

Presentations and Addresses to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Barry Who Are Leaving for Vancouver—Large Number in Attendance.

An event that will long be remembered by those in attendance took place at the residence of Mr. James Barry, Douro, on Tuesday night, when a large number of friends and neighbors gathered to say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Barry and family, who leave in a few days for Vancouver, B. C. where they will reside in future. There were two presentations to Mr. Barry and one to Mrs. Barry, suitable addresses accompanying them.

An address to Mr. Barry from the council of the township of Douro, of which Mr. Barry has been treasurer for several years was read by Mr. J. J. Allen, township clerk, and was as follows,—

James Barry, Esq., treasurer Municipality, Township of Douro.—

Sir,—We, the members of the Municipal council of this township, learning of your intended removal to the west, desire to express our appreciation of you, as a man, a citizen of the township, and of your valuable services, extending over a period of many years.

During that time you have given diligent, intelligent and faithful service, always in the best interests of the municipality, and with the object of furthering its welfare, prosperity and progress.

It no doubt is, as it should be, to you, a matter of pride and gratification, that despite changes in the personnel of the council from year to year, your services have been esteemed, valued and continued.

Your wide knowledge of the affairs of the township, enabled you to assist and direct in all matters with which you were familiar. Spending as you have done, over fifty years of your life in our midst, you have been a veritable mine of information, always at the call and disposal of those interested in municipal affairs. While your great modesty has kept you from seeking higher municipal honors, which would gladly have been accorded, had you been a candidate, your ability and forethought have been recognized by all your fellow citizens.

Not only as a council, but as your confreres in all good work, having for its object the betterment of public utilities and the public welfare, we wish you every success. Your hosts of friends, among whom you have lived as youth and man, have only one opinion to express, that of genuine regret at your departure and hearty wishes for your future prosperity and welfare.

These good wishes are extended to the members of your family, that accompany you, and who will, both for themselves and for you, join in building a home in the new West.

As a memento of many happy associations and to remind you of the years behind you, as well as in the years to come, we ask your acceptance of the accompanying gift, knowing that while it is in no sense adequate you still value it because of those by whom it is tendered.

Signed,
F. MOHER, Reeve.

It is in folio shape, the pages of handmade paper, beautifully bordered and illuminated, the whole bound in velvet brown leather with silk linings. The address was greatly admired, and conceded to be the handsomest thing of the kind yet seen. The script of the address was done by Mr. T. Q. SPECIAL EXHIBITS

GRAFTON & CO.

An extensive outfit in charge of three attendants, was on the grounds in the interests of Grafton & Co., the extensive clothiers of Peterborough. A large tent contained a fine array of the newest styles and shades in men's and boys' clothing, which were carefully inspected by the thousands of visitors on the grounds. An impression of the extent of this firm's business was forcibly imprinted on the mind, by the immense amount of advertising signs they had hung all over the grounds, as the name Grafton & Co. seemed to be everywhere you went.

LANG & MAHER.

The handsome tent, containing the exhibit of Men's Clothing, shown by the well known firm of Lang & Maher, Peterborough, was the centre of attraction, and their yard sticks were to be seen everywhere, the ladies especially being very partial to this useful article. Lang & Maher are certainly artists at catchy advertising, and during the fair season have given away 6000 yard sticks, that are now established in as many homes in Peterborough county, telling the inmates where to buy good clothes, every time a measure is taken with them.

FINE HERD OF DURHAMS.

One of the delighted exhibitors in the cattle classes, was Mr. F. Birdsall, Jr., of the firm of F. Birdsall & Son, Birdsall, Ont. His choice herd of Durhams, practically cleaned up everything in their class. He showed seven animals, all of their own breeding, and secured nine prizes, five of them firsts, also the herd championship, and special for best male and female. The herd is headed by an imported bull, bred by Campbell of Scotland, and the record being made by the firm this season is one to be proud of. The cattle are very uniform in type, and their quality is very evident, even to the uninitiated. One particular fine youngster is a beautiful heifer, under one year old.

PRIZE AYRSHIRES.

Choice herds of pure bred cattle were the rule, and conspicuous, among them was the beautiful, black coated herd of Ayrshires, owned by Alex. Hume & Co., of Menie, Ont. This herd has been at the large fairs at Toronto, Ottawa, Sherbrooke and London, always getting goodly share of the premiums. At Norwood they won all but three of the first prizes. That the merit of the herd has been recognized by the Government experts, is witnessed by the fact that the proprietors have lately sold a bull and cow to Guelph Agricultural College, two cows to the college at Truro, N.S., and a heifer to Washington State Agricultural College. All bulls used, are imported, and there are twenty cows and heifers from the herd, listed in the Government record of merit.

OXFORD DOWN SHEEP.

An exhibit of Oxford Down Sheep shown by R. H. Cole & Sons, of Woodville, Ont., was much admired and gave evidence of special care and preparation for the exhibition pen. The flock have been shown at Warkworth, Colborne, Castleton, Brighton, Bowmanville and other places, winning practically everything in sight wherever shown. At Norwood they continued their good record, winning the lions share in strong competition. This firm also breeds Yorkshire and Berkshire pigs.

A SURE THING FOR THE BOYS

The Daily Review News Boys Competition, With Twenty-two Prizes Began on Tuesday Oct. 8th.

Attention is directed to the newsboys competition, the particulars of which are given on another page. It contains the largest and most valuable list of prizes ever offered, away ahead of anything yet attempted. The rewards are a sure thing and the conditions easy. Absolute fairness is ensured in the few and simple conditions.

Parents need have no hesitation in letting the little fellows take part. It has the educational feature that it encourages the boy to earn for himself, and he will value very much more highly that which he has gained by his diligence and energy, than that which is given to him. The little fellows will be taken care of. Not herded in a dingy cellar or kept out in the cold, but will have admission to the Review Business Office, where they will be looked after. Papers will be ready shortly after four o'clock each day and served to the boys promptly.

SHOT HIS WIFE DEAD.

She Had Determined to Push Divorce Suit.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 10.—Fred Butt, a moulder, aged 36 years, went to the home of his wife yesterday and asked her if she was determined to push her suit for divorce.

She said yes, whereupon he grabbed her and tried to force carbolic acid into her mouth, burning the flesh about the lips. Failing in this, he shot her dead and then turned the weapon on himself and put a bullet in his body.

Failing to kill himself, he swallowed carbolic acid and is dying at an hospital.

Thieves at Dresden Fair.

Chatham, Oct. 10.—L. H. Edmunds, a prominent Blenheim horseman, was robbed of $250, the proceeds of the winning of his horses at Dresden Fair at the Pere Marquette station there yesterday.

Mr. Edmunds was carrying a basket of grapes, which the stranger asked to see. Accommodatingly Mr. Edmunds held the basket up, and when his arm was extended the deed was done. One other man is said to have lost $400, and there was a rumor to the effect that Hon. Mr. Hanna had his pocket picked.

D. A. Gordon and P. P. Bowyer were also in attendance. The fair was a great success.

Killed on C. P. R. Tracks.

Toronto, Oct. 10.—While jotting notes in his memoranda in the C.P.R. yards at Toronto Junction yesterday morning, Harold Jeffries was struck in the back by an express train from the west, and instantly killed. Jeffries is an Englishman, 23 years old, employed as brake inspector. He was standing near an outgoing freight train, and did not hear the whistle of the approaching engine, C.P.R. No. 10.

When the locomotive struck him he was thrown thirty yards and when picked up he was dead.

Japanese Solve Problem.

Tokio, Oct. 10.—The Japanese Government has placed heavy restriction on emigration companies.

The announcement has just been made of a vast colonization scheme which will open up a million acres of land in Korea to Japanese settlement, and officials aver that this will solve the question of emigration to the United States and Canada.

Grapes Not Damaged.

St. Catharines, Oct. 10.—Though there was a heavy frost around here Tuesday night, growers of grapes and tomatoes state that there was little or no damage.

LADIES GOLF COMPETITIONS

Interesting Events at the Links Yesterday Afternoon

A large number of ladies were present at the golf links yesterday afternoon, when the ladies' competitions were held. Some of them proved very exciting and great interest was aroused.

The driving competition in Class A was won by Miss Pearl Lundy, with Miss Bertha Moore second. Miss Helen Hall was first in Class B, with Mrs. J H McClellan second.

In the cutting and putting competition for Class A Mrs. Gardner was first, and Mrs. P. E. Campbell and Miss Pearl Lundy tied for second place.

Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. McClellan won the first and second prizes respectively, in Class B.

A medal handicap round for a cup presented by Mrs A. H. Stratton, was played and was won by Miss Helen Hall, with Miss Aylmer second.

Tea was served by the King's Daughters and a most enjoyable time spent.

SPORTING COMMENT

Waddell, of Westwood, the runner who won the two-mile track race at the Keene Fair, has not yet recovered from the effects of the race. He ran in his ordinary clothes, and was not massaged or rubbed after the race. As a result his muscles have been stiff and sore ever since.

GOLF

PORT HOPE LADIES COMING

A ladies' golf team from the Port Hope Club, will play at the local links on Saturday. The matters between the Port Hope and Peterborough ladies have been very interesting this year, and Saturday's will be no exception.

LOCAL OPTION IN NORWOOD

Vote Will be Taken at the January Election

At the last regular meeting of the Norwood Village Council a largely signed petition was presented asking that a local option bylaw be submitted at the time of the municipal election in January.

A motion was carried that the request of the petitioners be complied with, and that a bylaw be prepared and submitted to the public. The bylaw will accordingly be given its first and second readings and be voted upon. There are two hotels in Norwood.

Party Off for Ketchecum Lake

On a Fishing and Partridge Shooting Trip

The following members of the Ketchecum Lake Club left to-day for a two weeks fishing and partridge shooting expedition at Ketchecum Lake:—Messrs. R. J. Winch, Capt.; J. J. Lundy, T. E. Bradburn, J. D. Collins, E. A. Peck, A. Morrow, Henderson Nesbitt, A. Collins, T. Hooper, W. H. Bradburn and Harvey A. Rudkins, of New York, who is a relative of Mr. W. Rudkins, of this city. This is this first visit to Peterborough. The party was preceded yesterday by Chef A. Jackson, who will look after the preparation of the viands during their stay at Ketchecum lodge.

Mr. Davidson Was Crown Prosecutor

Mr. N. F. Davidson, K.C., of Toronto, brother of Rev. Canon Davidson, of this city, was crown prosecutor in connection with the case of Murray Stevens, the Wabash engineer, who was sentenced to six months in gaol at St. Thomas yesterday for disobeying rules and causing the death of two people at a crossing in St. Thomas a year ago.

Messenger boys to the number of 15,000 were ordered out on strike in support of the striking telegraphers.

"Captain," a monkey in the Bronx Zoo, insisted upon having too frequent baths, and is now dying of pneumonia.

A gravel train on the T. & N. O. at Englehart, was derailed on Saturday and an unknown man killed.

A STORY.

It all began when he was young.
Through fortune's hard mischance
It came about he had to wear
His daddy's cut down pants.

He then grew up to man's estate,
Continued as before,
And when he went in politics
The boss' collar wore.

He next became a benedict.
Of course we may surmise
From color combinations strange
He wore his helpmeet's ties.

And though in his apparel, thus,
He never cared to choose,
He made a failure when he tried
To fill a great man's shoes.

The moral of this tale is this:
For either fame or pelf
A tailor poor is circumstance,
You'd better dress yourself.
—McLandburgh Wilson in Lippincott's.

Taking No Chances.

Young Wife (who has cooked the dinner for the first time)—Whatever will my husband say when he sees that I have quite spoiled the joint? Come, Anna, we will toss who shall take it in to him.—Fliegende Blatter.

Bricks From Garbage.

The system of refuse destruction in some of the English cities is beyond criticism. The money derived from the material in many instances more than covers the cost of collection and reduction, and, in addition to this, heat, light and power are supplied for municipal purposes. A notable instance is at Nottingham, England, where a third incinerator is about to be erected which will be much larger than the two existing plants. In that city one of the by-products of the plants is bricks for paving or building. The clinkers from the furnace are mixed with cement and under hydraulic pressure formed into blocks which are said to be harder and more enduring than rock itself.

The Thieving Jackdaw.

The Truro City Corporation has been ruffled not a little lately by the persistent disappearance of plant labels from the public park, and has in consequence issued solemn warnings, per placard, to the children who congregate to play there. But the "Whereases" and the pains and penalties recited should not have been addressed to the Cornish bairns. At a chapel hard by a big pile of the missing labels has now been found, under a hole in the roof, conveyed thither by an acquisitive jackdaw. "Jack" cannot read the Corporate cautions, but his ignorance of the law has not saved him from prison for its infringement.

Town Without a Postoffice.

While in Scotland last autumn I arrived at Maxwelltown, Kirkcudbrightshire, and wanting a stamp for a picture postcard I inquired for the postoffice, but to my surprise I was informed the town had neither post nor telegraph office. Investigation revealed that the town had a population of more than 3,000 inhabitants, being also a burgh, with its provost, town council and bailies. This unique town has to depend on Dumfries, nearly three miles distant, for everything of a postal nature.—London Tit-Bits.

The First Trousers.

Pockets were one of the great sartorial objections urged against trousers, and a writer on male fashions eighty years ago declared: "No pockets can be tolerated on any account whatever. They make a man look like a Yankee."—London Chronicle.

Leg Crushed by Train.

Belleville, Oct. 10.—William Wrennick, a switchman, 24 years old and unmarried, had his right arm and leg crushed at the G. T. R. yards here yesterday morning. They were amputated at the hospital. It is doubtful if he will recover.

Fooling the Infant.

"Well," remarked Nupop in rather a loud tone of voice, "it's pleasant to think that we can remain comfortably at home this evening"—

"Why, George," began Mrs. Nupop, "you know we've got tickets for the"—

"Sh! Can't you see the baby's listening? I said that for his benefit."—Catholic Standard and Times.

CLOTHIERS, FURNISHERS and HATTERS
375-377 GEORGE ST. PHONE 358

6824, 6825.—ONE OF THE NEW CLOTH GOWNS.

The new cloth gowns for street wear are most fetching and have an air of elegance which even their more elaborate forerunners could not boast. The costume shown consists of a waist showing pleats extending over the shoulder which lend becoming lines and a fanciful yoke effect, which reaches a deep point in front. This feature provides opportunity for one's favorite color next the face, while a charming note of contrast may be struck in the band of velvet or braid which borders it. The sleeves are far from ordinary with their tucks and fanciful cuffs and they may be finished in long or shorter style.

The skirt is a seven gored one with tucks at the side seams and box pleats in back. The modish trimness about the hips is conspicuous while the graceful ripple at the hem adds an air of cache which many skirts lack. Any of the seasonable cloths or silks may serve for the gown, voile, panama or pongee being suggested. For the medium size 7 5-8 yards of 44 in. material are needed.

Two Patterns.—6824—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6825, 7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist.

The price of these patterns is 10c but either will be sent upon receipt of 10 cents.

The Conductor Courteous.

St. John's, N. F.—some of the natives call it "Senjens"—is far more picturesque than beautiful. But its quaintness redeems it from stupidity, and, wander where you will, you meet with that courtesy and kindness that are the graces of people who live unhurried lives in remote places where strangers are a welcome break to their monotony. When you say to some casual benefactor that you are "much obliged" for some courteous direction, he will touch his hat and say, "Thank you," as if you had conferred the favor upon him. The street car conductor (they even have a trolley line, though how it can be run in winter is a mystery) will see that you are set down where you should leave the car and, if you are uncertain of your way, will get off his car and point your destination out, holding his other passengers until he is sure you understand.—Travel Magazine.

Care of the Protestant Poor Should Receive Greater Attention

To the Citizens of Peterborough.

At the annual meeting of the Protestant Home, held yesterday, it was felt to make plain to the general public the objects and aims of that Home. There seems to be an impression abroad, that this Home is the refuge for the Protestant poor and homeless. —While the management is desirous to give a home to as many as possible in poor circumstances, it is not by any means a public institution such as the House of Refuge. Therefore, the public ought to understand that the time has arrived to enter into definite arrangements with the proper authorities to provide for the proper housing and support of the poor of the city, especially since the House of Refuge at Lakefield, has refused to admit the poor of the city. We would urge upon the charitably disposed citizens of Peterborough to consider this matter and to come to some arrangements with regard to this important and worthy cause. At the same time, while agitating for the provision of such a public House of Refuge, we might point out that there need not be an abolishment of the present Protestant Home which might still be used as a Home for those who have some means to provide for themselves or have friends to do so, better and more private accommodation. At any rate we wish to inform the public that there are several cases of men and women who are absolutely helpless, and thus dependent upon being cared for. The Protestant Home has not the money to provide the care for those who are unable to help themselves by reason of bodily infirmities, therefore something must be done at once, to provide the means to engage a nurse to look after these cases. We would, therefore, ask the citizens to support this undertaking by giving the money to help, in this special provision of help. Contributions might be sent to the secretary, Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, or Mrs. R. S. Davidson, or the undersigned. The special cases referred to, are an aged woman paralyzed, and two old men, deprived of the use of their limbs.

Faithfully yours,
J. G. POTTER
E. A. LANGFELDT.

Committee Appointed to Consider New Church

Methodists Are in Favor of Having Place of Worship in South End—Meeting Held Last Night.

The proposition to erect a Methodist church in the south end of the city is beginning to take definite shape. A committee has been appointed to go into the matter fully and the general impression seems to be that the new edifice will be a reality in the not far distant future.

The question was carefully and fully considered at a meeting of representatives from the three Methodist churches of the city, at Charlotte street church last night. Rev. H. M. Manning presided, and the opinion was practically unanimous that something should be done to provide a place of worship for the Methodists who reside in the south end. The steady growth of Methodism in Peterborough was referred to by several of the speakers and also the fact that the Methodist churches of the city cannot accommodate any more worshippers than they are doing at the present time.

After considering the proposition in all its phases, a committee composed of representatives of the three Methodist churches of the city, was appointed to go into the matter further. The committee is a fairly large one and has power to add to its numbers.

The chairman of the committee is Mr. D. W. Dumble.

The committee will pay particular attention to the financial aspect of the question, and will ascertain just what can be done in this direction. An estimate will also be made as to the cost of a church suitable to meet the requirements, and also for a site.

No date was fixed for the committee to meet, this being left in the hands of the chairman.

THREE FACTS

For Sick Women To Consider.

FIRST.—That almost every operation in our hospitals performed upon women becomes necessary through neglect of such symptoms as backache, irregular and painful periods, displacements of the female organs, pain in the side, burning sensation in the stomach, bearing-down pains, nervousness, dizziness and sleeplessness.

SECOND.—The medicine that holds the record for the largest number of absolute cures of female ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can.

For thirty years it has been helping women to be strong, curing backache, nervousness, kidney troubles, inflammation of the female organs, weakness and displacements, regulating the periods perfectly and overcoming their pains. It has also proved itself invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

THIRD.—The great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time published by permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women.—Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. From symptoms given, your trouble may be located and the quickest and surest way of recovery advised.—Mrs. Pinkham is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease she has been advising sick women free of charge. Out of the vast volume of experience in treating female ills Mrs. Pinkham probably has the very knowledge that will help your case. Surely, any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

ESSEX DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Criminal Proceedings to Be Taken Against M. C. Railway.

Windsor, Oct. 11.—Crown Attorney Rodd has been instructed to proceed against the Michigan Central Railway for criminal negligence over the disastrous dynamite explosion at Essex on Aug. 10 last, in which Brakemen Condin and McNary were killed, and also about ten others injured.

The coroner's jury held the company grossly negligent, and after this verdict was returned preparations were made to issue writs for damages, but the company signified a willingness to settle claims.

For the past two weeks a representative of the company has been in Essex, and has adjusted practically all claims.

The criminal charge will come up next week at the Assizes, although the writs have not yet been actually issued.

RAILWAY MEN RESPONSIBLE.

Jury Find That They Caused Fatal Accident at Barrie.

Barrie, Oct. 11.—The coroner's jury on the death of Robert Blackburn, killed in the G. T. R. yards here on Sept. 30, last night returned a verdict to the effect that the accident was caused by a violation of the rules by Engineer Henry J. Morris starting his train before the required 10 minutes, and not having it under full control, also by Conductor John Ferrell not protecting his train either by a flagman or fusee. The crown attorney intimated that he would have no choice but would be compelled to prosecute.

Run-Off at Cataract.

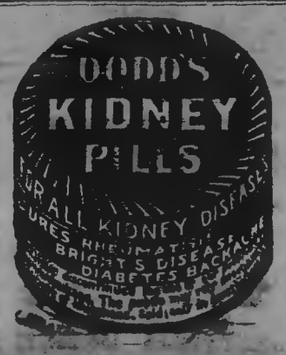
Orangeville, Oct. 11.—The derailing of an engine on the passenger train for Teeswater, which left Toronto early last evening, near Cataract station, about 15 miles from here, on the Credit Valley branch of the C. P. R., resulted in the line being blocked for several hours. No one was injured. The accident was due to an open switch.

Mission to Japan.

London, Oct. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Morning Leader expresses satisfaction at the mission to Tokio, and says: "Premier Laurier can generally be trusted to combine statesmanship of a high order with the gracefullest courtesy, and he certainly is wise in seeking a permanent solution," and it adds that Lemieux is an ideal choice.

Thousand Dollars For Eye.

Windsor, Oct. 11.—The Grand Trunk has settled the damage claim of Albert McCreery, a former engineer, who brought suit for partial loss of the sight of one eye, caused by a water guage bursting. After the accident McCreery lost his job. The company has allowed him $1,000 and costs of medical attendance.



FREIGHT TRAIN SMASH ON G. T. R. NEAR BELLEVILLE

Jockey Groves Badly Hurt in Crash on Grand Trunk.

Man Named Reinhardt of Buffalo Killed—Both Were In Charge of Race-Horses — Several Animals Crushed to Death — Fourteen Freight Cars Wrecked Near Trenton—Fall Over Embankment.

Belleville, Oct. 11.—Willie Reinhardt was killed, Ernest Groves seriously injured, and several of the Sutherland string of racehorses are dead as the result of a smash-up on the Grand Trunk near Trenton Station at 5 o'clock yesterday.

The body of the lad, Willie Reinhardt, is now in Trenton, where an inquest will be held.

Ernest Groves, the Toronto steeplechase rider, who was hurt, is in the hospital here, and the doctors say he will recover. When the car struck the bottom of the embankment he fell among some loose hay, and to this he attributes his escape from death. Several valuable horses were in the Sutherland string, and were either killed or had to be shot.

The remainder of the cars which went over the embankment were loaded with general merchandise, and trainmen say the wreck is one of the worst they ever saw. It is said the pitch-in was caused by a misplaced switch, but trainmen will say nothing.

The story of the wreck follows:

Many Cars Smashed.

A freight train was going west when another freight, which was on a siding, was backed eastward on to the main line and struck the westbound freight amidships, knocking thirteen cars off the high embankment into the ditch.

Among the cars ditched were some containing a string of fifteen racehorses belonging to Sutherland of Grimsby, in charge of a young man named Willie Reinhardt of Buffalo. He was killed.

A man named Ernest Groves of Toronto, steeplechase rider and jockey, also with the horses, was badly hurt, and is now in the hospital in this city.

It is rumored that the cause of the accident was a misplaced switch, but railwaymen here will say nothing. Some of the race-horses were also killed.

Cause of the Wreck.

A report was received at York yesterday morning that train No. 296, running east, from York to Belleville, collided with No. 93 from the east, ditching seventeen cars. The reason assigned for the accident was that the switchman had thrown the switch the wrong way.

Ernest Groves has for some years been but a transient visitor, though when in Toronto he made his home at the house of his cousins, Groves Bros., 696 Yonge street. Ernest is about 24 years of age and unmarried, and has for nearly fifteen years been connected with the turf.

C. P. R. ARBITRATION.

Men Get 14 Per Cent. More Pay—Double Time Sundays.

Toronto, Oct. 11.—The award of the board of arbitrators on the difficulties arising between the telegraph operators and agents and C. P. R. Railway, was given out last night, and is in favor of the men.

Wages have been increased 14 per cent., double time granted for running regular trains on Sunday, and, although train despatchers wanted the hours reduced from eight to six—and this was not allowed—this difficulty was overcome by a scheme to reduce the size of the circuit of operation.

These are the main features of the award. The only thing remaining is for the men and the company to get together in each division and settle the wages at each station.

Extra Duties.

The clause requiring men to work at washouts, wrecks, etc., was discussed at length, and it was decided that telegraphers needed in this way should in inclement weather be provided with shelter and paid their necessary expenses for the time they were away from home.

The men wanted to be exempt from attending switches, etc., but the award decides that it would be unreasonable to insist that the company keep two men at a small station for such a purpose. In certain cases, however, the men are to be paid extra.

The award allows a man who thinks that he is overworked to lay a complaint which is to be immediately investigated, and if he needs assistance or relief he will get it.

The men wanted overtime for all Sunday work, and the board made Sundays come under extra time, and the telegraphers whose duties call for Sunday work will be paid extra according to the salary schedule on the basis of 30 days to the month.

Further, any portion of an hour is to count as a full hour, and a minimum compensation of 25 cents will be given for each call. So that no man will get less than 25 cents, whether he gives a whole hour's work or part of an hour. And telegraphers attending to switches, semaphores, etc., will receive from $4 to $10 a month extra.

The men asked for 10 hours instead of 12 hours and 8 instead of 10, which was not granted.

Telegraphers shall not be required to do clerical work that will interfere with the proper despatching of trains.

The men wanted train despatchers' hours reduced to 6, but the board reduced the circuit, the area that a man has to take care of rather than reduce the hours.

If a telegrapher considers himself overtaxed his complaint must be carefully considered, and if well founded, relief would be granted.

The question of holidays caused a lot of trouble. Holidays remain as they were, three weeks for train despatchers, and two weeks for telegraphers, if they have been four years or more in the company's service.

Remuneration was increased 14 per cent. all around, on the basis of the present minimum wages, which run from $45 to $50 per month. This means an annual increase, roughly speaking of $175,000 to $200,000 per annum.

The new schedule of wages becomes effective Oct. 1.

Fire In Mid-Ocean.

New York, Oct. 11.—The Austrian steamer Giulia, which arrived yesterday from Trieste with 703 passengers, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire in mid-ocean during a violent storm on Oct. 2.

The crew fought the flames all day before they were extinguished, while the panic-stricken passengers prayed for help.

FOUGHT WITH ROBBERS

Brave Old Watchman Makes Plucky Stand Against Thieves.

Risked Death Rather Than Surrender Keys—Refused to Reveal Hiding Place — Staggered Down Nineteen Flights of Stairs to Give the Alarm —Saved Century Building From Being Looted.

New York, Oct. 11.—An aged watchman's faithful performance of his duty, even when death was threatened, prevented a robbery early yesterday, which, if it had been successful, those familiar with the case say, would have caused a sensation almost as great as that which followed the looting of the Manhattan Bank many years ago. Rich. F. Grey, watchman in the lofty Century building in Broadway, was the hero. He is now in the Hudson Street Hospital suffering from wounds which he received in a desperate single-handed fight against two robbers who attacked him while he was making his rounds on the nineteenth floor of the Century building at midnight. Although 60 years of age, Grey made a determined fight, and it was not until he was rendered almost unconscious that he was overcome. Even then he refused to reveal the hiding place of the keys to the hundreds of offices in the great buildings.

In their desperation the robbers chloroformed the old man as he lay bleeding on the floor, and began a systematic search of the lower portion of the building for the missing keys. Apparently they were unsuccessful in their search, for when Grey revived and staggered down the nineteen flights of stairs to the basement the men had disappeared.

As a result of the attempted robbery scores of extra detectives and police were on guard in the financial district yesterday. A cordon of men were thrown around the district bounded by Wall and Cedar and Nassau and Greenwich streets, and a search was made in all the buildings in that territory into which the police could force their way, but no trace of the desperadoes could be found.

FIRE FIENDS ARRESTED.

Incendiarism at Blind River Has Caused Serious Alarm.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 11.—It is reported from Blind River that six arrests have been made in connection with recent fires there.

During the past two months ten fires have occurred, all supposed to be of incendiary origin.

The matter had assumed such serious nature that the insurance companies commenced to cancel insurance on property in the town. Although efforts had been made to connect the guilty parties with fires, they have been unavailing, and it was only two days ago that the police secured clues that led up to the arrest of six men. It is said that two of the men have since been released, but a number of other arrests are likely to follow.

On Tuesday night three fires occurred in Blind River, destroying restaurants owned by Mrs. King and Mrs. Menars, and the gents' furnishing store of Thomas Assuant. Watchmen were placed on a number of valuable properties in town, and during the following night a couple of flour barrels filled with shavings and apparently ready to light, were found on the premises of the Dominion Lumber Co. An alarm was given and the incendiaries did not return to complete their work. It is said that the case against the accused men, whose names cannot be ascertained, is strong.

Wheel Tapper Killed.

Brantford, Oct. 11.—John Rowan, aged 40, a wheel tapper in the employ of the Grand Trunk, lost his life while at work in the local freight yards yesterday morning. He was testing the wheels and connecting the air hose when a train was shunted suddenly while he was under the car. One leg was severed, the other broken, and his back fractured. He died in the hospital half an hour later.

Hamilton's new Commercial Club was opened on Wednesday night.

WILL BLAME THE WIFE.

Counsel Outlines Defence In Hamilton Murder Trial.

Hamilton, Oct. 11.—The crown closed its case in the Sunfield murder trial yesterday afternoon, and the defence will commence this morning, it is expected that the case will be given to the jury Friday afternoon, as the defence will be rather brief. The prisoner will go into the box on his own behalf Friday morning, and there some of whom will be called as to the prisoner's character.

When the crown finished its case last evening at 6 o'clock, J. L. Counsell, the prisoner's lawyer, outlined the defence to the jury. According to his statement Mrs. Radzyk, the murdered man's wife, will be blamed for the crime. He announced that he would seek to show that Mrs. Radzyk liked the prisoner and did not like her husband, and that she only had a motive of getting rid of her husband. He said he would also seek to show that Mrs. Radzyk, on the day of the shooting, begged Sunfield to take her to Chicago, and became enraged when he refused.

The only new evidence given was that of William Walsh, son of Sergt. Walsh, who knew Radzyk well. He swore that when he heard of the shooting he went into the house and found Radzyk lying on the floor. He said he put this question to Radzyk, "What's the matter, Andy; have you been out?" and he swore that Radzyk's answer to that was, "No! Sunfield, he shoot. No use sending for the doctor, me dying.'

Testimony Unshaken.

The cross-examination of Mrs. Radzyk was finished yesterday morning by Mr. Counsell, who failed to shake her story. She said that Sunfield shot her husband. She did not see the shooting, but said that she thought Sunfield shot her husband after shooting her. She denied that she had ever made an agreement to go away with Sunfield, or tried to poison her husband or to get him to drink himself to death. She also denied that she was more friendly with Sunfield than with the rest of the boarders.

Antoine Schwartz was the next witness, and his story was to the effect that he had seen Mrs. Radzyk and Sunfield standing under a tree together the day of the tragedy. After he had passed the house he heard a shot, and Mrs. Radzyk came running out saying that Sunfield had shot her. He went into the house and found Radzyk's lying in a pool of his own blood. In answer to a question, Radzyk told the witness that the man who shot him had the revolver. John Harris, a boarder at the Radzyk house, said Radzyk had ordered all the boarders out of the house, and that Sunfield had threatened to shoot them. J. G. Appleton and Watchman Brandow also gave evidence.

APPEAL TO LAURIER.

Western Press Men Discuss C. P. R. Telegraph Rates.

Regina, Oct. 11.—A meeting of the publishers of Western Canada was held here Wednesday night.

J. G. Turiff said the public had no idea of the relations existing between the C. P. R. Telegraph Co. and the press until the recent exposure in the newspapers.

If the C. P. R. Telegraph Co. did not settle this matter satisfactorily, he had no doubt but that Parliament, irrespective of party, would unite to put an end to the existing intolerable state of affairs, and that he would use all his influence to that end. It was decided to send the following telegram to Premier Laurier:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Ottawa,—We, the undersigned publishers of western dailies of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, call your attention to the fact that the C. P. R. Telegraph Co. have arbitrarily advanced telegraph press rates without notice, in some instances over 100 per cent.

"That company furthermore is charging discriminatory rates and has imposed on certain papers commercial rates on press messages.

"We would respectfully ask if there is no machinery of Government that can deal promptly with those conditions, which constitute grave menace to freedom of press."

Canada-German Treaty.

London, Oct. 11.—(C. A. P.)—The Magazine of Commerce says the commercial treaty between Canada and Germany will be followed by a direct line of steamers from Germany to the St. Lawrence. Berlin reports state Germany is to be accorded by Canada most-favored-nation treatment.

"Whether the suggested German steamship line ever becomes an accomplished fact," says The Magazine, "depends largely upon the possible development and ultimate terms of settlement of the Atlantic rate war."

Cassie Chadwick Dead.

Columbus, Oct. 11.—Cassie Chadwick, the most notorious woman swindler of the present generation, died last night in the states prison at Columbus.

She was born at Appin, near London, Ont., of humble parentage, and during her career of crime enmeshed in her net millionaires, bank presidents and others. She had represented herself as a daughter of Andrew Carnegie.

She was serving a sentence of ten years for fraud.

C. N. R. Increase Wages.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—The difficulty between the Canadian Northern and its railway telegraphers has been definitely settled as the result of a conference between General Manager Spencer and representatives of the men, and the latter left for home last night. The company grants an increase in remuneration.

Year for Manslaughter.

North Bay, Oct. 11.—Hunter of Haileybury was sentenced by Judge Riddell last night to one year in the Central Prison, Toronto.

A petition asking for suspended sentence was signed by a large number here yesterday and handed to Judge Riddell at 6 o'clock last night.

George Tate Blackstock will not be the Conservative candidate in London, say the Tories there.

BRIDGES SWEPT AWAY

Rushing Flood Carries Away Everything in Its Path.

Inundation Worse Than Anything Since 1846—Peasants Fleeing In Terror—Train Derailed — Several Lives Lost In Collapse of Mill Building—Loire Valley One Vast Lake—The River Rhone Raging.

Paris, Oct. 11.—At Avignon the River Rhone has risen twenty feet, and the waters continue to rise at the rate of an inch an hour. The rushing flood has carried away everything in its path. At St. Huallier a train has been derailed, and at Baix 250 yards of the track was swept out. At Privas, department of the Ardeche, the Rhone has overflowed its banks, and at some places is a mile wide. A number of bridges have been swept away. At Poussin a house and a silk mill situated near the river bank collapsed, killing five persons.

Reports received from St. Etienne say that the valley of the Loire is one vast lake. The flood is the worst since 1846. Many villages have been hastily abandoned by their inhabitants.

CANADA MUST CHOOSE.

Encourage Either British or Oriental Immigrants, Says Kipling.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 11.—Rudyard Kipling, in an address to the Canadian Club Monday, took up the problem of immigration, and promised that on his return he would embody his views on Canada in some form.

He made a contrast of the happy condition of Canadian people with that of those in India, and pointed out the difference between Oriental and continental European immigration, and that of British origin.

The immigrants first named regarded law as a monster. They were born in fear and reared in the panic necessary to the race.

"It is not necessary," continued Mr. Kipling, "to evolve an elaborate scheme of education to instruct the immigrant from Great Britain how to talk the English language or to teach his children the rudiments of citizenship. He knows that he may have to learn much and to unlearn much, but at least he will have the same powers and possibilities as yourselves and follow the same ideas even as your fathers did along lines that you know well. He seeks only room to develop his powers and his capabilities, and this room, I conceive, is offered in your vast Dominion.

"It is possible that in your strength you may think that this is not an urgent question, but the time is coming when you will have to choose between the desired reinforcements of your own stock and blood and the undesired of races to whom you are strangers, whose speech you do not understand, and from whose instincts and traditions you are separated by thousands of years — that is your choice. For me, if I think the time for making that choice is on you now."

CHAPPELLE AT DIZZY HEIGHT.

Steeplejack Establishes Record For the Calling.

New York, Oct. 11.—A new record for steeplejacking was made yesterday, when Ernest Chappelle climbed the flagstaff of the Singer building tower and clamped a gilded globe to the top, 703 feet above the ground. Thousands of persons watched the daring man as he made the perilous ascent.

Working at the dizzy height, Chappelle pasted gold leaf on the globe until the watching crowds below could see it glistening in the bright sunlight.

Devoted Life to Patient.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 11.—A jury yesterday rendered a verdict against the estate of Mrs. Harriet G. McVicker in favor of Dr. L. C. H. Ziegler for $100,000. Mrs. McVicker was the widow of James H. McVicker, a well-known theatrical manager of this city, and for many years the owner and manager of McVicker's Theatre.

She died several years ago in California, and Dr. Ziegler claimed $100,000 from the estate by virtue of a contract which he said he had with Mrs. McVicker to give her his exclusive attention during the remainder of her life. She, according to the claims advanced by Dr. Ziegler, was to leave him that amount in her will.

After her death the physician brought suit to recover the sum, and the jury awarded him the full amount of his claim.

Mysterious Murder at Montreal.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—What looks like another case of mysterious murder was brought to light yesterday when the body of a man was found in the river about 6 o'clock with nothing on but a pair of boots and socks.

There was a tremendous knife wound in the abdomen between the hip and ribs, and a number of other cuts about the body, but absolutely nothing that could serve as a means of identification.

The body had apparently been in the river about nine days, and had evidently come to the surface. An autopsy will be held to-day.

Killed at Steel Mill.

Hamilton, Oct. 11.—Frank O'Brien, 18 years of age, an employe of the Hamilton Steel & Iron Co., was run over and killed by one of the company's yard engines about two o'clock yesterday morning. Elo Mark, an Italian workman, who was injured by the breaking of a pole which he was holding between a G. T. R. shunting engine and a car, died of his injuries yesterday.

Mrs. Frank, aged 90, of Berlin, was severely burned on Wednesday, by her clothing exploding.

PLOT AGAINST HORSE ENTRY

Was Kept Out of Show Event by Clique of Horsemen

From what was said, or is reported to have been said, at the Norwood Fair yesterday by those who are in a position to know, Black Cloud, Mr. Jas. Kelly's horse, was deliberately frozen out in the slow class at the Warkworth Fair. There appears to be the reason why Black Cloud should not safely been allowed to start other than that the horsemen at the Warkworth Fair formed a clique to bar him from the event. The action was a decidedly underhand one and has been the source of much unfavorable comment from many horsemen.

James Swift, a painter at work on the power house of the traction company, fell yesterday on high tension wires and was electrocuted at Terre Haute, Ind.

HAIL MULAI HAFID.

Has Been Proclaimed Sultan In the South of Morocco.

Tangier, Oct. 11.—The power of Mulai Hafid, who has been proclaimed Sultan in the south, has been greatly strengthened in the northern part of Morocco by the declaration of the Ulemas, or holy men, at Fez, that he has more legal and moral right to the throne than has Abd-el-Aziz, the Sultan of record. This, coupled with the approach of Mulai Hafid's army upon Fez, argues a speedy capitulation of the northern capital.

FOUR WERE KILLED.

Derrick on New Bridge Fell With Terrible Consequences.

Cleveland, Oct. 11.—Four men were killed and several others seriously hurt, two probably fatally, by the falling of a derrick, where a new bridge is being constructed over the Cuyahoga river for the Nickle Plate Railroad yesterday.

The dead are: F. L. Diehl, a trainmaster of Conneaut, O.; John Yates, a foreman, of this city, and two other men whose names were not learned.

Princess a Consumptive.

London, Oct. 11.—Despatches from Copenhagen report that the Princess Alexandrine, wife of Crown Prince Christian of Denmark, has been pronounced a consumptive, and has been ordered to a southern climate. The princess is a daughter of the late Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and is only 23 years of age. She is a sister of Cecilia, Crown Princess of Germany.

Wireless by Daylight.

London, Oct. 11.—The Marconi people at Clifden assert that recent highly successful daylight exchanges of messages with Cape Breton prove that they have succeeded at last in overcoming the aerographic daylight difficulties.

They say that daylight work is now almost on a par with night transmissions.

Montreal, Oct. 11.—Clarence Walker, 4 years; Charles Griffin, 3 1-2 years; Edward Munroe, 3 1-2 years, were the sentences yesterday. They are boys of 16 to 18, and were found guilty of a series of burglaries, including churches and poor boxes. Walker is the son of a wealthy saloonkeeper.

Cables Unchanged—Cattle Steady, Hogs Lower at Buffalo.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—London cables are firmer at 10c to 12¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Receipts of live stock since Tuesday were large, in fact the largest of the year. The railways reported 171 carloads, consisting of 2335 cattle, 2099 hogs, 5002 sheep and lambs, 270 calves and 1 horse.

Exporters.

A. McIntosh bought 1 load of exporters, picked out of several loads, from Maybee, Wilson & Hall, weighing 1260 lbs. each, at $4.87 1-2 per cwt., and this was the only lot we heard of. Export bulls sold from $3.25 to $4.10 and one of prime quality at $4.75.

Butchers.

George Rowntree, who bought 60 carloads of fat cattle Wednesday and Thursday for the Harris Abattoir Co., being the heaviest purchaser, gave the following quotations: For 4 carloads of prime cattle, 1100 to 1300 lbs. each, $4.70 to $4.90; for loads of good cattle, 950 to 1050 lbs., $4 to $4.35; cattle, 850 to 950 lbs., $3.80 to $3.50; good cows, $3.25 to $3.60; common to fair cows, $2.40 to $3; canners, $1 to $2 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a large run of stockers and feeders this week. Prices for stockers and light feeders declined from 10c to 25c per cwt., while extra heavy feeders held their own at steady prices. Messrs. Murby, who bought about 300 cattle, report: Best 1050 to 1100 lb. feeders, at $3.35 to $3.60; best 800 to 900 lb. feeders, $3.40 to $3.65; medium 700 to 900 lb. feeders, $3.15 to $3.40; common 500 to 700 lb. stockers, $1.50 to $2.00.

Milch Cows.

There would be fully 50 milkers and springers on sale, few of which could be classed as good to choice quality, the bulk being of common to medium. Trade was a little better for the choice cows than one week ago, but that is not saying much for them; and the common, light cows were as usual hard to sell. The best cow on the market was bought from the drover at $55 and the Montreal dealer paid $56 for her. The average price of the best cows would not be more than $45 each, if that much. Common light cows are not wanted, but sold from $25 to $35 each.

Veal Calves.

There was a liberal supply of what are called veal calves. Of all the bad lots we have seen during the past 11 years, we never saw a worse lot as regards quality. The bulk of them were coarse and horsey, some of them with horns two inches long, their abdomen being the largest portion of them, showing that they had been fed on a little sour milk and grass. There was a limited number of fair quality, with a very few that could be classed as good. Prices were quote dat from $1.50 to $6.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The run of sheep and lambs was the largest of the season. There were some of good quality, but vastly more of common to medium classes. Export ewes sold at $4.25 to $4.40 per cwt.; culls and rams at $3 to $3.50; lambs at $4.50 to $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Deliveries the largest for some time. Mr. Harris got 2100 Wednesday and Thursday at unchanged quotations. Selects $6.12 1-2, light fats at $5.87 1-2 per cwt.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Oct. 10.—Cattle—Receipts 125 head; fairly active and steady; prices unchanged.

Hogs—Receipts, 3000 head; fairly active and 5c to 10c higher; heavy, $7 to $7.25; mixed, $7.25 to $7.40; yorkers, $7.25 to $7.35; pigs, $6.50 to $6.60; roughs, $5.90 to $6.20; dairies, $6.50 to $7.15.

THE FUTURE OF AN OCCUPATION IS DETERMINED BY ITS SERVICE TO SOCIETY AND ITS PERSONAL ADVANTAGES

One of the highest and most altruistic institutions of society is LIFE INSURANCE for PROTECTION OF WIFE AND CHILDREN AND PROVISION FOR OLD AGE.

Only with its advent did it become possible for men who died during their productive period to provide adequately for their dependents. It alone can offer indemnity for earning power. In many a home it prevents the dispersion of the children, is the sole source of food and shelter and their only means of education into good citizenship. It does more to lessen pauperism and the resulting ignorance and crime than than do all charitable institutions combined. It cures thriftlessness, that most prevalent of human maladies.

Life insurance adds moral fibre to every man insured. Through the immediate creation of an estate it widens his outlook, relieves him from anxiety, frees his capital, serves as collateral, secures his business, in times of stress, and accumulating apart from the hazards of trade suffices for his own and his family's needs when his other possessions may have been lost.

The Sun Life of Canada

Offers a man something as good as gold. Its policies give the maximum of security at the minimum of cost. If you have obligations, if your life means something to others, insurance is for you. Investigate this cost of absolute protection in the SUN OF CANADA.

St, John's Church to Build Residence for Rector Next Spring

Work on a new rectory for St. John"s church will be commenced next spring. It will be situated at the south-west corner of Brock and Sheridan streets, the property being owned by St. John's church. At a vestry meeting last night a report was received from the rectory committee recommending the above action and it was decided to go ahead with the building of the new rectory.

A roughcast house situated on the property at the corner of Brock and Sheridan streets will have to be torn down. The site is considered an excellent one.

A building committee was appointed, consisting of Messrs. P Campbell, Chas. Mitchell, D. Hughes-Charles, W. H. Cluxton and Dr. Halliday. Plans will be prepared and tenders asked for during the winter in order that the work of erection may be commenced with early in the spring. It is understood that a handsome dwelling is too be erected, although nothing has yet been given out regarding the cost.

Fined $75 at Madoc

Proprietor of Unlicensed Place Sold Liquor on His Premises

Special to the Review.

Madoc, Oct. 15.—A man by the name of Reid, who keeps an unlicensed hotel at Springville, Ont., was yesterday fined $75 and costs at Madoc for selling liquor without a license. The information was laid by Mr. G. A. Ayerst, provincial license inspector. C. Hasson, provincial license detective, caught the proprietor selling openly on his premises the offence being committed some time previous to the time the information was laid.

Lindsay Roller Rink is Opened

Pastime is Going to be Popular in That Town

Lindsay Post.—Lindsay people are as a rule a jolly lot, and believe in the adage "Laugh and the world laughs with you." Last night those who attended the opening of the roller skating rink had ample scope for unlimited amusement. For down right solid fun, the proceedings there "took the cake." It had comic thrown and vaudevilles beaten a mile, and those who attended "grin" yet at the mere remembrance of it.

The opening took place under the most favorable auspices of Mr. S. J. Sheridan, the proprietor, and he should feel more than satisfied at the reception his innovation received. The three hundred pairs of skates were all rented, and many more pairs could have been used. Spectators in numbers lined the sides and enjoyed themselves nearly as much as the skaters.

More Details Regarding Death of Frank O'Brien

An Inquest is Being Held—How the Unfortunate Young Man Came to His Death.

Yesterday's Hamilton papers contain fuller particulars regarding the death of Frank O'Brien in that city. An inquest is being held, but apparently it was purely a case of accidental death. The spectator has the following,—

"Frank O'Brien, a youth of 18 years, met instant death at the east end plant of the Hamilton Steel and Iron Company, shortly before one o'clock this morning. The deceased came to this city from Peterborough about three months ago, and secured employment as a switchman at the plant.

"At the time of the accident the lad was working in the yard. One of the company's yard engines was shunting a car loaded with ingots and O'Brien was on the car, evidently on the end farthest from the engine. As the locomotive backed the car to the works, O'Brien either fell off or was jolted off. No person saw how he came to fall off the car. His mate, Geo. E. Davidson, heard him cry and was terrified to see the car wheels pass over his head. When the engine was stopped, O'Brien was dead. The car had passed over him crushing his skull, breaking ten ribs and severing his spine. Death was instantaneous. When the employes learned they could do nothing for the unfortunate man, they notified the police and O'Brien's body was removed to the city hospital morgue. Coroner Dickson was notified and opened an inquest at the hospital this morning.

Deceased was the eldest of a large family, which resides in Peterborough The remains will be sent to that place for burial.

It is supposed that O'Brien was hanging on the side of the car. He resided at 327 Wentworth street.

The jurors viewed the remains this morning at the city morgue. They adjourned to hear evidence on Monday next."

Dr. R. Bruce Smith Tells Of Need of Isolation Hospital

Remarks That Peterboro' Has Escaped Typhoid Epidemic Which Exists in Many Other Places—Drinking Water Here Apparently Pure.

Dr. R. Bruce Smith Inspector of Prisons and Charities for the Province of Ontario, who was in the city yesterday inspecting the Nicholls Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, the Protestant Home, the gaol and the House of Refuge, left last night for Lindsay, where he will conduct a general inspection and meet a delegation from the county council to consider some proposed improvements to the Victoria County House of Refuge.

Asked by the Review concerning the need of an Isolation Hospital in Peterborough, Dr. Smith said that although isolation hospitals did not come under his juridiction, but under that of the Provincial Board of Health, he nevertheless could not fail to recognize the necessity of one being constructed in Peterborough at as early a date as possible. He said that practically all places of the size and importance of Peterborough in the Province of Ontario, had isolation hospitals and, judging from the tone assumed by several prominent citizens with whom he had conversed on the subject, this city would be blessed with one too, at an early date.

NO TYPHOID HERE

"One thing that has favorably impressed me in connection with the health conditions in Peterborough, is the absence of typhoid, epidemics of which are prevalent in many towns and cities in Canada."

"What places do you refer to," he was asked.

"I am not in a position to state the names of them," he replied, "but I believe that there is no excuse for typhoid existing in the towns and cities of Ontario, when there are such good sources of water supply in so many of them."

"Would you say then, that the absence of typhoid in this city may be attributed to the purity of the water supplied by the local water service?"

"Yes," he said, "I believe that accounts to a great extent for its absence."

Government of Alberta to Adopt Machine Phone System

Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works for the Province, Says This is Practically Certain—Prominent Westerner Inspects Local Plant of Machine Telephone Company.

The Government of Alberta is likely to adopt the Canadian Machine Telephone system for the Government owned telephone system that is to be installed in that province.

This was the statement made to the Review today by Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works for the Province of Alberta, who was in the city today. Mr. Cushing came to Peterborough to inspect the plant of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company and so pleased is he with it that he states that the Government of Alberta is likely to adopt the system for that province. Mr. Cushing, accompanied by Mr. F. D. Mackay, General Manager of the Canadian Machine Telephone Company, arrived in Peterborough from Toronto last evening, and left again today on the noon C.P.R. train. The western gentlemen made a thorough inspection of the Machine Telephone plant and the operation of the automatic 'phone, and was greatly impressed with the system.

The Province of Alberta, Mr. Cushing, informed the Review, is to have a Government owned system, in competition with the Bell Company, which already is located in the larger towns and cities in the province. The Government intends building the trunk lines, for the new system and to let the municipalities put in and operate the local exchanges, if they desire. If not the Government will install the exchanges as well as the trunk lines and operate them. It is not likely that many of the smaller municipalities will care to undertake the installation of the local exchanges, as they will have to be put in by experts, and the cost would be too great for small towns and villages.

Mr. Cushing has been in the east for the past month and has visited New York and other American cities in connection with telephone and other matters.

Before leaving the city this morning, Mr. Cushing stated to the Review that so favorably was he impressed with the Canadian Machine Telephone system, that on his return to Alberta, he would urge on the Government the desirability of utilizing it for the Government telephone system of Alberta.

"It appears to be a splendid system," said the Albertan Minister of Public Works, "and it is practically certain to be adopted in Alberta."

Hon. Mr. Cushing returns to the West in a few days.

Toronto Wants Big Ship Canal

Along the Same Route as Trent Valley Canal

The construction of a ship canal, connecting the Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario, by way of Lake Simcoe, is advocated by the Toronto Board of Trade, who are inviting the co-operation of members of parliamennt and boards of trade through out the country to secure an investigation into the feasibility and cost of the scheme.

At a council meeting of the Toronto board yesterday, the railway and transportation committee submitted a report on the scheme, which was unanimously adopted.

Efforts will be made to arouse public interest in the matter and to educate them to realize the immense advantages that will acorue to the city by its construction.

The Georgian Bay canal, by way of the Trent and Ottawa rivers, contemplated by the Dominion Government, will only be seventy miles shorter than the proposed route, whilst its cost will be treble, owing to the rock formation of the country and the number of locks that must be built to overcome the differences in the level of the country.

The board of trade will urge the Dominion Government not to proceed with the plan until a thorough investigation of the new scheme has been made.

Equalization of the Assessment

Correspondent Points Out There is no Discrepancy in His Case

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—As there is a great deal of dissatisfaction with the assessment of property in Wards Nos. One and Two, as compared with Three and Four, I wish to call your attention to one case of which I am in a position to know, as I am a resident of Ward Four and owner of property in Ward One. In this case both the house cost the same to build and to have all the improvements installed. They were both built at the same time. Both properties are assessed the same, one being assessed by our much-abused assessor in Ward One, Mr. Thos. McKee, the other by Mr. Thos. McGrath.

Thanking you for this space,

Respectfully yours,
WARD NO. FOUR.

SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—P.C. McDonald has resigned; his resignation has been accepted by the commissioners. He mentioned that the cause of his resignation is due to some irregularity in the police force. Yet our commissioners take it upon themselves to allow the public to suffer by their decision to let things go on in the old way.

It is about time that things were looked into. It would not take long (and then it might) to have a short statement from the officer, who feels that he cannot get the support from the Chief that the office calls for. Do not allow the thing to drop; there is information to be got that the city demands in the interests of its inhabitants welfare. A short investigation will do no harm and may reveal something quite interesting to the public, as Mr. McDonald, I understand, asks no favors, but British fair play.

Yours,
FAIRNESS.

How the Golden Grain is Taken From the Sheaves

Interesting Description of Threshing Operations in North Dakota—Mr. T. J. Begley Sends Another Interesting Letter From the West.

The following interesting letter has been received from Mr. T. J. Begley, who is at present in North Dakota,—

"Threshing being the order of the day at present, in North Dakota, a description of the modus operandi, will no doubt be of interest to your readers.

"To begin with, it might be stated that the wheat crop this year is only a fair one, while the yield of barley and oats, has been exceptionally good. Wheat at the time of writing, was selling at $1.00 per bushel, while barley is bringing 87 cents, and is expected to jump to the dollar mark shortly. The farmers of North Dakota, are not as a rule, hard workers, and cannot begin to compare with the Canadian agriculturists in this respect. They hire all their help and practically take things easy.

This has been a backward season for harvesting, and grave fears are expressed on all sides that the snow will be on the ground before the threshing is completed. Other years the farmers were busy with their ploughing at this date, but the rainy weather has impeded operations. To illustrate this fact it is only necessary to state that a majority of the threshers have been only able to work five days during the past three weeks.

"After the grain has been cut threshing operations begin in earnest. Many of the farmers stack the grain, but the great majority of them "shock" thresh. The word "shock" in Dakota corresponds with the work "stook" in the parlance of the Canadian farmer, and sheaves in the country are called bundles. In shock threshing a large number of bundle teams are engaged and of course this necessitates the employment of a gang of men, while in stack threshing, the staff consists of six men outside of the fireman and engineer. Besides this there is the tank man, who drives the teams attached to the tank waggon, capable of holding forty Bushels. Teams are also engaged to haul the grain, the grain waggons having a capacity of eighty bushels. It is indeed an interesting sight to watch the threshers at work. Between four and five o'clock in the morning, the shrill "toot" of the whistle as innumerable threshing outfits, can be heard on the prairie, calling the men to work. The wages paid the threshers, shedhers, and stackers is all the way from $2.75 to $4.00 per day, and they certainly earn their money. It does not take long to thresh a crop, as some of the machines have this fall, been threshing 2,500 and 2,700 bushels per day. This is considered pretty good, when the poor crop is considered. One machine of thirty-five horse power, last season, threshed 3,500, bushels a day. This no doubt seems incredulous, but the record stands, and only those who attend a threshing in Dakota, are in a position to judge, and ascertain the hustling that is being indulged in. The writer counted twelve machines one day busily engaged in threshing a short distance from each other. It is everyone for himself out here, as they do not rely on their brother farmer for help during the threshing season.

"Wood being scarce in this country firemen use straw, and the most remarkable fact in connection with the threshing operations is that the immense straw stacks, containing many tons, left after threshing operations, are burned in the evenings. This affords light for the threshers to continue work until a late hour. Thursday evening, the writer counted 37 stack fires on the prairie, and while the sight was an awe-inspiring it seemed like a wanton waste of a crop that would bring good money in Ontario. The gangs work long hours, and it does not take them long after partaking of supper in the cook car to tumble into the sleeping shack. They are an interesting body of men these threshers. The other evening a number of them gathered on the prairie near one of the threshing outfits. The heavens were illuminated by scores of stack fires, which dotted the prairies for miles. The time was passed in repartee and story telling, when one of the gang called on a German, Carl Weber, by name, for a song. This individual was formerly a member of a celebrated opera company, but "rum got in his nose," and he became a "Weary Willie." All was silence as he arose to sing, and when he broke forth into the sweetest of all songs "Annie Laurie," sung in a beautiful tenor voice, many of the boys drooped their heads, and is is safe to say that tears were shed as the singer finished. A young Englishman, named Osborne, is also a member of the party. He is a graduate of Oxford University, and claims relationship to Lord Halifax, a well-known English peer. He committed some offence in the old country, and drifted to America. "Larry" McGovern from Tipperary, is the daddy of them all. He was formerly a member of Roosevelt's Rough Riders and was in the charge of El Caney during the Cuba war. The rest of the gang is made up of genuine "bad men" and ten derfoots.

The implements used here, are principally McCormick and Deering makes, although several Massey-Harris machines were noticed — in fact a great many used this Canadian machine in preference to the American makes.

"The soil in North Dakota, in Cavalier County is of a dark color, resembling blacking, and it sticks to you like hot gum. It is child's play to plough it, the implement cutting through it like a knife. Stones and rocks are as scarce as hen's teeth, but the farms are over run with wild oats, thistles and other noxious weeks. Apparently there is little effort made to clear the land of these weeds, and as a result the farms are being ruined. No fertilizer of any sort is used by the farmers in this country, and it is certainly up to some shrewd Yankee to devise a plan, whereby the immense quantity of straw, burned every year could be used with other material as a fertilizer.

This country certainly has advantages as a farming district, equalled by few and distanced by none. The rich alluvial soil has proved itself for more than a score of years, a veritable mine of riches to the intelligent, progressive and industrious farmer. Many Canadian farmers who commenced here with little or no means, have been able to save money enough to retire and live independent for the remainder of their lives. Not everyone who has tried farming here has made a success. Some tried it without any experience or indeed any qualifications which fitted them for success and have failed. Others are too blooming languid to succeed anywhere. It is a notorious fact, however, that the settlers from Ontario, who took up farms in this state have been most successful.

This farm houses are all frame structures and in Cavalier city, only one brick residence could be found. They claim that the fierce storms experienced here has a demoralizing effect on brick structures. There are no fences on the prairies dividing the farms, and the houses stand out alone, without any trees to shelter them. The Canadian farm house is certainly a paradise in comparison. The fruit vegetables and roots grown here cut a sorry figure when compared with Ontario samples, and a bite from the North Dakota apple tastes like a mouthful of alum.

"Cavalier and vicinity was a great trading centre in the early days. Traders in taking furs to St. Paul would buy trinkets of various kinds at nominal prices, which they would barter to the Indians on their return for more furs. Brass rings were bought for a dollar a sack, and would be traded to a squaw for a Buffalo skin, or two rings for two skins, if she wanted to have a pair for her ear rings. The buffalo of course, is nearly extinct, but their bones can still be seen on the prairie and the howl of the prairie wolf can be heard any night."

122 Lights Out This Week

Will Cost Power Company $30.50 —P. C. Adams Making Canvas of City

There have been 122 arc lights out in Peterborough during the nights of this last week. On Monday there were 38, Tuesday 43, Wednesday 35, and last night 1, making the total mentioned above. As the company supplying the power for the lights, has to pay 25c for each lamp not burning when it should be, it will cost the company $30.50 for lights out so far this week.

P. C. Adams, in taking a night canvass of the city during the week has found the number of lamps mentioned, not lighted, when they should have been. It is presumed that the carbons burning out more quickly, than was anticipated by the company placing them in the lamps, accounts for the trouble.

A Big Crowd of "John Doughs" Here

When Mr. Eddie Redway was in the city last fall and told an audience that tamed the Grand opera house to its capacity that he was the "original John Dough," nobody contradicted him. But he is an imposter, for today a whole army of 2000 gingerbread men are in the city and beyond dispute they are the real thing, being made of gingerbread dough and are the "people" that gave the late Frederick Redkin the inspiration to write "The Gingerbread Man." Mr. Turner, the manager of the Grand, will have them distributed as souvenirs of the approaching presentation of "The Gingerbread Man," on October 17th. Mr. Chas. Throop, the advance agent of the company, is responsible for bringing the fairyland dwellers to this decidedly prosaic and go ahead city.

Mitchell has carried a bylaw to grant Dutton & Warnhouse a loan of $10,000.

A New Waggon for "My Valet"

Owing to the rapidly increasing business of "My Valet" the proprietors, Messrs. Wesley Bros., have found it necessary to put another delivery waggon on the road. This new outfit is a very handsome one and specially adapted for the delivering of light packages. It has an enclosed top and the words "My Valet" are lettered in gold across the side of the canopy. It has rubber tires, and a lamp at each side which will give the rig a fine appearance.

New Hydrant To be Put in

At a meeting of the fire, water and light committee Wednesday night, held after the Board of Works meeting, it was decided to authorize the installation of a hydrant at the corner of Dublin and Bethune-sts.

The hydrant was petitioned for by the residents of the locality and the Water Commissioners wanted to know at once whether it was going to be authorized by the city.

VALEDICTORY AT GRADUATION

As Read by Miss Bertha Mowry One of the Graduating Class

Below is the valedictory read by Miss Bertha Mowry, a member of the Nicholls Hospital Graduating Class, after the diplomas and medals had been awarded the class, at the graduating exercises held in the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday night.

In Wednesday's issue of the Review the valedictory was commented upon at some length. It is as follows;

Mr. Chairman, Ladies, and Gentlemen;

There is a time to meet and a time to part. Three years ago, we tremblingly entered upon our work and now, after much hard labor the close of our scholastic training is at an end. We are about to begin the actual work for which we have been preparing.

I, and my fellow graduates, have many thanks to render to all connected with this institution, for the position in which we now stand.

The debt which we, as graduates, owe to the kind heart which made this training school a possibility, is great. It has given health to, and eased the suffering of many, and will be forever a monument to the good woman who founded it.

The board that has the arduous task of administering the affairs of the hospital, has always been considerate, not only of those who suffer, but of those who seek to fit themselves for their life work. We are made to feel the real interest of every member of the Board, by their frequent visits and kindly enquiries.

This class certainly feels the many attentions of Mr. R. Hall deserve public mention. Undoubtedly, in this case, the work of Nicholls Hospital and Training School, have been and are a labor of love.

The physicians, who have so kindly given their time and skill to the many suffering patients, at the same time instructing us, in that which will be useful to us, are to be thanked by us, and by all whom we think and hope will afterwards be aided by our services.

In you, our superintendent, and your able assistant, Miss Coleman, we have had earnest teachers, kind advisors and sympathetic friends. Your enthusiasm and lofty aim has always been a powerful stimulus to us. We look with joy to the work that is before us, knowing we have a thorough foundation and our training has been most complete.

The friends of the hospital will not forget that the class of 1907 began their studies in the days when Miss Coleman—now Mrs. David Miller—was superintendent. We would take this occasion to speak of her accurate requirements and the real interest, which meant much in the work of discipline, so much required in the first years of one's studies.

Nor can we count our diplomas all we have for our years of preparation. We have gained a deeper and a wider knowledge, and know more fully the meaning of life. A nurse must needs be strong morally, as well as intellectually and physically. She must uphold the weak, both in body and mind. Our training has been such, and the principal of our institution such, that we can more fully cope with the problems of life, more ardently uphold and aspire to the good, and more tenderly look upon the weakness of our fellows;

To you, our fellow students, whom we leave behind, we would say, we thank you for your great wishes for our future; for your kindness to us, which only nurses living together can know, and for your dear friendships. Our years together will always be a sweet memory. This seems like a break in a family and it is not altogether pleasant to feel our commencement has come. To-night we bid good-bye to our Alma Mater, and to many associations that have been most delightful, to relationships that have been cemented in the presence of the fiery trials of suffering and bereavement.

And now, farewell, old Nicholls hospital. Yet not a last good-bye, for the memory of our years with you, will ever be with us.

The fond remembrance to the well known place from whence we started in life's long race, retains its hold upon us, with unfailing sway. We feel it, "e'en in age, unto our latest day."

BREAD MAY ALSO GO UP IN PRICE

A meeting of the bakers of the city was held last evening at the Mann bakery, and several matters of interest to them were discussed. On account of the small attendance there was nothing definite done, and another meeting will likely be held on Saturday night. There is a probability of the price of three-pound loaves, which are now selling at 10 cents, going up to 12 cents. This will be considered on Saturday evening. Some of the bakers have only asked for a one cent advance in the price of three-pound loaves.

WEDDING BELLS

ELLIS—OWEN

A very pretty wedding took place at noon on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Owen, Campbellford, when their third daughter, Edith Lyle, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Glenholme Ellis of Brantford, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ellis, Wellesley street, Toronto. The house was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves. Mr. Owen gave his daughter away. Miss Grace Waters of Utica, N. Y., was bridesmaid. Mr. Horace Burritt of Toronto, supported the groom. The happy couple left later for Detroit, and other American cities. The Rev. A. C. Reeves, assisted by the Rev. Alex. Menzies, of Toronto, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis will reside in Brantford.

McLENNAN—LAIDLAW

A very quiet wedding was celebrated at Caledonia, Ont., on Tuesday, Oct 8th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Laidlaw, when their only daughter, Beatrice Smith, was married to William Alexander McLennan second son of John McLennan, Esq., of Lindsay. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in New York.—Lindsay Post.

He Will Contest the Reeveship

Mr. W. J. E. Gillott Will be Candidate in Millbrook

Mr. W. J. E. Gillott, Millbrook's well-known and popular merchant and manufacturer, was in the city yesterday. He is greatly interested in the problem of electric power, its development and distribution, and says that he will be a candidate for the reeveship of Millbrook, at the next election. "Billy" as he is widely known, believes that the village, which is again without electric light should have an ample supply of power, not only for illumination, but for manufacturing purposes. He will strongly support the agitation to obtain power from the Central Ontario Power Co., at Burleigh Falls. If Mr. W. S. Given, the present reeve decides to stand for re-election and Mr. Gillott opposes him, there will be a lively fight. Mr. Gillott believes that with cheap power as his policy, he will win. He stands for the development of Millbrook.

AN UMBRELLA ILLICITLY USED

Fishery Inspector Watt Afte Bad Yankee

Fishery Inspector Watt is hot foot on the trail of a Yankee offender against the Canadian fishing laws, and will prosecute him when he is caught. A short time ago the C.G. E. Angling Club went over the lift lock and were accompanied by the gentleman in question from Uncle Sam's land. After the pontoon holding the boat had made the ascent and just as the boat was steaming out of it in the canal proper, the American dropped his umbrella into the canal. He appeared much put out by the apparent accident, and no one on board thought for an instant that in the inner most recesses of his law-defying mind he was hatching a dark plot to beat out the Canadian Fishery Regulations and trap one or more fanny whoppers in the canal. The boat continued its journey up the canal, the American bewailing the loss of his umbrella all the time, and had he not been apparently a man of means, those on board would have glady taken up a collection with which to buy a new umbrella, as his never ceasing expressions of regret over the loss of his rain protector were becoming somewhat monotonous and his fellow passengers were very anxious that his mournful monologue should be substituted for something of a more hopeful note. To make a long story short, violating all established rules in connection with telling anything relating to a fishing incident—when the boat returned to the lock between five and six o'clock in the evening, the American got one of the assistants at the lock to try to hook his umbrella with a pike pole, which he did after much probing. The man from across the line said he wanted the umbrella, not for its intrinsic worth, but because of the treasured associations connected with it, claiming it was presented to one of his ancestors many years ago by a temperance society in an American town ,when the last mentioned memory gave up his hotel business and made a strong stand for local option, as he decided to run for member of Parliament, and thought the white ribboners formed the largest part of the population. When the umbrella was first brought to the surface, the man at the business end of the pike pole refused to have anything to do with it, claiming it was possessed of some evil spirit,, and by the way it flopped around, it apparently was. However, the evil spirit eventually proved to be a large and vigorous lunge, and the umbrella had several large holes in it, apparently torn in it by design, and for the special purpose they had served, that of being meshes of a net. As the Yankee had no license he was guilty of a double offence, of using nets illicitly and cutting fish without the necessary papers. The crowd were so dazed that before they realized it, man, umbrella, fish and all had disappeared. Fishery Inspector Watt, however, has telegraphed to all the border towns and cities to detain the man if he happens to try to get into the States, as from there he might go to Mexico, and lives in hope that he may be eventually "netted."

A special train from Burlington, Ill., was chartered to take Dr. Frank Billings to the bedside of K. B. Ryan, of Butte, Mont., a copper millionaire.

ASSESSMENT VALUES

Why does man tell his troubles? Because he generally feels better afterwards. Why is the populace relieved after giving vent to a grievance? Because it has been "spouted out" and that was what was needed. The citizens' meeting as to the assessment, or rather, mode of assessment, held on Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Board of Trade, will do good. It provided an outlet; it acted as a safety valve on public feeling.

There was full and free discussion and some points were cogently brought out, among them that the assessors, while honestly endeavoring to value property, have proceeded along widely different lines, and interpretation of the law; that values in southern wards had been increased in a far higher proportion than in the upper wards; that either the latter assessment must be much too low, or the figures in Wards Nos. 1 and 2, unreasonably high. The Court of Revision has been requested to look into the matter and investigate. In the meantime those who feel they are over-assessed, or have been unjustly dealt with, should personally file an appeal with the Court of Revision. The consensus of opinion at the meeting was that Peterborough did not require and could not afford to pay an assessment commissioner to merely sit in his chair and supervise valuations or returns.

Another matter on which all agreed was that the system of appointing two assessors should be continued, but they should work together, not separately; if there was a little friction between the two, it would in all likelihood work out all right for, as one of the speakers remarked, "Where there is friction smoothness is likely to result and a fair and more equitable assessment arrived at."

Still another point was that the city council, in making appointments should look less after vote getting and other short-sighted considerations and select men solely on the basis of competency and expertness.

The citizens' meeting on Tuesday night has done good. It has aroused public interest and public spirit. It has helped to clear up some grievances and afford the city council a better view of where the great majority stand on the vital subject of assessment.

SYSTEM OF ELECTION

In some quarters in this city, murmurings of discontent are heard regarding the election of aldermen by general vote. There are some who favor a return to the old ward system, claiming that their respective districts do not receive that measure of attention, which they did under the old regime.

Another argument advanced is that several of the aldermen are not personally known to the great mass of the electors.

It is true, perhaps, that the general system of election has not proved all that its advocates believed would result therefrom, but in a centre the size of Peterborough, it is infinitely preferable to the ward method with its attendant sectionalism, pull, strife, narrowness and jealousies.

The ward system was tried for years and was found wanting. It has been superseded here by the general voting plan, and what rhyme or reason is there in reverting to the old and unsatisfactory order of things. If a change is demanded, let it be progressive, rather than backward. Something new should be tried. To return to the time worn and defective ward system would be about on a par to going back to the open voting plan, instead of recording our opinions by the ballot system. The latter has numerous shortcomings and many evils have cropped up, but no thoughtful man would seriously think of resorting to the open vote.

Why should any place the size of Peterborough stultify itself by adopting a retrograde move, such as the ward method of election. If that proceeding was good the electors would never have decided in favor of altering it. It is only by a process of experiments and varied experience, that perfection is attained and many proposals of an advanced character are being suggested in order to improve the class of representation in city councils.

The ward system will not do it. The lengthening of the aldermanic term to two years and other measures should be tried. Let us have something new, something in the forward line.

As for citizens not being personally acquainted with each individual alderman to the same extent as prevailed under the ward system, there is little argument in this. The civic representatives are subjected to much buttonholing, pulling and hauling as it is. Life is made unpleasant and often unbearable by one resident and another seeking to secure this, that and the other thing. Let the men, who hold the civic reins alone, as far as possible, and if they do wrong or do not act in the public interest, turn them out, but, for mercy sake, cease badgering them, interfering with them and scolding them. A protest is all right; if it is fair, firm and dignified, but let the average elector and the average councillor look to the general weal, the welfare of the city as a whole, the best interests of the people as a community. Let them get above side line issues, picayune affairs, parish pull and individual benefit. We want more of the broadening process, the wider view, the good of all, and a reversion to the ward system will certainly not give it to us.

FAULTS IN PULPIT

It appears to be considered the prerogative for the pulpit to find fault with the pew, but the pew must be cautious about the manner it speaks of defects or shortcomings in the pulpit. Yet occasionally men will break out, and here we have Sir Squire Bancroft, a famous actor, criticising the clergy in an address delivered before the recent Church Congress in London, England. He told his hearers that clergymen, who are simple, delightful and unaffected companions six days in the week, are often clothed in artificiality on Sunday. He also informed his hearers that there was nothing more deplorable in the Church of England than the utter absence of oratorical ability on the part of the average preacher. Sir Squire Bancroft strongly advised the clergy to cultivate voice production, to be impressive and devoid of artificiality.

It is a long time since any noted authority has asserted himself so plainly. The great fault with many ministers today is not that they lack good judgment, sympathy, ideals, tolerability or talent; neither do they lack in earnestness, industry or zeal, The chief defect, bluntly speaking, is that the vast majority cannot preach. They "preach" after a certain style. Half their hearers are either listless or asleep, and the remainder, who attempt to follow the discourse, forget it about as soon as they leave the sanctuary. A minister whom one can listen to year in and year out with pleasure, instruction, help and profit, is, indeed, a jewel, and sooner or later is corraled by a wealthy church—a congregation that will pay high, knowing that they will receive much in return.

Why do the masses demonstrate a growing disinclination to attend church, especially in the cities? Because they deem the average preacher not worth listening to. Why are most sermons forgotten? Because they are delivered in some dull, dreary, sing-song style that the auditor is secretly glad when they are over. A clergyman should be able to preach, but alas! how few of them can do so. Theatrical poses, dramatic climaxes, grandiloquent passages bombastic word pictures, or oratorical pyrotechnics are not required. The people do demand, however, a clear, forceful delivery, originality and continuity of thought, an audible, well trained voice, an earnest manner, bright, helpful illustrations, a deep sympathy, the avoidance of senseless repetition, platitudes and buncombe.

Do they get all this and more? Rarely, if ever. A Bishop once asked David Garrick: "Can you tell me why you players who deal with romance can profoundly move an audience, while we preachers who deal with reality fail to do so?" Garrick answered: "Yes. It is because we players act fiction as if it were the truth, while you preachers too often speak of the truth as if it were but fiction."

The editor of the Huntsville Forester, who is now travelling through the Northwest, makes the statement that in Calgary, although the cost of living is much higher there than in the East, he found a well conducted temperance hotel, the rate being only $1.50 a day. The keeper of the hotel expressed himself satisfied with the the business he was doing and the margin of profit afforded at this low rate. This statement is doubly interesting just now, with so many Local Option campaigns pending.

Millbrook People at the Opening of the New Docks

Millbrook Reporter says:—Through the kindness of Mr. E. S. Clarry, paymaster of the Trent canal, a few gentlemen from town enjoyed the hospitality of Superintendent McClellan and E. B. Clarry with a party from Peterborough on the steamer Sovereign down the river on Monday for the official opening of a wharf at Hall's Landing. The following composed the Millbrook contingent: Messrs. A. A. Smith, T. B. Collins, J. C. Kells, H. W. Johnston, W. J. E. Gillett and W. S. Gwan, along with about thirty from Peterborough. Arrived at the landing speeches were made by Hon. J. R. Stratton, Judge Weller, Superintendent McClellan and others. It is through the instrumentality of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., that this and other wharfs have been built along lake and river for the convenience of the farmers. The party were treated with much hospitality by the superintendent and paymaster for which they were not slow in tendering thanks.

Peterboro' Boy Was Serenaded

Given Hearty Reception on Return From Bridal Tour

The Enterprise, of Portersville, Cal., contains a report of a reception to Mr. H. E. Cowie and bride, on their return from their wedding tour. The bridegroom is a former Peterborough resident, and a son of Mr. Wm. Cowie of this city.

The Enterprise says: Showers of rice and shouts of laughter greeted Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cowie, on their return on Sunday night from their wedding journey. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cowie had gathered at the depot, prepared to give them a reception, but Harry, who had officiated as chief fun maker at similar receptions to some of his friends, had anticipated what was coming, and he and his bride, left the train at Lindsay, stepped into a waiting carriage chuckling in great glee at his counter move, drove the balance of the distance into town.

The reception committee was momentarily disappointed. However, the secret leaked out, and the members of the depot crowd, hied themselves to the home of Geo. D. Avery, where the bride and bridegroom were to spend the night. As the carriage drove up to the Avery home, Mr. and Mrs. Cowie suddenly found themselves surrounded by a couple of dozen shouting friends, and for the next half hour had to stand for all the rice and noise, and "joshing" that the crowd could give them. Everybody was invited into the house and Mrs. Avery served a fine supper in honor of the bride and groom, who were freely toasted and congratulated. Mr. and Mrs. Cowie have gone to housekeeping at 803 Main street. Numerous handsome gifts have been pouring in throughout the week, consisting of silverware, cut glass, cutlery and articles of furniture.

Proceedings of the York Loan

Position of Class C. Certificate Holders Discussed

A Toronto despatch says:

In the winding-up proceedings of the York County Loan & Savings Co., as continued yesterday morning before the official referee, Mr George Kappele, Mr. A. W. Briggs presented the position of the holders of class C certificates. These certificates have a notice printed across the face which purports to give the holder "a first charge on all the securities of the company." Mr. Briggs submitted only the first part of his formal evidence, which included extracts from the company's by-laws, authorizing the issuing of these certificates, and evidence to show the regularity of the passing of these by-laws by the company. The balance of this formal evidence will be given after which the argument will be heard.

A large amount of interest will attach to this part of the proceedings, as the amount of these certificates is in the neighborhood of $300,000. It is expected that the amounts falling to the lot of the holders of other classes of certificates, will be determined largely by the decision on this claim. The liquidators, represented by Mr. C. D. Scott, and the other classes of shareholders, represented by Mr. W. M. Douglas, K. C., are making vigorous efforts against the establishing of class C claimants in priority to the others. They assume the position that the notice printed on the face of the certificates, makes them practically debentures, and that as such they were not legally issued by the company.

This morning at 10 o'clock the position of class B and C, representing about $10,000, will be presented. These classes are made up of those shareholders who were converting their shares into money at the time of the smash, and the question arises whether these people are actually shareholders or creditors of the defunct concern.

OBITUARY

ELIZABETH F. DAVIDSON

The death occurred early this morning at 265 McDonnel street, of Elizabeth Findlater Davidson, wife of Mr. Harry Smith, and second daughter of Mr. Geo. Davidson, of this city. The deceased had been ill about a month, and despite the fact that all that medical aid could do, was done, she passed away. Deceased was thirty years of age, and was born in this city, where she was widely known and highly esteemed by all who knew her. Just a little over a year ago, she was married to her now sorrowing husband. Her death at such an early stage in life, came as a great shock, and the family have the sincere sympathy of a large circle of friends in their sad bereavement. Besides her husband and father, four brothers and two sisters are left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Messrs. Andrew, Fred and Willie, of this city, and Alex., of Fairview, Nevada. The sisters are Misses Maggie and Mary, residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2.30 from the residence of the deceased's father, 265 McDonnel street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

MR. JOHN EASSON.

On Monday morning death removed one of the most familiar figures, when John Easson, of Westwood, was found dead in bed at his home there. Deceased had not been sick, as far as is known, and heart failure is supposed to be the cause of his demise.

Almost everyone who has been a resident of Hastings for the past twenty years, will remember the figure on his waggon or sleigh, driving in or out of town on his trips round from Westwood.—Hastings Star.

THOMAS PRITCHARD.

In the silence of the night, unwarned and unattended one of the oldest residents of Cavan passed away on Wednesday night of last week. Mr. Pritchard had for years been troubled with heart weakness and his medical advisors had told him that such would be the probable result, so that, though the call came, as the thief in the night, it was not unexpected. Born in the township of Cavan deceased had by hard work and honest dealings gained much of this world's goods and many friends who respected his good traits of character. Only one son, William, is left to sorrow over his sudden summons. We shall all miss the kindly face and friendly voice of our departed pioneer who adds another to the long list of early settlers of Cavan who hewed the forest and made the fields to blossom and bring forth. The funeral took place on Saturday to Zion cemetery under the auspices of the Orange order.

SHOULD HOLD POULTRY SHOW

This is the Opinion Expressed Yesterday by Mr. Bennett

Mr. J. J. Bennett, superintendent of the Peterborough Industrial Fair, remarked yesterday that this city should hold an annual poultry show such as was formerly held by the Peterborough Pet Stock and Poultry Association.

"The poultry exhibits at the recent exhibition here demonstrated that there are plenty of fine birds in this part of the country," he said, "and I see no reason why a successful annual poultry show could not be held here."

Mr. Bennett's suggestion is apparently a good one, and deserves the serious consideration of fowl fanciers in Peterborough and the surrounding community.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

HARNESS MAKER HAS ASSIGNED

Mr. Chas. E. Gunsolus, Hunter-st., who has conducted a harness business in this city for some years has made an assignment to Henry Rush of this city. A meeting of the creditors will be held at the office of Roger, Bennet & Goodwill on Wednesday, October 16th, at 2 o'clock, to receive a statement of his affairs, to appoint inspectors, fix their remuneration, etc.

LOCAL MAN HAS A CURIOSITY

A Twin Apple Grown in the Orchard of Mr. Jos. Mitchell

Mr. Arthur Johnston, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, has a curio which he is showing to his friends today, in the shape of a twin apple. This freak of nature consists of two good-sized russet apples, grown in one. They are two distinct cores, but only one stem.

There must have been two separate calyxes in the one flower and, when the blossom fell away, they continued to grow into one, until they ripened into an apple. The curio grew in the orchard of Mr. Jos. Mitchell, at the north end of the city.

Six Inches of Snow at Cobalt Proves Drawback to Business

Mr Arthur Graham, Who Has Just Returned From the Silver City, Has Some Interesting Information.

There are six inches of snow at Cobalt and the sloppy condition of the streets and country generally is having a bad effect on business. The "beautiful" came down a week ago to-day, and to use a street expression has put things pretty much on the rough.

Mr. Arthur Graham, son of M. George Graham, has returned home from the Silver City after a stay of nearly a year and has much interesting information about conditions at Cobalt and the country thereabouts.

Everything is booming at the mines, he states, and they will be operated to their full extent throughout the winter. The snow, however, has put a damper on prospecting although it is still being done, but under difficulties. Since the snow fell a week ago to-day the weather has been cold and warm in turns with the result that the streets of Cobalt are covered with slush to a depth of several inches. As there are only side walks in certain localities walking is anything but pleasant and business has taken a bad slump.

Mr. Graham believes that there will be another boom at Cobalt in the spring and that stocks will again advance. He states that if anyone having a few hundred dollars that they do not need for a few months would make good interest by investing it in Foster, Nipissing, Trethewey or University. These are all good properties and are considered safe "buys." The Silver Leaf company have a strike on and this stock is somewhat unsettled.

In connection with the strike that has been on at Cobalt for the past two months, Mr. Graham says that it is gradually petering out, the miners going back to work at the same wages as before.

Messrs. John and "Dick" O'Brien, sons of Mr. Michael O'Brien, of this city, are both at Cobalt and are doing well.

"THE PRISONER OF ZENDA"

The Most Interesting and Thrilling Romance Written in the Last Fifteen Years.

On Saturday, Oct. 12, The Daily Review will commence publication of Anthony Hope's best romance, "The Prisoner of Zenda." This has appeared in book and magazine form only, and hitherto has not been available for publication in newspapers.

The syndicate controlling publication have now opened the right to newspapers, and this remarkable story has been secured for publication exclusively in The Daily Review, and will run in its columns until concluded.

Thousands have been unable to read the story in the shape in which it has been offered to the public, but now the opportunity is given for all to peruse its thrilling incidents and study the remarkable plot. No story has achieved more marked distinction in the literary world than the "Prisoner of Zenda." Read it, Don't miss a number.

"The West is Alright" Says Hon. W. H. Cushing, Alberta

"Don't believe any of those pessimistic reports that you hear about the West," said Hon. W. H. Cushing, Minister of Public Works for Alberta, to the Review today. Mr. Cushing is in Peterborough in connection with telephone matters and has the spirit of optimism of the true Westerner, "The West is alright although there may be reports to the contrary."

"How about the crops in Alberta?" asked the newspaperman.

"Better than in the East," said Mr Cushing, "although hardly up to those of the past two years, when the yield was exceptionally heavy. This year the season was a little later than usual in the northern part of the province and while the total yield will be greater per acre, it will not be as high as last year.

"You have a fine city here," remarked Mr. Cushing, as he left to catch his train, "and I'm only sorry I did not have time to see more of it, especially the fair look."

Peterborough and Vics To-morrow at Riverside

Will Come Together in First Game of Season—Locals Prepared to Put Up the Hardest Kind of Bout.

The first rugby game of the season will be played tomorrow afternoon at Riverside Park, commencing at 2.45, when the Victorias of Toronto and Peterborough, will meet in a senior O.R.F.U. championship match. The locals will be in the pink of condition for the game, and as the Vics are looked upon by the ... have as having a good chance for the championship, the contest should be a hummer. For the past months or so, the local pigskin men have been practicing hard in preparation for the game, and as a result the team will be the best conditioned one that has ever represented Peterborough in a season opening game. The back division will be strong and the wings—well they are well named, Peterborough never had a more aggressive and faster wing line than that of this year and every position on it is filled by a fast and capable man, who can play the game from the first toot of the whistle.

There seems every reason to believe that a mammoth crowd will be on hand, and the game will certainly merit a record-breaking attendance. The grounds are in the best of shape and will permit of the fastest kind of play. Either W. J. Morrison or J. B. Hay will act as referee, and they will, of course, select their own umpire.

BE THERE AT 2 O'CLOCK SHARP

All Members of Rugby Team Asked to be on Hand at That Time

The following rugby players are asked to be in uniform at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock sharp; Caniff, Clarke, Crowley, O'Connor, Dickson, Hurtubuise, Deannard, Wilkie, Lundy, G. Fitzpatrick, Crough, Davidson, Colledge, O'Brien, W. Fitzpatrick, Quinlan, Evans, and Dillon.

It is necessary that the above-named be on hand at two o'clock sharp, as much business, such as the placing of the team, the picking of the captain, etc., has to be transacted before the game commences.

LETTER FROM "THE SPORTSMAN"

"Irregularity at Fairs in Connection With Canadian Trotting Turf"

The sporting editor of the Review to-day received the following from the Canadian Sportsman regarding the refusal of the officials at the Warkworth Fair to allow Black Cloud and Diamond Boy to enter in the slow speeding event at the fair.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter respecting the action of the judges at Warkworth Fair. You are quite right in your conception of the rules and no owner or driver of a horse has any right to complain if through his own wilful carelessness his horse has a bar entered against him. It was their duty knowing the track was short to refuse to start unless the same was lapped sufficiently to insure a full mile being trotted or paced. Failing in this they have no right to complain if the rules are applied to them. When the affidavits you refer to come to hand I shall certainly deal with the matter through the editorial columns of the Sportsman and will see to it that the same is duly forwarded to the secretaries of the National and American Trotting Associations. This irregularity at fairs is one of the worst evils in connection with the Canadian Trotting turf and we are always thankful to reputable men who by their efforts assist us in punishing those guilty of breaking the laws.

CURLING CLUB TO MEET SOON

In all probability the annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club will be held next week. Arrangements are now being made and it is the intention to hold the meeting as soon as possible in order that everything may be got under way for the season. Mr. T. F. Matthews is president and Mr. R. M. Waddell is secretary of the club.

LACROSSE

WILL NOT PLAY IN ENGLAND.

Manager Jack Miller and a number of his lacrosse team arrived in London England, on Friday. The team is so much scattered that it will be impossible to play the games that were arranged in England. A number of the boys are on the continent sightseeing and will not be in London for two or three weeks. Jack denies the story of rough-house playing and said:—"We played 16 games, and in all combined, there was not as much roughness as there would be in one good hard match in Canada." A number of the team will sail for home on October 18.—Orillia News-Letter.

WALKING

A LINDSAY OPINION.

The Oshawa, Port Hope and Peterborough applicants for honor in long-distance walking events are keeping up a continual string of challenges and shooting off unlimited quantities of hot air about what they can do when they get in uniform on the road again. They're all champions in their own imagination, but when the time comes for them to "toe the scratch," either the heat or the dust bothers them, and they're all in.—Lindsay Post.

RUGBY

The Tigers of Hamilton have decided to break away from the C.A.A.U. and stay with the Interprovincial Rugby Union. The team will play in Montreal on Saturday, but Moore and Lyons may not figure on the line-up, as they are not in favor of disobeying the ruling of the Union, who have forbidden the team to play in Montreal.

The Crescents and Karenots practice at the Nicholls Oval tomorrow afternoon at 2.30. All the members of both teams are asked to turn out.

ROAD RACING

Barrie will have a gala day on Oct. 31st, Thanksgiving Day. The preliminaries are now being arranged, and it is confidently expected that this year's contests will furnish greater interest than ever. As formerly, the big 10 mile road race for the "Press Trophy" will be the star attraction.—Barrie Advance.

CITIZENS SHOULD ATTEND GAME

It is the duty of the citizens of Peterborough to show their appreciation of the efforts of the local senior O.R.F.U. team to bring the championship pennant to this city, by attending, in large numbers, the Peterborough-Victorias game at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon. The team needs all the financial aid that can be bestowed upon it and not simply needs it, but richly deserves it as well. There is not a single man on the line-up who is not an out and out amateur and if any organization in this city stands for the highest and cleanest in amateur sport, it is the Peterborough Rugby Club. If there is a large number of spectators on hand to enthuse the boys to do their best, the team will have more encouragement to dig in and defeat, if possible, the formidable Queen City aggregation. Your 25 cents is as good as anybody else's; your cheering helps just the same as that of any other person and the team deserves all the moral support and financial assistance that can be given to by the public. This is not a begging appeal, either, for you are assured of more than your money's worth, when the local team and the doughty Vics come together in what promises to be one of the hardest fought battles ever witnessed on the Peterborough gridiron.

New Tool Co. Elected Officers

A meeting of the shareholders and directors of the Dominion Tool Co. was held last evening in the office of O'Connell & Gordon, for the purpose of organization.

A successful meeting was held and the new concern starts out with the brightest prospects. Enough stock has been subscribed to commence business. A bylaw to lease a site for a factory, was passed by the directors and presented to the shareholders. They are negotiating with a gentleman in east city to purchase his factory, and at any rate, operations will commence this fall. Mr. P. J. Creedon will be superintendent of the new factory. He has assigned his patent of augur bits to the company. There are over 40 shareholders, one of them having some $7,600 worth of stock in the enterprise.

The officers were elected as follows,—

President—Dr. McNulty.

Vice-President—James Davidson.

Secretary-Treasurer—F. R. J. McPherson.

Mr. W. R. Morris, C. A., was appointed auditor for the company, and Mr. G. N. Gordon, is solicitor.

Major Stevenson Has Been Promoted

Word was received in the city today that Major Arthur Stevenson, has been gazetted, lieutenant-colonel and commander of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, vice Col. J. W. Miller, who on completion of his period of tenure of command is transferred to the reserve list of officers.

The new Colonel's many friends will congratulate him on his promotion. He should make an excellent commanding officer.

Brutal Assault at Norwood Fair

Mr. George Downer reports that a young boy, the son of Mr. Fred. Doughty, of this city, who is in the employ of a local ice firm, was brutally assaulted in front of a booth conducted by Mr. Downer, at the Norwood Fair on Wednesday. He states that the man seized the boy around the neck and held his head under his arm, pounding him mercilessly in the face with his fist. He also knocked him down and kicked him in the face when he had fallen. A colored man who was connected with one of the Midway attractions at the fair, saw the assault and ran to rescue the boy from the hands of his cowardly assailant. The latter fled upon his approach, but was finally captured and held by another man. The negro arriving on the spot a moment later, attacked the man who had beaten the boy, showing no mercy whatever. A constable finally arrived and arrested the man who had assaulted the boy, and found him lying quivering on the ground in a semi-unconscious condition, on account of the strenuous kicking given him by the negro. He was arrested and taken to the lock-up. His name has not been learned, but he is believed to be a resident of Norwood.

It is not known what prompted him to commit the assault, which is unjustified, no matter what the cause may be, by reason of its violence and on account of the great difference between himself and his victim, both in the matter of size and strength.

Congratulations to Mr. Donovan

Conservatives of Peterborough Felicitate Him on His Great Victory

The Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough, and the Young Conservative Club, this week sent a telegram of congratulation to Mr. AA. E. Donovan, who won such a splendid victory in the bye-election at Brockville and now holds the seat formerly occupied in the Ontario Legislature by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, the present Minister of Railways and Canals, in the Federal Cabinet.

AMUSEMENTS

A GREAT LAUGH PROVOKER

After all is said and done, "Side-Tracked," the sensational comedy-drama, which will appear at the Grand Opera House Saturday, matinee and night, is one of the greatest laugh provokers now before the public, and merits the unstinted praise bestowed upon it by both press and public, no matter where it is seen. It has no hair-lifting plot, but it is a comedy, bright and clean, with touches of pathos, and a charming love story running through it. The company presenting it is an exceptionally good one, and the specialties introduced by different members of the company during the action of the piece, add materially to the amusement of the auditors. The story has sufficient interest in it to appeal to all classes and the elite find as much to entertain, as the gallery to amuse.

The play is interspersed with sparkling music, bright specialties, and mirth provoking situations. There is not a dull moment from the rise of the curtain until its fall. If you want to enjoy a good, hearty laugh, one that will act on you like a tonic, just visit the Grand, and see a performance of "Side-Tracked."

Says "Canada Is All Right"

Senator Cox and Mr. W. G. Morrow Returning From West

A Winnipeg despatch says: — The result of my journey through the west, said Hon. G. A. Cox, this morning, is that I have more faith than ever in the country.

After a trip through the west Senator Cox arrived in the city this morning. He is accompanied by H. L. Watt, treasurer of the Canada Life, and W. G. Morrow, manager of the Toronto Savings & Loan Co., Peterborough.

In summing up the general outlook for this year's crop, Senator Cox said that he believed that the harvest would return as much money to the farmers as that of any previous year.

Will Organize An Association

A leading property holder of No. 1 ward, stated to the Review that the ratepayers of Nos. 1 and No. 2 wards, in view of the high assessment and the alleged general unsatisfactory record of the present City Council, intend forming a Property Holders' Association.

Representatives from other wards will be invited to join in the movement. It is probable that certain men will be endorsed by the association as aldermanic candidates. However this will be considered later.

The date and place of meeting for the purpose of organizing the association will be announced in a few days.

While Attending Sunday School

Rev. Dr. Talling's Brother Sustained Fatal Stroke

Rev. Dr. Talling, acting pastor of St. Paul's church, has returned from attending the funeral of his brother, Mr. Charles Talling of Fenelia, Northumberland County, who passed away on Monday last, as the result of a paralytic stroke. Mr. Talling, who was an active Sunday school worker, being superintendent of the school at Fenelia, was conducting the opening proceedings two weeks ago last Sunday, when he was seized with paralysis, and had to be carried home. The whole of one side of his body was affected. The deceased was one of the pioneers of Fenelia, a most successful farmer and a man who enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the whole community to a marked degree. He leaves a wife and a family of eight children, three residing at home.

Two brothers and a sister also survive. The former are Rev. Dr. Talling of St. Paul's church, and Mr. Frank Talling of Bowmanville. The sister is Mrs. White, wife of the editor of the Milton Reformer.

Left Husband And Got Lost

On account of hard feelings between her and her husband, Mrs. Henry Hilcox, who resides near Lakefield, left her home and came to this city last evening. On arriving here she went to a boarding house where she spent the night. This morning she left it, and not being acquainted with the city could not find the place when she wished to return.

This afternoon she called at the police station to see if she could be directed to it. She had just a slight description of it, but so little that the officers had very little to work on. She thought it was near the Quaker Oats Co., but on going there it was found not to be the place. The unfortunate woman was an elderly person. She had left her shawl at the house and was without wraps. She had no friends in the city and if someone did not offer her shelter for the night she would suffer terribly. She said that she would return to Lakefield tomorrow, but it would be much against her will.

Lady Injured by Loose Plank

Had Hand Badly Hurt and Received Severe Shock

Owing to the bad condition of the sidewalk on Mark street, near the corner of Robinson street, Miss Mary McWilliams, who resides on Rogers street, fell and seriously hurt herself. In company with another lady she was going home about nine o'clock last evening. Her companion was a few steps ahead and stepping on the end of a loose plank it flew up, tripping Miss McWilliams and giving her a nasty fall. One hand was badly hurt. She suffered a serious injury to her left knee.

The condition of the sidewalk at this part of the street is disgraceful and it is about time that it was repaired or a new one laid.

COL. STEVENSON TAKES CHARGE

New Commanding Officer of 57th Regiment is Popular

Lt.-Col. Arthur Stevenson, the new officer commanding the 57th Regt. Peterborough Rangers, succeeding Lt.-Col. J. W. Millen, has been in military life for a quarter of a century. He has for several years been chairman of the regimental rifle committee and has taken great interest in the annual matches. He doubtless will use all his influence to have the proposed new government rifle ranges provided as soon as possible.

Col. Stevenson believes that every officer and man should be able to shoot well. He himself has taken part in the D.R.A. and other important annual meets. He served under four commanding officers of the 57th, Col. Rogers, Col. Bell, Col. Edwards and Col. Miller. He was created a captain in 1895 and attained the rank of Major in 1901. His many military and civilian friends are to-day congratulating him on his promotion, notice of which appeared in yesterday's Review.

Ocean Record is Broken ; Cunard Liner's Great Time

Great Britain Is Proud of New Liner Lusitania.

Triumph For British Shipbuilders and the Turbine Engine — Big Steamer Greeted With Salutes on Arrival at New York—Stoker Goes Crazy With Heat — Blue Ribbon Handed Over.

New York, Oct. 12.—The Lusitania's official time was 4 days 19 hours and 52 minutes from Queenstown to Sandy Hook lightship.

New York welcomed the record-breaking Lusitania, as she swung into her dock yesterday, bearing the title of Queen of the Seas, wrested from her German rivals by making the voyage from Daunt's Rock to Sandy Hook lightship in 4 days 19 hours and 52 minutes. Three hundred and twenty-three firemen fed the furnaces between 950 to 1,000 tons of picked British navy Welsh coal each day in order that the Cunarder might become the first four-day ship to cross the Atlantic.

Stoker Became Crazed.

On Tuesday night, when the Lusitania turbines were working at top speed, the heat in the stokehold was so intense that a fireman became crazed with the heat, and the strength of half a dozen brawny stokers was required to carry him to the ship's hospital.

That evening each fireman received a bottle of ale. The next day the Lusitania broke all records by reeling off 617 knots, and made an hourly record of 24.76 knots. The firemen received no ale that night, which they laughingly asserted accounted for a slower day's run of 600 knots on Thursday.

Capt. J. B. Watt of the Lusitania was highly pleased with the ship's performance, and said: "She's a dandy, and I'm delighted. With better weather conditions the Lusitania can do better."

Great Britain Rejoices.

London, Oct. 12.—The latest performance of the steamer Lusitana is hailed with delight throughout Great Britain, this being, as one of the writers puts it, "a proud day for Mrs. Britannia." All the evening papers publish long accounts of the passage, and comment with satisfaction on Great Britain's regaining the mercantile marine supremacy, which was lost to Germany a decade ago. To make the victory complete, they ask that the Lusitania repeat on her homeward voyage what she accomplished on her outward passage. Experts express the opinion that she is able to still further cut the time between Daunt's Rock and Sandy Hook lightship, saying that she will not have any difficulty in averaging the 24 1-2 knots required to gain the full Government subsidy.

Blue Ribbon Handed Over.

New York, Oct. 12.—Gustav H. Schwab, general manager of the North German Lloyd Steamship Co., here, yesterday said: "The Lusitania is undoubtedly a wonderful steamship, and has made a splendid record. I am going around to-day to congratulate Vernon H. Brown, of the Cunard line, and, incidentally, hand him the blue ribbon, which the North German Lloyd has held for the past several years.

"Until this trip of the Lusitania, the Kaiser Wilhelm II. of the North German Lloyd, was the fastest steamship in the world, with a record made in June, 1904, of 23.58 knots average hourly steaming for the entire trip across."

Murder Trial at Hamilton ; Sunfield Gets Death Sentence

Sunfield to Hang For Murder of Rodzyk at Hamilton.

Tried to Throw Blame For Crime on Wife of His Victim—Said He Refused to Elope With Her—Judge Deeply Affected — Jury Recommended Mercy—Reserve Case Was Refused.

Hamilton, Oct. 12.—Guilty, with a strong recommendation to the mercy of the court, was the verdict of the jury in the case of Jacob Sunfield, who murdered Andrew Rodzyk on July 12 last.

Sunfield was sentenced to be hanged on Nov. 20. He took his sentence quietly, though he displayed considerable nervousness.

In reply to a question of the court as to whether he had anything to say as to why sentence should not be passed, Sunfield said in a firm voice: "I say I am not guilty, and I'm sorry to die. You will find out that I am not guilty later."

The jury went out at 6.18 o'clock last evening, and returned at 9.48 and asked to have the evidence of Hunt, the teamster, who saw a man shoot at Mrs. Rodzyk, read, and they also asked to see the blouse that Mrs. Rodzyk wore when she was shot.

At 10.05 the jury returned with a verdict of guilty, with a recommendation to mercy.

Asked by Chief Justice Falconbridge as to the reason for the recommendation to mercy, the foreman replied that they thought the prisoner had been drinking and did not realise fully what he was doing.

Chief Justice Falconbridge was so deeply affected that he could hardly finish the sentence. He said:

"It is not my practice to add to the terrors of the situation by saying anything to the prisoner about the enormity of the crime. I take it that if he does not already realize he never will probably. I am entirely satisfied with the verdict of the jury. They had seen fit to add a recommendation to mercy, but it is not in my power to do anything with that.

"Drunkenness is no excuse for crime. I recommend the prisoner not to build on the recommendation of the jury, but to pass his time in preparing himself for death."

Before the sentence was passed, J. L. Counsell asked the judge to reserve a case on two points. First, he contended that the evidence of William Walsh was inadmissable, because Rodzyk did not think he was dying when he made it. Second, he contended that the evidence of the witnesses as to the quarrels between Rodzyk and Sunfield as not admissable.

The judge refused to reserve a case, holding that the evidence was very clear. In his address to the jury, Mr. Counsell went after William Walsh and said his evidence was unbelievable.

Mr. Blackstock complimented Mr. Counsell on the ingenuity of his defence, but said that any decent man would have rather gone to his death than tell the story Sunfield had told in the box.

The judge also complimented Mr. Counsell on his zeal and ingenuity, but his charge, though an impartial summing up, was against the prisoner.

Jake Sunfield went into the box yesterday morning and testified in his own defence. He declared that he did not kill Rodzyk. He said he was very intimate with Mr. Rodzyk, who said she loved him better than anyone else. He said that on the day of the shooting she went into the house after he had refused to elope with her, and he heard a shot. He wound up his story with:

"This is the truth, gentlemen of the jury, so help me Christ; it's true, and if it isn't I hope to drop where I stand."

He would not swear that Mrs. Rodzyk did the shooting.

ELOPERS MARRIED IN MONTREAL

Broker Says Millionaire's Daughter Was Already His Wife.

New York, Oct. 12.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance, more than a week ago, of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, the Philadelphia millionaire, was given a highly sensational turn yesterday.

At the time of Miss Maloney's disappearance, Samuel Clarkson, a young Englishman who had paid her marked attention, also dropped out of sight, and it was reported, and generally believed, that the couple had eloped and been married.

Thursday night came the news from Montreal that the missing pair had been married by a Catholic priest in that city and then had returned to New York and sailed for Europe.

Following directly upon the heels of the Montreal announcement comes the publication here of an unqualified statement from Arthur Herbert Osborn, a young broker of this city, that Miss Maloney is his wife. According to Osborn's statement, he and Miss Maloney were married on Dec. 28, 1905, and the marriage never has been annulled. Osborn declares that records in the notary's office at Mamaroneck, which show that Herbert Osborn had married Helen Eugenie on that date, will prove his statement. He said that assumed names were used because at the time both he and Miss Maloney desired to keep the marriage a secret.

The fact that the marriage had taken place did become known, however, according to Osborn, and he declares that among those who learned of it was young Clarkson. He says that not only did Clarkson know of the marriage, but that only a short time ago he sought to have it annulled, having gone so far as to consult New York lawyers on the subject.

Osborn was a student in Princeton when the marriage with Miss Maloney took place.

MURDER IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Body Was Mutilated—Victim Thought to Be Toronto Man.

Sydney, N. S., Oct. 12.—Further details were received here yesterday from Baie of Islands, Newfoundland, of the supposed Canadian from Ontario who is believed to have met his death by foul means while on a recent fishing excursion in the wilds of the ancient colony.

The body was found by a man named Nott at Gull Marsh, Bonne Bay. It had been decapitated and the hands were missing, all members having been removed by some sharp instrument.

The unfortunate man must have been about 5 feet 6 inches in height. He was rather stoutly built and dressed well.

His clothes had been made in Toronto, the buttons bearing the name of J. H. Ames of that city. Other than this there is absolutely no clue of identification, everything of a telltale nature having been removed from the pockets.

A number of fishing parties from Ontario cities are known to have explored lately the region in the vicinity of Gull Marsh, and it is thought that the unknown man met his death at the hands of his comrades.

PRESENT SYSTEM O. K.

Chief Justice Gives Hint as to Judgment on Betting Case.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—The test case before the Court of Appeals yesterday to decide really whether there will be betting at the Canadian race tracks, was concluded last night. Judgment was reserved.

Patrick J. Moylett and Herbert G. Bailey were each fined $50 by Magistrate Denison in the Police Court for conducting a "place" at the Woodbine.

Col. Denison, in his stated case, remarked that the bookies did business in a radius of five or ten feet. Deputy Attorney-General Cartwright maintained that as they were always to be found within that area during the races, it was occupying a "place," under the meaning of the law.

"You might as well say if you stopped a man on the street and made a bet with him he was occupying a place," remarked Mr. Justice Meredith.

PROVINCIAL SUBSIDIES.

Ontario Gets $789,000 by Dominion Increases.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—The Finance Department is getting ready to forward to the various provinces the increased amounts of subsidy due them under the recent amendments to the B. N. A. Act.

Of the increases, Ontario will get, in round numbers, $789,000; Quebec, $600,000; Nova Scotia, $177,000; New Brunswick, $138,000; Manitoba, $212,000; Saskatchewan, $135,000; Alberta, $100,000; British Columbia, $277,000, and Prince Edward Island, $70,000.

Freight Cars Derailed.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—Two freight cars derailed and two overturned and badly smashed and traffic held up for some hours was the result of a wreck near Port Credit yesterday morning. A broken axle was the cause. No one was injured, although the whole train narrowly escaped being thrown into the Credit River. Traffic was clear by 11 o'clock.

The Montreal express was delayed about an hour just west of Bay street by the forward truck of the third passenger car jumping the track at a defective switch. The car was moved clear of the track and a new coach put in its place. No one was injured.

Hayti Warming Up Again.

Kingston, Ja., Oct. 12.—Mail advices from Hayti state that 16 men were sentenced to death there for conspiring to overthrow the Government of the republic. Many persons fear a revolution soon.

Conservatives Nominate Morrison.

Vermillion, Alta., Oct. 12.—Alberta is preparing for the Federal elections, and Thursday F. A. Morrison of Vegreville was nominated as Conservative candidate for the constituency of Victoria.

George Currell, of London, aged 45, was found dead in his room with the gas turned on.

TERRORIST OUTRAGES

Tales of Blood From Various Parts of Russia.

Prince Tzereteli Hacked to Pieces—Captain Assassinated—Thirty-Six Political Prisoners Escaped—Home of Baroness Set on Fire—Cholera Rapidly Spreading—Follows Trail of Last Year's Famine.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 12.—From various points yesterday reports were received here of murders and acts of violence by terrorists or peasants.

A Tiflis despatch says that the body of Prince Tzereteli, a cousin of Prince I. G. Tzereteli, member of the former Douma from Kutais, was found hacked to pieces in the suburbs of Gori. The police have evidence that the crime was committed by peasants.

Captain Lilin was shot down and killed in Sevastopol by an unknown man as he was stepping out of his house. The assassin escaped.

The home of Baroness Alshenvog, in Poltava, was set on fire by peasants and totally destroyed.

Thirty-six political prisoners broke out of the prison at Kutais yesterday and got away. They had been incarcerated in secret cells for over a year.

The cholera at Kiev, in Russia, shows no signs of diminishing, but on the contrary it is spreading steadily. Every province, that suffered from famine last year is now in the grasp of the scourge and every day hundreds of new cases are reported.

FATALITY ON STEAMER.

Bursting Pipe Causes Death of Two Stokers by Scalding.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 12.—The propeller City of Naples of the Gilchrist fleet came into port last night with two of her crew dead and one of her officers badly scalded. The dead are: Louis Hornbustle, 43 years of age, a fireman, of Milwaukee, and James Flanagan, 35 years of age, a coal passer, of Buffalo.

The City of Naples was off Long Point about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. There was a stiff gale blowing, and the sea was running high. Hornbustle and Flanagan were stoking, and Louis Fittinger was in charge of the engines. A 5 1-2-inch steam pipe between the boilers and engine burst, sending a cloud of scalding steam and water down into the boiler room. Deprived of her power, the City of Naples swung into the trough of the sea and began to roll heavily. The coal in the bunkers where Hornbustle and Flanagan had fled to escape the blinding steam suddenly shifted, burying the two men. The boiling water poured in upon them, scalding them to death.

First Engineer Fittinger, who went below to rescue his two men, stepped into a foot of boiling hot water. He managed to return to the deck unaided.

THEY CARRIED EXPLOSIVES.

Men Arrested at Niagara Falls Plead Guilty to Charge.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Oct. 12.—Robert Pasquel and Thomas Harding, who were arrested here while carrying loaded revolvers, nitro-glycerine and soap, were arraigned before County Judge Wells at Welland on Thursday and pleaded guilty to the charges against them, Pasquel to that of carrying weapons for a purpose dangerous to the public peace, and Harding to carrying explosives. Both were remanded till Oct. 21 for sentence.

As these offences may incur the penalty of long terms in the penitentiary, it is probable the police will drop the effort to connect the prisoners with the Chippawa Bank robbery. The third man of the gang, who escaped by holding up Detective Greenwood with a revolver, has not been caught or his identity learned.

TRUE BILL RETURNED.

Grand Jury, Indicts Alleged Grocers' Combine.

Hamilton, Oct. 12.—Yesterday the grand jury brought in a true bill against the Grocers' Guild on the charge of conspiring and combining. Those mentioned in the indictment are K. O. H. C. Beckett, George E. Bristol, John I. Davidson, Thomas E. Escott, W. G. Craig, J. F. Eby, Thos. Kinnear.

Used Young Girl Roughly.

St. Thomas, Oct. 12.—Joseph Drinkwater is in trouble again. Mr. Frank Cohre, liveryman, laid an information against him, charging him with assault upon his daughter Dora.

Miss Cohre, who is 14 years of age, went into his store to purchase an article, and on not being waited on, walked to the back of the store, where, it is alleged, Drinkwater grabbed her by the throat and attempted to throw her on the counter. Her screams brought help quickly to her rescue, it is said, but his alleged rough usage of the girl has caused considerable feeling among the neighborhood. He will come up for trial before P. M. Glenn this morning.

Thieves Bind Farmer.

St. Catharines, Oct. 12.—Two strangers called at Jesse Winger's farmhouse in Bertie Township Tuesday afternoon and demanded his money. Winger tried to fight the robbers and knocked one of them down, but they overpowered him and tied him up with ropes. All they got was $2. At his request the robbers carried Winger into the house, where he was found bound and helpless two hours later.

Bishop Ingram's Return.

New York, Oct. 12.—Bishop Ingram of London, who came to this country to attend the Protestant Episcopal convention in Richmond, Va., is in town visiting the local clergy and their churches. He will sail for home next Thursday.

C. J. Thornton is again the Conservative candidate for the Commons in West Durham.

CHUTES AND DIPS FALL.

High Wind Causes $20,000 Damage at National Exhibition Grounds.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—The "shoot the chutes" and "dip-the-dips" at the exhibition grounds were blown down by the storm early yesterday morning, causing a loss of $20,000.

The owners of the attractions are C. E. Mills of Coney Island and E. M. Harten of Pittsburg. They were erected in early summer.

The top over the turn-table of the "shoot the chutes" was carried 100 yards west, up against the military barracks. It knocked down a fence in its journey. The top was about seven or eight feet square.

Springhill Strike Over.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 12.—The strike in the Springhill coal mines, which has continued for 11 weeks and has involved 1,600 men, was called off by the men last night after a loss of more than $200,000 in wages.

The trouble was a demand by the men for payment for stone removed from the coal.

The matter was referred to the board of conciliation under the Canadian Industrial Disputes Act. The board decided against the men. They rejected the award and struck. Now they accept the award.

Sold Liquor Illegally.

Chatham, Oct. 12.—For selling liquor during prohibited hours M. J. O'Mara of Wallaceburg was fined $300 and costs on Thursday.

This is the third offence since the new act came into force, and it is likely that the case will be reported to the provincial authorities, which may result in his license being taken from him.

It is rumored, however, that he has sold out, thus outwitting the Government.

The first consignment of pig iron from Port Arthur was shipped to Toronto Wednesday.

Large Amount for Foreign Missions

Annual Thank Offering of W. F. M. S. of St. Paul's Church

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of St. Paul's church was held yesterday afternoon. It was also the annual thank-offering of this organization. $389.45 was the amount raised yesterday, which is a grand evidence of the great interest the members take in Foreign Missions. Miss C. Dickson presided. Mrs. (Rev.) H. J. Keith's address on "India," was the chief feature of the meeting. Mrs. Keith spent three years in India, and very interestingly she related many experiences of her sojourn in that far-off country. Miss A. Cameron, who has spent the past four years in Scotland, and who has recently returned to Peterborough, was present and sang a solo most acceptably.

EDICT TO UNITED STATES.

Premier Bond Breaks Away From the Modus Vivendi.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 12.—All the plans of owners of American fishing vessels, of which a large fleet is on its way to Newfoundland to secure herring, have been thrown to the winds as a result of a cablegram received from Premier Bond yesterday saying that Newfoundland fishermen on American vessels within or outside the three-mile limit will not be permitted.

This edict takes the American fishing question back where it was by the act of 1906. It makes all herring brought into the United States dutiable and places a tremendous hardship on the American fish industry.

Copy Our Act.

London, Oct. 12.—(C. A. P.)—"If public opinion cannot find the means of making itself obeyed on the question of a railway strike," says a writer in Review of Reviews, "it's high time we adopted legislation like the Canadian Conciliation and new Labor Acts."

Prince Albert Bye-Election.

Prince Albert, Oct. 12.—The Prince Albert bye-election to elect a member in place of Hon. J. H. Lamont is waxing hot, and there have been several joint meetings between ex-Mayor Bradshaw and Mr. Turgeon, the Liberal candidate.

Cut Duty on Wire.

Melbourne, Oct 12.—(C. A. P.)—The Commonwealth Parliament has reduced the duty on wire netting from 30 per cent. to 10 per cent., with a preference to Britain of 5 per cent. It is stated that other sweeping reductions are likely.

Steamer Amelia Safe.

Montreal, Oct. 12.—The steamer Amelia, reported missing after leaving Souris on Monday, has called at the Magdalen Islands, and left there for Prince Edward Island, where she now is, safe and sound.

MORE TROUBLE IN MOROCCO.

French Warships Despatched to Mogador—May Bombard the City.

Tangier, Oct. 12.—Tidings received here from Southern Morocco are anything but reassuring for the "pacification" of this distracted empire. It would appear, from credible native sources of information, that the famous chieftain, Anfloos, the Raisuli of the south, has occupied Mogador, thrown Bargash, the local governor representing Sultan Abd-el-Aziz, into jail, and assumed control of that important strategic point.

Two French warships have been hastily despatched from Tangier to control the situation at Mogador, but the best informed of the residents here, knowing the character of Caid Anfloos, are convinced that he will resist intervention, and they dread a repetition of the Casablanca bombardment.

Reports regarding the submission of fighting tribes should be received with suspicion, as they emanate from political and financial sources. The subservience of Abd-el-Aziz to French control, including his acceptance of the cross of the Legion of Honor, is increasing Mulai Hafid's power daily.

Caid Anfloos declared his allegiance to Mulai Hafid the latter part of August.

Deport 180 Hindus.

Vancouver, Oct. 12.—Out of 561 Hindus arriving on the C. P. R. steamer Tartar yesterday, the Dominion immigration officer rejected 180, over 100 not having sufficient money and the rest were physically unfit. All will be deported.

Jail for Gin Thief.

Stratford, Oct. 12.—Robert James, an Englishman in the employ of the G. T. R. freight department, was sentenced to three months in the Central Prison yesterday for stealing a bottle of gin out of bond in the freight sheds.

The Sleepless Ones.

Guadalajara has probably one of the most unique social organizations in the new world. It is called "The Insomnia club," housed in a quiet, thick walled ancient building in the heart of the Tapatian capital. There are at present forty-six members, and as they can but seldom sleep they pass the nights, perfumed as the nocturnal atmosphere there always is with jazmin and azahar, in agreeable diversions—chess, billiards, cards and bowling.

PRISON FOR ENGINEER.

Wrighton Gets Three Months for Disobedience Which Caused Disaster.

Kenora, Ont., Oct. 12.—The jury in the Wrighton case returned a verdict of guilty, with a strong recommendation to mercy. They were out three hours and a half. Judge Chapple sentenced George Wrighton, engineer, to three months.

The case was similar to the Hespeler case with the same arguments advanced by the defence. It arose out of the collision of the second section of express No. 96, going east, and express No. 97, at Butler, in which 13 people were killed, 11 Chinamen and their guard, O'Connor, on No. 96, and a Jap on No. 97.

The evidence showed that two orders had been given Engineer Wrighton at Raleigh, one annulling the other. He did not grasp the annulment and the accident occurred.

Counsel for the defence endeavored to show that both orders might have been the same. They also argued that the engine he was driving was old and troublesome, taking up most of his time looking after the defects.

As Kenora is a strong railway town the case has created a great deal of interest, and some engineers declare that if they are to be held liable to imprisonment for accidents, besides running the risks of their daily occupation, they will quit the service.

There is great sympathy for Wrighton, who has always been regarded as a careful engineer.

ARBITRATION OBLIGATORY.

Hague Conference Favors Important Principle—Good Results Obtained.

The Hague, Oct. 12.—The following is the text of the declaration drafted by Count Tornelli, Italy, in accord with the leading delegation to the Peace Conference:

The conference unanimously favors:

"1. The principle of obligatory arbitration.

"2. That certain differences, especially those regarding the interpretation and application of conventional clauses are susceptible to being submitted to obligatory arbitration without restriction.

"The conference unanimously proclaims that while a convention on the subject was not concluded, the differences of opinion had more of a judicial character, as all the states of the world, in working together for four months, not only learned to know each better by getting closer together, but developed during this long collaboration high ideals for the common welfare."

After a long debate the arbitration committee adopted Count Tornelli's declaration, which was accepted by all the delegations except those of the United States, Japan, Hayti and Turkey, which abstained from voting.

Joseph H. Choate, United States, was much applauded during his speech, explaining the abstention of the American delegation.

FOR ENGINEER'S RELEASE.

Preparing Petition to Set Murray Stephens Free.

St. Thomas, Oct. 12.—T. W. Crothers, solicitor for Murray Stephens, the former Wabash engineer sentenced to six months in the common jail without hard labor, for running the switch at the C. P. R. and G.T.R.-Wabash diamond, on Aug. 24, 1906, causing the loss of two lives, is preparing a petition for signatures, asking for the release or mitigation of the sentence of Mr. Stephens.

Asked if the railway engineers had taken any action in the matter, Mr. Crothers said that so far they had not, but he had no doubt they would.

"My intention," said Mr. Crothers, "is to have the petition signed and send a deputation to present it to the Minister of Justice."

"The jury," Mr. Crothers further stated, "as did nearly everyone else, misunderstood what Mr. Stephens meant when he stated that he 'did not stop and did not intend to stop.' What he meant was that he did not intend to stop because the distance and home semaphores were in his favor."

C. P. R. GIVES OLD RATES.

Western Newspapers Claim a Victory Over the Company.

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—The C. P. R. Telegraph Co. notified the Winnipeg papers yesterday morning that the old telegraph rates in force to Oct. 1 would be re-established immediately. This action on the part of the company is a direct result of the severe criticism throughout Canada on their effort to deal a death-blow to the Western Associated Press, a newly formed organization of newspapers to compete with the inadequate service furnished by the C. P. R.

Killed by G. T. R. Train.

Port Hope, Oct. 12.—David Sullivan of Toronto, was struck by a G. T. R. train near Newtonville early yesterday morning, receiving a bad fracture of the skull, which resulted in his death, shortly afterwards.

The remains are in charge of a local undertaker, and an inquest is likely to be held here.

His relatives in Toronto have been communicated with. From papers found on the body he was identified as a British army pensioner, 73 years of age.

Stratford Girl Attacked.

Stratford, Oct. 12.—While returning to her home on Douro street on Thursday night, Miss Florence Wheeler, aged 17, was assaulted by an unknown man, who attempted to strangle her.

Her cries frightened the man, who, after striking the girl to the ground, fled in the darkness.

His identity is not known.

Stated Murder Case Argued.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—Judgment was reserved by the Court of Appeal yesterday in the stated case brought by T. C. Robinette on behalf of Frank Capelli, the Italian sentenced at Parry Sound for the murder of William Dow on Christmas Day last year.

Mrs. Casale Chadwick is reported to be growing very weak from stomach and heart trouble in the Ohio penitentiary.

INTENSIFIED FRUIT JUICES AN IMPROVEMENT ON NATURE

A Discovery that is Revolutionizing Medicine.

Remarkable Success Attends the Finding of a New Medicinal Compound by Combining the Juices of Apples, Oranges, Figs and Prunes.

Fruit helps to keep one healthy. Fruit, in itself, will not cure disease. The medicinal principle—or that part of fruit which has a curative effect—is in such infinitesimal quantities, that it is unable to overcome a diseased condition of the stomach, liver, bowels, kidneys or skin.

Just here is where science stepped in. An Ottawa physician did what nature could not do. He first found that some fruits were stronger medicinally than others—and that apples, oranges, figs and prunes contained all the healing properties of other fruits. There are two principles in fruit juices—bitter and sweet. After extracting the juices of the four fruits mentioned, this physician succeeded in replacing one atom of the sweet principle by one of the bitter. This resulted in an entirely new combination being formed. This new compound was many times more active medicinally than the fruit juices. Where eating fruit only helped to keep one well, this compound actually cured disease.

To make it more valuable still, this physician added the finest tonics and antiseptics, and then, by evaporating the entire compound to a powder, made it into tablets.

This, in short, is the method of making "Fruit-a-tives"—these wonderful tablets — the most reliable cure for Constipation, Biliousness, Stomach Troubles, Kidney and Bladder Disease and Skin Affections. Being made from fruit, "Fruit-a-tives" may be taken by women and children without fear of ill-effect.

Don't take a substitute. If your druggist does not handle them, send 50c for a box to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Old Chieftainess Dead.

Lavinia, an old chieftainess of the Tongans, who was popularly supposed to possess the evil eye, died of senile decay a few weeks ago. Lavinia was held in reverence, not unmixed with awe, by the natives of Tonga Island (Australia), for they believed that she had the power of casting a spell over those who thwarted or offended her. Her granddaughter, who was called Lavinia, after her, was the late Queen of Tonga, and great-aunt to King George Tubon II. She herself was the last of the children of the "Tui Toga," the old spiritual chief, who was looked upon by the natives as a god as high above themselves "as heaven is above the earth." He and other holders of this rank at death were buried at Mua, in huge tombs called "Lagi" which are of great interest to visitors to Tonga. They consist of large coral slabs, enclosing a square area, which was afterwards terraced with coral. These tombs are erected in the silent bush places. Monuments of smaller size were erected above the women of the family, who were not considered of such importance as the men. In Lavinia's case, however, there was an impressive ceremony, in which many natives took part, and her tomb at Mua is composed of immense coral stones.

Jerrold and His Friends.

Douglas Jerrold's humor was usually of the biting sort, says Mr. Harry Furniss in some stories of "Famous Raconteurs," and he was an ever present terror to his friends as well as his enemies.

"Ah, Jerrold, you and I are rowing in the same boat now," a friend ostentatiously remarked to the satirist on one occasion.

"Yes," replied Jerrold, "but not with the same skulls."

His humor, however, did not always hurt the victim.

One evening a journalist came into his club, complaining that the proprietor of his paper had dismissed him and saying that it was his intention to go into the coal trade.

"A very good choice, too," said Jerrold. "You've something to start with, you know—you've got the sack."

Ladies Thought "Peeping Tom" Was at the Window

But the One Who Telephoned the Police Station Lost Courage When She Heard the Officer's Voice.—A Mysterious Case.

A family residing on Reid street, near London, had a somewhat nerve-racking exerience a few nights ago. There were only three ladies in the house and during the evening one of them had been reading in a local paper that a "peeping Tom" was operating in the part of the city in which their house is located. She read the item to the other two ladies, but nothing much was said about it. About ten o'clock, however, when the three members of the household were gathered in the dining room, they were alarmed at hearing some noise at one of the windows. The shutters moved and then all was still again. The noise at once brought back to the minds of the ladies the paragraph in the newspaper about the "peeping Tom." They listened intently and in a few minutes the noise at the shutter came again. The ladies were now thoroughly alarmed, and on the shutter rattling a third time one of them went to the Machine telephone and rang up the police station. When she heard the officer at the station shout "hello," however, her courage failed and she did not unfold the tale of distress that she had intended. She did not even respond with a faint "hello" and after the policeman had shouted "hello" several times and got no answer he hung up the receiver.

After waiting for some time the ladies ventured out on the verandah and peeped around cautiously at the window where the shutter had been making the noise. There was no one in sight, and they are of the opinion that the man, or whoever was at the window, must have noticed them using the telephone and made haste away. The night was a calm one and there was no probability of the wind shaking the shutter.

TEN YEAR OLD BOY VICTIM OF AN UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

Eddie O'Brien, a ten year old boy who resides on Lake street, met with a peculiar accident about half-past five o'clock last evening. With a number of other boys he was playing at the corner of George and King streets. At this point there is a large telephone pole with a wire support stretching from about half way up the pole to the ground. The youngsters were trying to see who could climb the wire the highest and young O'Brien lost his hold and fell when he was about twelve feet from the ground. He landed on his back, his head striking the ground with considerable force. He was rendered unconscious for a few minutes, but rapidly recovered and was able to walk home after a short time. The other boys were greatly frightened when the mishap to their comrade occurred, but they stayed with him and two of them accompanied him home. The injured boy is able to be out again and is now none the worse for the accident.

Canada Boiler and Radiator Company Has Made Assignment

Factory of Company is Located at Hastings—Local Capitalists Interested—Application Made for Winding Up Order—Stringency of Money Market Cause of Trouble.

The Canada Boiler and Radiator Co., Limited, whose factory is in Hastings has made an assignment. Samuel, Benjamin & Co., Wholesale Iron Dealers, Toronto, are applying to the court for a winding-up order.

The matter will be heard at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Tuesday morning next, when it is expected a decision will be given as to whether the Canada Boiler and Radiator Co. will be wound up by the courts under the Winding-up Act or by an assignee appointed by the creditors.

The company was incorporated in March, 1905, the capital stock being $40,000. During the past year the company erected a large factory at Hastings.

The directors expect that if the assets are judiciously disposed of, all creditors will be paid in full.

The assets consist of a building, plant and raw material and are estimated as being worth about $15,000. The liabilities are somewhat less than this. It is understood that the stringency of the money market is largely contributory to the present financial trouble.

The company in its factory at Hastings, employs about 20 men. Several Peterborough gentlemen are shareholders in the company.

Opening Meeting Held By Ladies' Literary Society

Rev. Dr. O'Brien Gave Able Address, Emphasizing Good Work of the Organization—Splendid Programme Rendered.

An exceedingly interesting and eloquent discourse by Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and a musical programme of an exceptionally brilliant character, combined to make the inaugural meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's, last evening, a most enjoyable one. The Assembly Hall was taxed to its utmost capacity by an appreciative audience, who had assembled to enjoy the excellent programme presented.

The subject of last evening's lecture was of a particularly interesting nature as well as of a most practical one to the Society, it being "The excellent result obtained from the reading of good literature, as compared with the evil influence caused by the reading of pernicious literature."

The dissertation of the reverend lecturer was listened to with a great deal of pleasure by the large audience present, and proved to be highly interesting and most instructive.

After congratulating the Ladies' Literary Society on the success which had attended its efforts in the past the Rev. Dr. O'Brien pointed out the many advantages of belonging to such a society as this, as the meetings were not only enjoyable but most educative. He also stated that the library in connection with it contained only the best books so that in reading them one's faith and morals were in no way endangered. Continuing the speaker showed clearly the effect good literature had upon the minds and morals of men. A reading made an indelible impression upon the mind, as character was easily judged by the kind of literature read. As exemplification of the evil influence of pernicious reading the speaker referred to the deplorable state of affairs in France and attributed it largely to the diffusion of bad literature among the people. Books that the Canadian Government would not allow in Canada were circulated throughout France filling the minds of the people with erroneous ideas thus degrading their faith and morals. This able lecture was characterized throughout by its lucidity of style, and left upon the minds of the people the impression that none but the very best books should be found in our libraries and our homes. Each number on the musical programme which preceded this lecture, was received with merited applause, and deservedly so as the various renditions were not only pleasing but most artistic.

The following is the musical programme, which was introduced by Miss Deamard, who occupied the chair for the evening,—

Instrumental Duet — Misses McCabe and Quinn.

Vocal Duet, "Irish Lullaby," Misses K. O'Brien and H. Pearce.

Instrumental Duet—"Whispers of Erin," Misses B. Giroux, and M. Gorman.

Vocal Solo, "School Days," Mr. H. Quinlan.

Instrumental Quartette, "Polly Prim," violins, Misses K. McCarthy and E. Doris; piano, Misses M. Grady and L. Hattrick.

This interesting meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

The next meeting of the Society will be held on Friday evening, Nov. 1st, when an essay on Norway will be read by Mr. B. Flynn.

GENERATOR BURNED OUT

And That Accounts for Darkness in Many Parts of City

The fact that such a large number of street lights were out this week is due to the burning out of one of the Peterborough Light and Power Company's generators. Mr. Larmonth informed the Review today that it was impossible for the company to get another in a short enough time to suit their requirements, in spite of the fact that they tried to secure one from several different concerns that manufacture them. The one that was burned out has been sent away to be re-wound and it is thought it will again be repaired, and installed in the Power Company's plant by Tuesday. About a year and a half ago, the Peterborough Light and Power Company told the council that new lamps and machines were needed, but the city fathers could not see it that way and refused the company permission to install them.

Come with the crowd who will go to Lindsay on the Roller Rink Excursion on Tuesday night. Train leaves G.T.R. Station at 7:15; returning leaves Lindsay at 11 o'clock. Tickets 65c, Children 45c.

ENJOYABLE PICNIC AT CHEMONG VILLAGE

Results of Sports at Recent Annual Sunday School Outing

A most enjoyable picnic was held on October 1st, on the grounds in front of Chemong Indian village under the auspices of the Chemong Methodist Sunday school.

Following were the results of the athletic events;

Running foot races.—Young men, Daniel Whetung, John Jacobs; boys, under 14, Allen Taylor, Albert Taylor; boys, under 12, Jacob Jacobs, Samson Fawn; young ladies, Esther Coppway, Vinnie Whetung; girls, under 12, Susie Johnson, Clara Coppway; girls, under 8, Flora Coppway, Lottie Johnson.

The sports ended with tug-of-war by the children.

In the evening the cradle roll department, in connection with the Sunday School was organized. Addresses were delivered by Revs. G. Blaker, the pioneer Indian missionary; C. E. Mark, pastor of the Chemong church, and Alfred McCue, superintendent of the Sunday school.

Rev. Geo. Blaker spoke in regard to his early mission work among the Indians on the North Shore of Lake Superior. He was listened to with eager attention.

Mr. Blaker told of the hardships that he had to contend with as a missionary among the Pagan Indians and the wilds of the country. Many times life was endangered by the hands of unchristianized Indians. He was at one time fired at as he was lying in his tent and at another time he was tomahawked. The marks he bears on his back to this day.

The superintendent Mr. Alfred McCue, spoke in the interest of the Sunday school.

Excellent music was rendered by the children, for the occasion.

Don't forget the Roller Rink Excursion to Lindsay on Tuesday night, Oct. 15th. Train leaves G.T.R. Station at 7:15; returning leave Lindsay at 11 o'clock.

AMUSEMENTS

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY

In the most modern musical comedies only certain characters appeal to certain of the audience, but in "The Gingerbread Man," the musical fantasy that comes to the Grand on Thursday, October 17th, every character appeals to every listener, for they are the friends of our infancy they all knew and loved. Who has not laughed or wondered with Kris Kringle, Marjory Daw, Simple Simon, Peter Piper, Sallie Lunn, and "The Gingerbread Man" himself! Two of America's foremost comic opera composers, Fred Ranken and A. Baldwin Sloane, have taken them from the realms of fancy and put them in real life, where they act, talk and sing in the most captivating manner. A liberal management Nixon & Zimmerman, has supplied a star cast, gorgeous trappings, fine scenic environment and appointments, and so far the press and public have taken it to their hearts and made much of its great success.

Bold Attempt to Bribe Electors

How the Grits are Trying to Carry East Northumberland

Cobourg, Oct. 11.—The Enterprise of East Northumberland, published at Colborne, the only paper in the riding supporting the Laurier Government, has this week the following editorial appeal:—"Great interest is being manifested here in the fact that we are to have a first-class harbor immediately south of Colborne near the site of the old Cole wharf. The plans and specifications now on view in the post office here are most elaborate and indicate the substantial character of the work to be undertaken. This is the first important public work in this section since Confederation and it behooves all intelligent voters to mark their ballots on the 29th instant for the Government candidate, Mr. A. A. Mulholland, which would only indicate that the electors appreciate the attention already received and hope for other similar and necessary public works in the near future in this riding."

The standpipe at the C.P.R. station was in some way knocked over last night, and for a while there was a miniature lake in front of the depot. The water ran at a great rate and the station officials had quite a time to stop it. It was thought that when a train was passing something must have projected and struck the pipe.

The Ingredients of

Zutoo

One ingredient is soda—just old-fashioned soda, that our grandmothers took to settle the stomach, and there is nothing better.

Among the other ingredients there is not one that did not come from old Mother Earth herself.

There is not one that is not approved by both the British and American Pharmacopœias,—the highest medical authorities in the world.

There is not one that your family physician, even if a personal friend, would not approve of and prescribe.

If you are using some other headache remedy, why do you not change and use Zutoo instead?

It will cure your headaches and colds just as quickly and safeguard you against the bad after effects which may some day come from using the ordinary remedies. Zutoo tablets

Are Harmless as Soda.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Patron and Patroness, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Boyd; Hon. President, H. J. Wickham; President, Herbert Mark; Vice-President, R. J. Green; Chaplain, Rev. W. G. Smith; Sec-Treas. Geo. W. Taylor. Mr. Wickham, the representative, was given instructions as to a few changes to be made at the meeting in Toronto regarding the Tankard and District cup competition. The usual enthusiasm prevailed, and a lively season is expected with the roaring game.

MRS. THOS. A. HARVEY.

Death, that great arbitrar, from whose decisions none can appeal, has again visited our town and taken one whose presence in the home could be ill spared, and whose ministering spirit helped to make life to at least one home pleasant and an inspiration says the Cobourg Sentinel Star. But the great reaper spared none, his visits which touch rudely the springs of our affections and cast gloom over, and rudely affect the circles where friendship and love reign are constant and unremitting. On Saturday morning, Mrs. Thos. A. Harvey, in the prime of womanhood, who was the centre and moving spirit in the home, was called from time to the land of eternal bliss. Her illness only extended over a period of four months, but was severe and trying. Mrs. Harvey was born in Ashburnham, now Peterborough, in 1860, and was the daughter of the late Capt. Donald Sutherland, and a niece of the late John Sutherland, of this town. In 1880 she was married to her now bereaved husband, and for the past twenty-seven years has been a resident of Cobourg. In her home she has made life brighter, and in her large circle of friends has made this social side of life purer and more enticing. She is survived by her husband, and one son Robert, and one daughter Gertrude, who have much sympathy in their sorrow and bereavement. The funeral took place on Monday to the Union cemetery, and was largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Wm. Beattie. The pall bearers were Alex. Pratt, Major Odell, J. T. Field, Wm. Henderson, W. R. Whitelaw, and A. B. Roberts.

St. Andrew's Thanksgiving Day Hot Dinner will be served from 5 to 8 p.m. First-class entertainment after. Don't miss it.

ITALIANS RETURNING HOME TO SPEND WINTER MONTHS

About ten members of Peterborough's Italian colony are returning to the land of their birth within the next few weeks. Some of them, it is understood, intend remaining in the land of sunshine, but the majority of them will return to Canada in the spring. A love for his native land is strongly implanted in the heart of the Italian, and while many of them become out and out citizens of Canada there are a number who always have one object in view, that of returning to Sunny Italy to spend their closing years.

The Italian in Canada is t hrifty individual, and many of them are able to save enough in a few years to return to Italy, buy a few acres of land and make a good living for the rest of their days by growing fruit and vegetables.

The Review learns that during the next few weeks ten or twelve Italians will return to the land where they first saw the light of day. They will spend the winter at home and those who are coming back will return in the spring. There is very little work for them in Peterborough during the winter months, so they are taking advantage of the period to see all their friends across the ocean. One man, who has saved between $700 and $800, intends buying some land in Italy and remaining there. He can buy five or six acres for $500 or $600, and by growing fruit and vegetables, can make a good living on it.

Former Peterborough Men Prominent in Kaslo, B. C.

Mr. W. F. Green, 326 Water street, has received a copy of the "Kootenian," from his cousin, Mr. R. F. Green, Kaslo, B. C., containing an account of the second annual Kootenay Lake Fruit Fair, of which the latter is honorary president. The fair was a big success, the weather conditions being perfect, during the days on which it was held. Messrs. W. J. Green and S. F. Green, two brothers of Mr. R. F. Green, who also reside in Kaslo, were among the prize winners at the fair.

The above gentlemen are well-known to many of the residents of Peterborough, one of them having been born here. Mr. R. F. Green was formerly Minister of Mines for British Columbia.

Following is the speech he made on the opening day of the fair.—"The Honorary-President, Mr. R. F. Green then made a brief speech, in which he complimented the people of Kaslo and the Kootenay upon the splendid collection of high-grade fruits shown. Although an old-time resident of Kaslo, the display was a revelation to him, and he felt sure there was nothing like it elsewhere in Canada. The Association was doing a great work for Kaslo and the Kootenay in advertising the horticultural resources of the country, and such an institution was well deserving of public support. It was evident from the magnificent quality of fruit, that horticulture was destined to become the staple industry of Kaslo and vicinity."

Mr. R. J. Stenson, son of Mr. T. J. Stenson of this city, is also one of the prominent residents of Kaslo, being Deputy Assessor and Collector of Slocan Assessment District, with offices at Kaslo.

HAS FRIEND AT ALBERT COLLEGE

Mr. G. Tsbuoi Paid Visit to Acquaintance From Japan

Mr. Y. Tsubo', who was in the city a few days in the interests of the Japan Trading Company, Montreal, left Tuesday afternoon on a business trip to Lindsay, after having received many orders from local merchants during his short stay here. Mr. Tsubo', who is visiting different towns and cities in Ontario, met an old friend of his from Japan when he was in Belleville, just before he came to Peterborough. His name is Mr. Y. O'e, and he is taking the third year of a general course at Albert College, Belleville, preparatory to entering upon commercial studies in an American or Canadian University. Mr. O'e, who is about 25 years of age, is well connected in his native land, both by birth and marriage, and his father is a prominent Japanese member of Parliament and an influential business man. The latter is at present in Korea arranging for the establishment of a large industry.

Mr. Tsubo', in making up his accounts, does not follow the usual methods of addition, but employs a counting machine, which consists of a number of wooden beads, representing different values, strung on small sticks between the sides of an oblong wooden border, which is about 7 inches wide by 12 inches long. In adding up his columes of figures he manipulates the beads with remarkable skill, and with lightning rapidity. Counting machines of this kind are used in the big banks and counting houses in Japan, as well as in the principal places of business.

BIG JUMP IN MARKET PRICES

Eggs and Butter Sold at 25 and 30 Cents To-day

Farm products, like everything else, have taken a big jump in prices, and today the vendors, at the local market, realized a high figure for all their goods. Eggs at 25c. per dozen and butter at 30 cents per pound, was what was asked this morning. In not a single case could these every day necessities be bought for a cent less. The attendance at the market today was very large and things, even at high prices, were picked up quickly.

All kinds of fowl was in exceedingly large quantities, and the price demanded for them was high. Chickens sold at from 50 cents to 80 cents per pair; ducks went at from 80c to $1.20 per pair; geese at $1 each, and turkeys sold for $1.00 and $1.50.

On the outside market potatoes sold at 90 cents per bag, pears at 30 cents per peck and apples at 70 and 80 cents a bag. There was very little game, but what there was sold at 11 and 12 cents per pound. Pork was bought for 10 and 11 cents.

SHOULD RETURN FOR HER PROPERTY

Mrs. Henry Hilcox, the Lakefield lady, who left her husband and came to this city on Thursday, and who on leaving her new boarding house here yesterday morning, got lost, may have her shawl, and other wraps, by calling at 251 George street. It was there that she spent Thursday night and left her belongings. Not being acquainted with Peterborough she spent the forenoon walking around the business section of the city. When the time came to go back to her new home, she could not find the place.

Word was left at the police station last evening that the kind friends, who had given her shelter, resided at 251 George street.

They Will Reside In Peterborough

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Henry Hopkins, of Kinmount, on Monday, by a number of friends and neighbors of Rev. and Mrs. Steward, who, after twenty-five years spent in Kinmount, are leaving for Peterborough. Mr. Geo. Train, with a few well chosen words, presented Mr. and Mrs. Steward with a purse, on behalf of the people. Mrs. Steward was also addressed by Rev. A. Cummer, and presented with a seal leather card case from the St. James' Sunday school staff, to whom she has many times given ready assistance during the past year, and since her retirement from the superintendency. BRITAIN AND YELLOW RACES

London Spectator Predicts Clash With Japanese Some Day.

The weekly reviews comment gravely upon the Japanese-American situation. They express relief that the immediate tension appears to have been relieved, but they foresee that it is not impossible, in the more or less distant future, that the same problem should confront Great Britain that now confronts the United States.

The Spectator publishes a thoughtful article in which, although it dismisses the idea that war between Japan and America is wholly incredible, it admits with reluctance that the situation contains many elements of anxiety, saying it is almost inevitable that there should come a conflict, some time or other, out of the Anglo-Saxon resistance to the landing of Japanese immigrants in the territories bordering the Pacific Ocean. The colonists of Australasia, Africa and Canada are as anxious as the people of California to exclude the yellow races.

With all respect towards Japan. The Spectator is unable to withhold its sympathy from the colonists. It says circumstances have forced the Americans to be the pioneers in working out the problems, but it is impossible to foresee how soon another series of accidents may not bring Great Britain face to face with similar difficulties.

Consequently the paper expresses the most earnest hope that the British public and press will do the utmost in their power to assist in the promotion of a peaceful and enduring solution of the American-Japanese problem, the Government by the tactful influence of an ally, and the press by the avoidance of any comment that might prove to be an embarrassing precedent in the future.

"With all sympathy and admiration for Japanese aspirations and the Japanese themselves we must admit," The Review concludes, "that Great Britain's first and last duty is to her own flesh and blood."

No Sentiment.

Edith's Papa—And so you love my daughter? Edith's Admirer—I do indeed, sir. I cannot tell you how much I love her. Do you know what it is to see a single face everywhere, to hear a single voice ever sounding in your ears, to be possessed by the one idea, to feel all the time that the one presence is before you— Edith's Papa—No, young man, I have never had any of those feelings since I signed the pledge.

SALVATION ARMY SECRET.

Mystery of General Booth's Successor Not Yet Revealed.

Certain statements published professing to reveal the name of General Booth's successor as head of the Salvation Army have given considerable offence.

The aged evangelist had stated at Blackburn that "the same electric flash that carried the news of his death would announce that a new general of the Salvation Army lived." On this was built up a theory that the individual pointed at was Mr. Bramwell Booth, eldest son of General Booth.

Commissioner Nicol characterized this story as "most indiscreet and stupid."

No one but the general himself and his legal adviser can know who is to be the successor. The document which secures the succession is in a sealed packet in the strong-room of the solicitor, and will not be opened until after the general's death.

"It is safe to say, however," said Commissioner Nicol to a pressman, "that the general has done all that the best legal minds can suggest to him to preserve the principles and conduct of the Army, and everything will proceed as heretofore.

"As to jumping at names, it is most indiscreet. Couldn't the Army have a queen as well as a king?"

As illustrating the extreme care which the general has used in drawing up the contents of the sealed packet, Commissioner Nicol volunteered that amongst those the general had consulted in regard to the principal arrangements are Mr. Haldane and Mr. Asquith.

General Booth is now in his 79th year, and Mr. Bramwell Booth, the eldest of his three sons, is fifty, and now bears the title of chief of staff.

A Pretty Story.

General Booth's own comment on the situation in the event of his death is as follows: "Many people have said to me, 'Well, general, you can't expect to live for ever, you know. You must die some time. What is going to become of the Salvation Army when you are dead?' My answer to this is simple: I would be foolish indeed if after building up a great organization I did not take the necessary steps towards it perpetuation. I would be lacking good business sense if I had not already made all preparations that best legal skill could devise. All these preparations are made.

"But I want to say I am not dead yet; on the contrary, I have a lot of fight in me still."

The latest tour of the general has called forth many dainty stories, but few with more feeling than the one told by a Salvation lassie at Southport. When applying for her first situation she was asked for a reference, but not having been in work before she was unable to produce one. Noticing her Army brooch, and seeing the general's photo suspended from it, the employer said: "Well, I will take General Booth as a reference." "So you see," added the girl, "the general got me my first place."

STRUGGLE FOR PRIZE MONEY.

"Sport of Kings" Attracts Men of Diversified Professions.

The vast multitude of race horse owners in England, from the King downwards, are eagerly engaged in a strenuous struggle for the £500,000 annually distributed as prize money on the turf. It is extremely interesting and somewhat surprising to glance at the list of winning owners and see who the lucky sportsmen were who obtained a share of this glittering heap of gold in the last contest. Headed by His Majesty the list of winning owners contained the names of four dukes and twenty-four lords, says The Tatler. The ducal owners carried off £19,719, but the lords easily beat them with an aggregate of £79,224. As showing how widely and curiously distributed was the turf gold the winning owner comprised brewers, distillers, bookmakers, professional backers of horses, a theatrical manager, an actor, an actress, stockbrokers, diamond merchants, ex-jockeys, millionaires, newspaper proprietors, trainers of racehorses, army men, a rear-admiral of the fleet, a solicitor, bankers, a boot manufacturer, farmers, a ladies' mantle merchant and a whole host of other trades and professions, all meeting on the same common level of the turf.

A special train from Burlington, Ill., was chartered to take Dr. Frank Billings to the bedside of K. B. Ryan, of Butte, Mont., a copper millionaire.

RIVAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM PROPOSED

The Havelock Standard says.—During the past week a petition was circulated around town and largely signed, asking the Havelock Electric Light and Power Co., to install a telephone system in Havelock. This action was the result of the general indifference of the Bell Telephone Co., in regard to the complaints made in reference to the useless old boxes they keep hung up in their subscribers offices, called by courtesy, telephones. On every hand you can hear bitter denunciations of the Bell people, and now the worm has turned—the Electric Light Company can easily install a first-class local exchange that will give satisfaction to its subscribers, and be less calculated to stir up a sulphurous atmosphere.

CHANGES IN REGIMENT

Change is the law of life, not only in church, but state; also in civil and military life. We are approaching a new order of things, and soon the churches will have terminable pastorates, the same as the militia places a time limit on the period of the tenure of command of an officer in charge of a regiment. Some years ago the officer at the head of a corps stayed there as long as he liked — ten, fifteen or twenty years as the case might be. There was not much encouragement for those under him. Today the period of tenure of office is five years, when the occupant is transferred to the reserve of officers. Lieut.-Col. Miller has retired from the position of commanding officer and Militia Orders announce that Major Stevenson succeeds him. Col. Miller has been identified with the 57th for forty-three years. He has held every office in the regiment except that of surgeon and paymaster. During his regime the strength of the regiment was increased from six to eight companies, and its efficiency considerably augmented. Col. Miller has received scores of congratulatory letters from military friends far and wide, on the completion of his term of service.

No truer, warmer, ardent or more devoted friend of the corps has ever been identified with it. He retires from the command, enjoying the confidence, esteem and good will of every officer, non-commissioned officer and man. He won his way to the highest post; he filled each faithfully and well. He never shirked duty; he spared not himself.

Lt.-Col. Stevenson, his successor, has been connected with the Peterborough Rangers for many years — nearly a quarter of a century. In 1895 he was advanced to the rank of a captain and in 1901 was gazetted Major. He has rendered splendid service and particularly as chairman of the Rifle Committee for many years, his work has been most zealous. He believes that militiamen should not only be well drilled, but that they should be good marksmen as well. The regiment has no rifle range, but it is confidently expected that provision will be made for one in the near future. Col. Stevenson's many friends will heartily felicitate him on his well deserved promotion and believe that his period of tenure of command will be characterized by progress and continued efficiency on the part of the body of which he is the head.

The residents of Peterborough take a pardonable pride in the citizen soldiery, who have ever reflected credit and honor on Peterborough, and believe that the 57th, under its new commanding officer, has a bright and prosperous future ahead of it—a career of greater usefulness, wider interest, more esprit du corps and patriotic spirit than ever by reason of the fact that in a year or two the handsome, well equipped, and admirably appointed new armories will be at their disposal and thus supply a long felt need. Active military work will then not be confined to the two or three months of spring and early summer drill. There will be fall and winter drills gymnasium, proper mess rooms, stores department, and other conveniences for carrying on instruction, and keeping up the 57th as a live, energetic military body, through out all the months of the year.

PROPERTY HOLDERS' INTEREST

The property holders of certain wards in the city are talking of forming an association. Such an organization if properly directed, can do good and materially advance the interests of the city.

Property holders' associations have been organized in other places and to-day flourish in Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton and other cities. They should not be carried away by motion-ology; their aim and scope are broader. They should look to the general weal and use their best efforts to see that good representative business men and successful citizens are brought into the municipal field. Property-holders' associations can safeguard the interests of the city and do much to increase the efficiency and character of the representation around the Council board. It is an encouraging sign to see ratepayers take a healthy, active concern in municipal affairs. Such a move creates public spirit and without public spirit, no place can advance. It is the motive power which drives communities ahead and, in this day, when there is keen rivalry between municipalities we need all the impelling and stimulative power possible. A ratepayers' association can foster and engender progressive sentiment and agitate for reforms thereby, accomplishing much as a body where individual effort would count for little. In the multitude there is strength, and wisdom. Nearly all that has been effected in the way of advancement has been wrought by co-operation, by unity of interests and harmonious endeavor. If a broad, generous view is taken of all municipal questions if a society is not actuated by selfishness or blinded by shortsightedness, if it can pull together, its motto being "onward and upward," a property-holders association in Peterborough would fill a long felt want. It can strengthen the hands of a competent council or help to turn out an inefficient one. It can press many excellent projects forward to a conclusion and assist in the satisfactory solution of numerous perplexing civic questions.

TO A NEW FIELD

In the departure of Mr. Geo. B. Williamson, the retiring general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., for Fort William, Peterborough loses a good citizen.

As President Harding expressed it he supposed "Mr. Williamson had his faults like other men," and he has too. Where is the official who has no defects; such a man is either useless or has about as much backbone as a jelly fish. A man's work and record are the best evidences of his worth. Mr. Williamson was secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for ten and a half years. There are only two other similar officials in Canada who have held offices continuously in one association or place for that period. Mr. Williamson could have held office much longer had he desired. His going away is entirely of his own volition. He believes like many progressive up-to-date preachers in the law of change. Too long residence in any place is apt to cause a man in the capacity of teacher, guide, adviser and friend, such as the posts of preacher or Y.M.C.A. secretary are, to die of dry rot, or to become so stereotyped in ideas and methods that there is stagnation instead of progression.

"It is necessary for the benefit and success of an Association and for the development of the man himself that Y.M.C.A. secretaries should make changes now and then. The very nature of the world requires it," so spoke Mr. Williamson at a recent gathering. Here is the whole matter in a nutshell, the solution of an oft perplexing problem. All men and all institutions must advance; if not they fall behind rapidly. Mr. Williamson is going to a bright, smart active centre—Fort William—where a new Y.M.C.A. association is being formed. He is its first secretary. There is work—a great work for him to do, and his friends are confident that he will build up an association and strengthen the moral uplift of a town in just the way that such an institution as the Y.M.C.A. should. He carries with him the heartiest well wishes of many co-laborers for the success and advancement of the work. He has long been a good citizen and a staunch supporter of the best interest of the community.

PEN POINTS

Bread, milk and coal are going up, while the amusement has gone up.

Anthony Hope's best romance, "The Prisoner of Zenda," begins in to-day's Review. Read every word of it.

Read the new serial story, "The Prisoner of Zenda," the opening chapters of which appear in today's issue.

A farmer near Bracebridge mistook his son for a wild cat, and shot him. The average man with a gun is too fond of killing, the deadly implement often making a fool of him.

Bread and milk is popularly supposed to be a cheap diet but, with the advancing price of both ingredients, it will now have to be counted as a luxury.

Things always go by contraries. When horses, and cows are cheap, hay is dear and when hay is low in price, the quotations for live stock are away up.

An increase of $150,000 for missionary support will be asked by the Methodist board of missions in appeal to the church. To all the congregations this means an advance of 40 per cent. And all this in the face of stringent times!

Evangelist Dr. Torrey strikes straight from the shoulder. Here is one of his latest utterances.—"The meanest being in the world is the man who steps in between husband and wife and destroys peace and happiness. But the meanest, most despicable, vilest, contemptible and most beastly thing is the woman who steps in between man and wife. She is less than the commonest and the worst thief.

There may be something in the following, from the Ottawa Journal; "And if someone would tell us exactly why it is that we have to pay high prices for coal we should be just that much better off. Meantime it begins to look as if all these hard times talks we have been hearing lately has induced dealers in all kinds of necessaries to stick up the prices just as high as they can without killing custom altogether. The people assume they are bound to be stuck anyway, and pay any price asked."

Many reasons have been advanced for the Conservative victory in Brockville, but while there may have been many factors to bring about Mr Donovan's election, the real bona fide reason was probably this; The election was clean and honest; there were no fraudulent ballots, or numbered ballots, or ballot-stuffers. The votes of the electors were counted as they wanted them to be, and the Conservative candidate won. In the face of the large Conservative majority—325—who can say that any election won by Brockville Grits in recent years was won honestly. O'Reilly and Lott called on Geo. P. Graham one Sunday afternoon; fraudulent ballots helped to steal the Comstock-White bye-election. Verily, the trail of the serpent was over Brockville till Mr Whitney scotched the snake and brought honest methods into force. May they long continue.

The Grand Jury at Peterborough recently brought in the following clause in its presentment to the Judge; "Your Grand Jury, after discussing thoroughly the increasing prevalence of juvenile crime, as shown by the police court records, and looking to the best interests of both children and parents, and the future well-being of these children and the community, we would recommend very strongly that authority be given to police magistrates to have corporal punishment by flogging administered at their discretion as a preventive of petty crime by children under 18 years of age." The suggestion may be seasonable, but it would have been both seasonable and reasonable if the floggings were delegated to the parents or guardians of the offending youngsters. We believe the latter course would prove the most effective in preventing juvenile crime. The trouble is very, very often — though, perhaps, not exactly always — due to the neglect and indifference and incompetence of parents. — Lindsay Watchman-Warder.

WEDDING BELLS

CARVETH—SMITH

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. John Murphy, Smith, when his daughter, Lila, was united in the bonds of matrimony, to Mr. Archie Carveth of Hall's Glen. Their spacious home was beautifully decorated for the occasion, and so well filled with friends summoned to witness the interesting event. Shortly after 6.30, the strains of Wyman's wedding bells march, played by Mrs. Alex. Darling sounded through the house and the officiating clergyman, Rev. Mr. Nickle, Warsaw, took his place at the end of the drawing room, reserved for the bridal party. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked extremely well in her elegant costume of embroidered chiffon, with ivory duchess satin, trimmed with silver sequins, chiffon lace and satin ribbon. She wore a veil, and wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of carnations and asters. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Gertie Baker of Adolphustown, and Miss Violet Carveth, sister of the groom. Messrs. Walter Carveth and Steward Murphy acted as groomsmen. Miss Baker was beautifully attired in pale blue organdie, and Miss Carveth wore a very pretty dress of white net over pink. Both bridesmaids carried bouquets of carnations and asters. Little Miss Verna Thompson, the flower girl, wore a pretty dress of pink cashmere. Two of the ribbon girls, Misses M. Murphy and S. Lennow wore white dresses, while the other two, Misses P. Darling and Alma Little wore costumes of pale blue. At the conclusion of the ceremony a flashlight picture was taken of the bridal party, after which a dainty dejeuner was served, which would tempt the appetite of the most fastidious. Mr. and Mrs. Carveth were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, which testified to the high esteem in which they are held. The will reside at Hall's Glen, and have the best wishes and respect of a host of friends.

CURTIS—TALLING

A very quiet wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Talling, Fenella, on Wednesday, Oct. 2nd, when Miss Elizabeth Talling, niece of Rev. Improvements To Banks' Store

Floor Space Increased—Motor Will be Installed

Extensive improvements and modifications are being made to Banks' Sporting Goods store, the work having been carried on since Tuesday last, and as a result the floor space for the repairing and storing department has been greatly increased, and that at the sales department as well. The partition that formerly separated the sales and repair department downstairs has been moved back 15 feet and an upstairs repair shop and store room has been built. A two horse power motor will be installed upstairs and will operate a grinder of skates, knives, scissors, etc., in the room below. A new arc light will be placed in the front of the store, as the illumination provided by the present lighting equipment is not sufficient. When the changes have all been made, the premises will present a much improved appearance, and the work will be greatly facilitated in both the sales and repair departments.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 62, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are, it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

The Beauties of Old Ireland Pictured by Peterborough Man

Mr. James E. Harris, formerly of Peterborough, who is now sojourning in Ireland, has written an interesting letter to Mr. R. J. Kidd, of this city. Mr. Harris says:

We have had a most enjoyable trip, but I will be glad to be back in God's country again. Europe is all right for sight-seeing but I wouldn't care to live over there all the time. The people are different and the customs are different from what we are used to in Canada, and as I'm not built like some of the "geezers," who have been settled for life in Europe, this country is good enough for me.

We left New York on July 11, and landed in Queenstown, after a voyage of eight days. When I bought bought my ticket I told the man I wanted to go on a slow boat. Something went wrong with the tide just after the ship got squared around and we lay off Jersey shore for twelve hours. During that time I had a good chance to size up the statue of liberty that rises out of the sea. I was saying to a friend this morning, that we saw a whole lot of that kind of stuff on the other side, but nothing in Europe looked as good to me as the little lady who stands there in the harbor holding a torch in her mitt.

ALL OF IRELAND SEEN.

The trip, you know, was made for the purpose of seeing Ireland in an automobile. All I can say is that we saw the Emerald Isle, and saw it good and plenty.

On landing in Queenstown, we went by jaunting car to Cork, where we stayed the first night. The next day we visited the lakes of Killarney then went by train to Dublin. In all my travels over Europe there was no spot in the road that made the hit with me as did Killarney. I don't say this to stand in with the Kerry people who live in Peterborough, but because I really am in love with the place.

The vale of Avoca is a fine bit of scenery and the Giant's Causeway is a sight never to be forgotten, but the Lakes of Killarney have got everything 'hooked off the board.'

I drove an automobile into every nook and corner of the island, and I promise you that nothing was sidestepped. In some of the smaller towns, away up in the north of County Antrim, I was told that our auto was the first one ever seen there.

On the road from Killagan to Dunloy we passed a man driving a cart that was filled with vegetables for the Ballymore market. "Blood and ounz, Jerry, shouted the farley to the donkey, here comes a thonamonbeel, an' th' divil himself is pushin' it.

Our tour of Ireland was divided into three excursions. Dublin was the headquarters and from there we "ducked" out into the different counties. After a couple of days at the Dublin exposition we went up into the province of Ulster. It was there we saw the Giant's Causeway, one of the grandest sights in Ireland.

CASTLES AS "EMPTIES."

Our next trip through the centre and southeast of Ireland. The Wicklow Mountains and the Vale of Avoca, were the principal points of interest we saw on this tour with a bunch of round towers thrown in. I tried to warm up to the ruins of these old castles, but it was no go. That kind of stuff looks like a case of empties to me.

On the third and last trip from Dublin, we visited the west and southwestern part of the country, and I wish I could have brought it back with me. Man dear, but the people of Cork and Limerick, and Tipperary and Kilkenny know how to make it pleasant for a stranger.

It wasn't a case of looking for a tip either. A sixpence to a shanvoschocht (that Irish for servant) looks as big as Mayor McWilliams' button-hole bouquet which he usually wears. If you'd hand anything less than a franc to one of those "garsons" waiters in France, he'd have you pinched.

The last place we visited in Ireland was the town of Youghal, a few miles from Queenstown. I went there to see a relative of Jim Dolan's, who lives here. He had been in poor health for some time he said, but he was feeling well again. Nothing would do but we had to stay for dinner with him. I never ate such corned beef and cabbage in all my life. The Youghoola (reception) he gave our party was grand. Before we left he had made us have a 'dhue and dhuris' (drink at the door).

It was our good fortune to be at Drogheda on the last Sunday in July, which they call Garlick Sunday. New potatoes are due on that day, and as the country around Drogheda produces the finest potatoes in the world, the opening of the season is a big event. Our party had a feed of new potatoes and buttermilk. If a man could ship potatoes and buttermilk from Drogheda to Peterborough, and had a restaurant he would put those chop suey dumps out of business. From Ireland we went to London for a week and then to Paris for ten days. I didn't see anything in either city, that we can't show them in Toronto or Montreal, except a lot of old junk.

In summing up his impressions of Ireland, Mr. Harris says; "Limerick has the prettiest girls in the world, Kerry the most beautiful scenery, Tipperary the finest butter, Antrim the best whiskey, and Louth the smallest potatoes."

Man Who Swindled Many Banks Has Pleaded Guilty

Orangeville, Oct. 11.—William Hanlen, who was arrested at Stanberg, Ont., last Saturday morning, and brought here for trial on charges of obtaining money by forgery and false pretences, pleaded guilty before Magistrate Patullo this afternoon here.

Hanlon was identified by Managers J. M. Duff, of the Bank of Commerce, and C. L. Nelles, of the Metropolitan Bank of Guelph, as the man who fleeced six Guelph Banks out of $1,400 some six months ago by obtaining the money under false pretences and forging cheques.

The two managers of the Guelph banks came here to identify Hanlon in response to a description furnished by Chief Randall, of Guelph, by County Crown Attorney McKay. They visited the prisoner's cell and both were positive that he was the man who victimized the Guelph banks.

Hanlon operated in Guelph under the name of John Gillen, a wealthy farmer, residing about three miles out of Guelph.

The following shows when and for how much he got in to the different financial institutions;

Feb. 28, Metropolitan Bank, $200.
Feb. 28, Royal Bank, $320.
March 19, Traders' Bank, $200.
March 19, Bank of Commerce, $200
April 5, Dominion Bank, $250.

On the 26th of September last Hanlon went to the Sterling Bank at Orangeville and discounted a note for $100 endorsed by Peter Garrity, a prosperous farmer of Caledon Township, and on October 3rd, did the same thing at the Bank of Commerce, but for double the amount.

High Constable Hughes, Manager Complin and Teller Smith were the only ones who gave evidence at the trial.

Hanlon's counsel asked the court to sentence the accused immediately, but the Crown Attorney asked that the passing of sentence be deferred till Saturday, October, 19th, to allow the accused's record to be looked up and the Crown's motion was granted.

AMERICAN HOTEL CHANGES HANDS

Flynn, who is retiring with the good opinion of both the commissioners and his customers. Mr. Jos. Stewart, license inspector, who has been completing arrangements in connection with the transfer, having been empowered to do so by the license commissioners at their last meeting, notified Mr. Long that he would be permitted to assume the proprietorship today.

AN INTERESTING NUMBER

Hunting and Hunting Topics just now fill a considerable share of the waking thoughts of sportsmen throughout Canada. They are full of what they have done, what they hope to do, and arrangements of all kinds which shall ensure them success in this year's hunt. Nothing can help them more to a frame of mind suitable for backwoods' expeditions than a perusal of the pages of the fine fall Hunting Number sent out as the October issue of Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont. Here is nearly all kinds of hunting—moose hunting with camera, goat and deer hunting with a gun and the same deadly weapon is brought to bear on wolves, bears, caribou and deer, all to the enjoyment of the hunters, whose varied experiences must be a source of the deepest pleasure, as well as profit, to their fellows. Very opportune, indeed, are the articles on the High Power Rifle and Fatalities in the Woods, and the account of how one very successful hunter has made a success of his hunting should give hints even to experienced men. Backwoods etiquette is amusingly portrayed in an account of a law suit in camp, while Observations from a Car Window are but samples of the many good things to be found in the current issue of this magazine. Every hunter should include it in his package of good things to be taken on his trip and none will regret the small effort in view of the very large fund of enjoyment to be obtained from its pages. Every story smacks of the actual, and the whole combination is so good as to explain the reason why the magazine has gained and retains its position in the front rank of sporting publications.

ROYAL HOME LIFE.

Spectators Witness Pretty Scene at Buckingham Palace.

Several charming glimpses of the Royal home life were vouchsafed to a large crowd which gathered at Buckingham Palace the other day to witness the departure of the King and Queen for Hampstead.

At an upper window over the main entrance of the Palace the Queen could be observed surrounded by the children of the Prince and Princess of Wales. Her Majesty was fondling and kissing the children, who appeared eager to return her caresses, even at the risk of disarranging the pretty toque, with its long blue feather, which Her Majesty had donned for the occasion.

Unattended even by a nurse, the elder children shortly afterwards left in a brougham for Marlborough House, while the baby, in a very homely-looking perambulator, was taken for an airing in the grounds of the palace.

A little before this Prince George of Wales, a sturdy little fellow, clad in a sailor suit, made his appearance at the top of the steps at the side entrance.

Apparently in some clandestine manner he had procured a broom considerably bigger than himself. With this he commenced to sweep the carpet laid at the entrance steps, evidently with a view to preserving for the departure of his grandparents.

In reply to the remonstrances of his attendant the little prince put aside his broom for a few minutes, but, again, to the amusement of the spectators, he soon reappeared with it, and commenced sweeping away more diligently than ever.

Brave Irish Lady.

Seven children caught by the tide while bathing at low water from the shore of Sligo Bay were saved by the courage and presence of mind of Mrs. McNally. The lady, who is a native of Sligo, saw the little ones standing on a small island a quarter of a mile away. This is submerged at high water, and, as the tide had cut off their escape, their danger was extreme.

Although unable to swim, Mrs. McNally dashed to the rescue. The strength of the incoming tide more than once threatened to overcome her, and her foothold was the more uncertain owing to the slimy mud. She reached the island, and took the two smallest children in her arms, but then the water was too deep to allow of her return by the way she came.

Fortunately, she recalled how it was possible to walk back by a circuitous route on a mud bank. With the two babes in her arms and the others clinging frantically to her gown, she had a long and dangerous struggle to land. But reach the shore she did, although in a terribly exhausted condition.

The nickel theatre at Chatham was damaged to the extent of $1,000 on Wednesday.

Willie Taylor Again Injured; Third Mishap in Two Years

Misfortune seems to have a special liking for Willie Taylor, eldest son of Mr. Phillip Taylor, 11 Alfred street. Yesterday afternoon, during recess hour, at the King Edward school, while racing some other boys on his cart, it ran off the sidewalk, throwing young Taylor to the ground and breaking his right limb near the thigh. The young fellow has been extremely unfortunate. About two years ago he had both legs taken off by a C. P. R. train running over him. Last spring the cart on which he rides ran on the sidewalk and its occupant had both stumps broken. Young Taylor was making his cart move rapidly yesterday in order to keep up with his other school mates who were running on foot. The cart suddenly upset and Taylor suffered the above injury.

Comstock's ambulance was called and was soon on the scene. The injured boy was removed to his home on Alfred street, where medical aid was summoned and the broken limb was set. Today, he is resting easily.

Milk Goes Up in Price; Will Be Seven Cents Monday

Peterborough people will have to pay seven cents per quart for their milk on Monday. This is the cheerful announcement that the Review has to make today as a result of a meeting of the milk vendors held last night. It was decided to advance the price to seven cents, the new schedule to come into effect on Monday.

It has been expected for some time that the price of the lacteal fluid would advance here, as it has been going up in other towns and cities. In Montreal the price is ten cents; and in Brantford, Hamilton, St. Catharines, Galt, Havelock and other places seven cents.

The milk men were compelled to advance the price, or else lose money. Feed is exceptionally high, higher in fact than for years, while labor is "almost as high as the moon," as one milk man expressed it this morning.

The primary cause, however, of the higher price is the fact that the farmers are charging the dealers more for milk than they were a few weeks ago. Many of the dealers have to buy milk from farmers to supply their customers, and, of course, when milk costs the dealers more from this quarter, they simply have to get more money from their customers for it. All the dealers are raising the price.

Lindsay enthusiasts are trying hard to revive rugby in that town. Here's that they may succeed. The Post says:—Devotees of this good old sport will be more than pleased to know that an effort is being made to revive rugby in Lindsay. A few followers of the game have got together and ordered a ball, and a practice will take place at the agricultural grounds tomorrow afternoon at 4.30. The following players are requested to be out:—Greene, Koyl, Sylvester, Killen, Elliott, Seymour, Conwy, Ryan, Gray, Butler, Warner, McDonald, and all others who intend playing. The game should "catch on" in town.

This morning on Stratton's green, the Anchors defeated the West Ends in a Juvenile game by 10—8. Stratton shone for the winners, and Murty was the West Ends' most effective man.

Twenty Six Chinamen Are Located in Peterborough

Charlie Wong, a Water Street Laundryman, Gives Interesting Information Concerning Local Chinese Population—Daily Chinese Newspaper Comes Here Regularly—Chinamen in This City Well Behaved and Industrious.

Charlie Wong, a Water street Chinese laundryman, is responsible for the statement that there are 26 Chinamen in Peterborough at the present time. The Chinese population of the city has increased more, he said, during the last year than in many years previously, by the addition of twelve of the Mongolians.

Of the 26 Chinamen in Peterborough 17 have cues and 9 have given up the pigtails that are regarded as an essential part of a Chinaman's good character in the Celestial Kingdom.

One Chinaman in the city, Hop Sing Chaclotte street, subscribes to a Chinese newspaper, "The Star," published at 719 Webster street, Oakland, California. The subscription price is $7 a year. After he reads it, it passes into the hands of several of his Oriental brothers who, needless to remark, thoroughly peruse its columns, as the intelligence they contain is of particular interest to them.

Mr. Wong talks very interestingly on the subject of the industrial position and prospects of Chinamen in Canada and says that Peterborough is a good town. Before coming here he was identified with the laundry business in Newmarket, Ont.

The last Chinamen to arrive in the city came here last Monday from Toronto and has entered into the employ of one of the local laundries.

The material increase in the population of Peterborough's widely scattered "Chinatown" is due to a great extent by the establishment of the Dominion and Canadian Cafes in the city and six are employed in the former and four in the latter. Of course the Chinese population is to quite an extent transient and many who come here do not stay permanently, but go to other towns or cities in Canada and the States. There are a number of others besides the 12 referred to who have come to Peterborough in the course of the past year, but several of them only remained here for short or comparatively short periods.

As far as their citizenship is concerned the Peterborough colony of Chinese are all law abiding and industrious and constitute an example to many of those who criticize them, some of whom are more or less familiar with the business interior of the police court.

Thousands of Post Cards are Sold in Peterborough Each Year

One of the Greatest Fads of the Time Has Been Called "Postcarditis"—How the Industry Has Grown.

One of the greatest fads of the time might be called "Postcarditis"—the modern post card fad.

Thirty years ago the industry was confined principally to Germany. Of late years every civilized country is freely advertised by the picture post card method. In Canada there is scarcely a hamlet that has not one or more local views on sale. The advent of the camera as an amateur pastime, and the facilities with which portraits thus taken may be transferred to a sensitized post card, has influenced the increase. Many of the best of such views have been transferred to the printing process, which might otherwise never have reached more than local reputation. The system of printing, known as the tri-color process, has cheapened the method of production and in a large measure superseded lithography. The fad has somewhat displaced the historic valentine, Christmas and New Year's card. The variety of them is legion. One store in Toronto advertises over a million different designs and views. The prices vary from the comic kind, which sell at three for 5c, and a cent apiece, or the local views which retail at two for a nickle, up to 25c. One local dealer told a Review reporter he is about to order a Christmas consignment which will sell at $1 each.

In Peterborough there are some sixteen stores retailing these souvenirs. It is conservatively estimated that over 500,000 are sold in the city annually. Several of the larger dealers report a sale of 100,000 to 175,000 during last year. There are something over twenty-five views of Peterborough to be had in local stores, and as many more of Stony Lake. In addition to the above, local dealers in photographic supplies sell something like 1,200 or 1,500 cards, used by amateurs for reproducing their view-taking.

MILLIONS SOLD

In Canada over twenty-five million post cards were circulated in the past year and each year the sales have been doubled, and promise to more than double this year. Up to ten years ago the postal laws of England and Canada would not permit of their use in these countries. Six years ago they were first introduced in Canada. About 90 per cent. of the cards sold in Canada are imported goods, which call for a duty of 25 to 30 per cent. Owing to this great importation the employment in Canada in this connection is, in the sale alone, nearly seven hundred and fifty persons being employed in all. Canada is behind Germany and England as far as superior quality of cards is concerned, but she is one year ahead of the United States.

There are fifteen wholesalers in and throughout Canada. It is necessary to send a representative to Germany and other post card centres at intervals of about four months, during the year, to re-stock and introduce a new line of goods to the people of Canada.

The sales of one postcard dealer in Toronto during the exhibition averaged fifteen thousand cards per day.

The post cards might be classified as follows; Local and foreign views, Easter, Christmas, Valentine, New Year's, fancy, embossed, comic and many others too numerous to mention.

In order to make a first-class postcard it is necessary to have a photograph at least as large as the postcard. The larger the better for the detail of the view. The prices of picture post cards have a wide range. The cheapest can be obtained for $3.50 per thousand, and they range from that price to $50 per thousand. The stock used in the different cards are leather, cardboard, plush and silk.

One of the main advantages of the picture postcards is the broadening of ideas by coming in constant contact with them.

In fact the industry has come to about where anyone can get a card to express mostly any thought that he might wish to express by mail.

Walking Craze Is Spreading

Three New Men Are Now in Training

The walking craze seems to be spreading and three new men are preparing for the walk from Port Hope to Toronto and return, says the Port Hope Guide. D. Hartley, of Peterborough, is anxious to make the trial, and Ira W. Belknap, of Prince Albert, has arranged to make the trip on October 21st, starting from Port Hope at 1 a.m. on Monday and returning on Tuesday at 3 p.m. Last week he walked from Port Hope to Prince Albert, forty-six miles, in eleven hours and forty minutes, stopping in Bowmanville twenty minutes for refreshments. He feels quite confident that he can do it.

D. Langford, of Renfrew, says he will make a new record on October 22 over the same route, starting either from Toronto or Port Hope. He says he has walked sixty miles in twelve hours. He at one time resided in Oshawa.

Jimmy Reynolds, of this town, is not done yet by any means, and his latest offer is to walk an even match to Toronto and back with Hartley and push a cart before him. He also bets $300 to $500 that he can walk to Toronto and return in 35 hours.

Cannon Welch Scores Drink

Rev. Canon Welch, who is well-known in Peterborough, having preached here on several occasions, the last time only a few days ago at St. John's church harvest festival, sounded a solemn warning against the evils of intemperance on Sunday when he preached to the Toronto garrison, and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts.

A despatch from Toronto has the following regarding the sermon:

A solemn and impressive warning against the evils of intemperance was sounded by Rev. Canon Welch in a sermon which he preached to the troops of the local garrison and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts at a service held in Massey Hall yesterday. Canon Welch quoted figures from the Chief Constable's report showing that the arrests for drunkenness in Toronto, had more than doubled within the past six years, and described the growth of intemperance as an alarming feature of Canadian life. He commented upon the grave amount of excessive drinking among women, and remarked that it was not an unknown thing for members of Toronto society to drink themselves at dances and entertainments into a state in which they are unfit for this company of respectable woman. That, he maintained, could be stopped by women of society, if they chose.

Gave Birth to Quadruplets

The Red Deer, Alberta, News says. — There is little chance of Edmonton suffering from race suicide, if the pace recently set is followed. On Monday there was born to Dr. and Mrs. Robertson of this city, quadruplets, two boys and two girls. Up to this present time, all are reported to be well and healthy. This is an exceedingly rare occurrence according to medical reports, and particularly to have the children paired two of each sex. For cases of quadruplets, a double king's bounty is offered. Dr. and Mrs. Robertson have had nine children born to them, including two pairs of twins, a single and now quadruplets.

The Governor-General and his family have returned to Ottawa.

Attractive New Music Hall is Credit to its Energetic Promoter

Edifice is Splendidly Fitted Up and Will be Formally Opened in a Few Weeks—Appointments Are Most Complete—The Need of Such an Edifice Has Long Been Felt.

For many years past, the music loving public of Peterborough have been agitating for a suitable music hall, where high class concerts could be given.

While the Grand Opera House was available, yet the numbers who usually attend recitals are not large enough to fill the theatre, and the expense was heavy, a loss being incurred if a large gathering was not present. It was felt that a medium-sized hall was urgently needed in the city. Many recitals and other musical events, that are annually given, further show how necessary it was to have a building where such productions could be held.

It is pleasing and satisfactory to those who have waited long for such a hall, to look upon the fine and spacious one, just completed, on Rubidge street, adjoining the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. This local musical institution is to be heartily congratulated on its enterprise and progressiveness, and the new edifice is one that Peterborough certainly should feel proud of.

It is a credit to its promoter, Mr R. Gliddon, the energetic director of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, to the city, and to those in any way, directly or indirectly, concerned in its erection.

The new Conservatory Hall will be ready for opening, in the course of a couple of weeks. In a few days the names of the noted artists who will take part, and the date of the first concert, will be announced.

The main auditorium has a seating capacity of six hundred. It is connected with the Conservatory from the side, and the main entrance is on Rubidge street. Over the front door is an artistic glass panel on which is beautifully painted, the likeness of Beethoven, whose grand and soul inspiring compositions will often be played within the walls of the edifice. This picture is visible from the interior, as well as from the exterior. It is the work of McCausland and Son, Toronto.

The stage is an ideal one for amateur theatricals, and is splendidly fitted up. It is 36 by 20 feet. To the rear of it are three neat dressing rooms. The electrical accessories are the very latest. There will be about one hundred lights on the stage.

The floor is the very best hardwood and the walls, when finished, will be beautifully decorated.

Mr. Jas. Montgomery, of this city, had the contract for the work. The new music hall is substantially built having a fourteen-inch brick wall.

The building is heated with a Kelsey warm air generator, installed by Mr. A. E. Micks. Everything about the edifice is neat, artistic and inviting. The acoustic properties are all that could be desired, and the music hall will doubtless become a popular rendezvous for all those who take an interest in the musical development and culture of the city.

The public is assured of some excellent concerts this winter and lovers of high class recitals, will appreciate the efforts of Mr. Gliddon, who was instrumental in having the hall built to afford the citizens the very best that can possibly be given under conditions of the most favorable and attractive character.

Lindsay Takes To Roller Hockey

Although the Lindsay roller rink has been opened only a few days, roller hockey has already come into evidence. When the Lindsay players have learned the game it would not be a bad idea to have games betwen teams from Peterborough and Lindsay. The matches would draw good crowds here. The Post says:—

Already the "charm of the roller" has "caught on" here, and now the boys want to play hockey on the "wheels." The Grovers, under the same old management, who were so successful on ice last winter, have taken to rollers like "ducks to water," and challenge any other amateur team in town to a game.....Accepted with pleasure by the Typos. PRESENTATION TO MR. WILLIAMSON

Retiring Secretary Honored by Board of Directors

The Board of Directors of the Y. M.C.A. last night presented Mr Geo. H. Williamson, the retiring secretary, with a beautiful pair of field glasses, accompanied by a suitable address. The members of the Board gathered at the Association building at eight o'clock, and a few minutes afterwards Mr. Williamson was called into the parlor, where the presentation took place. The field glasses were an exceptionally fine pair. They were encased in a handsome leather case, with the recipient's name printed on it in gold letters and his initials were also stamped similarly upon the mounting of the glasses.

The address was read by Mr. R. E. Harding, president of the Association and Mr. J. J. Howden made the presentation.

The address was as follows;

Mr. G. H. Williamson,

Secretary Peterborough Y.M.C.A.

Dear Friend, —

We, the Board of Directors, have called on you this evening to express to you our kindest feelings as one who has always been on the side of right and ever ready to work for the uplifting of your fellows. In many cases, we believe, you have been divinely directed, and have been a blessing to many. Your fellowship with the Board of Directors, has always been of the kindest nature and we feel that we shall miss your advice and encouragement and hope that what may appear to be a loss to us, will be a gain to the men with whom you are to be connected.

We would wish that the Master's best blessings may rest on you and your work, and we bid you God-speed and ask that He may be with you until we meet again.

We would ask you to accept this small token of esteem and hope that it will remind you of our pleasant days and years together.

Signed on behalf of the Board;

R. E. HARDING,
President.

Mr. Williamson made a suitable reply, thanking the members of the Board heartily for the beautiful gift and the good wishes expressed.

Explanation of Babcock Test

Mr. T. H. Binnie Writes Interestingly on the Subject

To the Editor of the Review;

Sir,—There are many who should be acquainted with, and throughly understand the Babcock Test, who do not, and for this reason I would like to make a few explanations. The test was worked out by Dr. S. M. Babcock, of the Wisconsin Experiment Station, and rightfully bears his name. Knowing that, with the exception of butter fat, the constituents of milk are almost constant, his aim was to find a quick, easy, accurate test for this constituent. Sulphuric acid, when mixed with milk in proper proportions, will char, or burn the caseous material and set the fat free. The next problem was how to get the fat together so as to measured or weighed. To accomplish this he constructed a bottle with a long, narrow neck. By whirling the bottles in a centrifugal machine the fat is separated from the heavier portions of the milk, and by means of hot water, floated into the neck of the bottle. Here its volume may easily be ascertained. Knowing that one volume of pure butter fat weighs nine-tenths as much as an equal volume of water, the weight of the fat measured may easily be obtained. Now that we have the weight of the milk taken, and the weight of the butter fat obtained from that amount of milk, the percentage of pure butter fat which the milk contains may easily be computed.

To make a test eighteen grains of milk are measured into a test bottle. To this is added approximately the same amount of sulphuric acid. After mixing the bottles are whirled in the centrifuge for five minutes. Next the fat is floated into the neck of the bottle with hot water and the bottles whirled for one minute longer. The percentage of fat is then read off from the scale on the neck of the bottle, which is graduated so that this may be done. The test—for example 3.2 per cent—means that every hundred pounds of the milk tested contains three and two-tenths pounds of butter fat. Knowing that one pound of butter fat approximately equals one and one-sixth pounds of butter, we may easily calculate the yield of butter when the weight and the test of the milk are known.

Climb in the barrel, one by one.
They think they'll have their master guessing
When he comes back and finds them missing.

Great Scott! what's making that hubbub?
The splutters, splurges, "wows" and "woóps"
Are fairly bursting the barrel's hoops.

5. Over the barrel goes with a smash,
And out of its mouth six Teddies dash!
Norah's having a caniption fit,
And Johnny certainly looks scared a bit.

CHAPTER I.

"I WONDER when in the world you're going to do anything, Rudolf?" said my brother's wife.

"My dear Rose," I answered, laying down my egg spoon, "why in the world should I do anything? My position is a comfortable one. I have an income nearly sufficient for my wants (no one's income is ever quite sufficient, you know). I enjoy an enviable social position: I am brother to Lord Burlesdon and brother-in-law to that most charming lady, his countess. Behold, it is enough!"

"You are nine and twenty," she observed, "and you've done nothing but"—

"Knock about? It is true. Our family doesn't need to do things."

This remark of mine rather annoyed Rose, for everybody knows—and therefore there can be no harm in referring to the fact—that, pretty and accomplished as she herself is, her family is hardly of the same standing as the Rassendylls. Besides her attractions, she possessed a large fortune, and my brother Robert was wise enough not to mind about her ancestry. Ancestry is, in fact, a matter concerning which the next observation of Rose's has some truth.

"Good families are generally worse than any others," she said.

Upon this I stroked my hair. I knew quite well what she meant.

"I'm so glad Robert's is black!" she cried.

At this moment Robert, who rises at 7 and works before breakfast, came in. He glanced at his wife. Her cheek was slightly flushed; he patted it caressingly.

"What's the matter, my dear?" he asked.

"She objects to my doing nothing and having red hair," said I in an injured tone.

"Oh, of course he can't help his hair!" admitted Rose.

"It generally crops out once in a generation," said my brother. "So does the nose. Rudolf has got them both."

"I wish they didn't crop out," said Rose, still flushed.

"I rather like them myself," said I, and, rising, I bowed to the portrait of Countess Amelia.

My brother's wife uttered an exclamation of impatience.

"I wish you'd take that picture away, Robert," said she.

"My dear!" he cried.

"Good heavens!" I added.

"Then it might be forgotten," she continued.

"Hardly, with Rudolf about," said Robert, shaking his head.

"Why should it be forgotten?" I asked.

"Rudolf!" exclaimed my brother's wife, blushing very prettily.

I laughed and went on with my egg. At least I had shelved the question of what, if anything, I ought to do. And by way of closing the discussion—and also, I must admit, of exasperating my strict little sister-in-law a trifle more—I observed:

"I rather like being an Elphberg myself."

When I read a story, I skip the explanations, yet the moment I begin to write one I find that I must have an explanation. For it is manifest that I must explain why my sister-in-law was vexed with my nose and hair and why I ventured to call myself an Elphberg. For, eminent as, I must protest, the Rassendylls have been for many generations, yet participation in their blood, of course, does not at first sight justify the boast of a connection with the grander stock of the Elphbergs or a claim to be one of that royal house. For what relationship is there between Ruritania and Burlesdon, between the palace at Strelsau or the castle of Zenda and 305 Park lane, W.?

Well, then—and I must premise that I am going perforce to rake up the very scandal which my dear Lady Burlesdon wishes forgotten—in the year 1733 George II., sitting then on the throne, peace reigning for the moment and the king and the Prince of Wales being not yet at loggerheads, there came on a visit to the English court a certain prince, who was afterward known to history as Rudolf III. of Ruritania. The prince was a tall, handsome young fellow, marked (maybe marred; it is not for me to say) by a somewhat unusually long, sharp and straight nose and a mass of dark red hair—in fact, the nose and the hair which have stamped the Elphbergs time out of mind. He stayed some months in England, where he was most courteously received; yet in the end he left rather under a cloud, for he fought a duel (it was considered highly well bred of him to waive all question of his rank) with a nobleman well known in the society of the day not only for his own merits, but as the husband of a very beautiful wife. In that duel Prince Rudolf received a severe wound and, recovering therefrom, was adroitly smuggled off by the Ruritanian ambassador, who had found him a pretty handful. The nobleman was not wounded in the duel; but, the morning being raw and damp on the occasion of the meeting, he contracted a severe chill, and, failing to throw it off, he died some six months after the departure of Prince Rudolf, without having found leisure to adjust his relations with his wife, who after another two months bore an heir to the title and estates of the family of Burlesdon. This lady was the Countess Amelia, whose picture my sister-in-law wished to remove from the drawing room in Park lane, and her husband was James, fifth earl of Burlesdon and twenty-second Baron Rassendyll, both in the peerages of England, and a Knight of the Garter. As for Rudolf, he went back to Ruritania, married a wife and ascended the throne, whereon his progeny in the direct line have sat from then till this very hour—with one short interval. And, finally, if you walk through the picture galleries at Burlesdon, among the fifty portraits or so of the last century and a half you will find five or six, including that of the sixth earl, distinguished by long, sharp, straight noses and a quantity of dark red hair; these five or six have also blue eyes, whereas among the Rassendylls dark eyes are the commoner.

That is the explanation, and I am glad to have finished it. The blemishes on honorable lineage are a delicate subject, and certainly this heredity we hear so much about is the finest scandalmonger in the world; it laughs at discretion and writes strange entries between the lines of the "peerages."

It will be observed that my sister-in-law, with a want of logic that must have been peculiar to herself (since we are no longer allowed to lay it to the charge of her sex), treated my complexion almost as an offense for which I was responsible, hastening to assume from that external sign inward qualities of which I protest my entire innocence, and this unjust inference she sought to buttress by pointing to the uselessness of the life I had led. Well, be that as it may, I had picked up a good deal of pleasure and a good deal of knowledge. I had been to a German school and a German university and spoke German as readily and perfectly as English; I was thoroughly at home in French; I had a smattering of Italian and enough Spanish to swear by. I was, I believe, a strong, though hardly a fine, swordsman and a good shot. I could ride anything that had a back to sit on, and my head was as cool a one as you could find, for all its flaming cover. If you say that I ought to have spent my time in useful labor I am out of court and have nothing to say, save that my parents had no business to leave me £2,000 a year and a roving disposition.

"The difference between you and Robert," said my sister-in-law, who often (bless her!) speaks on a platform and oftener still as if she were on one, "is that he recognises the duties of his position and you only see the opportunities of yours."

"To a man of spirit, my dear Rose," I answered, "opportunities are duties."

"Nonsense!" said she, tossing her head. And after a moment she went on, "Now here's Sir Jacob Borrodaile offering you exactly what you might be equal to."

"A thousand thanks!" I murmured.

"He's to have an embassy in six months, and Robert says he is sure that he'll take you as an attache. Do take it, Rudolf, to please me."

Now, when my sister-in-law puts the matter in that way, wrinkling her pretty brows, twisting her little hands and growing wistful in the eyes, all on account of an idle scamp like myself, for whom she has no natural responsibility, I am visited with compunction. Moreover, I thought it possible that I could pass the time in the position suggested with some tolerable amusement. Therefore I said:

"My dear sister, if in six months' time no unforeseen obstacle has arisen and Sir Jacob invites me, hang me if I don't go with Sir Jacob!"

"Oh, Rudolf, how good of you! I am glad!"

"Where's he going to?"

"He doesn't know yet, but it's sure to be a good embassy."

"Madam," said I, "for your sake I'll go if it's no more than a beggarly legation. When I do a thing, I don't do it by halves."

My promise, then, was given, but six months are six months and seem an eternity, and inasmuch as they stretched between me and my prospective industry (I suppose attaches are industrious; but I know not, for I never became attache to Sir Jacob or to anybody else) I cast about for some desirable mode of spending them. And it occurred to me suddenly that I would visit Ruritania. It may seem strange that I had never visited that country yet, but my father (in spite of a sneaking fondness for the Elphbergs, which led him to give me, his second son, the famous Elphberg name of Rudolf) had always been averse to my going, and since his death my brother, prompted by Rose, had accepted the family tradition which taught that a wide berth was to be given to that country.

But the moment Ruritania had come into my head I was eaten up with curiosity to see it. After all, red hair and long noses are not confined to the house of Elphberg, and the old story seemed a preposterously insufficient reason for debarring myself from acquaintance with a highly interesting and important kingdom, one which had played no small part in European history and might do the like again under the sway of a young and vigorous ruler, such as the new king was rumored to be. My determination was clinched by reading in the Times that Rudolf V. was to be crowned at Strelsau in the course of the next three weeks and that great magnificence was to mark the occasion. At once I made up my mind to be present and began my preparations. But inasmuch as it has never been my practice to furnish my relatives with an itinerary of my journeys, and in this case I anticipated opposition to my wishes, I gave out that I was going for a ramble in the Tyrol—an old haunt of mine—and propitiated Rose's wrath by declaring that I intended to study the political and social problems of the interesting community which dwells in that neighborhood.

"Perhaps," I hinted darkly, "there may be an outcome of the expedition."

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"Well," said I carelessly, "there seems a gap that might be filled by an exhaustive work on"—

"Oh, will you write a book?" she cried, clapping her hands. "That would be splendid, wouldn't it, Robert?"

"It's the best of introductions to political life nowadays," observed my brother, who has, by the way, introduced himself in this manner several times over. Burlesdon on "Ancient Theories and Modern Facts" and "The Ultimate Outcome," by a political student, are both works of recognized eminence.

"I believe you are right, Bob, my boy," said I.

"Now, promise you'll do it," said Rose earnestly.

"No; I won't promise, but if I find enough material I will."

"That's fair enough," said Robert.

"Oh, material doesn't matter!" she said, pouting.

But this time she could get no more than a qualified promise out of me. To tell the truth, I would have wagered a handsome sum that the story of my expedition that summer would stain no paper and spoil not a single pen. And that shows how little we know what the future holds, for here I am fulfilling my qualified promise and writing, as I never thought to write, a book, though it will hardly serve as an introduction to political life and has not a jot to do with the Tyrol.

Neither would it, I fear, please Lady Burlesdon if I were to submit it to her critical eye—a step which I have no intention of taking.

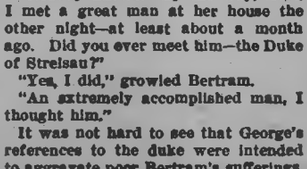
CHAPTER II.

IT was a maxim of my Uncle William's that no man should pass through Paris without spending four-and-twenty hours there. My uncle spoke out of a ripe experience of the world, and I honored his advice by putting up for a day and a night at the Continental on my way to—the Tyrol. I called on George Featherly at the embassy, and we had a bit of dinner together at Durand's and afterward dropped in to the Opera, and after that we had a little supper, and after that we called on Bertram Bertrand, a versifier of some repute and Paris correspondent to the Critic. He had a very comfortable little suit of rooms, and we found some pleasant fellows smoking and talking. It struck me, however, that Bertram himself was absent and in low spirits, and when everybody except ourselves had gone I rallied him on his moping preoccupation. He fenced with me for awhile, but at last, flinging himself on a sofa, he exclaimed:

"Very well, have it your own way. I am in love—infernally in love!"

"Oh, you'll write the better poetry," said I by way of consolation.

He ruffled his hair with his hand and smoked furiously. George Featherly,



I saw her glance at me.

standing with his back to the mantelpiece, smiled unkindly.

"If it's the old affair," said he, "you may as well throw it up, Bert. She's leaving Paris tomorrow."

"I know that," snapped Bertram.

"Not that it would make any difference if she stayed," pursued the relentless George. "She flies higher than the paper trade, my boy!"

"Hang her!" said Bertram.

"It would make it more interesting for me," I ventured to observe, "if I knew who you were talking about."

"Antoinette Mauban," said George.

"De Mauban," growled Bertram.

"Oho!" said I, passing by the question of the de. "You don't mean to say, Bert"—

"Can't you let me alone?"

"Where's she going to?" I asked, for the lady was something of a celebrity.

George jingled his money, smiled cruelly at poor Bertram and answered pleasantly:

"Nobody knows. By the way, Bert, I met a great man at her house the other night—at least about a month ago. Did you ever meet him—the Duke of Strelsau?"

"Yes, I did," growled Bertram.

"An extremely accomplished man, I thought him."

It was not hard to see that George's references to the duke were intended to aggravate poor Bertram's sufferings, so that I drew the inference that the duke had distinguished Mme. de Mauban by his attentions. She was a widow, rich, handsome and, according to repute, ambitious. It was quite possible that she, as George put it, was flying as high as a personage who was everything he could be short of enjoying a strictly royal rank, for the duke was the son of the late king of Ruritania by a second and morganatic marriage and half brother to the new king. He had been his father's favorite, and it had occasioned some unfavorable comment when he had been created a duke, with a title derived from no less a city than the capital itself. His mother had been of good, but not exalted, birth.

"He's not in Paris now, is he?" I asked.

"Oh, no! He's gone back to be present at the king's coronation; a ceremony which, I should say, he'll not enjoy much. But, Bert, old man, don't despair! He won't marry the fair Antoinette—at least not unless another plan comes to nothing. Still, perhaps, she"— He paused and added, with a laugh, "Royal attentions are hard to resist. You know that, don't you, Rudolf?"

"Confound you!" said I, and, rising, I left the hapless Bertram in George's hands and went home to bed.

The next day George Featherly went with me to the station, where I took a ticket for Dresden.

"Going to see the pictures?" asked George, with a grin.

George is an inveterate gossip, and had I told him that I was off to Ruritania the news would have been in London in three days and in Park lane in a week. I was therefore about to return an evasive answer when he saved my conscience by leaving me suddenly and darting across the platform. Following him with my eyes, I saw him lift his hat and accost a graceful, fashionably dressed woman who had just appeared from the booking office. She was perhaps a year or two over thirty, tall, dark and of rather full figure. As George talked I saw her glance at me, and my vanity was hurt by the thought that, muffled in a fur coat and a neck wrapper (for it was a chilly April day) and wearing a soft traveling hat pulled down to my eyes, I must be looking very far from my best. A moment later George rejoined me.

"You've got a charming traveling companion," he said. "That's poor Bert Bertram's goddess, Antoinette de Mauban, and, like you, she's going to Dresden—also, no doubt, to see the pictures. It's very queer, though, that she doesn't at present desire the honor of your acquaintance."

"I didn't ask to be introduced," I observed, a little annoyed.

"Well, I offered to bring you to her, but she said, 'Another time.' Never mind, old fellow, perhaps there'll be a smash, and you'll have a chance of rescuing her and cutting out the Duke of Strelsau."

No smash, however, happened, either to me or to Mme. de Mauban. I can speak for her as confidently as for myself, for when, after a night's rest in Dresden, I continued my journey she got into the same train. Understanding that she wished to be let alone, I avoided her carefully, but I saw that she went the same way as I did to the very end of my journey, and I took opportunities of having a good look at her when I could do so unobserved.

As soon as we reached the Ruritanian frontier (where the old officer who presided over the custom house favored me with such a stare that I felt surer than before of my Elphberg physiognomy) I bought the papers and found in them news which affected my movements. For some reason which was not clearly explained and seemed to be something of a mystery the date of the coronation had been suddenly advanced, and the ceremony was to take place on the next day but one. The whole country seemed in a stir about it, and it was evident that Strelsau was thronged. Rooms were all let and hotels overflowing. There would be very little chance of my obtaining a lodging, and I should certainly have to pay an exorbitant charge for it. I made up my mind to stop at Zenda, a small town fifty miles short of the capital and about ten from the frontier. My train reached there in the evening. I would spend the next day, Tuesday, in a wander over the hills, which were said to be very fine, and in taking a glance at the famous castle and go over by train to Strelsau on the Wednesday morning, returning at night to sleep at Zenda.

Accordingly at Zenda I got out, and as the train passed where I stood on the platform I saw my friend, Mme. de Mauban, in her place. Clearly she was going through to Strelsau, having, with more providence than I could boast, secured apartments there. I smiled to think how surprised George Featherly would have been to know that she and I had been fellow travelers for so long.

I was very kindly received at the hotel—it was really no more than an inn—kept by a fat old lady and her two daughters. They were good, quiet people and seemed very little interested in the great doings at Strelsau. The old lady's hero was the duke, for he was now under the late king's will master of the Zenda estates and of the castle, which rose grandly on its steep hill at the end of the valley, a mile or so from the inn. The old lady, indeed, did not hesitate to express regret that the duke was not on the throne instead of his brother.

"We know Duke Michael," said she. "He has always lived among us. Every Ruritanian knows Duke Michael. But the king is almost a stranger; he has been so much abroad not one in ten knows him even by sight."

"And now," chimed in one of the young women, "they say he has shaved off his beard, so that no one at all knows him."

"Shaved his beard!" exclaimed her mother. "Who says so?"

"Johann, the duke's keeper. He has seen the king."

"Ah, yes. The king, sir, is now at the duke's shooting lodge in the forest

"Pray, sir, do you know our king?"

here; from here he goes to Strelsau to be crowned on Wednesday morning."

I was interested to hear this and made up my mind to walk next day in the direction of the lodge on the chance of coming across the king. The old lady ran on garrulously:

"Ah, and I wish he would stay at his shooting—that and wine (and one thing more) are all he loves, they say—and suffer our duke to be crowned on Wednesday. That I wish, and I don't care who knows it."

"Hush, mother!" urged the daughters.

"Oh, there's many folks to think as I do!" cried the old woman stubbornly.

I threw myself back in my deep armchair and laughed at her zeal.

"For my part," said the younger and prettier of the two daughters, a fair, buxom, smiling wench, "I hate Black Michael! A red Elphberg for me, mother! The king, they say, is as red as a fox or as"—

And she laughed mischievously as she cast a glance at me and tossed her head at her sister's reproving face.

"Many a man has cursed this red hair before now," muttered the old lady, and I remembered James, fifth earl of Burlesdon.

"But never a woman!" cried the girl.

"Aye, and women, when it was too late," was the stern answer, reducing the girl to silence and blushes.

"How comes the king here?" I asked, to break an embarrassed silence. "It is the duke's land here, you say."

"The duke invited him, sir, to rest here till Wednesday. The duke is at Strelsau, preparing the king's reception."

"Then they're friends?"

"None better," said the old lady.

But my rosy damsel tossed her head again. She was not to be repressed for long, and she broke out again:

"Aye, they love one another as men do who want the same place and the same wife!"

The old woman glowered, but the last words pricked my curiosity, and I interposed before she could begin scolding:

"What, the same wife too! How's that, young lady?"

"All the world knows that Black Michael—well, then, mother, the duke—would give his soul to marry his cousin, the Princess Flavia, and that she is to be the queen."

"Upon my word," said I, "I begin to be sorry for your duke. But if a man will be a younger son, why, he must take what the elder leaves and be as thankful to God as he can," and, thinking of myself, I shrugged my shoulders and laughed. And then I thought also of Antoinette de Mauban and her journey to Strelsau.

"It's little dealing Black Michael has with"— began the girl, braving her mother's anger, but as she spoke a heavy step sounded on the floor and a gruff voice asked in a threatening tone:

"Who talks of 'Black Michael' in his highness' own burg?"

The girl gave a little shriek, half of fright—half, I think, of amusement.

"You'll not tell of me, Johann?" she said.

"See where your chatter leads," said the old lady.

The man who had spoken came forward.

"We have company, Johann," said my hostess, and the fellow plucked off his cap. A moment later he saw me, and to my amazement he started back a step, as though he had seen something wonderful.

"What ails you, Johann?" asked the elder girl. "This is a gentleman on his travels, come to see the coronation."

The man had recovered himself, but he was staring at me with an intense, searching, almost fierce glance.

"Good evening to you," said I.

"Good evening, sir," he muttered, still scrutinizing me, and the merry girl began to laugh as she called:

"See, Johann, it is the color you love! He started to see your hair, sir. It's not the color we see most of here in Zenda."

"I crave your pardon, sir," stammered the fellow, with puzzled eyes. "I expected to see no one."

"Give him a glass to drink my health in, and I'll bid you good night, and thanks to you, ladies, for your courtesy and pleasant conversation."

So speaking, I rose to my feet and with a slight bow turned to the door. The young girl ran to light me on the way, and the man fell back to let me pass, his eyes still fixed on me. The moment I was by he started a step forward, asking:

"Pray, sir, do you know our king?"

"I never saw him," said I. "I hope to do so on Wednesday."

He said no more, but I felt his eyes following me till the door closed behind me. My saucy conductor, looking over her shoulder at me as she preceded me upstairs, said:

"There's no pleasing Master Johann for one of your color, sir."

"He prefers yours, maybe?" I suggested.

"I meant, sir, in a man," she answered, with a coquettish glance.

"What," asked I, taking hold of the other side of the candlestick, "does color matter in a man?"

"Nay, but I love yours—it's the Elphberg red."

To be continued.

THE FUTURE OF AN OCCUPATION IS DETERMINED BY ITS SERVICE TO SOCIETY AND ITS PERSONAL ADVANTAGES

One of the highest and most altruistic institutions of society is LIFE INSURANCE for PROTECTION OF WIFE AND CHILDREN AND PROVISION FOR OLD AGE.

Only with its advent did it become possible for men who died during their productive period to provide adequately for their dependents. It alone can offer indemnity for earning power. In many a home it prevents the dispersion of the children, is the sole source of food and shelter and their only means of education into good citizenship. It does more to lessen pauperism and the resulting ignorance and crime than than do all charitable institutions combined. It cures thriftlessness, that most prevalent of human maladies.

Life insurance adds moral fibre to every man insured. Through the immediate creation of an estate it widens his outlook, relieves him from anxiety, frees his capital, serves as collateral, secures his business, in times of stress, and accumulating apart from the hazards of trade suffices for his own and his family's needs when his other possessions may have been lost.

The Sun Life of Canada

Offers a man something as good as gold. Its policies give the maximum of security at the minimum of cost. If you have obligations; if your life means something to others, insurance is for you. Investigate the cost of absolute protection in the SUN OF CANADA.

Hints For the Home Dressmaker

The Latest Dean Patterns

Some Timely Suggestions Giving Directions in the Leading Styles and the Best Materials to be Used

A PRETTY STYLE FOR A DRESSING SACK

When a woman dons a dressing sack it is either because she wants relief from close-fitting garments of wants to makes herself presentable in the least possible time. Time-saving is a very important feature of the dressing sack and that sack which can be donned and fastened with the least time and labor is not to be over-looked! Here is sketched a sack suitable to development in washing stuffs of chambe as well as many other materials which is slipped on over the head and requires no fastening. The sack is also surprisingly becoming to all wearers and does not require much time or expense for the making. The prettily shaped yoke supports the full front and back, while the sleeves are loose and may be finished in any length desired. For the medium size 3 yards of 36 inch material are needed.

6928.—Six sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is ten cents.

Leave your order and 10 cents at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

6971.—A DESIRABLE MODEL FOR A MATERNITY SIRT.

So many requests have been made for a comfortable walking skirt for the prospective mother that the accompanying model has been specially designed to meet this need. It is cut in five gores, and while the fullness is disposed in tucks simulating box-pleats and so arranged as to be easily let out as necessity or comfort may demand, there is no undue bulkiness around the waist or hips. On the contrary, the skirt is designed with such skill as to be unusually graceful and it is this quality which renders it so superior to most skirts of this order. It is here modelled in navy blue serge, but any preferred silk or soft wool material may be used with equal success. The medium size calls for 9 3-8 yards of 27 inch fabric.

6971.—6 sizes, 22 to 32 inches waist measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

Dresden fair concluded on Wednesday.

Mrs. Frank, aged 90, of Berlin, was severel yburned on Wednesday by her oil stove exploding.

4130. A PRETTY WASHABLE FROCK

The frocks for the little people do not tend so much to elaboration of design as in times past, but to fineness of fabric and exquisite development. Here is a simple dress for every day of "best" which is easily constructed and very pleasing. The lingerie fabrics are most used for such frocks, but a light weight cloth might serve as well. The simple round yoke and cuffs are of embroidery edged with a narrow frill of Valenciennes while the latter finishes the edge of the skirt. Tucks in front and gathers in front regulate the fulness and provide sufficient adornment for the body of the dress. If a party dress is desired, the sleeves may be in short puff and finished with a narrow band of insertion. For a cloth dress, braid would be the best adornment. The skirt may be finished with a ruffle or hem. For the medium size 2 yards of 36 inch material are needed.

4130.—Sizes, 1-2, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 years.

4115.—A PRACTICAL LITTLE DRESS FOR SCHOOL WEAR.

Many pleasing little models for children"s dresses are made in plaids and one which deserves mention is sketched. The fanciful yoke is of plain material like the background of the plaid and the cuffs and belt correspond. This forms sufficient adornment for the dress without anything else. The pleats of the waist and skirt give a pretty fulness especially becoming to undeveloped figures. Any of the seasonable worsteds or cloths may serve for the dress.

4115.—Sizes, 6 to 14 years. The medium size calls for 3 1-4 yards of 44 inch goods.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

Leave your order and 10c at the REVIEW OFFICE and will be sent you by mail.

4218.—A SERVICEABLE APRON.

Whether she possess a boy, for art which causes her to spend her out-of-school hours over paint brushes and easel, or whether she is simply eager to help mother in housewifely pursuits, the up-to-date school girl stands equally in need of a cover-all apron. This need not necessarily be an unbecoming garment. On the contrary, as shown in the accompanying illustration, it may be quite a picturesque one. The apron sketched may be made in either high or low neck effect, and of any desirable tub fabric. It is fashioned very simply, and is manifestly not adapted to elaborate ornamentation. To develop the medium size 3 1-8 yards of 36 inch material will be required.

4218.—4 sizes, 10 to 16 years.

The price of this pattern is 10c

Leave your order and 10c at the REVIEW OFFICE and pattern will be sent you by mail.

6965.—THE NEW KIMONO COAT.

The up-to-date wardrobe is not complete unless it includes a long coat which may be used for travelling or driving or for general wear in cool or rainy weather, and the most practical of such coats are those which are semi-fitting and roomy. The kimono coat illustrated possesses all the essential qualities of a serviceable comfort-yielding garment, while its graceful shaping is most admirable, being so arranged that the coat fits easily across the bust and shoulders, widening thence to the hem, where it hangs in full loose folds. The long, sloping shoulder, with the wide sleeve, seamed as a continuation of the shoulder seam and set into the wide armhole without fullness, is a unique and conspicious feature, this being the "latest jery" in Parisian coat models. As shown, the coat is made of biscuit-colored broadcloth, with applied trimmings of black satin, and is most appropriate for afternoon or evening wear; but it may be developed in homespun, cheviot or tweed for ordinary wear, or in waterproof silk or lined cravenette if needed for a raincoat. To make the medium size will require 5 1-4 yards of cloth, 54 inches wide.

6965.—Sizes 32, 66 and 40 inches.

6927.—AN APRON OF BECOMING LINES.

Every housewife appreciates the necessity of the big apron, but few realize that this may be made becoming as well as practical. Here is an excellent example of an attractive work apron, having a bib in one piece and long skirt portion with unique pockets at the sides which look as though they might be a continuation of the bib. Broad ties form a bow in back which are always becoming.

6824, 6825.—ONE OF THE NEW CLOTH GOWNS.

The new cloth gowns for street wear are most fetching and have an air of elegance which even their more elaborate forerunners could not boast. The costume shown consists of a waist showing pleats extending over the shoulder which lend becoming lines and a fanciful yoke effect, which reaches a deep point in front. This feature provides opportunity for one's favorite color near the face, while a charming note of contrast may be struck in the band of velvet or braid which borders it. The sleeves are far from ordinary with their tucks and fanciful cuffs and they may be finished in long or shorter style.

The skirt is a seven gored one with tucks at the side seams and box pleats in back. The modish trimness about the hips is conspicuous while the graceful ripple at the hem adds an air of cache which many skirts lack. Any of the seasonable cloths or silks may serve for the gown voile, panama or poncee being suggested. For the medium size 7 5-8 yards of 44 in. material are needed.

Two Patterns.—6824—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6825, 7 sizes, 20 to 32 inches waist.

The price of these patterns is 10c but either will be sent upon receipt of 10 cents.

4226.—A DAINTY LITTLE BERTHA FROCK.

The little dress here illustrated will be a joy to the maternal soul. It is made with exquisite simplicity of fine French batiste, the yoke and bertha being decorated with delicate hand embroidery, but the design lends itself equally well to development in almost any fabric suitable for children's wearing, whether of linen, silk or fine wool. To develop the medium size 3 1-8 yards of 24 inch material will be required.

4226.—6 Sizes, 1-2, 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 years.

6941—6945.—A SMART SHIRT WAIST GOWN.

For rough and ready wear there is nothing that can compare, so far as comfort, neatness and serviceability are concerned, with the shirt waist frock, provided only it be of correct style and shaping. In the accompanying illustration is shown a modish combination of the popular tucked blouse, which is becoming to almost every type of figure, and the new 6 gored skirt, the most distinctive features of which are the circular shaping of the front and back gores and the overlapping side seams, ornamented in this design with small fancy buttons. The waist, which may be made with either full length or shorter sleeve, is modelled in polka dotted brown-and-white foulard, while the skirt is made of golden brown panama. This gown, however, may be prettily developed in pongee, shantung or rajah, or in linen, canvas, or any of the mercerized cottons. For the medium size 3 1-2 yards of 27 inch material will be needed to make the waist, and 7 yards of material of the same width to model the skirt.

Two Patterns.—6941.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure. 6945.—5 sizes, 22 to 28 inches waist measure.

4221.—A PRETTY DRESS FOR A YOUNG GIRL.

6968.—A PRETTY YOKE WAIST.

One of the most charming of recent designs for a separate waist is here sketched. Simple, graceful and almost universally becoming, it is a model which will infallibly commend itself to the woman of refined tastes. The picturesque effect of the deep square yoke and full front portion is greatly enhanced by the tucked trimming bands, to which the Mandarin sleeves are attached. These accessories may, however, be omitted if desired, and the plain development substituted. The sleeves are most effective when made as pictured, but they may, if necessary, be made full-length for cool weather wear. Silk voile of the new fieelle or string color was used for modelling the waist, with pale blue tucked chiffon for the yoke and filet lace and small gilt buttons for garniture; but foulard, crepon or any flexible material would develop equally well, with allover lace for the collar and yoke. For the medium size 3 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed, with 3-4 yard of 18 inch material for the collar and yoke.

6968.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

AT GOSPEL HALL.

Sunday afternoon at four o'clock Mr. W. J. Mapledoen will address a meeting in gospel hall on the question "Can a believer once saved ever be lost, or Eternal Life, what it is and how obtained." This is a question that is engaging the minds of a very large number of people and every honest doubter should hear the address. All will be welcome. At seven o'clock he will speak on "Another Gospel and what Paul the Apostle said of it."

4244.—A PRETTY DESIGN FOR A MISSES CORSET COVER.

Daintiness and simplicity are the twin attributes realized in this attractive accessory of the young girl's wardrobe, here made of batiste decorated with shadow embroidery, and finished with trimmings of beading and lace. The making of the garment is so simple that the least expert of home sewers can easily accomplish it. The shield sleeves may be omitted if desired, though most mothers like to have their young daughters wear them. For the 15 year size 1 5-8 yards of 27 inch material will be needed for making.

4244.—5 sizes, 13 to 17 years.

Leave your order and ten cents at REVIEW OFFICE and will be sent you by mail.

THE LATEST DEAN PATTERN.

A NEW JUMPER AND SKIRT FOR AMISS

Dame Fashion has not treated a more charming mode for a young girl than that of the jumper and guimpe as it is not only practical and youthful, but immensely becoming. The model sketched is one of excellent style, the neck line being deep and tapering, while the Mandarin sleeves are quaint and graceful. Tucks at the shoulder provide a pretty fullness for the front and conceal the joining of the sleeve. The guimpe may be of any sheer washing fabric and tucked or inset with lace, as desired. The skirt is side plaited and ripples prettily at the hem. This together with the jumper may be of any worsted, cloth, silk or mohair. The medium size calls for 4 3-8 yards of 44 inch material for the jumper and skirt and 2 3-8 yards of 27 inch for the guimpe.

Two Patterns, 4222—Sizes 13, 14, 15, 16, 17 years. 4059—Sizes, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16 years.

The price of these patterns is 20c but either will be sent upon receipt of 10 cents.

Estate of Late Dr. Campbell

Legal Entanglements Delay its Winding up and Add to Costs

A report has come from Buffalo concerning the estate of the late Dr Campbell, as follows:

Rev. James Campbell, of California, a brother of deceased, after visiting one or two of his numerous relatives here, returned to Buffalo and retained lawyers there who commenced proceedings for the purpose of ousting Dr. Pfohl as administrator and having himself appointed as such. The administrator, through his lawyers, opposed the application, and the questions raised were argued at length before Judge Hart, and briefs submitted. Judgment was reserved, and in the meantime all steps in the administration were suspended and nothing further could be done until it was finally decided who should be the administrators. Subsequently Judge Hart handed down his decision, in which he held that Dr Pfohl should be continued as the administrator. Even then nothing could be done for thirty days, in which time Mr. Campbell had the right to appeal. After the appeal had been made his lawyers made a motion for an injunction restraining Dr. Pfohl from taking any steps or performing any duties as administrator. Until the appeal was disposed of, and to allow himself to act in the meantime. The Court refused to grant such an injunction. All this interference will interminably delay the winding up of the estate, and heap up the costs. The court will probably saddle these extra costs upon the parties responsible for them. It did not appear that Mr. Campbell was backed up by any of the numerous heirs, with perhaps the exception of one. Owing to the complexity of the estate and the difficulty in locating some of the assets, the appraisers have not yet filed their reports.

"Yankee Bonnet" on the Otonabee

How the Shallow Ridge Came to be Known by This Name

People who go up and down the River Otonabee in the various craft are familiar with the shoal, or ridge across the river, about a couple of miles below the locks and which is known as the "Yankee Bonnet." Enquiry has been made as to how the shoal came to be so named. The shoal has been dredged in the centre or middle of the stream, to afford a channel, giving a sufficient depth of water for safe navigation. Some years ago a large quantity of large field stone, was cast in, along the crest of the shoal, from the west bank, and for one-third of the distance across the river, for the purpose of diverting the flow of water to the middle of the stream. At low water, as now is the case, the top of the shoal and stone show very clearly. The river at this point is plentifully bouyed, that the mariner, even if he be inexperienced, may not go astray.

Various reasons for the queer name given to the shoal, have been put forward, many of the explanations being made up by the narrator who would wish to appear as posted on such things. It is probable that the explanation given in some matter written by the late Mrs. Traill is the correct one, at least no better has been offered and, as the shoal was named and known by name as far back as 1831 the authority is likely correct.

At the time mentioned, the dam at Hastings had not been built and, consequently the level of Rice Lake and the Otonabee was much lower than is now the case. The Traills reached Cobourg early in the autumn of 1831 and on September 9th drove out from Cobourg to where Gore's Landing now stands. There they embarked on the first steamer plying on the waters, named the "Pem-o-dash," the Indian word for fire boat. In narrating the trip up the river, Mrs. Traill writes as follows:—

"Owing to the many rapids and shallows in the river, the steamer was unable to go up the river, the whole way to Peterborough, so a large, unwieldy scow had been engaged to meet us at a point called the "Yankee Bonnet," so named from the fanciful resemblance the topmost branches of a tree growing on the bank had to the shape of the cap worn by the Yankees."

No tree in the neighborhood now carries such shape, and it has very likely been cut down or fallen years ago, the interval being over 76 years.

Heaven and its Location

Rev. Wm. Major Dealt With Interesting Subject Last Evening

To an audience that filled All Saints' to such an extent as to make it uncomfortable, Rev. Wm. Major delivered the first of a series of his sermons on "Heaven." For last night's sermon he chose as his text St. Matthew 18-10, "In Heaven."

It is a remarkable fact, said the preacher, that among all nations and among all ages there has been a remarkable eagerness to fathom the depths of the mysteries that lie beyond. This fascination prevails among the people of the present day. And it is not surprising that such should be the case, when we all, from the youngest child to the oldest saint, have a place there. Heaven is our home. On earth we are simply pilgrims journeying toward a better land. To the place which we all hope to go some have been and have come back, among them Lazarus and St. Paul, but their lips are sealed as to what those wonderful realms beyond are like. So we must get all our information on the subject from our guide book, the Bible. In this age, when everything is questioned, it is not surprising that people should ask is there is a heaven in the literal sense of the word. Is it not really an existing state? It must be either somewhere or nowhere, and cannot be an indefinite state, said the preacher. The idea that Heaven is an airy region where angels float about suspended as by nothing, and singing hymns all the time, is erroneous. The soul exists after death, and the fact that we shall also have material bodies in the next life is proof that Heaven is a place and not a condition. The Lord Jesus Christ has a material body. Enoch and Elijah were transferred to Heaven without seeing death, and we, like them, shall have material bodies after the resurrection, and must, therefore, have a material place in which to dwell. Did not our Blessed Lord say, "I go to prepare a place for you." This and other quotations from the Bible proved that heaven is a region somewhere in the universe of God, definite and not merely a state or condition.

WHERE IS HEAVEN?

We all have our idea as to where Heaven is. One idea is that this earth will be Heaven after it has been cleansed with fire. It looks as though there might be some ground for this idea from what is said concerning the subject in the scriptures. And yet does Heaven not exist at the present time, and did it not exist in the days referred to in the Old Testament? We are told in the Bible that Christ is in Heaven preparing a place for us. Some people, on the other hand, believe that Heaven is all around us. There are also many other ideas expressed as to what and where Heaven is. When Christ ascended from the Mount of Olives, He went "Far above the Heavens," where He is now, and where we hope to be with Him through eternity. Everybody knows of the relation of the Earth and other solar bodies to the sun. The whole universe of science states, revolves around Alcyone, the central star of the group Pleiades, constellation Taurans. Is this the place "far above the heavens," to which Christ ascended, and if so, is it not reasonable to think that it is our Heavenly Home, where He is waiting now to receive us?

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increase in the Number of Operations Performed Each year—How women May Avoid them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on those snow-white beds women and girls, either awaiting or recovering from serious operations.

Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country — they creep upon them unawares, but every one of those patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, flatulency, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation —but remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or ulceration of the organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy.

Mrs. Fred. Seydel, 412 N. 54th Street, West Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I was in a very serious condition when I wrote to you for advice. I had a serious female trouble and I could not carry a child to maturity, and was advised that an operation was my only hope of recovery. I could not bear to think of going to the hospital, so wrote you for advice. I did as you instructed me and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; and I am not only a well woman to-day, but have a beautiful baby girl six months old. I advise all sick and suffering women to write you for advice, as you have done so much for me."

Miss Lilian Martin, Graduate of Training School for Nurses, Brantfo Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"While we are taught in the training schools through the country to look down upon patent medicines, and while the doctors in the hospitals speak slightingly of them to patients, I have found that they really know different. I have frequently known Physicians to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to women suffering with the most serious complications of female troubles displacement of organs, and other disorders. They would, as a rule, put it in regular medicine bottles and label it "tonic" or other names, but I knew it was your Compound and have seen them fill it in prescription bottles. Inflammation and ulceration have been relieved and cured in a few weeks by its use, and I feel it but due to you to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proper credit."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham, daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice and medicine have restored thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Steamer Cypress Was Wrecked; Another Terrible Disaster

Twenty-One Lives Lost in Disaster on Lake Superior.

Vessel Rolled Over and Plunged to Bottom—One Lone Survivor From Fine New Lake Steamer—Floated Ashore on Raft—Cargo Shifted in Storm—Nine Bodies Recovered—Launched on Aug. 17 Last.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 14.—The steamer Cyprus, owned by the Lackawanna Transportation Co. and carrying a cargo of ore, was wrecked late Friday night in Lake Superior off Deer Park, about 30 miles from Grand Marais, and all of the crew of 22, excepting the second mate, were lost.

Recovering consciousness after hours of constant nursing, Second Mate Pitt gave a graphic account of the last moments of the crew on board the ill-fated vessel.

The mate said the Cyprus was making fairly good weather in the storm, when suddenly the cargo shifted, giving the craft a heavy list. This was about 7 p. m., when the vessel was off Deer Park in the regular course of vessels bound up and down.

Water began pouring in the hatches and a panic ensued, many of the crew putting on life-preservers. Captain Huyck, however, felt confident he could reach shelter behind Whitefish Point, and the boats were not lowered. Both engine and pumps were working and the crew felt sure the vessel would not sink without warning, but suddenly the big freighter rolled over on her side and almost instantly plunged to the bottom.

Escaped on Life Raft.

When the vessel rolled over the first and second mates, a watchman and wheelman, were close to a life-raft which they cut loose and cast off just in time to escape the whirlpool caused by the Cyprus as she plunged beneath the surface of the water. The boat sank about 7 o'clock in the evening, and until 2 a. m. the four men clung to their frail support, while the waves drove them toward shore.

Battling the Surf.

Five times in the angry surf off the rocky shore their raft was upset, the men each time having to fight the heavy tow for their lives. Each fight weakened the benumbed and disheartened sailors, and after the fifth battle with the surf only one of the quartette remained upon the raft, but the next time the raft was caught upon the surf it was thrown upon the beach. Mate Pitt had just strength enough to crawl out of the reach of the waves before he fell exhausted, where he was later found by the patrol of the life-saving station.

Nine Bodies Recovered.

The vessel lies in 19 fathoms of water, and those who were caught in the vessel will probably never be heard of. Nine bodies in all have been recovered. There seems now to be little doubt that the sinking of the Cyprus was due directly to the failure of the captain and crew of the wrecked vessel to cover the hatches with the canvas tarpauline designed for that purpose.

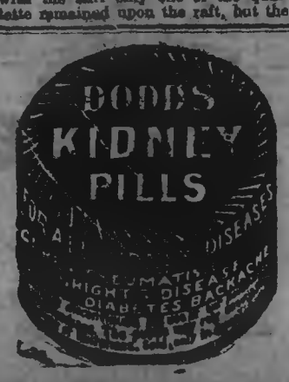
Was a New Steamer.

Bound down from the head of the lakes, on the second trip she had made since being launched at Lorain, Ohio, on Aug. 17 last, the fine steel freighter Cyprus, 440 feet long, and owned by the Lackawanna Transportation Co. of Cleveland, foundered Friday night in Lake Superior, off Deer Park, taking down with her 22 members of the crew. Second Mate C. J. Pitt, washed ashore lashed to a raft, is the only person left alive of the ship's people. Pitt is suffering from the dreadful experience in the icy waters of Lake Superior, in addition to the buffeting he received from the breakers.

Deer Park is about 30 miles south of Grand Marais, on the shore of Lake Superior. Several bodies from the wreck have washed ashore and two are known to be those of the first mate and the wheelman. The names of but five of the drowned members of the crew are definitely known.

Ketcham Goes Ashore.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 14.—Reliable information from Canadian sources gives the information that the little steel steamer John B. Ketcham, ran on Copper Island in the Nipigon Bay region of the north shore of Lake Superior, Thursday night. Her forward compartment is full of water, and she must be lightered. The Ketcham is loaded with pulpwood for Detroit.



PRINCE ALBERT BYE-ELECTION.

Provincial Rights Candidate Victor by Majority of Four Votes.

Prince Albert, Oct. 14.—The Prince Albert provincial bye-election here Saturday to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of Hon. J. H. Lamont to the bench, resulted in the return of ex-Mayor Bradshaw, Provincial Rights candidate, by a majority of four.

It was a bitterly fought election. There are, however, nearly 300 challenged votes, so that it is still anyone's election.

Liberals claim that of contested ballots they will have two to one, but Provincial Righters expect to break even.

A. Turgeon, law partner of Lamont, was the Liberal candidate.

Mail advices from Hayti say that sixteen men were sentenced to death there for conspiring to overthrow the government of the republic. Many persons fear a revolution.

SIR HENRY PELLATT DENIES.

Rumors of Financial Difficulty Are Without Foundation.

Toronto, Oct. 14.—Sir Henry Pellatt has issued a statement in reference to the rumor that the firm of Pellatt & Pellatt, stock brokers and financiers had made an assignment with liabilities of six million dollars.

Considerable uneasiness was felt yesterday in view of the enormous interests involved, and the mention of the Dominion Bank in connection with the affair.

The emphatic denial of the head of the firm will do much to reassure those interested, but it is anticipated that the effect of the rumor will be apparent on the Stock Exchange today notwithstanding.

Sir Henry Pellatt says:

(1) The firm of Pellatt & Pellatt is, and always has been, entirely solvent and able to meet its liabilities in full.

(2) No assignment has been made, and none was ever contemplated or thought of.

(3) No receiver has been appointed, or is in possession of the affairs of the firm. Such a thing was never even thought of.

(4) There is a large surplus to the firm's credit with all banks and financial institutions with which the firm does business.

(5) There has been no curtailment of the firm's credit. On the contrary, it has received from its bankers all the credit which it has asked for, and has met all demands made upon it by its bankers, with whom its relations have always been, and now are, cordial and satisfactory.

The rumors, and alleged information upon which it is based are false and malicious, and are calculated to injure not only my firm but many persons who are interested in the enterprises with which I am connected.

CONFEDERATION IN S. AFRICA.

Supreme Court Judge Studying System Prevailing in Canada.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 14.—Empowered by a mandate from the British Government, Hon. Mr. Justice Lawrence of the Supreme Court Bench of Cape Colony has, during the past few weeks, been studying the conditions which prevail throughout the provinces of the Dominion, with no less an object in view than the combining of the various states in South Africa into a confederation.

Justice Lawrence has arrived in Victoria, and although he is somewhat reticent about the subject of his mission, he states that he had an interview with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who carefully explained to him matters relating to the constitution of the Dominion, and informed him of the privileges and responsibilties of the different provinces.

The question of a confederated South Africa is a comparatively new one, and as far as can be gathered this is the first intimation of the subject of Justice Lawrence's visit to the country. He goes back to inform South African politicians, who are intensely interested in the subject of his enquiries, and it is also understood that he will furnish his views in the form of a statement to the Imperial Colonial Office.

What his findings will be he did not say, but from the tenor of his conversation it is practically safe to assume that the near future will see all the British possessions in South Africa brought under one great confederation.

SCIENCE FINDS CANCER CURE.

Parisian Doctor Obtains Splendid Results With Electric Treatment.

Paris, Oct. 14.—Dr. Keating Hart of Marseilles gave a practical demonstration here on Saturday of the new electro-surgical cure for cancer, which up to the present time has shown the most wonderful results.

The system consists of applying in a special manner high tension intermittent sparks to the cancerous growths. These are softened by the electricity and their cutting out is made most easy. At the same time the electricity causes the wound to heal with magical rapidity, kills all pain and prevents a recurrence of the growths.

This electrical process, which has been named "fulguration," can be applied also to cancer in the head, where operations are impossible. Its application causes the growth to disappear gradually and puts a stop to the dreadful pains that accompany cancer.

Prof. Samuel Possi and a number of other eminent French surgeons, as well as several of the foreign delegates to the surgical congress now in session here, witnessed the demonstration of Saturday and declared it to be of the greatest value.

Corsican Had Stormy Voyage.

Quebec, Oct. 14.—The Allan line steamship Corsican, Capt. Pickering, from Liverpool, which arrived in port Saturday, had an exceedingly stormy time of it during this passage, and one death is attributable to the stormy weather.

It appears a woman passenger had just arisen and was standing with a child in her arms when the ship gave a sudden lurch and the two were knocked down, the child sustaining such injuries that it died the next day from the effects.

Another male passenger had to have twelve stitches put in his head through being knocked down, besides having one of his wrists broken, and a second man had several ribs fractured.

Shooting Affair in New York.

New York, Oct. 14.—Before a crowd of shoppers in West 16th street Saturday night Severing De Angelis, an attorney, 49 years old, fired four times upon Walter L. Messner and the latter's wife. One bullet his Messner, but the others went wild. Messner is 65 years old, and recently married the woman to whom the lawyer is said to have been attentive. De Angelis was arrested.

Gov. Hughes, New York, has decided to appoint a special district attorney to act on traction matters on Jerome's head.

BLAZE NEAR MONTREAL

Roman Catholic Church Destroyed—Loss Estimated $75,000.

Origin of Fire a Mystery—Firemen Had Narrow Escapes — Convent Escaped Flames—Sisters and Children in Danger—Girls' School on Fire at Belleville — Evaporator Also Destroyed at Foxboro.

Montreal, Oct. 14.—Fire destroyed the Roman Catholic church at Cote St. Paul on Saturday afternoon, causing a loss of $75,000. There was $30,000 insurance on the church and contents. No person knows how the fire originated, and it had made considerable headway before it was noticed. Firemen from Montreal and Verdun went to the assistance of the local brigade, but were unable to save the structure. Several firemen had narrow escapes from death owing to falling walls and towers.

The convent near by, belonging to the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame, was in serious danger for some time, and all the sisters and some sixty children were removed to a place of safety. Fortunately the convent escaped the flames. The present church was erected in 1898 to take the place of the church which was burned in that year.

Belleville, Oct. 14.—What promised to be a serious fire broke out in Madden's paint and oil shop on Front street Saturday afternoon, but fortunately was extinguished after some difficulty. The damage amounted to about $200, covered by insurance in the Anglo-American. Origin of the fire is a mystery.

Yesterday afternoon fire broke out in the separate school for girls adjoining the convent. In half an hour the firemen had the blaze under control. Damage $200, covered by insurance. No one was in the building at the time, and as there was neither stoves, gas nor electricity in the school, mystery surrounds the origin of the fire. The caretaker says there were not even matches in the building.

Blaze at Foxboro.

Foxboro, Oct. 13.—On Saturday about 9.30 the evaporator, owned by J. A. Holgate, was discovered to be on fire. Heroic measures were taken to extinguish the flames, but they had made such headway that it was impossible.

The fire originated in one of the furnaces and on the alarm being given Mr. Holgate, who, along with some of his employes, was in another part of the building, rushed down to the basement and was only rescued by a door being broken open.

The building contained a large quantity of apples, some in process of drying, some already dried and some already boxed for shipment. Insurance on building and contents was $1,200, which will only partially cover the loss.

BRIDE BURNED TO DEATH.

Six Members of Family Lost Their Lives After Merrymaking.

Gloversville, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Half an hour after a party of merrymakers, early yesterday, had left Solomon Frank's home, where they had celebrated the approaching nuptials of the daughter, Dora, fire swept through the house and six members of the family, including the betrothed woman, were killed. Only the mother and two infant sons escaped.

The dead are: Solomon Frank, aged 40 years; his daughters, Sarah, 21 years of age; Dora, 19; Rose, 17; Minnie, 12, and Mary, 10.

They were suffocated by smoke, which filled the rear of the house in which they had retired. That portion of the building was destroyed and the bodies were recovered from the ruins by firemen.

Frank was a well-to-do glove-cutter, whose home was the scene of occasional social gatherings of the circles of which his daughters were a part. Dora was to have been married early in December, and Saturday night her parents gave her a betrothal party. The festivities lasted until 1 o'clock, when the party broke up. Soon after the girls had retired, Mrs. Frank discovered the flames, which apparently originated in a defective chimney. She gave the alarm, but was able only to save her two little boys and herself.

The father lost his life in attempting to reach his daughters, who were overcome by the smoke while seeking exits. The position of their bodies when found indicated that they had left their beds and made futile efforts to escape from the windows.

TRAGEDY IN BUFFALO.

Hungarian Disembowels Man Whom He Found With His Wife.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Unable to control his jealous rage at finding a man emerging from his home, shortly before midnight on Saturday, John Vas, a Hungarian, attacked Alex. Borza with a butcher knife. Several well-directed slashes with the murderous weapon disemboweled Borza and he sank dying to the pavement.

The assault took place directly in front of the Vas home. Vas saw his wife open the door and Borza depart. Vas was arrested.

Will Japan Accept?

London, Oct. 14.—The Japanese here anticipate that what Lemieux may be empowered to propose is what Japan will be able to accept without hesitation.

It is, however, added, that it must be remembered that the treaty on which Japan takes her stand is a properly executed and concluded contract, which it was hoped would set the question at rest for all time, and that the privileges of unrestricted entry, trade and travel in the Dominion is highly valued by the Japanese, who may perhaps evince less readiness to part with it as something they prize than in some quarters is supposed.

A trust has been formed in New Jersey to control the shop away output of the cities of the Eastern States.

EMPEROR FRANCIS SINKING.

Great Anxiety Shown by All Classes In Austrian Capital.

Vienna, Oct. 14.—Although Emperor Francis Joseph yesterday morning was reported as slightly better, he again became worse during the day. His physicians now fear an outbreak of lobular pneumonia. His Majesty's fever is higher.

A feeling of depression reigns among the members of his entourage.

The condition of Emperor Francis Joseph took a turn again for the worse at noon yesterday, and at a late hour last night the symptoms of inflammation of the lungs had increased. Taken as a whole the day cannot be said to have been one of progress, although the physicians who examined His Majesty at 10 o'clock last night, declared that the fever had abated and that the condition of the patient was unchanged. At 11 o'clock His Majesty was quiet and fell asleep.

Marie Christiana, the Dowager Queen of Spain, who is also an archduchess of Austria, has arrived here from Madrid.

The physicians in attendance, as well as the members of His Majesty's entourage, are endeavoring vainly to calm the public nervousness by assurances that the life of Francis Joseph is not seriously threatened.

The patient is generally weaker than weaker than he was Saturday. He asked to be permitted to go to bed, but his physicians advised him it would be much better if he remained seated in his arm chair.

CAN'T CONTINUE THE FIGHT.

Telegraphers' Union Has No More Funds—To Vote on Surrender.

New York, Oct. 14.—Following the visit to this city of Labor Commissioner Neil, President Small of the Telegraphers' Union yesterday afternoon, took decisive steps to close the telegraphers strike.

He sent the following telegram to all of the leading cities of the country:

"Prominent New Yorkers appealed to me to call the strike off. All efforts at negotiation are exhausted, and the companies' officials say they will fight to a finish. The treasury is depleted, and no more funds are available. Requests for relief from all sides are heavy and urgent. The general assembly cannot meet them. The strike having been ordered without the president's sanction, I propose that locals vote on the proposition."

Telegraphers Will Continue.

New York, Oct. 14.—The New York local of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union, at a meeting yesterday, voted unanimously to continue the strike against the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies.

The vote was taken upon the suggestion of President Small, who, in messages to subordinate officers, yesterday pointed out the inability of the general assembly to further finance the strike, and recommended that the locals of the various cities vote upon the advisability of the men returning to work.

CROWDED TROLLEY AFIRE.

Burst Into Flames on Trestle 70 Feet From Ground.

New York, Oct. 14.—Crowded with theatre-goers returning from New York and half way across the high trestle, a Hoboken trolley car suddenly burst into flames shortly before midnight Saturday night. At the point on trestle, the car was 70 feet above the ground. Many of the passengers were women, and it was with difficulty that a panic was quelled.

The conductor and the motorman begged the passengers to be calm and assured them that all would escape in safety. As soon as the car was stopped the passengers streamed out and made their way to a narrow plank pathway, made slippery by the rain. On this dangerous footing, surrounded by live feed wires, they walked for some distance in the dark, before reaching solid ground. All got off the trestle, which is 150 feet high at its highest point, without accident. The car was entirely consumed.

POPE NOT A MEMBER.

Will Take No Part In Peace Conference Unless Asked.

The Hague, Oct. 14.—Mgr. Giovannini, the papal intrnuncio here Saturday said that the fear expressed by members of the special commission which is drafting the final act of the Peace Conference that if it was left open the Pope might adhere to it, thus becoming by right a member of future peace conferences, was not justified, as the Vatican had no intention of participating in conferences unless incited to do so.

Campaign to Curb Lords.

London, Oct. 14.—The Liberal campaign for the restriction of the power of the House of Lords to alter or reject bills passed by the House of Commons, which was inaugurated by the Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, at Edinburgh, is now in full swing throughout the country.

Members of the Cabinet are addressing meetings almost daily, the keynote of which is the Government complaint of the treatment of measures it considered first importance by the Upper House. That this flood of oratory will affect the House of Lords is not expected, the object on the other hand being to influence electors who, if the session of 1909, which convenes Jan. 20, again brings the two Houses into conflict, will before long be called upon to settle the question.

Mrs. Chadwick at Woodstock.

Woodstock, Oct. 14.—The body of Mrs. Cassie Chadwick arrived in the city Saturday night at 5.16 o'clock from Cleveland, Ohio, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. B. A. Campbell of this city, who, upon receipt of Mrs. Chadwick's death, hastened to Columbus, and her son, Emil Hoover.

It was quietly removed to Mrs. Campbell's residence, East Dundas street, where it now reposes awaiting burial.

At Victoria, B. C., a prisoner named Farrell succeeded in escaping from the Provincial jail, and has not yet been captured.

The Prisoner of Zenda

By ANTHONY HOPE

Copyrighted, 1894, 1898, by Henry Holt & Company

"Color in a man," said I, "is a matter of no more moment than that!" and I gave her something of no value.

"God send the kitchen door be shut!" said she.

"Amen!" said I and left her.

In fact, however, as I now know, color is sometimes of considerable moment to a man.

CHAPTER III.

I WAS not so unreasonable as to be prejudiced against the duke's keeper because he disliked my complexion, and if I had been his most civil and obliging conduct (as it seemed to me to be) next morning would have disarmed me. Hearing that I was bound for Strelsau, he came to see me while I was breakfasting and told me that a sister of his, who had married a well to do tradesman and lived in the capital, had invited him to occupy a room in her house. He had gladly accepted, but now found that his duties would not permit of his absence. He begged therefore that if such humble (though, as he added, clean and comfortable) lodgings would satisfy me I would take his place. He pledged his sister's acquiescence and urged the inconvenience and crowding to which I should be subject in my journeys to and from Strelsau the next day.

I accepted his offer without a moment's hesitation, and he went off to telegraph to his sister, while I packed up and prepared to take the next train. But I still hankered after the forest and the shooting lodge, and when my little maid told me that I could, by walking ten miles or so through the forest, hit the railway at a roadside station I decided to send my luggage direct to the address which Johann had given, take my walk and follow to Strelsau myself. Johann had gone off and was not aware of the change in my plans, but as its only effect was to delay my arrival at his sister's for a few hours there was no reason for troubling to inform him of it. Doubtless the good lady would waste no anxiety on my account.

I took an early luncheon, and, having taken my kind entertainers farewell, intending to return to them on my way home, I set out to climb the hill that led to the castle and thence to the forest of Zenda. Half an hour's leisurely walking brought me to the castle. It had been a fortress in old days, and the ancient keep was still in good preservation and very imposing. Behind it stood another portion of the original castle, and behind that again, but separated from it by a deep and broad moat which ran all round the two buildings, was a handsome modern mansion, erected by the last king and now forming the country residence of the Duke of Streisau. The old and the new portions were connected by a drawbridge, and this indirect mode of access formed the only passage between the old building and the outer world, but leading to the modern mansion there was a broad and handsome avenue. It was an ideal residence. When Black Michael desired privacy he could dwell in his chateau; when a fit of misanthropy seized him he had merely to cross the bridge and draw it up after him (it ran on rollers), and nothing short of a regiment and a train of artillery could fetch him out. I went on my way, glad that poor Black Michael, though he could not have the throne or the princess, had at least got as fine a residence as any prince in Europe.

Soon I entered the forest and walked on for an hour or more in its cool, somber shade. The great trees enlaced with one another over my head and the sunshine stole through in patches as bright as diamonds and hardly bigger. I was enchanted with the place and, finding a felled tree trunk, propped my back against it and, stretching my legs out, gave myself up to undisturbed contemplation of the solemn beauty of the woods and to the comfort of a good cigar. And when the cigar was finished and I had, I suppose, inhaled as much beauty as I could I went off into the most delightful sleep, regardless of my train to Strelsau and of the fast waning afternoon. To remember a train in such a spot would have been rank sacrilege. Instead of that I fell to dreaming that I was married to the Princess Flavia and dwelt in the castle of Zenda and beguiled whole days with my love in the glades of the forest, which made a very pleasant dream. In fact, I was just impressing a fervent kiss on the charming lips of the princess when I heard (and the voice seemed at first a part of the dream) some one exclaim in rough, strident tones:

"Why, the devil's in it! Shave him, and he'd be the king!"

The idea seemed whimsical enough for a dream. By the sacrifice of my heavy mustache and carefully pointed imperial I was to be transformed into a monarch! I was about to kiss the princess again when I arrived (very reluctantly) at the conclusion that I was awake.

I opened my eyes and found two men regarding me with much curiosity. Both wore shooting costumes and carried guns. One was rather short and very stoutly built, with a big, bullet shaped head, a bristly gray mustache and small pale blue eyes, a trifle bloodshot. The other was a slender young fellow of middle height, dark in complexion and bearing himself with grace and distinction. I set the one down as an old soldier, the other for a gentleman accustomed to move in good society, but not unused to military life either. It turned out afterward that my guess was a good one.

The elder man approached me, beckoning the younger to follow. He did so, courteously raising his hat. I rose slowly to my feet.

"He's the height, too!" I heard the elder murmur as he surveyed my six feet two inches of stature. Then, with a cavalier touch of the cap, he addressed me:

"May I ask your name?"

"As you have taken the first step in the acquaintance, gentlemen," said I, with a smile, "suppose you give me a lead in the matter of names."

The young man stepped forward with a pleasant smile.

"This," said he, "is Colonel Sapt, and I am called Fritz von Tarlenheim. We are both in the service of the king of Ruritania."

I bowed and, baring my head, answered:

"I am Rudolf Rassendyll, I am a traveler from England, and once for a year or two I held a commission from her majesty the queen."

"Then we are all brethren of the sword," answered Tarlenheim, holding out his hand, which I took readily.

"Rassendyll, Rassendyll!" muttered Colonel Sapt. Then a gleam of intelligence flitted across his face.

"By heaven," he cried, "you're of the Burlesdons!"

"My brother is now Lord Burlesdon," said I.

"Thy head bewrayeth thee," he chuckled, pointing to my uncovered poll. "Why, Fritz, you know the story?"

The young man glanced apologetically at me. He felt a delicacy which my sister-in-law would have admired. To put him at his ease I remarked, with a smile:

"Ah, the story is known here as well as among us, it seems."

"Known!" cried Sapt. "If you stay here the deuce a man in all Ruritania will doubt it—or a woman either."

I began to feel uncomfortable. Had I realized what a very plainly written pedigree I carried about with me I should have thought long before I visited Ruritania. However, I was in for it now.

At this moment a ringing voice sounded from the wood behind us:

"Fritz, Fritz! Where are you, man?"

Tarlenheim started and said hastily:

"It's the king!"

Old Sapt chuckled again.

Then a young man jumped out from behind the trunk of a tree and stood beside us. As I looked on him I uttered an astonished cry, and he, seeing me, drew back in sudden wonder. Saving the hair on my face and a manner of conscious dignity which his position gave him, saving also that he lacked perhaps half an inch—nay, less than that, but still something—of my height, the king of Ruritania might have been Rudolf Rassendyll and I Rudolf the king.

For an instant we stood motionless, looking at one another. Then I bared my head again and bowed respectfully. The king found his voice and asked in bewilderment:

"Colonel—Fritz—who is this gentleman?"

I was about to answer when Colonel Sapt stepped between the king and me and began to talk to his majesty in a low growl. The king towered over Sapt, and as he listened his eyes now and again sought mine. I looked at him long and carefully. The likeness was certainly astonishing, though I saw the points of difference also. The king's face was slightly more fleshy than mine, the oval of its contour the least trifle more pronounced and, as I fancied, his mouth lacking something of the firmness (or obstinacy) which was to be gathered from my close shutting lips. But for all that and above all minor distinctions the likeness rose striking, salient, wonderful.

Sapt ceased speaking, and the king still frowned. Then gradually the corners of his mouth began to twitch, his nose came down (as mine does when I laugh), his eyes twinkled, and, behold, he burst into the merriest fit of irrepressible laughter, which rang through the woods and proclaimed him a jovial soul.

"Well met, cousin!" he cried, stepping up to me, clapping me on the back and laughing still. "You must forgive me if I was taken aback. A man doesn't expect to see double at this time of day, eh, Fritz?"

"I must pray pardon, sire, for my presumption," said I. "I trust it will not forfeit your majesty's favor."

"By heaven, you'll always enjoy the king's countenance," he laughed, "whether I like it or not; and, sir, I shall very gladly add to it what services I can. Where are you traveling to?"

"To Streisau, sire—to the coronation."

The king looked at his friends. He still smiled, though his expression hinted some uneasiness. But the humorous side of the matter caught him again.

"Fritz, Fritz!" he cried. "A thousand crowns for a sight of brother Michael's face when he sees a pair of us!" and the merry laugh rang out again.

"Seriously," observed Fritz von Tarlenheim, "I question Mr. Rassendyll's wisdom in visiting Streisau just now."

The king lit a cigarette.

"Well, Sapt?" said he questioningly.

To be continued.

DAY'S TOLL OF WRECKS

Freight Trains Suffered the Most Serious Damage.

Two Trainmen Killed—Samuel Hodgskin Crushed Beneath Car at Fort Erie—C. P. R. Freight Wrecked at Chatsworth—Serious Smash-Up on G. T. R. Near Belleville—Wreckage Caught Fire.

St. Thomas, Oct. 14.—Jas. Burden, a trackman, aged sixty, while working on the M. C. R. at Attercliffe on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock was struck by a work train and died from his injuries an hour later. He failed to get out of the way in time. He leaves a wife, but no children.

Fort Erie, Oct. 14.—A wreck occurred on the G. T. R. at the station known as Amigari. The wreck occurred at the crossing known as Diamond at 10.30 a. m. A freight car was derailed and ditched. Samuel Hodgskin, an employe of the road, was killed beneath the car. A wrecking crew was quickly on the scene and the body of Hodgskin was removed from beneath the wreck. Hodgskin was about nineteen years of age and unmarried, a resident of Stevensville.

Three Trainmen Killed.

Reynolds, Ga., Oct. 14.—Three trainmen were killed and much property damaged Saturday by the explosion of an engine on the Central Georgia Railroad, standing near the station here.

Rear-End Collision on G. T. R.

Belleville, Oct. 14.—A rear-end collision between two freights occurred Saturday at Shannonville, nine miles from here. A freight was standing at the section and another, westbound, pitched into it. The engine of the rear train and four cars of the other were derailed and badly smashed. The heavy mogul engine is now lying right across both tracks. The damage will be heavy. A fire broke out in the caboose, but was soon extinguished.

The engineer and fireman of the way freight jumped just in time to save their lives.

Northern Central Smash.

Elmira, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Engineer John Maxey of this city lost his life Saturday in a head-on freight collision on the Northern Central Railroad at Troy, Pa., 25 miles south of Elmira. A southbound local freight was standing on the track in the Troy yards taking water when a through freight, northbound, came down the grade on hill and crashed into it. The air brakes failed to work, when Engineer Maxey applied them at the top of the grade.

Both engines and about ten cars were demolished, and the freight near the water tank was badly damaged.

Freight Ditched on C. P. R.

Owen Sound, Oct. 14.—A fast freight on the C. P. R. was derailed near Chatsworth on Saturday morning. The engine and 10 cars are in the ditch and almost a total loss. No one was injured. The train was loaded with general merchandize for the west. The cause of the accident is not definitely known at present. All traffic was delayed for some little time.

WINNIPEG GIRL DISAPPEARS.

Mystery Surrounds the Case of Flora Money.

Winnipeg, Oct. 14.—Mystery surrounds the disappearance of pretty Flora Money, daughter of Mrs. J. Money of Redwood avenue, and all the city and private detectives of Winnipeg are busy in the search.

The young lady was last seen Tuesday, and although her parents and friends have kept up a thorough search, no tidings of the missing girl have been heard since. She was employed as a clerk in Robinson's store and arrived at her work on Tuesday morning as usual.

At 3.40 Tuesday afternoon Miss Money complained of feeling ill and left the store. Several other clerks in the store state that she went in the direction of the C. N. R. station. Her mother thinks she has been enticed away.

FIRE CHIEF ARRESTED.

Sensational Development in Blind River Arson Cases.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 14.—Excitement is running high at Blind River as the result of the arrests made there in connection with the recent fires.

It has been learned that one of the six men under arrest is Chief Raymond of the Blind River fire department.

This arrest is considered an important one, and it is said evidence against him is so strong that bail will not be considered by the crown.

Gold Cure For Drunks.

Edmonton, Alta., Oct. 14.—Announcement may be made soon of the decision of the Provincial Government to make it compulsory for every person committed to the jails of the province on the charge of drunkenness to take the "gold cure."

This policy has been adopted in Quebec and is reported to have done a great deal towards advancing the cause of temperance. Many confirmed drunkards have straightened up for fear they might be committed and forced to take the cure, while others who could not restrain themselves were put in jail and the "cure" was administered.

Rifle Kills Farmer.

Dunchurch, Ont., Oct. 14.—Thomas Kirby, lumberman and farmer of this place, was found with a bullet hole through the head, in the woods near his home Saturday night. It is thought that he accidentally discharged his rifle in setting the weapon down. There probably will be an inquest.

A stated case will be ordered in the case of Frank Caselle, Parry Sound, under sentence for murder, so that new evidence can be heard.

THE FUTURE OF AN OCCUPATION IS DETERMINED BY ITS SERVICE TO SOCIETY AND ITS PERSONAL ADVANTAGES

One of the highest and most altruistic institutions of society is LIFE INSURANCE for PROTECTION OF WIFE AND CHILDREN AND PROVISION FOR OLD AGE.

Only with its advent did it become possible for men who died during their productive period to provide adequately for their dependents. It alone can offer indemnity for earning power. In many a home it prevents the dispersion of the children, is the sole source of food and shelter and their only means of education into good citizenship. It does more to lessen pauperism and the resulting ignorance and crime than do all charitable institutions combined. It cures thriftlessness, that most prevalent of human maladies.

Life insurance adds moral fibre to every man insured. Through the immediate creation of an estate it widens his outlook, relieves him from anxiety, frees his capital, serves as collateral, secures his business in times of stress, and accumulating apart from the hazards of trade suffices for his own and his family's needs when his other possessions may have been lost.

The Sun Life of Canada

offers a man something as good as gold. Its policies give the maximum of security at the minimum of cost. If you have obligations; if your life means something to others, insurance is for you. Investigate the cost of absolute protection in the SUN OF CANADA.

HIGH HONOR FOR REV. J. R. WEBB

Re-elected on Board of Directors of Grand Ligne Mission.

The Montreal Herald on Saturday contained the names of the fifteen directors of the Grand Ligne Mission elected at the annual meeting held in Montreal last week. Among the directors who were re-elected was Rev. J. R. Webb, pastor of the Murray street Baptist church, Peterborough. He has been a director for seven years, but this is the first time a gentleman residing outside of the province of Quebec has been honored by being chosen as a director. Mr. Webb was secretary of the Grand Ligne Mission for five years. He resigned that position on his removal to Peterborough nearly a year ago.

The work at Grand Ligne during the past year has been the most successful and encouraging in its history.

Ladies can spend a profitable afternoon to-morrow at the Grand hearing Dr. Cristion and Mme. Maxe on Beauty Culture.

The Distillers Raise Prices

Word was received in the city today that the distillers of whiskey all over Canada have raised the price of their goods, at least 10 cents a gallon. It is several years since the distillers advanced the price, and the raise will affect the wholesale trade. It is not yet known whether the prices over the bar will be advanced or not, but it appears quite probable that they will.

Pine Trees Were in Way

Gang Laying Pavement Found it Necessary to Take up 12 Big Trees

The gang of men under Mr. Jack Thirnbeck, now laying a pavement on the south side of Gilmour street, have struck several snags, in the literal sense of the word, during the carrying out of their work. They have had to take up the roots no less than 12 big pine trees just beyond where the old board walk ended. This has necessitated much delay in the operations of laying the pavement, but the trees are all removed now, and the work is being rapidly proceeded with. The pines were bought by McDonald's mill.

Watch for Wednesday's winners. They're a new idea and a good one. You'll appreciate them when you see the big values you get. Full particulars in Tuesday's paper.

Tom Longboat made all his competitors look like a lot of selling-platers in the Ward Marathon in Toronto on Saturday and made the distance, which is supposed to be twenty miles in 1.41.40 which is the world's record for the distance, but as the course has not been officially measured the mark cannot stand. Lawson, who came second, finished about three-quarters of a mile behind the Onondago Wonder, who won in ridiculously easy style. Ben Howard of Hiawatha, just saved himself from the skiddoo place by coming 22nd, thus knocking endwise all theories as to his being a dangerous competitor to Longboat.

Record Breaking Increase in the Population and Assessment of City

Assessment Rolls Have Been Handed in and Show Great Progress—Peterborough's Population is Now 16,000 and the Total Assessment is $10,590,452—South End Show an Increase in Population of Over 800 and a Big Jump in Assessment—The Complete Statistics.

Increase in total assessment $2,602,030.

Increase in amount upon which taxes will be levied, $1 936,632.

Increase in population 1,032.

Population of city at present time 16,000.

The above are a few of the more important statistics in connection with the assessment returns for 1908 which have just been handed in. The roll for No. 2 ward was returned to the city clerk on Saturday evening the figures for the other four wards having been given in at the first of the month.

Everybody is pleased with the big jump in population, but there are many who are not so jubilant regarding the increase in assessment of over $4,000,000. It appears that the assessment last year must have been too low or else this year's is a little too high. Although there is an increase in the total assessment of over $2,000,000, the increase in the taxable assessment is not so great, amounting to $1,936,632, the total assessment including valuation of considerable property and buildings that are exempt from taxation, such as the new Collegiate Institute, King Edward school, etc.

A glance at last year's figures shows that the increase in taxable assessment of 1907 over 1906 was $282,017, so it will be seen that there is a substatial increase in this respect of the figures for 1908 compared with 1907 over those of 1907 compared with 1906.

The increase in population as shown by the figures for 1908 is 1,032, whereas the increase of 1907 over 1906 was only 571. The present increase of 1,032 is the largest for any one year in the history of the city except when Ashburnham was annexed which was really not again in the usual sense of the word, the city's territory being increased. It is also worthy of note that the increase in Peterborough's population is the largest of any city in the province outside of Toronto, Hamilton, London and Ottawa. And incidentally it may be mentioned that the increase in assessment is also greater than in the other smaller cities, but this fact does not seem to be received with as great jubilation as that of the population.

The greatest increase in assessment is in No. 1 ward, where the gains is $1,143,277, or an increase of about 50 per cent. The south end ward also has the largest increase in population, 848, or nearly 4-5 of the total increase in the city.

The increase in assessment and population of 1908 over 1907 in the different wards is as follows:—

ASSESSMENT.

Ward No. 1	$1,143,277
Ward No. 2	687,311
Ward No. 3	499,346
Ward No. 4	205,110
Ward No. 5	8,986
Total increase	$2,602,030

POPULATION.

Ward No. 2	92
Ward No. 3	76
Ward No. 4
Ward No. 5	123
Decrease in ward 4	41

It will be seen that in ward 4 there has been a falling off in the population of 41.

Messrs. A. Brown & Co., the Water street real estate agents report that business is brisk and have made several important exchanges and purchases recently. Last week Mr. A. P. Brown, who came to the city from Western Canada to enter into the hardware business with Mr. W. R. G. Higgins, purchased through the medium of the above company a handsome residence on Weller-st., the building of which has just been completed by Mr. Percy Fitzgerald, who built it for Mr. George Fitzgerald. It is one of the finest and most modernly equipped residences in the western portion of the city. Mr. Brown will take possession of the property in a few days. It is understood that the price paid was between $4,000 and $5,000.

The above firm have also sold Mr. Ed. Manning's house on Park street, between Charlotte and King streets, to a local gentleman. It is understood the price paid was in the neighborhood of $3,700 or $3,800.

The next residence on Chamberlain street, the property of Mrs. John Giles, has been bought by Mr. Wm. Farrell and the price realised was in the neighborhood of $3100.

The Price of Bread Advances; Now Sells at 11 cts. Per Loaf

Bakers Decide Upon Raise of One Cent Owing to Increased Cost of Flour—Only Three Pound Loaves Will be Made in Future.

The price of three-pound loaves of bread today advanced one cent and will now sell at 11 cents.

Such was the decision reached at a well attended meeting of the bakers of the city, held Saturday evening at Mann's bakery.

Owing to the increased price of flour, the above move on the part of the bakers was found necessary. In future no four pound loaves will be made. The price of these has been thirteen cents, but upon making the advance in the quotation for three pound loaves, it was decided to make all loaves of the same weight—three pounds.

The four pound loaf has accordingly, gone out of business.

"Make a Charge and We Will Make Full Investigation"

The Review is authorized to say by the chairman of the Police Commissioners, that any charge made by any reputable citizens, against the Chief, of Police, or any member of the police force, will be fully investigated by the Commissioners. This statement is made in view of the fact that letters have appeared in newspapers in connection with the resignation of P. C. MacDonald, hinting that there should be an investigation. It's now up to those who have been hinting that there should be an enquiry, to come out with their charge, or else refrain from making insinuations.

Two Peterboro' Boys Were Drowned When Duck Shooting

Sad Ending of Hunting Expedition of Roy Thornton and Carl Graham, Who Met Death in Lake Manitoba—Mystery as to Disappearance Cleared Up.

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Roy Thornton and Carl Graham, former Peterborough boys, from Oak Point, on Lake Manitoba, where they had gone to spend a few days duck shooting has been cleared by the following telegram, received this morning by Mr. Jos. Stewart,—

Winnipeg, Monday, Oct. 13th, 1907.

Jos. Stewart, Peterborough, Ont.

Roy Thornton and Carl Graham both drowned. Bodies found today.

G. S. THORNTON.

It will be remembered that these two young men left their homes in Norwood, which is just a short distance from Winnipeg, on September 16th, to shoot ducks in the vicinity of Oak Point, promising to return in four days. Among other hunting accoutrements taken was a canoe. Two weeks passed and the boys never returned. Their families began to get anxious. When the news was brought to them of the finding of articles belonging to them along the shore Oswald Graham and Gordon Thornton left in search of them. A clairvoyant was consulted and stated that they were still living, but the finding of the bodies today, proves the faithlessness of such people.

Both boys formerly lived in this city. Roy Thornton was the son of Mr. Robert Thornton, and was seventeen years of age. He was engaged with his father in the plumbing business. Carl Graham was 18 years of age and was employed at the Winnipeg Post Office. They were widely known here. The many Peterborough friends will learn with deep regret of this sad fatality, and extend to the bereaved families their heart-felt sympathy.

AMUSEMENTS

"THE GINGERBREAD MAN."

Extract from Toronto World:—"The Gingerbread Man," with its festive season atmosphere, nursery jingle characters, sparkling libretto and tuneful music is well known to Toronto theatre-goers, by reason of its two former appearances. It is of the toy shop school of musical melange, a school which seems to have fairly entrenched itself in the popular affection, to judge by the number of successful productions of late years.

It is usual for the quality of the cast to suffer after a production has entered upon its second or third season, but the "Gingerbread Man," has not deteriorated, and Evelyn Kellogg has a winsome personality and a splendid contralto voice. Fred Nice make sthe most of the grotesque opportunities given him, and shows himself a facile gymnast. Garrick Major is a worthy successor of Homer Lynd, and Ross Snow, as Wondrous Wise, is irresistibly droll. Mergo Sivori, as the ingenue Mazie Bon Bon, looked and sang the part well, while as Margery Daw, Nellie Nice was frankly tomboyish, and altogether delightful. The presentation is a finished one, costumings and settings being elaborate, while the chorus is large and gives excellent support.

SIDE-TRACKED

"Side-Tracked" seemed to please a fairly large audience at the Grand Opera House on Saturday night although there were some parts of the production that might have been cut out without detracting from its merits. Some jokes cropped up that were fit to join the Veterans' Association and not bring youthfulness into its ranks. There were some good features about the piece and several members of the cast showed considerable ability. Some of the specialities were above the average.

AN INVASION OF BROWN MEN

But Measures for Their Effective Disposal are Taken

In the "Gingerbread Man" John Dough appears in a baker's window before he is transformed into an animated and very amusing little man by the mystic offices of Nachuve-Hus Fudge, but several hundred of his brothers have chosen a drug store window in which to display themselves to the Peterborough public. They are to be seen in Ormond & Walsh's window and are attracting much attention. They are used by the management of the coming production of "The Gingerbread Man," to give publicity to the piece, and the means adopted is a unique and effective way of advertising. Many of the young folks will doubtless take advantage of this opportunity offered to secure one of these heroes of nursery lore.

Spent Four Months on the Continent

Mr. George Schneider and Party Return From Extended Tour

After a four months' tour on the continent, Mr. Geo. Schneider, sr., Mr. Geo. F. Schneider, Mrs. Charles Risbor and Mrs. Frank Schneider, returned on Saturday evening. They had a most enjoyable outing. They left here about the middle of June, sailing from Montreal. They returned by way of New York on the Steamship "Potsdam," of the American line. The party was met by Mr. Frank Schneider and Miss Ada Miller in New York. The trip of Mr. Schneider and party embraced all the most interesting and historic places in Germany, France, Holland, Switzerland and England. They first visited Germany spending a month at Bischweiller, Mr. Schneider's old home. Bischweiller is only a short distance from Strassburg. They often visited this ancient old town. It is over fifty years, since Mr. Schneider left his old home and this was his first return to his native land. He has several brothers and sisters still residing in Bischweiller, and needless to say they were greatly pleased to once again see their brother and meet their other Canadian relatives. The tourists had many amusing experiences, owing to not being able to understand the different languages. They made Bischweiller their headquarters, and from there made almost daily trips to points of interest.

The party also toured Switzerland France and England, visiting the places of great historic interest.

Their home voyage was a very pleasant one. On going over, some of the party, not being used to the sea, were sick. They all had a very pleasant sojourn and have many interesting stories to relate of their jaunt abroad.

Meeting of the License Holders

General Assembly of Association in Toronto on Oct. 22nd

A general meeting of the Ontario License Holders Protective Association will be held in Toronto on Oct. 22nd, when some of the numerous questions of interest to the license holders in the province at the present time, will be considered.

Arrangements have been made to discuss many important topics that have come under the notice of the license holders of the province since their last annual meeting. As these are of a private character, the association does not deem it advisable to divulge the nature of them before they are considered at the meeting. From present indications there will be a large representation of license holders present from different parts of the province and several from Peterborough will probably attend.

Remembered by Their Friends

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Simpson Smith Honored on Eve of Their Departure

Mr. W. J. Simpson, who has sold his farm on the 2nd line of Smith, and with his wife and family, will shortly remove to Peterborough, was surprised by neighbors and friends on Saturday night last, when about thirty arrived, shortly after eight o'clock. Though taken completely by surprise Mr. and Mrs. Simpson made the new comers welcome and, after games, etc., had been indulged in for some time, Mr. Geo. Walton, acting as chairman, asked Mr. and Mrs. Simpson to come into the adjoining room. Mr. Walton then called upon Mr. Bert Middleton, to read an address, while Mr. David Mahood presented Mr. and Mrs. Simpson with a beautiful jardaniere stand and palm.

Although taken by surprise, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson made suitable replies, thanking their friends in a few well chosen words.

Short speeches, testifying to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Simpson and family were held, were made. All regretted their depature from Smith, but wished them every success and happiness in their new home in Peterborough.

Following is a copy of the address:

To Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Simpson, Smith Township.

Dear Friends.—A few of your intimate friends meet here this evening as an evidence of appreciation of yourselves and family, and as a reminder of the many social times we have had together, that have been thoroughly enjoyed by each one of us, and which we trust, will ever be looked upon, with the greatest degree of pleasure, as being bright spots in our memory. Now that you have sold your farm, and are about to take up your residence in the city, we trust that you may continue to enjoy the blessings of health, happiness and prosperity.

Allow us now to present you with this jardiniere and stand and palm, as a slight memento of our affection, and we trust you may be long spared to view their beauty, and that we may many times again have the pleasure of meeting with you.

Signed on behalf of the old neighbors,

BERT MIDDLETON

PETERBOROUGH'S GROWTH

The city of Peterborough is forging ahead, and the figures as to the assessment and population, published in another column, tell an eloquent tale of progress and expansion. Peterborough is outstripping all the smaller cities of the province in gains made in population. The number of inhabitants, according to the assessors' figures, is 16,000—an increase of 1,038 during the past year. Last year the population was 14,962, an advance of 57½ over the previous year. The increase during the twelve months just closed, has thus been nearly double to what it was the year previous. Peterborough is assuredly going ahead by leaps and bounds. There is no city in Ontario outside of Toronto, Hamilton and London that, during the past year, has increased its population by 1,000 persons.

The total increase in assessment is $2,602,030, showing that a great deal of building has been going on, but whether values on property, particularly in the south wards, have been unduly and unjustly raised, is a question that the Court of Revision will be called upon to decide.

The increase in the total amount of taxable assessment this year, is $1,936,632. In 1906 it was only $282,017 over that of 1905. The gain is not altogether in new structures, but on land and property values being raised from thirty to ninety per cent, particularly in Wards Nos. 1 and 2.

The total assessment by wards, is as follows;

	1908	1907
Ward No. 1.—	$3,315,780—	$2,172,503.
Ward No. 2.—	$3,777,574—	$3,110,263.
Ward No. 3.—	$1,757,639—	$1,258,293.
Ward No. 4.—	$1,012,420—	$ 807,310.
Ward No. 5.—	$ 727,039—	$ 636,053.

The increases in wards is as follows;

No. 1 Ward.—	$1,143,277.
No. 2 Ward.—	667,311.
No. 3 Ward.—	499,346.
No. 4 Ward.—	205,110.
No. 5 Ward.—	86,986.

Total increase, $2,602,030.

It will be seen that the increase in No. 1 Ward assessment is $1,143,277, while the advance in the other four wards is only $1,558,753. No. 1 Ward increase is within $415,476. of being as much as all the other wards combined. True, a great deal of building has been going on there, but the figures would appear to indicate—on the surface at least—that values in that particular section, as compared with other parts of the city, have been placed at an excessively high mark. This will be a matter for the Court of Revision to investigate and decide upon at its forthcoming sitting.

BETTER LEND ON CALL LOANS

Than on Real Estate—Senator Cox's Opinion

Senator Cox is in Winnipeg, and was asked about the agitation at present in force among real estate agents of Winnipeg to secure better financial conditions. The claim was made by them declare that some fifty millions of Canadian money had been invested by the Canadian banks in call loans in New York, thereby causing undue tightness in the Canadian money markets.

Senator Cox stated that real estate men were apparently in error in this regard.

"The Canadian banks have branches on the other side of the line," he said, "and I have no doubt that a large proportion of this fifty million was deposited by Americans, in any event."

He said, if the theory were correct, would it not be better in view of present existing conditions, for the Canadian banking institutions to invest their money in call loans, which can be realised upon instantly in case of emergency, instead of in western real estate, which process of securing ready cash from mortgage loans, is extremely slow.

Senator Cox left for the East on Saturday.

Fine Samples of Large Potatoes

Peterborough Man Has Some Big Ones in His Possession

Mr. Wm. Myles of this city, on Saturday showed the Review some samples of the American Wonder variety of potato grown by Mr. Bryson of Hall's Glen. One tuber tipped the scales at two pounds four ounces, while another weighed one pound eleven ounces. Mr. Myles this year raised three crops of potatoes off one piece of ground in his garden. He cut off the tops of the vines and transplanted the tops the same as one would an ordinary slip. He reports the experiment to be a success. He obtained three fine yields from this Early White Prize potato He is naturally proud of his achievement.

PHENOMINAL NUMBER OF DEER

Mr. P. H. Cox, of Rosedale, speaking on his return from a four day trip round Bolger Lake and Magnetawan River, says: "I read a publication issued by the Canadian Northern Railway, from which I found they intended running trains through to the Magnetawan and Still Rivers for a few days before the open season for hunters. I decided to go up in advance and see how far the reports about deer up there were true. Had I not seen for myself, I would would not have believed it possible that there could be deer anywhere in such numbers. We started them up in all directions, and I saw at least fifty, but the woods being thick, we could not see half we started. The area of the country is so great that the number of hunters going up there will be lost in it. I certainly counsel hunters to communicate with the Canadian Northern people in Toronto before deciding to go anywhere else for deer shooting and get their maps.

Many Travellers Live in Peterboro'

No Less Than 111 Commercial Men Reside Here

Peterborough is an important manufacturing and business centre. It is rapidly becoming known as a wholesale centre as well. This city has not only grown 1,000 in population during the past year, but it is the home of many commercial travellers. A few years ago there were only fifty-six commercial men living in the city. Today there are no less than 111 travelling representatives for different houses and some who have their abode here.

It is proposed to form a travellers club. Such an institution is now on foot. The majority of the drummers are away during the week, but they are nearly all in the city every Saturday night. They are a jolly, bright, hustling, wide-awake lot of fellows—these knights of the trunk and grip.

Irish Clergyman Pays Visit to Friends Here—His Impressions of Canada

Rev. Mr. Moore, wife and son of Market Hill, Armagh, county, Ireland, are in the city on a few days visit to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

Mr. Moore is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Market Hill. Accompanied by his wife and son he has been spending two months holidays in the United States and Canada. They have visited Detroit, Buffalo, Cleveland and other American cities and will leave this week for New York on their return home. Mr. Moore is greatly delighted with Canada.

"You have a fine country here," he remarked to-day. "What impresses me most about the United States and Canada is their vastness. You certainly have a land of magnificent distances and I have found the people very friendly. We have enjoyed every minute of our visit. Why your splendid city of Peterborough impresses me by the area it covers. Nearly every house has a fine garden or lawn. In the cities of the Old Country you do not see this on account of the congestion. Your people certainly get plenty of open air and sunshine—two remarkably good things."

YOUNG LAD WAS HEAVILY FINED

For Hitting Another Boy in the Eye With a Chestnut.

Jos. Dineen, a young lad of 12 years, was to-day fined five dollars for throwing a chestnut and hitting Jas. Eyres, seriously injuring his eye.

The case was heard in the police court a week ago and was enlarged for the purpose of seeing if the lad's eye would get better. To-day the eye is almost as well as ever it was.

His Worship said it was an abominable habit that boys had of throwing stones and other things and, while he was sure there was no malicious intent on the part of Dineen, yet the would impose a fine of $5 in the hope that it might be a lesson to all other boys and put a stop to the habit.

Dawson, Oct. 12.—The price of staples in the Dawson market just now range about as follows: Flour, $6.50; ham, 25 cents; bacon, 27c.; butter, dry packs 37 1-2 cents; butter, pickled, 42; sugar 6 1-2; cream, $7.50 to $8.50; cheechaco potatoes, weak, at 8 cents; native potatoes, 5 to 9 cents; canned goods, same as in the summer, with the exception of strawberries, which are scarce and up to $7 a case; hams, 8 1-2 to 9 cents; rice, 8 cents; oatmeal, 6 to 8 1-2; hay and oats steady, at 5c. a pound.

Eggs are up this week one dollar more a case, making them $14.

Apricots, which are scarce in California are twice this year, what they were last. Dried apricots are $10 a case; a year ago they were $5. All dried fruits are stiffer than last year.

The weakness of the cheechaco potatoe market is attributed chiefly to the large stocks of natives on hand at lower figures.

Peterborough Overwhelmed The Vics. in Runaway Game

Locals Much Superior to the Queen City Aggregation—Colledge, the New Centre Half, Gave the Greatest Exhibition of Drop Kicking Ever Seen on Peterboro' Gridiron—The Score Was 40-6

Peterborough 40; Victorias 6.

That's a pretty encouraging showing for the commencement of the season and ought to effectively silence the pessimistic knockers, who said that the Peterborough Rugby Team this fall would not be up to the senior standard.

On account of a disagreeable day there was not as large a crowd as there should have been at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon, when the locals trimmed the husky Victorias by the score noted above, in a game in which they demonstrated their superiority to the Queen City bunch at all stages. The grounds were a little greasy and the rain fell to some extent during the progress of the match. But the weatherman's disagreeable actions did not have any effect on the teams which both dug in all through the game and the Vics although mainly beaten, especially in the second half, kept plugging away all the time, and worked their hardest to keep the locals from piling up such a big score. But it was no use. The aggressiveness and superior all-round ability of the Peterborough team was in evidence all through the match although at division did good work during the former part of the game particularly, and "Babe" Hewitt until he was forced to retire, punted and ran in good form. In fact he took too much upon himself in the first half, and was tackled hard and repeatedly with the result that he had to quit the game at half time. The Vics wings had no show with the local line, and the latter were able to handle them without much trouble. The Peterborough backs, too, were superior to those of the Vics, being both heavier and more effective. Tom Colledge, who played centre half for the home team is one of the biggest, all-wool, prize packages that ever came into these parts. He did much more than was expected of him before the game and is a worthy successor in every respect to the celebrated "Doc" Shaw. His kicking of three drops over the bar from this field in a single game is probably unprecedented in the history of the game in Peterborough. In the matter of drop kicking he is a veritable Eckersall and his equal in that respect has never been seen in Peterborough. His spectacular and timely punting was also a feature of the game. It was a lucky day for Peterborough when he came here for he is just the right man in the right place. Last year he was captain of the senior C.O.R. Sam. Crowley at right half played a brilliant game, and tackled and ran in grand style. The game was never too strenuous for him, and he was right after the ball. His work was quick, heady and effective. Quinlan this other half, showed up exceedingly well and seems to be in better form this year than ever. He played a clever and useful game and used the best of judgment in all his work. He punted and ran well, and one of his sprints was responsible for a touch down. Evans at full, was not kept extra busy in this second period of the game, as the Peterborough territory was hardly ever in danger but had a good chance to show his calibre in the first, when he handled the ball and everything else that came his way, in a manner that won the approval and applause of the spectators.

To see Hurtubise and Deanneard with heads together on the scrimmage, reminded one of the days when Peterborough had such strenuous tussles in the intermediate series under the old rules. Clarke was the other man in the scrim, and has lots of weight and strength, which he uses to good advantage. He heels out well and played a very effective game at centre. On Saturday he worked hard all through the game following up well and tackling sharply and effectively. "Gene" Hurtubuise, who acted as captain of the team, being elected shortly before the match commenced, was there at all stages and played a horse of a game. He never let up for a minute. His heavy tackling was a feature, and when he brought a man down—well he certainly knew it. "Gene's" work on the Peterborough gridiron is too well known to need any detailed description, and it is enough to say he played his usually excellent heat game. Lundy, at quarter, did superb work and played a snappy and fast game. He made some beautiful runs during the game.

All the wings played well. Dickson and Dillon are two sturdy inside men, and the former tackles with a strenuousity that would make Teddy Roosevelt show all his teeth in a grin of delight. It was a gratifying sight for the fans to see Dillon in his rugby togs again this season and he certainly is a valuable man when it comes to doing good work in close quarters. O'Connor and Caniff the middle wings, both did good work O'Connor sparring with Dickson the minors of tackling with a vigor that "got" the man every time. Crough and Wilkie are a mighty quick pair at outside and played fast and consistent games.

As before stated, Hewitt did splendid work on the Vic back division until he was hurt. Love at centre half played a good game all through and punted in fine style. McWhirter was effective at left half. Hewitson played a clever game at full. In the second half Elliott came back to half from the wing line, and played a spectacular game, making many sensational runs. He was responsible for the only touch secured by the Vics. Whale, a spare man, took his place on the wing line in the second half. Lou Marsh had to be there of course, and to give him credit, he "done all right," and showed well at quarter. Vics wings broke away at times, but were pretty well tied up most of the time by their checks.

THE GAME.

Peterborough won the toss and selected the north goal. Shortly after the kick off Quinlan rouged and Vics were given their first and only point in the half.

Crowley broke away for a good gain. After the scrimmage Colledge made a sprint for about twenty yards before he was downed. He made a good punt after the scrimmage, the ball being returned by Hewitson. Crowley grabbed the pigskin on a pass by Marsh after a scrimmage but was offside. Love fumbled and Hurtubuise embraced the leather. Colledge made a big gain after the scrimmage carrying the ball past the Vic 25 yard line. On a pass from Lundy he kicked a beautiful drop over the cross bar, making the tally 4—1.

Crowley fumbled the ball after the Vics kicked off, but Crough picked it up. Quinlan made a pretty run. Vics punted the ball over Peterborough line, and it looked as if Evans would have to rouge. He dodged nicely however, and had the ball in safe territory before he was downed. Hewitt caught one of Colledge's punts, but was downed by Crough before he had gained much ground. Love punted a long one, which was caught by Quinlan, who marked. Hewitt made a pretty dash for thirty yards. With the ball near the Peterborough line, the first quarter ended. Score 4—1.

SECOND QUARTER

Hewitt started things going with another of his runs. The ball got uncomfortably close to the Peterborough line on Victorias downs. Lundy, however, came to the rescue and romped down the field for a good gain. Quinlan punted and Crowley went right after the ball like a modern Mercury, securing it and carrying it close to the Vic line before he was downed. After the scrimmage McWhirter had to rouge. 5—1.

Marsh and Hurtubuise had their usual workout at this juncture, and both were given a rest for the remainder of the half, by Referee Morrison. Colledge drop kicked another for four points, amid the applause of the spectators. 7—1.

The ball was thrown wildly to Colledge and fell into the clutches of the enemy. Hewitt made a dash for the Peterborough line, but Clarke tackled him, and the light was turned off for a while, so far as he was concerned. McWhirter chased up the field with the pigskin, but O'Connor caught him by the arm and yanked him to the turf. Crowley blocked a punt cleverly and gained a few feet. McWhirter punted and Quinlan caught the ball, carrying it over the line for a touch. 14—1. It was not converted. There was no more scoring in this half.

SECOND HALF

Crough caught the ball on the Vic kick-off and zig-zagged through the place where the Vics were thickest making one of the most difficult runs of the day. The ball was punted over the Vic line, and Elliott had to rouge. 15—1. A moment later Vics again rouged. 16—1.

Crowley punted the ball after making the mark and Elliott caught it, making a splendid run for a big gain. Shortly after Peterborough had a scrimmage and Quinlan punted, but just as Elliott was about to catch the ball, Dickson touched it and was off-side. Vics had a down near the Peterborough line. Ellicott received the ball on a pass, after the second scrimmage, and carried it over the Peterborough line, making the only touch down that Vics secured during the game. Love didn't convert the try.

For a while the play was largely around centre field, with very little gain by either team. Elliott punted and Crowley caught the leather. He tore up the field with it and over the line for another touch. 21—6. Crough didn't convert.

Colledge punted over the Vic line and they had to rouge. 22—6. He booted another over the dead line shortly afterwards for another point. 23—6. Yet another of his punts went over the Vic goal line, and McWhirter had to rouge, 24—6. Crowley fell on the ball that was lost among a bunch of Vics, near their goal, and Peterborough thus had a scrimmage near their line. Crowley kicked it over the dead line. 25—6. It was getting too easy for Peterborough, and the locals had little difficulty in increasing their already large tally. The third quarter ended with the score 25—6.

FOURTH QUARTER

A minute or two after the kick-off, McWhirter had to rouge on a punt from Colledge. 26—6. Another rouge behind the Vics line made it 27—6. Quinlan varied the monotony of quick and easy scoring via the punt and rouge method, by getting away for the prettiest side line run of the day. He sprinted about thirty [illegible] Whirter rouged again on a punt from Colledge. 28—6. Marsh made a nice run, but was pulled down hard by Crough. The ball was in Vics territory for practically the whole of this quarter, and for a great deal of the time, it seemed to almost hang half on one side of the line and half on the other. Colledge kicked over the dead line. Dickenson just to rouge. Colledge tore through for a touch in a sensational run. 35—6. Crough converted. 36—6. O'Connor made a nice run for a good gain. Colledge made another one of his wonderful drop kicks from the field. 40—6.

The whistle tooted, announcing the conclusion of the game, before any further scoring was done.

Talented Preacher From Quaker City

Rev. Robert Pogue Delighted two Large Congregations at St. Paul's Church

Rev. Robert Pogue, a Canadian divine, who is associate pastor of Bethany Tabernacle, Philadelphia, Pa., of which congregation Hon. John Wannamaker is a member, preached at both services in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday to large congregations. He also took charge of Rev. Dr. Talling's Bible class in afternoon. Rev. Mr. Pogue is a clear, impressive, convincing speaker. In the morning he spoke from the words: "He saved others; himself he cannot save."—St. Matthew, 27th chapter and 42nd verse. Mr. Pogue's discourses were scholarly, helpful and of a high order of merit. They were much appreciated for their originality and strength of thought, their admirable uplifting tone, and their sympathy and broad-mindedness.

Mr. Pogue will always be heard in Peterborough with great interest. He is a great Sunday school worker, and when Hon. Mr. Wannamaker is unable to take charge of his large Bible class in Philadelphia, it is taught by Mr. Pogue. The attendance at this famous Bible class is from 300 to 800 each Sunday afternoon, while the Sunday school in connection with Bethany Tabernacle is the largest in the world, the enrolled membership being about 4,000.

SAID TO CLEAN IMPURE BLOOD

Valuable Prescription to Make Home Remedy, Said to be Very Fine

A leading helth journal, in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood?" prints in a recent issue the following:—Fluid Extract of Dandelion one-half ounce. Compound Kargon, one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well known local druggist who is familiar with this prescription, states that it is harmless, being composed of simple ingredients which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

It cleanses the blood of all impurities and nourishes the blood. In just a few days the skin becomes so clear off sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigor and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within, and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargon and Extract Dandelion works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It make snew blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

This prescription is better than the usual patent medicines, which are in the most part alcoholic concoctions. The ingredients cost but little and are easily mixed at home. Every man and woman here should make some up and try it if their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

The Kargon to clean the kidneys and vitalize them so they can clean the blood, Sarsaparilla to make new, rich blood and dandelion to tone the stomach, clean the liver and make it active and relieve constipation, is the way the prescription acts, and so mildly and so gently that one does not consider they are taking a medicine.

The "Sailor Boy" brand of canned goods are the best that are put up. They never fail to please. Try a few cans.

The Pharisee and the Publican

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt Draws Timely Lessons From Character of Each

In St. Luke's church last evening in the course of a forcible and impressive sermon on the Pharisee and the Publican, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt took occasion to carefully analyze the character and motives of each man. The Pharisee occupied a high position as a Jew, while the Publican was scarcely allowed to touch the fringe of society. The Pharisee had been called by certain ones a hypocrite. He should not be looked upon in that light for he deceived no one but himself. The Pharisee was not an extortioner; he was not unjust and he gave a tithe of all he possessed to the Lord. How many men, who condemned the Pharisee today, did all this. The Pharisee also prayed to the Lord. How many people, who thought they were above others did all this. They too often forgot to express gratitude to God for anything, neglecting to return thanks at their meals for what the Lord had provided, and not conducting family worship in the home, yet outwardly making a profession of righteousness. The Pharisee also deserved credit for setting up a high moral standard. He believed that he owed a duty to God, and lived strictly up to it, but the trouble was that he was ruled by pride, and overcome by self-satisfaction. These blinded and warped his better nature. The publican possessed the virtue of humility, of self-abasement, of lowliness of spirit. He felt his own unworthiness and this great need of Christ. We should all feel humbled in the presence of Christ. We needed more of the meekness, the lowliness of spirit, the contrite heart and the sense of unworthiness, that characterized the publican. The good qualities of the Pharisee were offset by his extreme vanity and pride, but he should by no means be condemned.

Dr. Langfeldt stated that it was well that in the great final day, God would be the judge and all our lives and actions and our future happiness and reward would not depend on the opinion of men, who too often looked upon mere outer appearance and condemned unwisely and unjustly, but the Lord looked upon the heart.

Mark St. Church Held Anniversary

Services on Sunday Attended by Large Congregations

The anniversary services at Mark street Methodist church yesterday were attended by large congregations. In the morning Rev. E. A. Pearson, pastor of George street church, delivered an earnest and helpful address, in keeping with the special character of the service.

In the afternoon the Sunday school scholars gathered in their classes and marched in a body into the church. Brief addresses were given by the pastor, Rev. C. H. Coon, and the superintendent, Mr. J. C. Miller. The scholars gave a substantial sum to the thank offering fund.

The evening service was wholly a choral one, there being no sermon. The choir had prepared special music of a particularly high standard. Two anthems, "O Praise the Lord," by Gabriel, and "Praise God with the Symbol," by Towner, were given. A male trio, Messrs. Coon, Miller and Spear, rendered two selections, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "I heard the Voice of Jesus Say." A duet, "I am Happy in Him," was faultlessly sung by Mr. J. C. Miller and Miss Howson, and during the offertory Rev. Mr. Coon sang, very effectively, "By Grace Alone."

The pastor also made a few brief remarks on "lessons to be learned from certain hymns."

Yesterday the congregation made an effort to raise $150, and it was gratifying to the trustees of the church to see how liberally they responded to the request.

MAKING GEOGRAPHY

The railway map of Canada, issued by the Department of Interior, tells a romantic story. From coast to coast are seen the lines marking the transportation company's steel. After realising for what a vast territory our railroad companies have provided, one can see, on the map, in a moment what a great area remains a stranger to the progress of the locomotive, says the Monetary Times.

Statistics are proverbially dull. But Canadian statistics are the exception which proves the rule. They tell an almost unequalled story of development. Less than forty years ago, Canada possessed 2,695 miles of steam railways. That was in 1871. Ten years later the length had doubled. At the end of June, 1903, some 21,516 miles of track had been laid, an increase of 692 per cent. in what is a short period in the history of a new country. There were at the end of June last, some 4,085 miles of sidings, which is an index to the commercial value of transportation to the Dominion.

With regard to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, which is to help soon to solve the problem of moving the Western crop, in February last the track was under construction between Moncton and Winnipeg, a distance of 995 miles, and between the Western metropolis and Edmonton a distance of 733 miles. This transcontinental route will run from Halifax to Moncton by the Intercolonial railway for 186 miles. The other stages are from Moncton to Quebec bridge, 495 miles; Quebec bridge, to Winnipeg, 1,358 miles; Winnipeg to Edmonton, 789 miles; Edmonton to Prince Rupert, 764 miles, a railroad across Canada of almost 4,000 miles. This is an asset of which the country may well feel proud.

The Dominion has built up its commercial prosperity and reputation on its lines of communication. When a man, one who thinks at all, goes West and becomes a factor in nation building his first desire is to become a land owner. His first philosopher and guide is the railway map. The heralding bell of the steam engine within ear shot of his shack; the products he will make to raise, easily lifted into the freight cars. These are his primary thoughts. If the blood of the pioneer is within his veins, perhaps he thinks with the railroad director, who says the next branch will be built in a westerly or southwesterly direction. Guessing where next the iron horse will break silence, on its commercial and dividend paying mission, is a fascinating problem for the man who means to count in the Canadian West.

Sometimes it is the turning point of a lifetime. Land may be purchased with the hope, which is magnified into knowledge that the rails of a transcontinental road will pass so near the wheat farm as to become an incident in the daily routine. And after all the directors may in their wisdom choose a diametrically opposite route. Which means much more to the man who staked his fortune on a guess, than to the surveyor who thinks only of grades and curves. The railroad is the vital pivot on which the Dominion's prosperity turns. The longer the track, the bigger the national purse.

Ladies, don't miss the beauty lecture to-morrow I never; many things a woman should know.

Rich Man's Daughter Weds in Montreal Though Already a Wife

New York, Oct. 14.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance more than a week ago of Helen Maloney, daughter of Martin Maloney, the Philadelphia millionaire, was given a highly sensational turn today.

At the time of Miss Maloney's disappearance, Samuel Clarkson, a young Englishman, who had paid her marked attention, also dropped out of sight, and it was reported and generally believed that the couple had eloped and been married. Last night came the news from Montreal that the missing pair had been married by a Catholic priest in that city, and then had returned to New York and sailed for Europe.

SAYS THIS IS HIS WIFE.

Following directly upon the heels of the Montreal announcement comes the publication here today of an unqualified statement from Arthur Herbert Osborn, a young broker of this city, that Miss Maloney is his wife. According to Osborn's statement, he and Miss Maloney were married on December 28, 1905, and the marriage has never been annulled. Osborn declares that records in the notary's office at Mamaroneck, which show that Herbert Osborn had married Helen Egenie on that date will prove his statement. He said that assumed names were used because at the time both he and Miss Maloney desired to keep the marriage a secret.

CLARKSON KNEW OF IT.

The fact that the marriage had taken place did become known, however, according to Osborn, and he declares that among those who learned of it were young Clarkson. He says that not only did Clarkson know of the marriage, but that only a short time ago he sought to have it annulled, having gone as far as to consult New York lawyers on the subject.

Osborn was a student at Princeton when the marriage with Miss Maloney is alleged to have taken place.

Stock Values are Unsettled; Money Market Unsatisfactory

Demands for Moving Crop and General Business is Very Large Situation Aggravated by Prevailing High Prices.

Special to the Review.

New York, Oct. 12.—Confidence has received another rude shock through the amazing exposures, resulting from the Metropolitan Securities investigation. It is now over two years since public disclosures of breach of trust in high financial circles began, followed by the collapse of the copper manipulation, and finally these later scandals connected with the local traction situation. Hence no wonder confidence is seriously disturbed! And who is responsible? Messrs. Roosevelt and Hughes, who have been the instruments of exposure—or the individuals who conceived and conducted these operations and abused the trusts placed in their charge?

Stock market values were also unsettled by other influences. Monetary conditions are still very unsatisfactory. The demands for moving the crops and for general business are very large; the situation being materially aggravated, by the high prices prevailing for nearly all commodities. The situation is rendered more acute by the fact that we cannot depend upon Europe for financial aid, to anything like the degree which we have done for the last three or four years. Our credit abroad has not only been impaired by well known conditions, but we are less able to command that assistance than usual. Usually at this season there is an ample supply of grain and cotton bills in this market, which can either be depended upon to bring gold this way if needed, or to extend our credits abroad. Exports of both wheat and cotton, however, are more or less restrained by high prices. It is probably true that eventually Europe will be compelled to take our wheat and cotton on a high basis, but the fact that foreign buyers at present are holding off is more or less detrimental to the local financial situation. The Bank of England reserve declined this week to 46 1-2 per cent., and the Bank of France is also rumored to be figuring on drawing gold from this side. Were our bank reserves in a position to stand any increased strain, this situation would be more assuring, but surplus reserves are very low and their restoration will be difficult until crop funds begin to return from the interior, which at the earliest will not be before November 1st. It is possible that Secretary Cortelyou will be able to give this market further assistance in case of emergency, and his prudent course, of relieving pressure at points of necessity, without unduly exhausting his sources of relief, is one that gives hope that further aid will be forthcoming, if needed.

The situation abroad, is still unsatisfactory. On the continent especially there seems to have been a very similar overdoing to that which has been experienced in the United States. Capital is practically as scarce over there as here; the principal difference being that the situation is not aggravated by the discreditable operations, which have unfortunately occurred on this side. Local bankers are exceedingly conservative, showing a disposition to curtail credit and to be much more exacting as to collateral.

There is just one other element which tends to deal the restoration of confidence, and that is the growing conviction that the present year has witnessed a turning point in business, and that we are to have a moderate business and industrial reaction. Wall street, has held to this opinion for some time past, but the conviction is now extending beyond, and naturally has a perceptible—though indirect—effect upon stock market values—chiefly the industrials. It is quite evident that any curtailment of manufacturing profits would quickly affect the common stocks of these properties; and since many of these still contain a large proportion of water, this shrinkage would naturally become more severe. This explains why bankers are discriminating more and more against this class of collateral. The railroads are, of course, a much more substantial class of investment. They are not dependent upon a single industry for their support, as are many of the industrials, and what they may temporarily lose in one division of their traffic, can be compensated for in others. It is a matter of easy demonstration, that railroad traffic is a much more stable element in business than the sales or profits of any mercantile or industrial corporation. Of course, the net profits of our railroads, are more or less threatened by the enormous increase in expenses, which puts them in a poor position to meet any contraction of traffic. Nevertheless, railroad securities have had an extraordinary decline; quite sufficient to avert any serious panic; and even should dividends be reduced, many of them would ultimately prove profitable investments at present prices, although it need cause no surprise if they recede to still lower levels before the close of the year. The bond market continues in a very unsatisfactory condition. Here, too, are the possibilities of profitable investment with little danger from loss of revenue; but the general exhaustion of buying power is evident and shows that the country has not yet had the opportunity of accumulating a sufficient supply of new capital.

The outlook of the market is extremely uncertain. This is not a good time for buyers to get into debt, and conservatism is strongly urged in all stock market operations. For the present at least, I continue to advise my friends to try and keep what they have got instead of trying to make more through hazardous risks.

Its Too Late to Speak the Loving Words After Death

Point Emphasized by Rev. E. A. Pearson in First of Series of Special Sermons to Young Men—"The Old Folks at Home" Was the Subject.

"The knowledge of loving words, spoken to our parents while they are here with us, will do more to soothe the anguish of the bereft heart, when death takes away those we hold dear, than all the calla lilies heaped upon all the silent mounds in all the cemeteries of the land. Speak the loving words now, not into death's unhearing ears."

Thus spoke Rev. E. A. Pearson at George street church last night, in the first of a series of sermons to young men, "The Old Folks at Home" being the subject of his discourse. It was an excellent sermon, plain, simple and touching, without too much of the sentimental. There was no striving for effect, and yet the effect was gained, and thoughts awakened in many of the congregation that long had remained dormant. It was a masterly exposition of a young man's duty to his parents and of how he should conduct himself through life, so as to repay his father and mother, as much as possible for what they had done for him and to keep from dishonoring the unsullied name he bore.

The first of the series of sermons was listened to by a congregation that taxed the seating capacity of the church. The reverend gentleman's words were followed with deepest interest and the music for the evening was in keeping with the nature of the sermon.

REV. E. A. PEARSON

Who Began a Series of Special Sermons to Young Men Last Evening.

Rev. Mr. Pearson's text was the 4th verse of the 5th chapter of the first epistle of Timothy; "And if any widow have children or nephews let them know first to show piety at home, and to requite their parents, for that is good and acceptable before God."

In connection with the title of the first of the series of special sermons to young men, "The Old Folks at Home," Mr. Pearson referred to the love for home that permeates every human breast. In this connection he related several incidents that have been recorded which go to prove the truth of the central thought of the old song, the line which says, "Be it ever so humble there's no place like home." Home, the speaker declared, was the sweetest place on this side of heaven, the place dearest to the heart of the wanderer.

Continuing, Mr. Pearson enlarged upon the point that we are under a debt to our parents that we can never repay. To them we owe our very existence, and while pessimists may tell us that we need not be thankful for being in the world "we will not pay much attention to their words until they commit suicide." The parents' love for their children, the sacrifices made for them, their hopes and prayers and toil for them, were pictured effectively by the speaker, who went on to state that no effort ever made by the children could repay the debt they had contracted towards their parents. Dealing with another phase of the same thought, Mr. Pearson dealt with the debt we are under to the past. "We are the heirs of all the ages," he remarked. "Everything we have in the world is the result of the efforts of those who have gone before. The streets we walk, the houses in which we reside, the rights we enjoy, have been given to us, and are the result of the labors of those before us."

"How can the children repay the parents for the debt that has been contracted?" was the second theme dealt with by the reverend gentleman. "The love that has been given," he continued, "can be repaid by no baser coin than that of love. It is all parents asked to be repaid by." Too often, the speaker feared, there was not a free enough expression of the generous feelings of the heart. Words of love fluttered on the lips, but were not spoken until it was too late. The kind words that would have brought gladness to the father's and mother's hearts were held back until death took them away, and then came the vain regret and longing that more had not been done for them. The fragrance of the sweetest flowers heaped upon the grave did not carry the message of love to the dead. "One loving thought now, while they are with us, is better than all the calla lillies heaped upon all the silent mounds in all the cemeteries of the land," said the speaker. "Why wait until the fragrance of the flowers is wasted, and the ears hear not the words that are spoken? Why not speak them now, when they will bring joy to the heart of the loved ones, instead of at a time when they will do no good?"

OBEDIENCE.

Speaking of the obedience of children to their parents, Mr. Pearson pointed out that it was the duty of children to obey their parents without questions. As the sons and daughters grew older, however, they had to be consulted rather than given instructions without having them explained to them. If this was done there would be less friction between children and their parents.

AS TO HONOR.

Passing on to the subject "honoring the old folks," the speaker said it was a young man's duty to keep unsullied the spotless record that had been given him. A good name, an unsullied record, were a priceless heritage to the young man entering upon life and the greatest honor he could do his parents was to keep unstained this heritage that had been given him. No matter whether his parents were deadd or living, it was the children's duty to live lives that would do honor to them.

"What we are," said Mr. Pearson, "is the result of what our parents have done for us. We can never get too high in the world to be above our parents." The speaker referred to the examples set by two of the world's prominent men, Thomas Carlyle, and ex-President Garfield, both of whom, delighted in honoring their parents, although the latter were of lowly birth.

In closing, Mr. Pearson said, the way children could do most honor to their parents was by giving themselves to Christ and leading Godly lives.

During the service, Miss Irene Mowry sang, "Dream of Paradise," very sweetly, and Miss Roesor rendered "Wandering Child Come Home" in a most pleasing manner.

Miss Davies contributed the solo, "Hold Thou My Hand (Briggs) in an admirable manner. Her vocalism was much appreciated.

NEW ELDERS WERE ORDAINED

Impressive Ceremony Conducted at Knox Church Yesterday

At the close of the morning service yesterday at Knox church, the ordination of four elders took place.

ABLE ADDRESS AT ST. ANDREW'S

Rev. J. G. Potter gave the second of a series of addresses on Practical Subjects in the Epistle of James. Last night's topic was, "Count it all joy, when ye fall into divers temptations." The deepening of interest in these addresses was shown by the increased attendance.

Mrs. W. A. Greenslade held the close attention of the congregation, in her clear and able rendition of "Abide With Me." The theme and expression were noticeably appropriate to the service of the evening.

NEW RESIDENT OF CITY IS ALMOST A CENTENARIAN

Peterborough has an interesting resident at the present time, in the person of Mr. Jos. Mantell, late of Tilsonburg, who has come here to reside with his daughter-in-law, Mrs J. C. Edwards, 510 Charlotte street. Mr. Mantell has reached the remarkable age of 96 years and is still hale and hearty. He arrived in Peterborough on Friday and on Saturday walked up town, and spent an hour or so viewing the stores along George street. Yesterday afternoon he took another long walk and states that one of these days he is going to walk over to see the lift lock. Mr. Mantell is remarkably active for his age and there seems no reason why he should not live to be a centenarian.

OBITUARY

MR. F. J. MOLONEY

After an illness of a couple of weeks, Francis Joseph Moloney, 69 years of age, and one of the pioneers of Ennismore, passed away at ten o'clock on Saturday morning at the family residence.

The late Mr. Moloney fractured his hip about two weeks ago, and, owing to his advanced age, he never recovered from the shock of the injury. He was one of the most highly respected residents of the township and is mourned by a large number of friends, both in Ennismore and other parts of the county.

The surviving members of the family are his wife, who is 80 years of age, two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Shanley of this city and one unmarried, residing at home, and four sons, Dr. Paul Moloney, of Cornwall, and Eugene, John and Joseph of Ennismore.

The late Mr. Moloney came from Ireland many years ago, and was regarded as an authority on all matters relating to Canadian and general history. He was a Catholic in religion, and in politics a Conservative.

The funeral took place this morning and the cortege proceeded first to St. Martin's church, Ennismore, where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, parish priest of Ennismore and interment took place in Chrismong Lake Cemetery.

There were an especially large number of people at the funeral, which bespoke the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pall bearers, all of whom are residents of Ennismore, were, Peter Flood, Stephen O'Reilly, John O'Reilly, David Quinlan, Michael Creugh and Wm. Purdue.

MARGARET WOODROW.

The death occurred Saturday night at 412 London street, of Mrs. Margaret Woodrow, after a lengthy illness. The deceased was seventy-nine years of age and was born in Scotland. She came to this country, some years ago, and settled in New York City, where she resided until about four years ago, when she moved to this city.

One daughter, Jessie, is left to mourn her loss.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from 412 London street, to Little Lake cemetery.

You can get Tickets for the Excursion at Clarke & Co., Hat Store—Adults 65c, Children 35c.

GOLF

NO GAME.

The golf match which was to have been played here on Saturday between the lady golfers of Port Hope and Peterborough ladies did not materialize, the former sending word at the last moment that they were unable to come.

Thomas McDowell, said to be a cousin of Melbourne McDowell, the famous actor, died at Victoria Hospital, London, Eng., after a long illness. McDowell was forty-eight years of age.

Harvest Festival at Park St. Church

The Donations to the Building Fund Were Generous—All Records Broken

The harvest home thanksgiving service at Park street church on Sunday were well attended. The sermons were appropriate to the occasion and were preached by Rev. A. H. Brace. Busy hands had transformed the church into a scene of autumnal splendor. Grain, fruit and flowers were very tastefully arranged. The effect was inspiring. Hundreds of dollars came rolling in, the plates running over. Past records in the history of the church were broken. There are eighteen all working people, who are giving in cash, and promises $100 each. The heartiness in which the new church is being entered into was seen in the crowds who gathered at each service. A most encouraging feature is the number of adherents who are not members of the church, who stick through thick and thin, and are not scared away to seek a cheap religion.

Owing to the large numbers who were unable to be present, several envelopes are still to come in.

DIRECTIONS FOR SENDING IN ALARMS

A Key for the Alarm Box will be found hanging in a small box, with glass front, adjoining the Alarm Box. Break the glass, remove the Key, and open the Box; pull the lever down, when the Alarm is at once transmitted to the Fire Hall, Pumping Station and residences of the Firemen. Do not attempt to remove the Key from Box, as this can only be done by the use of a small Retaining Key.

HOW ALARMS ARE SOUNDED

The number of the Ward from which the Alarm is sent is always sounded on the bell, which also constitutes the first number of the Box nearest to the fire, and when an Alarm is sounded, the War number is given first, then a pause, and then the remaining numbers of the Box.

Professor David Todd of the United States, just returned from four months of astronomical research, in Chili, says it is reasonably certain that Mars is inhabited.

AMAZING REVELATIONS.

How Government Money Is Thrown Away by Bungling Officials.

The stupidity of officials, ranking from Cabinet Ministers to subalterns of the army, costs Great Britain a nice thing annually. It is very amusing, but the jokes are of the most expensive pattern. The reports of the Committee of Public Accounts give particulars of these matters. That committee is a sort of watch-dog of the spending departments, and its insistent bark draws attention to any irregularity or extravagance in the expenditure of public moneys. The report issued by the committee contains some incisive criticism of the War Office. It will be remembered that the gross expenditure on the Army Votes during the year 1905-6 fell short of the estimate by £1,334,136. The actual surplus on March 31, 1906, was almost double the amount (£691,000) anticipated by the War Office in a forecast submitted to the Treasury as late as nine days previously. To the committee's demand for an explanation of this astounding discrepancy reply was made that there had been a complete upheaval of the War Office. Indeed the change in personnel was so thorough that it can be best realized by quoting the words of the Director-General of Army Finance: "All those who had had life-long experience in dealing with the finance of the army disappeared." The committee recognize the difficulty created by these circumstances and say they are glad to learn that "there is the most extraordinary desire on the part of the Military Headquarters Staff to effect reductions." As regards the future, the committee are without assurance that a more satisfactory result may be expected. For, it has been explained to them that the military directors (who now frame estimates and control the progress of expenditure) "are transient officers who come to their post with very expensive notions, and only get to know their work thoroughly by the time they have got to go." The Committee of Public Accounts next turns its vigilant gaze on South Africa. It appears that the general officer commanding in South Africa made a contract with the municipality of Standerton in 1904 for a supply of water to the troops at the minimum of 80,000 gallons per diem, the contract to run for twenty years. As the garrison has been so much reduced, and the daily requirements of the troops are already much below the fixed minimum, efforts are being made to obtain an equitable reduction of the annual payment. The committee inquire wonderingly how it was within the competence of any officer with a local command to bind the country to pay a large sum of money for a long term of years without referring the question to the home authorities for confirmation. The evidence before the War Stores Commission disclosed bribery in connection with various contracts for supplies. In accordance with the bribery clause inserted in all military contracts a fine of 10 per cent. is recoverable in such cases. In every established case of bribery the name of the firm is automatically removed from the list of Government contractors. In connection with expenditure under the Military Works Loan Acts, the committee's attention has been drawn by the comptroller and auditor-general to the following instances of the loss of public money due to successive changes of policy.

(i) At East Bulford there has been a loss to the public of between £140,000 and £150,000 in erecting a Mounted Infantry School, which was closed on July 1, 1906.

(ii.) At Tidworth nearly a million pounds has been expended in building barracks for eight infantry battalions, though only four are needed. The surplus barracks are being altered at considerable additional cost, so as to house a cavalry regiment and certain other troops.

(iii.) Near Fermoy, a sum of £35,000 was expended in 1905-6 for the purchase of Moore Park (843 acres, with mansion and grounds) as a site for barracks and for training mounted infantry. The idea of a Mounted Infantry School in Ireland has now been dropped.

(iv.) At Stoba, "the original idea was that it was going to be a great training ground for troops, but it has been given up," the War Office having "only spent £56,000 out of the £735,000, which had been intended. . . . at a time when it was anticipated to have six Army Corps." The land purchased is used "mainly for volunteer camps and things of that sort."

Famous Lilac Tree.

Chief among the many objects of interest in the gardens of Eastern Lodge, Dunmow, Eng., the residence of the Earl and Countess of Warwick, is the magnificent lilac tree which occupies a conspicuous position on the terrace. This tree is the finest specimen of its kind in the United Kingdom. It has a circumference of 120 feet and a height of 16 feet and it has so dense a growth and blooms so profusely that when in flower it forms a huge bouquet of lilac blossom. The lilac is that commonly known as the Persian, and described by the botanists as the Chinese; but it is not a native of either Persia or China, but was raised in the Rouen Botanic Garden in 1796 by the hybridization of the true Persian lilac and the common lilac of British gardens. It was of noble proportions at the middle of the last century, and produced such a magnificent display of blossoms that in the flowering season Viscount Maynard, Lady Warwick's grandfather, used to make a special journey from London to enjoy the beauty and fragrance of the flowers.

Wouldn't Lose Two Days.

A young man who dropped into the recorder's office for a marriage license, finding that a license had just been issued containing the name of the young lady who was to figure in the document sought, purchased his license all the same with the name of another girl inserted. That was his day for getting ready to be married, and he didn't propose to let small matters bar the way.

TO UNITE SOUTH AFRICA

FORECAST OF NEW BRITISH COMMONWEALTH.

Colonies to Be Federated—Lord Selborne Issues Important News—To Establish One Parliament—Consolidate the Railways—Delagoa Bay Reaps Inordinate Advantages—Constitution of Present Legislature

A scheme of the greatest importance is on foot for the federation of the South African Colonies. A memorandum, edited by Lord Selborne, and issued with his authority, points out the necessity of establishing one Parliament to represent the whole of South Africa, and protect British ports and interests, especially in view of the position of Delagoa Bay, which, under the Portuguese, is reaping inordinate railway and other advantages. The memorandum asserts that the state of affairs is such that the political position of the country as a whole must within the present year be deliberately discussed between all the British South African Governments. The memorandum conveys the impression that union is necessitated by the position of Delagoa Bay, which is reaping inordinate railway and other advantages ruinously affecting the British ports, and the idea is that a consolidation of the railway and other British interests terminating this state of things, though with scrupulous fairness to our ally Portugal, becomes increasingly pressing. General Botha and his Government point out that the memorandum was drawn up before they took office. While cordially approving of federation, they dissent from what is said in the document regarding Delagoa Bay, declaring that their attitude towards the Portuguese will always be sincerely friendly. Lord Selborne strongly deprecates retarding federation. The Colonies, it is pointed out, possess full self-government, but South Africa as a whole does not possess it, because there are constant inter-Colonial divergences which necessitate the intervention of the High Commissioner, who is controlled by the Imperial Government. Consequently, in extreme cases, the ultimate authority in the strictly internal affairs of South Africa is the Imperial Parliament. South Africa, the memorandum adds, can only be wisely and successfully governed by a Government responsible to a Parliament representing the whole of South Africa.

The four self-governing Colonies of South Africa, now that Orangia has been granted a constitution, are the Cape of Good Hope, Natal, the Transvaal, and the Orange River Colony. The present constitution of the Cape Colony dates from 1872. The Parliament consists of a Legislative Council of twenty-six members, elected for seven years, and a House of Assembly of 107 members elected for five years. Natal attained responsible Government in 1893. It has a Legislative Council of thirteen members, who hold their seats for ten years, and a Legislative Assembly of forty-three members, elected for four years. The Transvaal, under its new constitution granted last year, has a Legislative Council of fifteen members, and a Legislative Assembly of sixty-nine members. The letters patent, recently issued, providing for the establishment of responsible Government in the Orange River Colony vest the legislative power in a Legislative Council of eleven members and a Legislative Assembly of thirty-eight.

A BUSY MONARCH.

King Edward Lives Strenuous Life—Has No Idle Moments.

The program of activities which King Edward is undergoing this summer marks him as one of the busiest and most hard-working Monarchs of his time. The German Emperor has a popular reputation for activity, and President Roosevelt's name is linked with "the strenuous life," but when it is considered how much older the King of England is than his compeers he may challenge comparison with either. The recent visit to Ireland was one of the last chapters in the King's work before an August vacation at Marienbad concludes a strenuous summer.

Last week the King went to Newmarket for racing, and after that to the Goodwood races and to the Cowes regatta before his departure for Marienbad.

While abroad the King will meet the Emperor of Austria. In September the German Emperor will visit King Edward while the court is in residence at Windsor. This will mean much entertaining, reviewing of troops and formalities, but the recent announcements have failed to excite any enthusiasm in this country. There was much sighing in society during the years of Queen Victoria's widowhood for the splendors of court life. King Edward is giving the court and the country a memorable social reign, apart from his activities as a diplomat.

OFF TO THE SOUTH POLE.

Latest British Expedition Sails Under a White Flag.

The latest British expedition towards the South Pole left London recently when the Nimrod sailed from the East India Docks. It was announced that the King and Queen would visit the vessel when it calls at Cowes.

The Nimrod is an old sealer, and is well suited for work among the ice. The destination of the vessel is Port Lyttelton. There the travelers will bid farewell to civilization for many months, while the Nimrod, under Captain England, carries on a series of scientific investigations along the ice fringe.

According to present plans it is intended that three of the land party shall go due south to the Pole, three due east, and three along a line between the course taken by the two other parties. Should all go well, the land party will have reunited at the base by Christmas, 1908, ready for the arrival of the Nimrod in January, 1909.

Lieut. Shackleton feels great confidence in the motor-car which forms part of the outfit. With this machine the task of haulage should be greatly diminished. It has been subjected to most careful tests, and the experiments regarding the freezing of the petrol have proved encouraging. The expedition is well fitted out with scientific instruments, which have been lent by the Admiralty.

When the Nimrod went down the Thames a white flag, the significance of which seemed to mystify the seafaring fraternity on the quay, wavered from the foremast. An interesting fact is attached to this piece of cloth. According to shipping usage, the flag of the country to which the vessel is bound will generally be displayed at this point, and as the expedition will visit a veritable "no man's land" a white flag becomes necessary.

It is hoped that in future vessels making for the land in question will show the British flag.

Slang Will Creep In.

In a paper contributed to Putnam's Monthly recently Herbert Paul, an Englishman, deplores the decadence of the English language. He thinks he may be forgiven a passing qualm when he finds such a phrase as "queering the pitch" in the leading columns of a great newspaper which "used to be a fountain of classical English. He is not so "futile and pedantic as to wage war against slang. But its proper place is surely private conversation."

Is it? We ourselves are moved to record a passing qualm. Only the other day, in a household where the Lares and Penates were shipped direct from the Athens of America, we overheard a conversation between a nice old lady and the ten-year-old daughter of a Radcliffe graduate. It bore somewhat remotely upon the virtues of thrift, and so we cannot be quite sure whether the old lady's manifest bewilderment arose from the irrelevance or the phraseology of the child's impulsive avowal, "I'm going to plant all my dough in a bike."—Life.

A Lucky Purchase.

In order to secure some token by which to remember a great-aunt to whom she had been much attached, Mlle. Bertha Chevanne, a young French woman, attended a sale of the old lady's effects. The girl was poor, and most of the articles were beyond her purse. A shabby old book—a book of devotions—was, however, put up. Nobody bid for it except Mlle. Chevanne, and she bought it for next to nothing. In turning over the leaves she came across a folded paper. It was a will bequeathing her the whole of her great-aunt's estate, valued at $80,000.

Town Without a Postoffice.

While in Scotland last autumn I arrived at Maxwelltown, Kirkcudbrightshire, and wanting a stamp for a picture postcard I inquired for the postoffice, but to my surprise I was informed the town had neither post nor telegraph office. Investigation revealed that the town had a population of more than 3,000 inhabitants, being also a burgh, with its provost, town council and bailies. This unique town has to depend on Dumfries, nearly three miles distant, for everything of a postal nature.—London Tit-Bits.

The First Trousers.

Pockets were one of the great sartorial objections urged against trousers, and a writer on male fashions eighty years ago declared: "No pockets can be tolerated on any account whatever. They make a man look like a Yankee."—London Chronicle.

Buying Everything.

"Wealth won't buy everything," said the philosopher.

"That's what I tell mother and the girls," answered Mr. Cumrox, "but it looks as if they were going to keep on trying as long as the checkbook holds out."

6968.—A PRETTY YOKE WAIST.

One of the most charming of recent designs for a separate waist is here sketched. Simple, graceful and almost universally becoming, it is a model which will infallibly commend itself to the woman of refined tastes. The picturesque effect of the deep square yoke and full front portion is greatly enhanced by the tucked trimming bands, to which the Mandarin sleeves are attached. These accessories may, however, be omitted if desired, and the plain development substituted. The sleeves are most effective when made as pictured, but they may, if necessary, be made full-length for cool weather wear. Silk nets of the new fleelle or string color was used for modelling the waist, with pale blue tucked chiffon for the yoke and filet lace and small gilt buttons for garnitures; but foulard, crepon or any flexible material would develop equally well, with allover lace for the collar and yoke. For the medium size 3 yards of 27 inch goods will be needed, with 2-4 yard of 18 inch material for the collar and yoke.

6968.—6 sizes, 32 to 42 inches bust measure.

The price of this pattern is 10c.

PRETTY WINDOWS JUSTLY PRAISED

Dry Goods Review Refers to Excellent Work of Mr. H. C. MacDonald

The Dry Goods Review for October pays the following compliment to a Peterborough man,—"Among the most attractive window displays illustrated in this department during the past year, have been several executed by H. C. MacDonald, with Richard Hall & Son, Peterborough. All of Mr. MacDonald's work seen by the Review has been of a high order of merit. He has splendid windows that offer excellent scope for his ability and he takes full advantage of them. He is also a finished show card writer. A group of his cards was illustrated in the Review last month."

Canadian Clubs Are Very Popular

St. Thomas is Falling into Line Like Peterborough

Peterborough is not the only city at present organizing a Canadian Club. A St. Thomas despatch says: There was a large attendance of the representative citizens present at the city hall last evening to organize a Canadian Club. Mayor Lawrence presided, while Mr. McCutcheon, principal of the Public schools, acted as secretary. Secretary Glass of the Canadian Club, London, was present, and addressed the meeting briefly. The meeting adjourned until next Monday evening, everybody feeling assured that the Canadian Club would materialize successfully in St. Thomas.

DIGNITARY OF CHURCH VISITS PETERBOROUGH

His Lordship the Bishop of Calgary Here Yesterday for a Few Hours—Will be Present at Distribution of Prizes at T. C. S. To-day—Came East for Purpose of Attending Semi-Annual Meeting of Board of Missions at Toronto.

The Right Reverend Cyprian Pinkham, D.D., Bishop of Calgary, was in this city yesterday evening for a few hours en route for Port Hope, to be present today-speech-day-at Trinity College school, at the exercises in connection with the distribution of the prizes awarded by His Excellency, Earl Grey, for those pupils fortunate enough to obtain them by reason of their standing at the examinations. His Lordship's youngest son, Ernest V. J. Pinkham, is a student at T.C.S. The real object of the Bishop's visit to Ontario, however, is to be present at the semi-annual meeting of the Church of England Board of Missions for Canada, which will be held in Toronto on October 24th.

LONG IN SERVICE OF CHURCH.

His Lordship has been in the service of the Church of England, for forty years, coming to Winnipeg in 1868, after finishing his clerical course in England.

His diocese includes the greater part of the old provisional district of Alberta, and has an area of over one hundred thousand square miles. The bishop says there has been a healthy growth in his diocese of late and states that a large number of workers have identified themselves with the cause of the church during the past year.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's; Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, rector of St. Luke's and Rev. Wm. Major, rector of All Saint's, made arrangements to call on the Bishop while he was in the city, when it was made known that he was to come here, but Mr. Major was the only one of the three Church of England clergymen in the city who found it possible to visit him, other, unfortunately, being unable to do so, owing to other important engagements, demanding their presence elsewhere.

His Lordship will return to his diocese as soon as possible after the meeting of the Board of Missions, and will probably depart for Alberta, before the end of the month.

Owing to the fact that he was seen by the Review a very few minutes before the departure of the train for Port Hope, it was impossible to interview him as fully as might be desired but he graciously answered all questions asked him, and was cordial and courteous in his reception of the reporter who called upon him.

Sir Richard Cartwright May Be Ontario's Next Governor

An Ottawa despatch says,—An interesting feature in connection with the recent visit of the Toronto Liberal delegation to Ottawa last week, has just become public. In addition to preferring many requests to the Government with regard to matters in the City of Toronto, the delegation discussed many subjects of general party interest. It was pointed out to Sir Wilfrid that there was a feeling of unrest in the Liberal ranks—especially amongst the old-timers—at the importation of new and untried men into Ministerial positions, with the result that party stalwarts who for years have served on the back benches, have been ignored. Especially, it was mentioned, does this feeling exist in the Province of Ontario, although there are rumblings in New Brunswick and elsewhere. It was suggested therefore, that a way would shortly offer in Ontario, where this discontent may be assuaged to some extent. The term of office of Sir William Mortimer Clark as Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, will expire in April next, and the deputation hinted that Sir Richard Cartwright be then appointed his successor.

Sir Wilfrid, it is said, took this suggestion in good part.

Should Sir William accept the office his will be the fourth Kingstonian to occupy the Gubernatorial position in Ontario, the three previous ones being Sir Alex. Campbell, Sir George A. Kirkpatrick and Sir Oliver Mowat.
